Fairfax Is One Fair City

The fair fresh face of Fairfax has won it a top award in the National Cleanest Town Achievement Award Contest.

The city will be presented a distinguished achievement award for last year's two-week effort by citizens and community groups entering the national clean-up-paint up-fix up campaign for the first time.

First to be surprised today was City Administrator David J. Sumbardo, who had suggested to councilmen the city should take part. "Not bad for a first attempt," he said.

WAS SPEECHLESS

Mrs. Richard Jones, co-chairman with George Cowell of the clean-up committee, was speechless when told the news.

"We were pleased with the result ourselves," she said after a pause, "but to be recognized nationally is wonderful. We had excellent co-operation from everyone concerned."

Announcing the award today, R. H. Hackendaul, director of the National Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up Bureau said, "The ciitzens of this community should be commended for their voluntary accomplishments in the field of civic improvement and beautification."

INVITED TO D.C.

He has invited Farifax civic leaders to attend the National Cleanest Town Conference in Washington, D. C., for presentation of the award in the Statler Hilton Hotel on Feb. 21.

On display will be the scrapbook the city submitted with "before" and "after" photographs as entry to the contest.

AMong Fairfax achievements, said Hackendaul, were demolition of sub-standard buildings, and anti-litter program, a poster contest, the cleanup of vacant lots, and a downtown improvement project.

The Fairfax prize just falls short of the major awards presented 24 cities judged the best in specific categories.

LBJ Asks Help In Cleaning Air

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, saying "America's struggle against poisoned air" now is being lost, asked Congress today for legislation giving the federal government power to control air pollution.

But in a special message titled "Protecting Our National Heritage," Johnson said federal action alone cannot master pollution. (See also California Redwoods story, page 14.)

"The states, the cities and private industry must commit themselves more fully, more effectively and with a new sense of urgency to America's struggle against poisoned air," Johnson said.

Johnson said one of the first new steps in the attack on air pollution should be emission control levels for those indus-air pollution.

He recommended that the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare be authorized to designate industries that contribute significantly to air pollution, develop and publish industry emission levels, provide each state the opportunity to adopt equivalent levels or stricter ones, and to apply federal levels in those states which do not adopt their own.

In another step to combat air pollution, Johnson proposed federal matching grants to help the states establish inspection programs for motor vehicle pollution control.

Johnson said the federal government has invested $16.9 million in research grants, $5 million in training and $4.6 million for surveys and pilot projects under the clear air act of 1963.

Johnson said immediate research targets must include

Tax More Sales, Less Property, Unruh Asks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh today proposed legislation to cut property taxes $300 million by shifting the burden to the sales tax.

The Inglewood Democrat said his bill would add another cent to the sales tax—making it five cents per dollar—but would require reductions in school property taxes averaging 25 per cent statewide.

In addition, it would add $80 million a year to the combined revenue of all school districts.

Unruh unveiled his tax plan during the weekend. His proposal was strikingly similar to the property tax relief program Gov. Ronald Reagan has promised.

Unruh said he had not discussed his proposal with the governor but "I am hopeful this bill will find bipartisan support."

The measure would raise $380 million through the sales tax boost.

All of the money would be distributed to school districts using the present equalization principle.

The schools would be required to use $300 million for property tax relief. The other $80 million could be used to meet needs for additional revenue.

Unruh said his plan also provides that after the mandatory tax cut, property taxes for school districts may be increased only with the approval of the voters.

The speaker said this measure would provide "a major shift away from the regressive property tax ...to the more equitable sales tax, levied on a statewide basis."

Douglas Tells Estimate For Development

John M. Douglas, Marin County economic development director, will propose to the board of supervisors tomorrow that the county spend $85,525 next fiscal year for promotion and business development.

He will propose that the county abandon its system of doling out money to various promotional groups, and instead either give all the funds to one group or carry on the whole program through his department.

Douglas will present a proposal as requested by the board of supervisors last month. Since then, the county grand jury has proposed that his department be abolished.

"A publicity and advertising campaign to 'tell the world' where Marin County is, what its attractions are and why people should come could be undertaken," says the proposal. "The success of such a program is in direct ratio to the amount of funds allocated."

He suggests that the county spend $10,000 to employ a professional travel consultant, $7,300 for brochures, $7,500 for an information center at Vista Point, $5,000 for scenic tour maps, $5,000 for a professional publicist, $5,000 for a calendar of events, $15,000 for advertising, and $9,000 for memberships in Redwood Empire Assn. and Marine Exchange and subscriptions to trade publications. Sausalito Slipping Hill Stops

By STEPHEN COOK

The super-saturated soils of Marin County continued to slip today as rain continued to fall, taking a toll of expensive homes and commercial buildings and threatening others.

Minor flooding was reported in some areas, as the United States Weather Bureau issued a forecast of rain continuing intermittently the next five days.

GIVEN UP

Heaviest rainfall will most likely be on Thursday and Saturday, the prediction said. Occasional rain tonight and partly cloudy tomorrow was forecast.

In Larkspur today, the $55,000 Greenbrae home of W. G. Stone at 292 Via La Paz was given up for lost. Plans were being made to demolish it before it could slide down the slope into another home, according to Public Works Director Warren Mistron.

The rains have carved a hole six feet deep, running back 15 feet under the home, Minstron said. The Stone family and the Robert W. Bauer family of 100 Via Navarro, whose home is directly below the Stone house, moved out Saturday night.

CARPORT DEMOLISHED

Mistron said two adjacent homes, those of Charles T. Travers at 296 Via La Paz and Frank P. Cowdery at 286 Via La Paz, are threatened by the slide.

Fisher was previously married to actresses Debbie Reynolds and Elizabeth Taylor.

Miss Stevens had been previously married to television actor Jim Stacy.

Fisher was in New York to record an album.

"We're old friends," said Miss Stevens. "We've known each other for quite some time."

Debt Ceiling Hike Asked —$7 Billion

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler asked Congress today to raise the national debt ceiling by $7 billion to a new level of $337 billion.

He said that unless Congress acts, the Treasury will have to start holding up some payments within a month.

In an unusually blunt statement to the House Ways and Means Committee, Fowler said: "You and I know that there are many who have voted for, and will vote for, appropriations and then take comfort and protection in a vote against extending the debt limit. This is not a responsible act."

Fowler said that among the payments that would be in jeopardy about March 1 unless the debt limit is raised are Social Security and disability benefits, veterans pensions and military and civilians retirement pay.

The Ways and Means Committee has never failed to recommend debt limit increases under similar circumstances in the past and Congress has always followed through, but often the increase has been less than the Treasury asked.

Governor Ready To Give Legislature New Budget

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan will present his first budget tomorrow to a Democratic legislature ready to revise the big spending program to its own tastes.

"We would be wrong if we accepted the blanket recommendations of the executive branch," said Chairman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Reagan warned Californians to prepare for new taxes and a big budget when he steps before a joint session and spells out the details of his fiscal plan for the 1967-68 bookkeeping year.

But Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, said he suspects Reagan's proposed budget will not exceed the current $4.59 billion — and could possibly be slightly lower.

"Even this budget will require new taxes just to balance it," Monagan said.

Reagan has told of a $473 million deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1 and said "when the final blow falls, it will actually be darker than I painted it."

The size of the new budget was under official wraps.

Japan Liberals Maintain Hold

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's party won another big but reduced majority in Japan's Lower House elections yesterday, weathering charges of corruption and turning Communist China's turmoil against the leftists.

Bomber Raid Near Saigon; GIs Increase

U.S. Investigates Copters' Attack On 200 Sampans

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U. S. B-52 bombers staged their closest raid to Saigon of the Vietnam war today. Simultaneously, 3,200 more American infantrymen arrived in the country to join the growing U.S. force in the Mekong Delta.

The B-52s unloaded their explosives on a base camp of the Viet Cong's 165A regiment 16 miles west-southwest of Saigon. The strike was two miles closer to the capital than any previous raid by the bombers and shook windows in Saigon.

In two clashes Jan. 21, South Vietnamese paratroopers reported killing 117 men of the 165A regiment.

Over North Vietnam, U.S. jet bombers struck the Thai Nguyen railroad yard 35 miles north of Hanoi yesterday and for the second day ranged along the Ca River for concentrated assaults on cargo barges.

Ground fighting in South Vietnam diminished to small, scattered clashes.

PROBE ATTACK

The U.S. command continued an investigation of an attack by three U.S. helicopters on a fleet of 200 sampans in the Mekong Delta in which a U.S. spokesman said 31 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 38 wounded.

The spokesman said the sampan fleet was attacked Saturday night and early yesterday during the curfew hours after some of the sampans fired on the helicopters. He said the civilians told interrogators they were on the move in violation of the curfew because the Viet Cong was in the area and they anticipated allied attacks.

The latest American troops to arrive were the 2nd Brigade of the 9th Infantry Division and supporting artillery, medical, supply, signal, military police and maintenance units.

The 3,200 men came ashore from the troopship Pope at Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon. They brought the division to its full strength, 15,000 men, and increased the total announced American strength in Vietnam to 404,000 men.

The gunship helicopters attacked the sampan fleet on the Bassac River 78 miles southwest of Saigon Saturday night after the helicopters received automatic - weapons fire from two positions on the sampans and one on the River Bank, a U.S. spokesman said.

ON MISSION

Although full details of the incident were not known, the spokesman said the three helicopters were on a reconnaissance mission in an area where intelligence reports indicated a Viet Cong main force unit was operating.

48-Year Prison Term, Fine Faced By Baker

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, once the trusted confidant of some of the nation's most powerful men, today faced the prospect of going to prison as a convicted thief and tax cheat.

A U.S. District Court jury, after deliberating seven hours and 20 minutes, found him guilty yesterday morning on charges of tax evasion, larceny, and fraud carrying a maximum penalty of 48 years in prison and a $47,000 fine. He will be sentenced at a later date.

The three-week trial of the former Senate Democratic secretary —a onetime assistant to President Johnson —came to a tense climax when jury Foreman James M. Buchanan seven times declared Baker guilty as charged by the government.

Except for a paleness of face, the 38-year-old Baker showed little outward emotion as Buchanan recited him guilty.

His attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, said he would appeal the verdict "all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary." Baker joined his wife and walked quickly from the courtroom without comment.

In essence, they had decided that the former Capitol Hill insider had "willfully" evaded paying more than $21,000 in income taxes in 1961 and 1962; had stolen most of $100,000 collected as campaign funds from California savings and loan sources in 1962, and had defrauded the government in 1963 and 1964 through a conspiracy with Washington lobbyist Wayne L. Bromley and former Nevada Lt. Gov. Clifford Jones.

Loyalists Reported Routing Foes To Mao In Sinkiang

TOKYO (AP) — Units of Red China's army loyal to Mao Tse-tung claim to have "completely surrounded rebel army units" in rebellious Sinkiang, in the far west, Japanese reports said today.

The claim of Maoist gains in Sinkiang, published in Peking Wall posters, coincided with other reports that shooting was continuing in the vast autonomous region bordering the Soviet Union. Local army units were said to have defied Premier Chou En-lai's orders to the armed forces to side with Mao in his struggle against President Liu Shao-chi and his followers.

Nationalist China's official Central Daily News in Taipei suggested that the Soviets might enter the China strife on behalf of anti-Mao generals.

It said the Sinkiang commander, Gen. Wang En-mao, had warned Mao against trying to use the nuclear installations there as a threat to his enemies. China's five atomic explosions took place in Sinkiang.

More than 100 persons were reported killed last week in Sinkiang. Wall posters said Sunday that 12 of 68 persons treated in an army hospital had also died.

Tippit's Wife Is Remarried

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The widow of the Dallas policeman killed shortly after President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, has remarried.

Dallas Police Lt. Harry Dean Thomas said Saturday night in Dallas that he and the former Mrs. J.D. Tippit were married a week ago. They are residing in Dallas.

She has three children and he has four.

After her husband was killed, donors from all over the world sent Mrs. Tippit more than $650,000 in contributions.

The Warren Commission said Lee Harvey Oswald killed officer Tippit after killing President John F. Kennedy.

Tuition Plan Gets Support Of GOP Group

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to invoke a tuition at the University of California and state colleges had support from leaders of the conservatively - oriented United Republicans of California (UROC).

The group's board of governors ended a three-day quarterly convention yesterday by endorsing most of the Republican governor's actions and programs.

But the series of resolutions expressing support still must be confirmed either at a May 5-7 state convention in Long Beach or by a referendum vote of local units before becoming official policy of the 9,500-member volunteer group.

The stand was contained in a resolution saying the state budget faces a "substantial deficit"—estimated at $473 million next year—which Reagan has been trying to reduce with economies.

It was adopted with no debate —as were most of the other 21 resolutions passed by the board.

Also approved with no debate was a resolution pushing for repeal of the 1963 Rumford Housing Act, which forbids racial discrimination in sale and leasing of most housing in California.

Two To Retire

Lt. Col. (Army Nurse Corps) Angeline P. Jankoviak of 219 Marin Avenue, Mill Valley, and Spec. 7 Francis J. Hoag of 8 Edison Avenue, Corte Madera, will be among 21 Army officers and non-commissioned officers retiring in ceremonies on the main parade ground at the Presidio of San Francisco at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

FINAL JOURNEY FOR ASTRONAUTS

Bodies Leave Cape For Honor Rites; Probers Study Charred Craft Pictures

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With heroes' honors, the remains of America's three Apollo 1 astronauts go toward their burial sites today as the nation mourns and investigators search to answer the torturing question: "How did it happen?"

With military escorts, flag-draped coffins containing Air Force Lt. Cols. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee departed in the same plane this morning from a Cape Kennedy landing strip.

A brief ceremony was held at the airfield, located less than four miles from the launch pad where the spacemen died Friday in a ball of flame that flashed through their moonship.

After a flight of about one hour, the Air Force jet carrying their remains landed at Andrews Air Force Base in Washington. From there, the bodies of Grissom and Chaffee go to Arlington National Cemetery, where three other U.S. astronauts, killed in plane crashes, are also buried.

The two Apollo 1 pilots will be buried there tomorrow.

White's body will be taken to a Highland Falls, N.Y., funeral home to await burial at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point tomorrow at 11 a.m.

At Cape Kennedy, the 12-man board of inquiry continued probing the tragedy, looking at photographs taken of the cockpit, interviewing witnesses and studying data.

All that remains inside Apollo 1 is a gutted, charred mass of burnt-out wires and scattered debris, an eyewitness said.

George Alexander, a writer for Aviation Week magazine who represented all news media when the space agency permitted one reporter to inspect them moonship yesterday, said the inside of Apollo 1 looked "like the cockpit of an aircraft in World War II that took a direct hit."

NASA has not announced what will become of the Apollo 1 spaceship, but most observers agree it is too heavily damaged to ever carry men into space.

One theory was that a spark, perhaps from a battery or faulty electrical connection, triggered a fire and the flame—fed by pure oxygen in the cabin — swept through the cockpit in seconds, perhaps combusting with gas fumes or contaminants in the oxygen.

The fire that killed three astronauts in the Apollo space capsule Friday was the latest in a series of blazes that have erupted during the training exercises, a University of Rochester scientist says.

The earlier fires, Dr. Wallace O. Fenn told reporters, occurred in decompression chambers that were large enough for the astronauts to escape to safety.

Fenn said he recalled one incident about two years ago but was unable to pinpoint the dates of that or the others.

Fenn, who was interviewed Saturday by the Rochester Democrat & Chronicle, is a professor of physiology at the university's medical school and former director of Rochester's Space Science Center.

Dr. Albert Craig, a colleague, said a chamber rigged for a simulated 30-day space flight nearly became a deathtrap three years ago for astronauts in training. The men, he said, fled to an adjoining chamber when they were unable to extinguish a fast-spreading fire.

Officials of NASA in Washington had no immediate comment on Fenn's or Craig's statement.

STORM DAMAGE SALE
3 Days — TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY

We did not plan it, but we have to do it! When the rains came last week-end part of our warehouse, and one corner of our main floor were flooded because of an overflowing drain. Fortunately we saw the trouble as it began to develop, and while we could not prevent it, by prompt action, and working late into the night we were able to move all of the threatened stock out of danger. Until we can "clean up the mess," our display floor is jammed full and overcrowded.

In order to "clear the aisles" and give us room, Braverman's is conducting this 3-day storm-damage sale. All of the merchandise left over from our January sale will continue "on sale" at special prices. Much of it has been reduced even more. Many of the new pieces that just arrived for Spring have also been reduced below their intended price to help us make room.

Right now space is very important, and you can profit by the savings in effect on most of the furniture in stock. If you have been thinking about a new sofa, or chair, a dining set or bedroom set . . . whatever you've been waiting for, may we suggest you visit Braverman's during the next three days. Don't mind if the aisles are crowded. Our display floor is not as neat as we'd like it to be, that's why we're trying to make room by holding this sale.

Here are just a few examples of the kind of savings you can make: Cut Velvet Pillow Back Spanish Sofa was $675.00 now $495; Oriental Bedroom Set was $845.00, now $695; Kroehler Club Sofa in Sage Green Quilt was $299.50 now $189.50; Club Chairs were $119.50, now $68.50; Provincial Dining Sets were $498.50 now $398; plus many, many more items, practically two-thirds of the merchandise on hand reduced from 20%, 30%, up to 50%, for the next three days.

All sales final, all merchandise sold to be delivered as soon as possible. Of course Braverman's usual budget terms available, up to two years to pay on convenient monthly payments.

Japan Liberals Maintain Hold

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's party won another big but reduced majority in Japan's Lower House elections yesterday, weathering charges of corruption and turning Communist China's turmoil against the leftists.

But eight of the nine independents elected are likely to support the Liberal Democrats, raising their majority to 84.

The chief opposition party, the pro-Peking Socialists, also suffered a setback. The Communists failed to win as many seats as they expected although their percentage of the total vote improved slightly.

Bomber Raid Near Saigon; GIs Increase

U.S. Investigates Copters' Attack On 200 Sampans

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U. S. B-52 bombers staged their closest raid to Saigon of the Vietnam war today. Simultaneously, 3,200 more American infantrymen arrived in the country to join the growing U.S. force in the Mekong Delta.

The B-52s unloaded their explosives on a base camp of the Viet Cong's 165A regiment 16 miles west-southwest of Saigon. The strike was two miles closer to the capital than any previous raid by the bombers and shook windows in Saigon.

In two clashes Jan. 21, South Vietnamese paratroopers reported killing 117 men of the 165A regiment.

Over North Vietnam, U.S. jet bombers struck the Thai Nguyen railroad yard 35 miles north of Hanoi yesterday and for the second day ranged along the Ca River for concentrated assaults on cargo barges.

Ground fighting in South Vietnam diminished to small, scattered clashes.

PROBE ATTACK

The U.S. command continued an investigation of an attack by three U.S. helicopters on a fleet of 200 sampans in the Mekong Delta in which a U.S. spokesman said 31 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 38 wounded.

The spokesman said the sampan fleet was attacked Saturday night and early yesterday during the curfew hours after some of the sampans fired on the helicopters. He said the civilians told interrogators they were on the move in violation of the curfew because the Viet Cong was in the area and they anticipated allied attacks.

The latest American troops to arrive were the 2nd Brigade of the 9th Infantry Division and supporting artillery, medical, supply, signal, military police and maintenance units.

The 3,200 men came ashore from the troopship Pope at Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon. They brought the division to its full strength, 15,000 men, and increased the total announced American strength in Vietnam to 404,000 men.

The gunship helicopters attacked the sampan fleet on the Bassac River 78 miles southwest of Saigon Saturday night after the helicopters received automatic - weapons fire from two positions on the sampans and one on the River Bank, a U.S. spokesman said.

ON MISSION

Although full details of the incident were not known, the spokesman said the three helicopters were on a reconnaissance mission in an area where intelligence reports indicated a Viet Cong main force unit was operating.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

We Stand To Lose Something With Educational Park Idea

The neighborhood elementary school, a familiar feature of the American scene since colonial days, seems on its way to at least temporary eclipse.

In its place, we are told by leading educators, we will have "educational parks." Latest to add his endorsement to this concept was Alan B. Wilson, University of California education professor, who this month urged the educational park idea on the State Committee on Public Education, an official citizen committee.

WILSON, LIKE OTHERS before him, called educational parks the most promising method of dealing with the educational needs of "culturally disadvantaged children."

He urged that they be operated by local school districts in conjunction with teacher training colleges or regional education laboratories. Local districts, he said, are "too committed to traditional methods and too immersed in day by day administration to conduct the necessary experimentation."

These educational parks may not be parks in the common sense. They may have neither hiking trails nor trees, swings or picnic tables. But each will be a cluster of buildings, for schooling through elementary and high schools and perhaps college. And in each, the children from a rather wide area will go to school together—getting there, presumably, by bus.

ROBERT G. LAMP, research associate in the Stanford University school planning laboratory, envisions educational parks as remaking the whole concept of schools, providing schooling "for those from age 3 to 93 and . . . open from 7 a.m. 'til midnight."

This latest variation of the central school idea has received its greatest impetus from the cry for integration of the public schools. It is not only in the South that schools are separate and unequal. Poor neighborhoods — and particularly Negro neighborhoods — tend to have poor schools.

At a Sacramento conference last year, Dan W. Dodson, director of New York University's center for human relations and community studies, blasted the neighborhood school as a place where "people hide from encounters with each other and shield themselves from involvement with those who are different." His solution was to "integrate the neighborhood school into centralized community school complexes" — again, the educational park.

SOME EDUCATORS have already written off the neighborhood school as outmoded, a relic of horse and buggy days.

It is an older relic than that. The first school districts in the United States, apparently, were those formed to operate neighborhood schools. The district was the area served by a single school, and there were often several in one town.

The tradition persists, and although the tiny districts have mostly vanished except in rural areas, the neighborhood school has remained.

IT REMAINS as more than a convenience in location of classrooms. Each neighborhood school is a focal point, a gathering place, a physical embodiment of the amalgam that sticks the neighborhood together.

And it serves its community in a special way, as H. Thomas James, dean of Stanford University's school of education, noted in a recent address at a Los Angeles seminar sponsored by the College Entrance Examination Board. Said Dr. James:

"Neighborhood schools would serve quite different expectations in an upper-class suburb of San Francisco, a Jewish suburb of Boston, a predominantly Roman Catholic village in the Fox River Valley of Wisconsin, or an all-Negro suburb of Los Angeles.

"THE SCHOOL that served one community would, if transported with buildings, teachers, and materials of instruction intact, almost certainly outrage virtually every other community. The surest way to increase the outrage would be to include half the pupils from one community when the school was moved to another."

This raises questions: Would the educational park answer the needs of all the neighborhoods it sought to serve? Would it answer them well enough to be worth the extra cost of hauling so many pupils by bus, and the loss to each neighborhood of its focal point, its neighborhood amalgam?

Arms Selling By U.S. Is Hit In Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Vigorous sales campaigns" by the Defense Department have contributed to the international arms race contrary to United States foreign policy, a Senate committee charges.

A report by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff, released yesterday, said "dynamic and aggressive" salesmanship has boosted U.S. military sales overseas by 600 per cent since the 1950s.

The Defense Department has received $11.1 billion in foreign military orders and commitments since 1962 through its Office of International Logistic Negotiations, the document stated. It said the ILN had a staff of 21 professional officers broken into sales teams.

"While the financial success of the U.S. military sales is beyond dispute," adds the report, "there is ample reason for concern as to the side effects of the vigorous sales campaigns.

Plane Crashes Into Mountain

RED BLUFF (UPI) — The bodies of four Spokane, Wash., residents were found yesterday in the wreckage of a light plane on the snow-covered south slope of Mount Lassen.

A four-man ski rescue team of rangers from Mount Lassen National Park discovered the wreckage in about seven feet of snow between the 6,000 and 7,000 foot levels of the rugged mountain.

They dug through a foot and a half of snow which had fallen since the crash to find the bodies.

The plane, en route to Hayward, from Klamath Falls, Ore., was last heard from Saturday when the pilot, identified as William B. Martin, radioed for help.

The plane's passengers were identified as Martin's wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bright. Authorities said all four were from Spokane, where the flight originated.

Injuries Minor In Collision

James D. Verbish, 19, of San Francisco suffered a cut lip and cut forehead in a two-car collision on Highway 101 just south of the Corte Madera overpass at 11:15 p. m. Saturday , the California Highway Patrol reported.

Officers said a car driven by Verbish collided with one driven by William M. Blessing, 57, of 51 Lakeside Drive, Corte Madera.

Verbish was treated at Marin General Hospital. Olive Claudia Blessing, 54, of 51 Lakeside Drive, a passenger in the Blessing car, suffered back pains but refused hospitalization, officers said.

Denmark Ambassador Visits Aldersly Home

Holiday spirits mixed naturally with some nostalgic tears at San Rafael's Aldersly Danish Home Saturday when Torben Roenne, Denmark's ambassador to the United States, arrived to recall memories of the motherland.

"It is a pleasure to visit the place where so many of our countrymen spend the evening of their lives," Roenne told the eldery Danish residents of the home.

Roenne, who was accompanied by his wife Consuelo, said he brought greetings from the king and queen of Denmark, who visited the home in 1960.

"In spite of the distance, this home is close to Denmark, because your hearts are so often there. And, Denmark will never forget her sons ad daughters who emigrated to the new world," he said.

The formal program ended when 96-year-old Johanne Mathiesen, a resident of the home, welcomed the ambassador's wife with a bouquet of roses, then promptly drew her to a corner to talk of the homeland.

The Roennes circled the social hall, stopping to visit with, but mostly to listen to, the residents of the home.

"They tell me the part of the country they come from, what kind of towns they lived in and what they did. Then they tell me what they've done since they came to this country. They all seem very satisfied," Roenne said.

"You know, this home represents social understanding—socialism in an American way. In Denmark we have homes for the elderly financed by the government. Here, the home is supported with private money."

Roenne, who has been ambassador to the United States since 1965, is on his first visit to California.

Carrier Pulled Off Sand Bar

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — The aircraft carrier Essex lay at anchor today at Roosevelt Roads Naval Air Station near here after being pulled from a sand bar late last night five miles off Puerto Rico's east coast.

The Navy said the 849-foot carrier was freed by Navy tugs after much of its fuel was pumped off and its helicopters flown to Roosevelt Roads to lighten the 25-year-old ship.

Equal Rights Policy Is Hit

SACRAMENTO (AP) — America has promised its Negro citizens a new life of equality, but has gone back on that pledge, the leader of a sizable Jewsih group declares.

The statement was made Saturday night by Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath of New York, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. It is a group of about one million Reform Jews. He spoke to the body's Northern California conference.

"We have promised them a new day and we have now given them closed doors," he said of the Negroes. "Despite the most liberal Congress in American history, despite landmark legislation and court decisions, there is more segregation today than 10 years ago."

The rabbi also criticized some Negro militancy.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

We Stand To Lose Something With Educational Park Idea

The neighborhood elementary school, a familiar feature of the American scene since colonial days, seems on its way to at least temporary eclipse.

In its place, we are told by leading educators, we will have "educational parks." Latest to add his endorsement to this concept was Alan B. Wilson, University of California education professor, who this month urged the educational park idea on the State Committee on Public Education, an official citizen committee.

WILSON, LIKE OTHERS before him, called educational parks the most promising method of dealing with the educational needs of "culturally disadvantaged children."

He urged that they be operated by local school districts in conjunction with teacher training colleges or regional education laboratories. Local districts, he said, are "too committed to traditional methods and too immersed in day by day administration to conduct the necessary experimentation."

These educational parks may not be parks in the common sense. They may have neither hiking trails nor trees, swings or picnic tables. But each will be a cluster of buildings, for schooling through elementary and high schools and perhaps college. And in each, the children from a rather wide area will go to school together—getting there, presumably, by bus.

ROBERT G. LAMP, research associate in the Stanford University school planning laboratory, envisions educational parks as remaking the whole concept of schools, providing schooling "for those from age 3 to 93 and . . . open from 7 a.m. 'til midnight."

This latest variation of the central school idea has received its greatest impetus from the cry for integration of the public schools. It is not only in the South that schools are separate and unequal. Poor neighborhoods — and particularly Negro neighborhoods — tend to have poor schools.

At a Sacramento conference last year, Dan W. Dodson, director of New York University's center for human relations and community studies, blasted the neighborhood school as a place where "people hide from encounters with each other and shield themselves from involvement with those who are different." His solution was to "integrate the neighborhood school into centralized community school complexes" — again, the educational park.

SOME EDUCATORS have already written off the neighborhood school as outmoded, a relic of horse and buggy days.

It is an older relic than that. The first school districts in the United States, apparently, were those formed to operate neighborhood schools. The district was the area served by a single school, and there were often several in one town.

The tradition persists, and although the tiny districts have mostly vanished except in rural areas, the neighborhood school has remained.

IT REMAINS as more than a convenience in location of classrooms. Each neighborhood school is a focal point, a gathering place, a physical embodiment of the amalgam that sticks the neighborhood together.

And it serves its community in a special way, as H. Thomas James, dean of Stanford University's school of education, noted in a recent address at a Los Angeles seminar sponsored by the College Entrance Examination Board. Said Dr. James:

"Neighborhood schools would serve quite different expectations in an upper-class suburb of San Francisco, a Jewish suburb of Boston, a predominantly Roman Catholic village in the Fox River Valley of Wisconsin, or an all-Negro suburb of Los Angeles.

"THE SCHOOL that served one community would, if transported with buildings, teachers, and materials of instruction intact, almost certainly outrage virtually every other community. The surest way to increase the outrage would be to include half the pupils from one community when the school was moved to another."

This raises questions: Would the educational park answer the needs of all the neighborhoods it sought to serve? Would it answer them well enough to be worth the extra cost of hauling so many pupils by bus, and the loss to each neighborhood of its focal point, its neighborhood amalgam?

More Marin Homes Slide As More Rain Forecast

home was demolished yesterday when it threatened to slide onto homes below. The Travers' swimming pool is also being undermined, Mistron said.

Stone, who moved into his daughter's home in Fairfax Saturday night, blamed "carelessness on the developer's part" for the loss of his home, and said he planned to see his attorney.

In Sausalito yesterday, 60 feet of a hillside oozed into three buildings on Bridgeway, but the hill appeared to have stopped moving today.

REAR WALL

The slide pushed in the rear wall of the Tide Bookstore and threatened two other buildings—one housing the Sandal Shop and Takahashi Imports and the other housing the G. G. Apparel Shop.

Public Works Supt. Norman Wohlshlaeger said today, "if it slides any more, it will cave in the back of the buildings."

He closed and evacuated the buildings yesterday and said they will remain closed until it is clear the slide will not move again.

About eight tons of mud were reportedly removed from the patio behind the G. G. Shop yesterday, carted by wheelbarrow through the shop for removal by trucks.

In the afternoon,traffic was diverted at Bridgeway and Anchor Street, but limited use of the street was restored by 8 p. m.

The California Highway Patrol also reported a slide on the Sausalito lateral near the entrance to Fort Baker and Barry. The earth movement caused a two-car accident there at 6:10 p. m. yesterday, the CHP said.

HOME ABANDONED

In San Anselmo, the home of Edward Salza at 90 Woodside Drive, abandoned because of slippage before the rains started, slid about 15 feet down the slope.

The parking lane in front of the home has been closed because rain is undermining the pavement, said Public Works Director Charles R. Leitzell. San Anselmo City Council scheduled an emergency meeting to discuss the problem at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Leitzell reported mud is beginning to run off the Red Hill slide, where four apartment houses were demolished Jan. 21, but said the main mass of the slide is not moving.

A worried tenant at the Tower Apartments at 108 Professional Center Parkway, San Rafael, reported this morning that a hill behind the building was sliding.

TREES DOWN

It knocked down trees and power lines, she said, blanking electrical power in the area, and oozed up to a depth of two feet at the rear of the building. The mud was knocking down rails around the backyard swimming pool and entering the pool, she said. None of the tenants was leaving the building.

County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost reported minor slides on several county roads during the weekend, temporarily blocking traffic.

Most troublesome slides were on Wolfe Grade, he said, where one blocked the westbound lane most of Saturday on the West Slope of the hill.

ROAD CLOSED

The Fairfax-Bolinas Road was closed by washouts on the western slope. A slide closed the southbound lane of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard a half mile south of Inverness yesterday. It was cleared, then a second slide closed the lane there again this morning.

In Kentfield, minor flooding was reported in Granton Park, with Laurel, Cedar and Locust Avenues today.

In Fairfax, city public works crews labored in the rain to build a bridge over a portion of Upper Cypress Drive washed out by landslide a week ago. They hoped to finish the job today.

In San Rafael, Public Works Director Norris Rawles reported some flooding starting in the Bret Harte Area. Raw sewage was reportedly overflowing on the sidewalk by the Marin County Health Department at Fourth Street and Grand Avenue.

In Novato, Warner Creek overflowed its banks early today, with worst flooding occurring along Diablo Avenue and South Novato Boulevard.

In Tamalpais Valley, a tree fell at 7:30 a.m. today, blocking the 500 block of Marin Avenue for about a half hour.

There were two major power failures over the weekend, according to Z. P. Melcon, electrical superintendent for Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

At 10:30 p.m. Saturday, trees fell across power lines blanking power to 900 customers in the Kentfield area. Power was restored by 11:42 p.m., he said.

A car driven by Ronald W. Curran, 35, of San Jose struck a power pole at Tiburon Boulevard and Avenida Miraflores at 10 p.m. yesterday, blanking power to 2,200 Tiburon Peninsula customers. All but 300 customers along the boulevard had power restored by 10:57 p.m.; others had to wait until 3:08 a.m. today, Melcon said.

In San Rafael, the rainfall in the 48 hours to noon today was 3.69 inches, pushing the total for the season to 40.53.

Rainfall for other areas for the 48 hours to 8 a.m. today included: Ross, 4.67; Larkspur, 3.76; San Anselmo , 3.86; Woodacre, 3.58; Point Reyes Station, 2.83; Bolinas, 2.19; Mill Valley, 2.92; Sausalito, 1.92; Terra Linda, 3.8; Hamilton Air Force Base, 2.13; Novato, 2.9.

Storm Damage Near $1 Million

Storm damage to private property in Marin will go over $1 million, County Disaster and Civil Defense Coordinator James V. Burdick said today.

Burdick's office is collecting estimates of losses to present to engineers from the state disaster office, who are to inspect the county tomorrow to see if it should be declared a disaster area.

At noon today, Burdick said there had been reports of $775,000 in losses so far.

"Some of these are low estimates," he said. Reports were still coming in this afternoon.

Officials from the State Disaster Office will be at the planning commission chamber in the Civic Center at 10 a.m. tomorrow to gather evidence on flood damage, State Sen. John F. McCarthy reported.

Water Diverted; Pipeline Break

A water main broke yesterday at 6 a.m. on Miller Creek Road, Marinwood, but no services were affected, according to construction Supt. Hector P. Puccinnelli of Marin Municipal Water District.

The pipeline was sealed off and water was diverted from another line for the area, Puccinnelli said.

Turning to highway safety and beauty, Johnson said continued financing of these programs must be provided.

To accomplish this, he said, he recommends creation of a special highway safety and beauty trust fund to be financed with the receipts from two percentage points of the excise tax on new automobiles.

To develop the nation's resources, Johnson said the time has come to encourage the development of power from geothermal steam springs on federal lands, develop rapid excavation techniques to reduce the cost of underground construction, and examine nonfuel mineral needs.

And he called for steps to increase scientific knowledge of the resources of the sea. Johnson mentioned specifically efforts to develop economic and acceptable methods of converting fish protein into a usable source of food.

He said also he has asked the secretary of interior to cooperate with industry to find solutions to technical problems and to seek ways to reduce the cost of placing utility transmission lines underground.

Johnson renewed his recommendation for legislation to establish a national water commission with a view to insuring an adequate supply of pure water in arid areas like the Southwest.

Card Room Is Sought By Barber

A motel owner and a barber who "wants only to serve God" will add card rooms to their establishments if the San Rafael City Council approves their applications.

An application for an eight-table card room at 719 Francisco Boulevard in Bermuda Palms has been filed by owner Irving D. Litchfield..

And an application for one card table in the rear of his Bon Ton Barber Shop at 877 Fourth Street has been filed by Robert Hilberg, a barber who has refuesed to join the Barbers Union because he thinks its activities are contrary to the Bible and has said, "I want only to serve God."

The applications will go before the city council at its Feb. 6 meeting. City council approval is necessary for any card room to operate in San Rafael.

would bring the visitor promotion cost to $63,800.

To help lure business to Marin, he proposes a program of "business-oriented opportunities" promotion including $3,600 for a monthly newsletter, $5,000 for a brochure, $875 for business fact sheets and their binders, $1,250 for memberships in San Francisco Bay Area Council and California Chamber of Commerce and subscriptions to professional publications, $8,000 to city chambers of commerce "only for special projects of county concerns," and $3,000 for transportation, travel and miscellaneous. This totals $21,725.

Douglas says the county can continue the general procedure now followed in promotion through several organizations, give all its funds to one organization, expand the department of economic development to carry on the entire program, or create a promotion commission with power to spend money raised from the hotel-motel room tax.

"Continuing the same general procedure has not been successful," he declares.

More Marin Homes Slide As More Rain Forecast

home was demolished yesterday when it threatened to slide onto homes below. The Travers' swimming pool is also being undermined, Mistron said.

Stone, who moved into his daughter's home in Fairfax Saturday night, blamed "carelessness on the developer's part" for the loss of his home, and said he planned to see his attorney.

In Sausalito yesterday, 60 feet of a hillside oozed into three buildings on Bridgeway, but the hill appeared to have stopped moving today.

CLEANUP JOB—Foster Hines of San Rafael Meadows pushed wheelbarrows of mud through GG Dress Shop next door to Tides Book Store on Bridgeway in Sausalito as a slide threatened it yesterday. (Independent-Journal photo)

REAR WALL

The slide pushed in the rear wall of the Tide Bookstore and threatened two other buildings—one housing the Sandal Shop and Takahashi Imports and the other housing the G. G. Apparel Shop.

Public Works Supt. Norman Wohlshlaeger said today, "if it slides any more, it will cave in the back of the buildings."

He closed and evacuated the buildings yesterday and said they will remain closed until it is clear the slide will not move again.

About eight tons of mud were reportedly removed from the patio behind the G. G. Shop yesterday, carted by wheelbarrow through the shop for removal by trucks.

In the afternoon,traffic was diverted at Bridgeway and Anchor Street, but limited use of the street was restored by 8 p. m.

The California Highway Patrol also reported a slide on the Sausalito lateral near the entrance to Fort Baker and Barry. The earth movement caused a two-car accident there at 6:10 p. m. yesterday, the CHP said.

HOME ABANDONED

In San Anselmo, the home of Edward Salza at 90 Woodside Drive, abandoned because of slippage before the rains started, slid about 15 feet down the slope.

The parking lane in front of the home has been closed because rain is undermining the pavement, said Public Works Director Charles R. Leitzell. San Anselmo City Council scheduled an emergency meeting to discuss the problem at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Leitzell reported mud is beginning to run off the Red Hill slide, where four apartment houses were demolished Jan. 21, but said the main mass of the slide is not moving.

A worried tenant at the Tower Apartments at 108 Professional Center Parkway, San Rafael, reported this morning that a hill behind the building was sliding.

TREES DOWN

It knocked down trees and power lines, she said, blanking electrical power in the area, and oozed up to a depth of two feet at the rear of the building. The mud was knocking down rails around the backyard swimming pool and entering the pool, she said. None of the tenants was leaving the building.

County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost reported minor slides on several county roads during the weekend, temporarily blocking traffic.

Most troublesome slides were on Wolfe Grade, he said, where one blocked the westbound lane most of Saturday on the West Slope of the hill.

ROAD CLOSED

The Fairfax-Bolinas Road was closed by washouts on the western slope. A slide closed the southbound lane of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard a half mile south of Inverness yesterday. It was cleared, then a second slide closed the lane there again this morning.

In Kentfield, minor flooding was reported in Granton Park, with Laurel, Cedar and Locust Avenues today.

In Fairfax, city public works crews labored in the rain to build a bridge over a portion of Upper Cypress Drive washed out by landslide a week ago. They hoped to finish the job today.

In San Rafael, Public Works Director Norris Rawles reported some flooding starting in the Bret Harte Area. Raw sewage was reportedly overflowing on the sidewalk by the Marin County Health Department at Fourth Street and Grand Avenue.

In Novato, Warner Creek overflowed its banks early today, with worst flooding occurring along Diablo Avenue and South Novato Boulevard.

In Tamalpais Valley, a tree fell at 7:30 a.m. today, blocking the 500 block of Marin Avenue for about a half hour.

There were two major power failures over the weekend, according to Z. P. Melcon, electrical superintendent for Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

At 10:30 p.m. Saturday, trees fell across power lines blanking power to 900 customers in the Kentfield area. Power was restored by 11:42 p.m., he said.

A car driven by Ronald W. Curran, 35, of San Jose struck a power pole at Tiburon Boulevard and Avenida Miraflores at 10 p.m. yesterday, blanking power to 2,200 Tiburon Peninsula customers. All but 300 customers along the boulevard had power restored by 10:57 p.m.; others had to wait until 3:08 a.m. today, Melcon said.

In San Rafael, the rainfall in the 48 hours to noon today was 3.69 inches, pushing the total for the season to 40.53.

Rainfall for other areas for the 48 hours to 8 a.m. today included: Ross, 4.67; Larkspur, 3.76; San Anselmo, 3.86; Woodacre, 3.58; Point Reyes Station, 2.83; Bolinas, 2.19; Mill Valley, 2.92; Sausalito, 1.92; Terra Linda, 3.8; Hamilton Air Force Base, 2.13; Novato, 2.9.

Storm Damage Near $1 Million

Storm damage to private property in Marin will go over $1 million, County Disaster and Civil Defense Coordinator James V. Burdick said today.

Burdick's office is collecting estimates of losses to present to engineers from the state disaster office, who are to inspect the county tomorrow to see if it should be declared a disaster area.

At noon today, Burdick said there had been reports of $775,000 in losses so far.

"Some of these are low estimates," he said. Reports were still coming in this afternoon.

Officials from the State Disaster Office will be at the planning commission chamber in the Civic Center at 10 a.m. tomorrow to gather evidence on flood damage, State Sen. John F. McCarthy reported.

Water Diverted; Pipeline Break

A water main broke yesterday at 6 a.m. on Miller Creek Road, Marinwood, but no services were affected, according to construction Supt. Hector P. Puccinnelli of Marin Municipal Water District.

The pipeline was sealed off and water was diverted from another line for the area, Puccinnelli said.

Turning to highway safety and beauty, Johnson said continued financing of these programs must be provided.

To accomplish this, he said, he recommends creation of a special highway safety and beauty trust fund to be financed with the receipts from two percentage points of the excise tax on new automobiles.

To develop the nation's resources, Johnson said the time has come to encourage the development of power from geothermal steam springs on federal lands, develop rapid excavation techniques to reduce the cost of underground construction, and examine nonfuel mineral needs.

And he called for steps to increase scientific knowledge of the resources of the sea. Johnson mentioned specifically efforts to develop economic and acceptable methods of converting fish protein into a usable source of food.

He said also he has asked the secretary of interior to cooperate with industry to find solutions to technical problems and to seek ways to reduce the cost of placing utility transmission lines underground.

Johnson renewed his recommendation for legislation to establish a national water commission with a view to insuring an adequate supply of pure water in arid areas like the Southwest.

Card Room Is Sought By Barber

A motel owner and a barber who "wants only to serve God" will add card rooms to their establishments if the San Rafael City Council approves their applications.

An application for an eight-table card room at 719 Francisco Boulevard in Bermuda Palms has been filed by owner Irving D. Litchfield..

And an application for one card table in the rear of his Bon Ton Barber Shop at 877 Fourth Street has been filed by Robert Hilberg, a barber who has refuesed to join the Barbers Union because he thinks its activities are contrary to the Bible and has said, "I want only to serve God."

The applications will go before the city council at its Feb. 6 meeting. City council approval is necessary for any card room to operate in San Rafael.

NO PLACE TO GO WHEN THE RAIN FALLS

Perhaps because misery loves company, these robins huddled together as closely as they could while rain fell in San Rafael yesterday. Independent-Journal photographer Jim Kean got their picture as they clustered on electric wires in front of 15 Solar Court.

Death Row Escape Try Is Thwarted

Four condemned prisoners failed today in an effort to saw their way out of San Quentin Prison's Death Row.

The escape attempt was thwarted when one of the prisoners, Gregory Powell, 33, was seen walking outside his Death Row cell. Sgt. Francis P. Gaspar, a guard, telephoned an alarm and nine other guards recaptured Powell without resistance.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said Powell and three other condemned men, using hack saw blades, had cut through cell bars. Powell had left his cell to cut window bars when caught. The others remained behind.

The men had prepared dummies to leave in their cells by stuffing clothing with paper.

Once out the window, they had planned to climb the roof of the north cell block and lower themselves about 60 feet to the ground outside with a rope fashioned with torn sheets, Parks said.

Guards said they found hacksaw blades in the prisoners' cells. An investigation as io how they got there was launched.

Powell and a partner were convicted of killing a Los Angeles policeman. The three caught with him were Edmund Earl Reeves, 27, accused of killing a man during a Kern County burglary; Joshua Nicholas Hill, 22, convicted of the murder of a liquor store attendant during a Los Angeles holdup, and Charley Luther Pike, 33, convicted of killing a policeman during an auto supply store robbery in Los Angeles County.

They were placed in isolation cells after their capture, and will be taken to the district attorney and charged, Park said.

Warren Luster, Prison officer of the day, said most of the other Death Row prisoners slept through the commotion.

There are 62 inmates on Death Row. Only one, Dorman Talbot, 26, from Santa Clara County, who with several partners killed a young man for his Navy pay, is the only one whose death date has been set. He is scheduled to die in the gas chamber March 1.

San Quentin has been tense lately as a result of Jan. 18 violence when Negro and white inmates squared off for a racial battle in the main yard, in which guards had to fire riot guns and tear gas. Eight prisoners suffered gunshot wounds and seven others were beaten in the melee.

Colonel In Hospital In Two-Car Wreck

Army Lt. Col. William Ziegler, 38, of 37 Bungalow Avenue, San Rafael, was in fair condition today at Letterman Hospital in San Francisco, with a concussion and scraped head suffered at 9:50 a.m. yesterday when his southbound auto on Lindaro Street, San Rafael, was struck broadside by a car driven east on Second Street by Beverly R. Foster, 27, of 1 Fern Lane, San Anselmo.

She reportedly told San Rafael police her foot slipped off the brake pedal as she tried to stop for a red light at the intersection.

Data Processor To Resign Post

Duane Broshious, 30, of Petaluma, will quit his $10,440 a year job as operations supervisor with the Marin County Data Processing Department to become data processing manager for Key Insurance Exchange, which will move its offices from San Francisco to Novato next Month.

The firm is seeking a contract for part-time use of the county's computer until it has one of its own.

Broshious is the senior member of the county department, having worked there nearly eight years.

Passenger Hurt In Auto Accident

A passenger suffered a sprained ankle at 7:25 p.m. yesterday as two cars collided on rain-slick highway 101 at the Sausalito off-ramp.

A car driven by Elva Bowker Farr, 57, of 30 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, southbound on the off-ramp, collided with one driven by Earl Juno Parker, 39, of 35 Cole Drive, Marin City, turning left toward Marin City, according to California Highway Patrol.

Linden Daley, 19, of 30 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, a passenger with Mrs. Farr, was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Voter League Tells Views On Charter

The League of Women Voters of Central Marin today proposed that two more San Rafael city charter changes be added to the list proposed by a charter revision committee for the April 10 city ballot.

Mrs. H. James Compton, president, said the membership of the league felt the San Rafael Board of Education, "being an elected body, should fill its own vacancies."

"We believe the board of education is thoroughly competent to make such appointments, especially since the city council does not represent all the areas under jurisdiction of the board," she said.

The league also urged that the term of mayor be changed from two years to four years to "give a mayor a greater opportunity to be effective than is possible under today's two-year term."

Both the proposed changes were considered and rejected by the charter revision committee.

The league said also that "information of fiscal matters should be consolidated in the charter under the department of finance."

Mrs. Compton announced the league agreed with the revision committee's proposal for a strong city manager with duties spelled out in the charter. City councilmen last week said they preferred to merely include the city manager position in the charter and have the duties spelled out by ordinance—which can be changed by council action.

A committee of the league headed by Mrs. Joseph Turina has been making a study of the charter.

Purse Is Stolen

Margaret L. Sauer of Bermuda Palms complained to San Rafael police that someone stole her purse, containing $55, from the bar area of Bermuda Palms while she was cleaning there from 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Strong-Arm Robbery Suspects Arrested

Two Tamalpais Valley men were arrested by Sheriff's officers today for investigation of strong-arm robbery and assault with a deadly weapon upon an off-duty bartender during a game of "liar dice" in his Sausalito apartment.

Held in county jail were Gary Waldo Upton and Robert Gainer Fielding, both 26 and of 809 Spring Drive.

Deputies said Robert E. Helighe Jr. 30-year-old San Francisco bartender, suffered cuts over the right eyebrow and under his chin, swelling of both eyes, and several teeth loosened in the assault.

He declined medical treatment, they said.

They said the three apparently met in a Sausalito bar last night. When the bar closed, according to Helighe, he invited the pair to his apartment at 1 Ebbtide Avenue, for more drinks.

Helighe said he had won between $200 and $265 in a dice game when Fielding grabbed the money and refused to return it. Then, he said, the pair knocked him down and kicked him several times in the face, then left with the money.

Fielding and Upton went to Sausalito headquarters voluntarily and reported the fracas.

Novato Boy, 17, Reported Missing

Darrell Richard Chase, 17, was missing today from his home at 2013 Shady Lane, Novato, and has not been seen since he left after a family argument at 10 p.m. Friday, according to Novato police.

Frank A. Compos, his stepfather, reported him missing. He described the youth as five feet nine inches tall, of slender build, weighing 135 pounds with brown hair and eyes. He was wearing a blue plaid shirt and tan or light green trousers when he left home.

Possible Jumper

Viola Todt of Vallejo, who abandoned her car at Vista Point last Wednesday may have jumped from the Golden Gate Bridge, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Miss Todt's sister, Mrs. Jack Phillips of Pacifica, told the highway patrol she had not seen Miss Todt since last Tuesday. Mrs. Phillips said her sister had been under psychiatric care.

NO PLACE TO GO WHEN THE RAIN FALLS

Perhaps because misery loves company, these robins huddled together as closely as they could while rain fell in San Rafael yesterday. Independent-Journal photographer Jim Kean got their picture as they clustered on electric wires in front of 15 Solar Court.

Death Row Escape Try Is Thwarted

Four condemned prisoners failed today in an effort to saw their way out of San Quentin Prison's Death Row.

The escape attempt was thwarted when one of the prisoners, Gregory Powell, 33, was seen walking outside his Death Row cell. Sgt. Francis P. Gaspar, a guard, telephoned an alarm and nine other guards recaptured Powell without resistance.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said Powell and three other condemned men, using hack saw blades, had cut through cell bars. Powell had left his cell to cut window bars when caught. The others remained behind.

The men had prepared dummies to leave in their cells by stuffing clothing with paper.

Once out the window, they had planned to climb the roof of the north cell block and lower themselves about 60 feet to the ground outside with a rope fashioned with torn sheets, Parks said.

Guards said they found hacksaw blades in the prisoners' cells. An investigation as io how they got there was launched.

Bagley's Chairmanship Is Feather In Our Cap

Sen. John F. (Jack) McCarthy of San Rafael, one of the senior senators in Sacramento and Senate Republican leader for the past seven years, has brought prestige to Marin in the upper house.

Now comes Assemblyman William T. Bagley, also from San Rafael, who has just been elevated to the chairmanship of the important Assembly Judiciary Committee.

Next to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, the Judiciary is considered one of the key committees. As chairman of Judiciary, Bagley is in line to represent the State Assembly on the State Judicial Council. It has been traditional that the chairmen of judiciary of both houses are assigned to the Judicial Council.

In his new post, Assemblyman Bagley gains state-wide stature in his legal profession because of his constant contact with officers and leaders of the State Bar Assn.

The State Bar always has a large legislative program, calling for bills to make substantive and procedural changes in the law and courts. As chairman of the Judiciary Committee, he will be handling a large portion of the State Bar's legislative program.

This is also the committee which will process most of the new Administration's legislation to strengthen the fight against crime.

Bagley has also been assigned to two other major committees—Government Organization and Revenue and Taxation.

The promotion of Marin's Assemblyman is a source of pride to the county and a personal feather in Bagley's cap.

Republican gains in the last election are reflected in the new committee assignments that gave the Republicans 11 Assembly committee chairmanships to 15 for the Democratic majority.

Our two Republican legislators have given us effective representation in Sacramento. Now, with Senator McCarthy in his eighth year as Republican leader and Assemblyman Bagley holding down a key chairmanship, we can be assured of an even more influential voice in the Legislature.

BURIED SKIERS HELPED BY TINY MAGNET

A tiny magnet is saving the life of many a skier caught in snow slides that roar down the steep mountain slopes of the Austrian Alps.

The magnet, carried on a string around the neck of a skier, is used together with a gadget that looks like a divining rod. It registers vibrations from the magnet, both on an instrument panel and by giving off a buzzing sound.

The transmission from the magnet can be picked up by the rod if the victim is buried under snow not more than 12 feet deep. Below that depth a person would be crushed by the weight of the snow.

Many skiers killed each year by the "white death" could be saved if discovered in time, rescuers claim.

Just as a tiny magnet can be instrumental in rescuing a life, so your personal efforts, however small, can have a similar effect.

They may be a decisive factor, in God's providence, in bringing hope into the lives of persons in desperate need either spiritually or physically.

"In great or small matters do not act amiss." (Sirach 5:15)

Keep me reminded, O divine Master, of the great value of even the smallest prayer, word or deed.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Reagan Expected Soon To Ax Office Of Consumer Counsel

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—One of the many difficult jobs a new administration faces is chopping out the deadwood accumulated by its predecessors. Gov. Ronald Reagan is finding plenty of deadwood and is paving the way for some forceful application of the ax.

One of the first dead trees to come under his scrutiny was the Office of Consumer Counsel. This office operated for a period of nearly eight years at a cost of more than a million dollars to taxpayers of the state.

ACHIEVEMENTS of the office, under the supervision of Helen Nelson of Mill Valley, were highly questionable, as far as value to the California public was concerned. In fact, in eight years of operation, there is a question as to whether it accomplished anything at all of meaningful import.

The office at one time did issue a statement advising the public that there was too much water in canned hams. It also issued a few brochures pointing out the amount of interest being paid on various types of loans, which most borrowers already knew.

NOW THE NEW administration is about convinced it wants to get rid of the office, and wipe it entirely from the processes of state government.

The administration thinking is not without some support from the public. The Better Business Bureau of Sacramento has urged the governor to discontinue the office. This bureau has had a good many years of experience in keeping the trade marts of the community in line for the protection of the public. And it has its counterparts throughout the state. So the question rises, what need is there for a consumer counsel?

But, getting rid of a state agency is not a simple matter of writing it off with the stroke of a pen. Once an agency is entrenched, and has its foot in the taxpayers' door, it takes some doing to wipe it off the books.

THE CONSUMER counsel is a sample of the deadwood which probably should be eliminated, but which will take some facts and figures to prove the elimination is in the public interest.

First, the consumer counsel, along with many other luxury state agencies, boards and commissions, is a legally constituted part of the state government. It was created by act of the legislature, which means, in effect, by act of the people.

A governor cannot write off what the legislature by law has created. He could, of course, withhold funds for the agency in his budget, but this would be a roundabout and questionable way of cutting any agency off at the pockets.

THE PROPER WAY to eliminate unnecessary and unwanted activities of government is by the body which created them, namely, the legislature. This appears to be the course the governor is attempting to follow in dealing with the office of consumer counsel.

To gather facts and figures for an evaluation of the worth of the office, he has appointed a new consumer counsel, to succeed Mrs. Nelson. This new counsel, Kay Valory, is hard at work at the present time going over the reams of material gathered over an eight-year period.

In due course of time, it is anticipated that a bill will be introduced in the legislature repealing the law which created the consumer counsel's office. And from the tenor of the legislature, as well as the financial situation of the state it's almost a safe bet the unnecessary agency will be chopped out.

College Student Doubts I-J Integrity

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In your article of Jan. 10, you have once again demonstrated your fallibility, sir . . .

To begin with, there never was a "little Berkeley" rebellion at the College of Marin. You, I assume, coined that cute phrase to sell newspapers. However, if you had bothered to quote either me or anyone else accurately, you would have had to say something to the effect that what was occurring at COM was action designed to accomplish a redress of grievances—not a confrontation with the administration.

Second, the fact that you go on to misquote student body President Donna Ryan as saying that nothing was ever happening, as it was only myself who was aggrieved, illustrates what has graciously been called yellow journalism.

The President was not referring to the actions taking place on campus insofar as the grievances were concerned, but rather that there never was, nor was there intended, a rebellion at the College of Marin.

In Miss Ryan's justified denial of a potential revolution at the College of Marin, I wholeheartedly agree. It was you who inferred that there was a possible revolt on campus — not I, nor Miss Ryan, nor anybody else concerned with the affair.

Now, as far as my wanting to be Mario Savio, I can only conclude that you must possess a certificate in psychiatry; and, somehow, have corraled me for a goodly length of time, in order to proffer such an astounding analysis of my psychological desires.

As to your inference that I hedged in an interview about the feasibility of a petition, you are quite right. I purposefully stated that now is a totally unpropitious time to begin a concerted effort at influencing the Administration . . . I stated plainly that with finals coming on, nobody was in a position to engage in that type of activity.

Before you again call something either a movement or a non-movement, you had better do a little investigating . . . If persuasion is necessary that there was a good deal of faculty and student support for the actions that were under way, then I'll be only too happy to conduct you personally to at least 200 students and 10 to 20 faculty members who were interested and supported the proposed actions.

. . . You have demonstrated an acute lack of sincerity in your reporting, and have justifiably planted a seed of doubt in the minds of many about either your efficiency or your integrity.

The Trident Defends Image

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A recent story in the Independent-Journal headed "Trident Denied Sign Request; Image Rapped" reported that the Trident was denied a new sign by the Sausalito City Council and "told to do something about its public image."

We wish to remind the Independent-Journal, the Sausalito City Council and Sausalito Mayor Mel Wax The Trident's "public image" is cause for justifiable pride, not only on the part of The Trident, but also on the part of the entire Marin County community.

Critic Leonard G. Feather, nationally syndicated columnist, echoed the feelings of the press world when he described The Trident as "a spot that offers good music, fine food, a pleasant setting, picture window, a panoramic view of the Bay, seagulls and yachts—instead of smoke and gloom; The Trident offers too entrancing a setting to be stigmatized as 'a nightclub.' "

During the five years of its existence, The Trident has played host to Princess Irene of Greece, Lynda Bird Johnson, Sen. Ted Kennedy, Martin Luther King, Brooks Atkinson, Max Lerner, Maestro Josef Krips, Walter Cronkite, Max Rafferty, opera star Marie Collier, Norman Mailer, Consul General Adolpho Dominquez of Mexico, and countless celebrities in the world of cinema, theater and music.

On a continuing basis, The Trident has presented to Bay Area audiences such internationally renowned artists as Bola Sete, Bill Evans, Denny Zeitlin, Brasil '65, Vince Guaraldi and Jon Hendricks.

The accusation, as carried in the Independent-Journal, that The Trident is "noisy and garish" is grossly untrue; the atmosphere during the evenings often approaches that of a concert hall. We quote from the Philip Elwood review of Jan. 21 in the San Francisco Examiner: "Bola Sete's . . . sounds radiate from The Trident's glass bandbox as if to challenge the beauty of the twinkling lights across the Golden Gate. The midnight crowd is silent, attentive, lost in their dreams. . . . "

We submit that this reflects the real "public image" of The Trident, rather than the vague complaints of an infinitesimal, albeit vocal minority. We know that The Trident has won overwhelming acceptance among Marin County residents, who appreciate not only the prestige, but also the sizable revenue which this internationally known tourist attraction brings to their community.

Fluoridation Quotes Wrong

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Mrs. Helena Franklin has erred greatly in her letter to you regarding fluoridation of public water supplies (Jan. 25, 1967.) I must bring to her attention that there is no medical evidence whatsoever of any physical or mental harm occuring from fluoridated water supplies. Even in parts of the country where fluorine is abundant naturally in the water in much greater quantities than is ever necessary for caries reduction has there been medical evidence of harmful effects from it.

Expense is certainly no factor here either. The cost for one year of fluoridation in a water supply will be about ten cents per person. Certainly a low price to pay for the up to 60 per cent caries reduction in our children that it will provide.

She speaks of human rights and compulsory medication, etc. Does she realize that the water supplies are chlorinated to protect her from typhus and dysentery and various other diseases? Would she and others like her oppose the use of chlorine and other additives in water?

The people of Marin County will eventually vote in favor of fluorine in the water supply. Many, many other communities and even whole states have recognized the definite advantages of a fluoridated water supply. All Mrs. Franklin has to do is ask her dentist. Over 90 per cent in California are overwhelmingly in favor of it.

TRY AND STOP ME

THE WIFE of a doughty soldier in Vietnam wrote such a touching letter to her congressman, telling him how her home and family were going to pot without him, that the congressman moved Heaven and earth to get him back—and succeeded. What was his consternation when, running for re-election in November, he found this very returned soldier campaigning feverishly against him. "You are an ungrateful so-and-so," he told the ex-soldier angrily. "Me ungrateful?" was the heated reply. "Why didn't you mind your own business? The Real Stumbling Block To Negotiating With Hanoi

WASHINGTON — Why is Hanoi so unwilling to negotiate a settlement of the Vietnam war?

It seems to me that the answer emerges clearly from dispatches recently written by two newspapermen who have recently visited North Vietnam. The real reason is quite different from what Hanoi says it is.

Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times, for example, reports that the basic stumbling block to even a first step toward a Vietnam conference table is the question of confidence — each side's total lack of confidence in the other.

THAT IS THE stated reason given by North Vietnamese officials and evidently shared by Salisbury. But I submit that, if you read carefully the quoted statements which the North Vietnamese Premier made in the Salisbury interview and which Ho Chi Minh made to Bill Baggs of the Miami News, you will discover that lack of confidence in U. S. motives is not the stumbling block.

The stumbling block to negotiations is the fact that Hanoi is not prepared to accept an independent, self-governing South Vietnam — which is the only kind of negotiated settlement either South Vietnam or the U. S. will accept.

OBVIOUSLY, distrust on each side for the other is a factor which makes it more difficult to get negotiations underway, but it is certainly not the real barrier. The real barrier is the substance of a future settlement and the statements which the Hanoi officials made to both Salisbury and Baggs prove this to be the case.

Salisbury summed up one aspect of his interviews in these words:

"Hanoi's fear is profound that all talk of conferences and peaceful agreements as a way of ending the war is likely to mean tricks that will . . . destroy what Hanoi regards as the political domination in the South of the National Liberation Front or Viet Cong.

There is the stumbling block to negotiation.

THE NORTH Vietnamese government is stating in so many words that it is wary of any and all peace talks for fear that it would not yield to the Viet Cong "the political domination in South Vietnam" which it demands.

This is a valid fear. Certainly South Vietnam and the U. S. are not going to negotiate away the independecne of the nation or give "political domination" to the Viet Cong unless the Viet Cong can achieve dominance by peaceful participation in free elections. Thus far the Viet Cong have spurned any part in free elections. Instead, they resorted to force.

Both Salisbury and Baggs quote Hanoi officials as making another point which, they say, makes peace talks uninviting.

President Ho said: "We will never surrender our independence and freedom for the sake of peace in our country."

But nobody is asking North Vietnam to surrender its independence or is seeking to destroy its independence—unless by "independence" President Ho means the right of North Vietnam to take over South Vietnam.

IF THE U. S. were seeking to destroy the independence of North Vietnam, it could have done so long before now.

The U. S. has never suggested that the independence of North Vietnam would at any point be a stake in a settlement of the Vietnam war.

Thus, it becomes clear, I think, that Hanoi's refusal to talk peace does not come primarily from distrust, but rests visibly on the determination and the hope that it will find some way to establish, in Mr. Salisbury's words, "the political domination in the South" by the Viet Cong.

If there be misunderstanding here, then I have one suggestion: Why not a conference to explore the possibilities of peace talks?

U.S., Russ Unite On China's Health

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Despite the U.S.-Soviet stalemate over Vietnam, Secretary Rusk and Ambassador Dobrynin have found common ground for conducting talks on the growing turmoil in Communist China.

These informal discussions, carried on under the tightest secrecy, revolve around a potentially highly dangerous "health manace" developing in China — the spread of Asian flu, pneumonic plague and cholera.

WITH THESE DEADLY diseases appearing in epidemic proportions in several northern and western provinces, U. S. and Russian officials are gravely concerned that the spreading civil disorder in China may turn that country into a massive incubator of epidemics.

As outlined in these talks, the threatening health hazard centers on the exodus of Chinese refugees, which is expected to greatly increase as the tumult mounts.

While the Rusk-Dobrynin talks so far have dealt mainly with exchanging information, U. S. insiders report that possible "separate but coordinated" measures have been broached.

THE U. S. PROPOSAL would provide funds to be handled through the United Nations to countries bordering China to set up better quarantine programs in dealing with refugees.

Another proposal by Russia would make available to Peking, through either third parties or the U. N., drugs and medical teams to keep the epidemic diseases from getting out of control.

While the discussions have been largely exploratory and nothing resembling an agreement has been reached, they are continuing. In referring them to assistants, Secretary Rusk characterized the conferences as "very much worthwhile," and expressed the belief they would lead to concrete action by the two countries.

One reason U. S. authorities are intently watching China's epidemics is the growing number of U. S. troops in Vietnam and Thailand.

If the diseases spread south to these countries, they could do more damage than the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

Russia is faced with an even more immediate health danger. It has thousands of troops on or near its far-flung borders with Red China.

SHUI-SHENG, a Red Guard defector, the most important to flee China, has told intelligence authorities that the flu epidemic in the northern provinces has already spread into adjacent Soviet areas.

A Red Guard officer, Shuisheng escaped to Macao after five days of flight from police, dogs and other pursuers. He reported that anti-flu masks have been issued to the Red Guard and army units in an effort to curb the spreading disease, but so far to no avail.

The State Department has finally partially confirmed reports that Russian and Cuban engineers are digging a network of tunnels near this country's heavily fortified naval base at Guantanamo.

This column first disclosed these operations last September.

Bagley's Chairmanship Is Feather In Our Cap

Sen. John F. (Jack) McCarthy of San Rafael, one of the senior senators in Sacramento and Senate Republican leader for the past seven years, has brought prestige to Marin in the upper house.

Now comes Assemblyman William T. Bagley, also from San Rafael, who has just been elevated to the chairmanship of the important Assembly Judiciary Committee.

Next to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, the Judiciary is considered one of the key committees. As chairman of Judiciary, Bagley is in line to represent the State Assembly on the State Judicial Council. It has been traditional that the chairmen of judiciary of both houses are assigned to the Judicial Council.

In his new post, Assemblyman Bagley gains state-wide stature in his legal profession because of his constant contact with officers and leaders of the State Bar Assn.

The State Bar always has a large legislative program, calling for bills to make substantive and procedural changes in the law and courts. As chairman of the Judiciary Committee, he will be handling a large portion of the State Bar's legislative program.

This is also the committee which will process most of the new Administration's legislation to strengthen the fight against crime.

Bagley has also been assigned to two other major committees—Government Organization and Revenue and Taxation.

The promotion of Marin's Assemblyman is a source of pride to the county and a personal feather in Bagley's cap.

Republican gains in the last election are reflected in the new committee assignments that gave the Republicans 11 Assembly committee chairmanships to 15 for the Democratic majority.

Our two Republican legislators have given us effective representation in Sacramento. Now, with Senator McCarthy in his eighth year as Republican leader and Assemblyman Bagley holding down a key chairmanship, we can be assured of an even more influential voice in the Legislature.

BURIED SKIERS HELPED BY TINY MAGNET

A tiny magnet is saving the life of many a skier caught in snow slides that roar down the steep mountain slopes of the Austrian Alps.

The magnet, carried on a string around the neck of a skier, is used together with a gadget that looks like a divining rod. It registers vibrations from the magnet, both on an instrument panel and by giving off a buzzing sound.

The transmission from the magnet can be picked up by the rod if the victim is buried under snow not more than 12 feet deep. Below that depth a person would be crushed by the weight of the snow.

Many skiers killed each year by the "white death" could be saved if discovered in time, rescuers claim.

Just as a tiny magnet can be instrumental in rescuing a life, so your personal efforts, however small, can have a similar effect.

They may be a decisive factor, in God's providence, in bringing hope into the lives of persons in desperate need either spiritually or physically.

"In great or small matters do not act amiss." (Sirach 5:15)

Keep me reminded, O divine Master, of the great value of even the smallest prayer, word or deed.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Reagan Expected Soon To Ax Office Of Consumer Counsel

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—One of the many difficult jobs a new administration faces is chopping out the deadwood accumulated by its predecessors. Gov. Ronald Reagan is finding plenty of deadwood and is paving the way for some forceful application of the ax.

One of the first dead trees to come under his scrutiny was the Office of Consumer Counsel. This office operated for a period of nearly eight years at a cost of more than a million dollars to taxpayers of the state.

ACHIEVEMENTS of the office, under the supervision of Helen Nelson of Mill Valley, were highly questionable, as far as value to the California public was concerned. In fact, in eight years of operation, there is a question as to whether it accomplished anything at all of meaningful import.

The office at one time did issue a statement advising the public that there was too much water in canned hams. It also issued a few brochures pointing out the amount of interest being paid on various types of loans, which most borrowers already knew.

NOW THE NEW administration is about convinced it wants to get rid of the office, and wipe it entirely from the processes of state government.

The administration thinking is not without some support from the public. The Better Business Bureau of Sacramento has urged the governor to discontinue the office. This bureau has had a good many years of experience in keeping the trade marts of the community in line for the protection of the public. And it has its counterparts throughout the state. So the question rises, what need is there for a consumer counsel?

But, getting rid of a state agency is not a simple matter of writing it off with the stroke of a pen. Once an agency is entrenched, and has its foot in the taxpayers' door, it takes some doing to wipe it off the books.

THE CONSUMER counsel is a sample of the deadwood which probably should be eliminated, but which will take some facts and figures to prove the elimination is in the public interest.

First, the consumer counsel, along with many other luxury state agencies, boards and commissions, is a legally constituted part of the state government. It was created by act of the legislature, which means, in effect, by act of the people.

A governor cannot write off what the legislature by law has created. He could, of course, withhold funds for the agency in his budget, but this would be a roundabout and questionable way of cutting any agency off at the pockets.

THE PROPER WAY to eliminate unnecessary and unwanted activities of government is by the body which created them, namely, the legislature. This appears to be the course the governor is attempting to follow in dealing with the office of consumer counsel.

To gather facts and figures for an evaluation of the worth of the office, he has appointed a new consumer counsel, to succeed Mrs. Nelson. This new counsel, Kay Valory, is hard at work at the present time going over the reams of material gathered over an eight-year period.

In due course of time, it is anticipated that a bill will be introduced in the legislature repealing the law which created the consumer counsel's office. And from the tenor of the legislature, as well as the financial situation of the state it's almost a safe bet the unnecessary agency will be chopped out.

Chris Kelly Wants To Learn About Newspapers, Government

Should Chris Kelly ever decide to enter the newspaper field, I fear that I will not be able to take much credit for it. I may have even scared him off.

Chris, 12, is a seventh grader at Miller Creek School. He and I did the beat together Friday morning at the Civic Center.

It soon became obvious that Chris should be in the newspaper field. His questions were much more probing than mine.

FOR INSTANCE, he wanted Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino to tell him exactly what the county counsel's office did. Chris' dad is an attorney, and Chris pressed the question pretty hard.

This prompted a very lengthy answers from Godino. He said that even some attorneys just out of law school had no idea of the functions of a county counsel.

This was a question I have long been reticent to ask, but Chris kept probing until he had an answer. We need people like that in the newspaper business.

"What has all this got to do with the newspaper?" Chris asked Godino next. I was a little stunned by then, but the friendly Godino came up with something about matters of interest to the public. It was a good answer.

IN THE COUNTY planning department, I had the burden of explanation. The best way I could put it was by asking a question myself.

"You wouldn't want someone to build a hot dog stand next to your house, would you?"

Chris thought about this for a moment before allowing that a hot dog stond would probably not be too good.

"Well, the planners," I explained, "are here to see that such things as that don't happen."

We did not get into housing density, slope policy and planned development projects.

Chris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Kelly of 34 Mount Whitney Drive, Upper Lucas Valley, was not there in search of a vocation. He was there to put together a report for his English teacher, Miss Joan Tibbetts.

HE HAD ALREADY read a book on newspapers, but said that traveling around on a beat was better than trying to get information out of a book.

We did not get to the welfare, assessor, treasurer-tax collector, purchasing and economic development offices. Not that we avoided them, it was just that a good deal of time was needed to explain that the operation of one of the I-J's bureaus was only a small part of the paper's total effort in collecting the news.

I offered to take Chris down to the main office in San Rafael where the paper is put together, but by noon he was patting a pocket full of notes and said he figured he had plenty.

FOR ME THE experience brought home the fact that both newspapers and government are a lot more complex than they were in Ben Franklin's day. It will take a new generation of reporters and editors to try to keep up with it all.

I sure hope Chris gets a good grade on that English paper.

My Uncle Oscar Is Willing To Accept U.C. Presidency

WASHINGTON—When President Clark Kerr was fired by California's Board of Regents last week, I immediately got a call from my uncle Oscar.

"I hear they're looking for a new president for the University of California. You know anybody out there I can speak to?"

"Gee, Uncle Oscar, what credentials do you have to become the president of the largest university in the country?"

"WHAT CREDENTIALS did Ronald Reagan have to become governor of the state??" he said hopefully.

"That's different, Uncle Oscar, and let's keep politics out of this. The beautiful thing about the university system in California is that it remains above politics. Now what are your qualifications for the job?"

"I saw 'King's Row,' 'Brother Rat' and 'Knute Rockne' three times. I'm one of Reagan's biggest fans. I still choke up every time I see a rerun of 'Death Valley Days.' "

"I'm sure the governor will be very pleased to hear it, Uncle Oscar, but he has a great deal of respect for education and he would't hire someone to run his school system just because the person was a movie fan."

"I SHOULD HOPE not," Uncle Oscar said. "A state university system is a very serious thing and they should get someone who knows how to handle kids."

"Now you're talking Uncle Oscar. What is your feeling about California students paying tuition to go to school?"

"I not only think the kids should pay tuition, but the teachers should, too. You're not going to have a balanced budget in California unless the professors pay their own way."

"That's pretty radical, Uncle Oscar. There are very few schools in the country that require professors to pay tuition in order to teach."

"WELL, JUST because they've been doing it one way for so long is no reason why they can't change. You have to get the money for the schools somewhere."

"There has been a lot of unrest on California campuses in the past few years. Do you have any idea how you can do away with it?"

"I'd build up a strong university police force. Instead of putting all that money into new buildings and research, I'd put it into police equipment — you know, amored cars, riot helmets, tear gas masks and things like that. You get enough cops on campus and the students will run for the hills."

"THAT'S PRETTY strong medicine."

"Well, they did it at the universities in Argentina and you don't have any student unrest down there."

"That's a point," I said. "What would you do to encourage a strong, independent faculty?"

"What's that?"

"Well, in order to have a good university system you've got to attract brilliant men who believe in what they're doing."

"I'D GET CONTROL of the library. If you have the key to the library, nobody's going to mess with you."

"You make sense, Uncle Oscar. Now there is one more thing that everyone's going to insist on, and that is that the University of California must be kept out of the political arena. How do you plan to do this?"

"I'll do away with the student government for a start."

"Okay, Uncle Oscar, I'll pass on your application to the Board of Regents, but I wouldn't count on your getting the job."

"Why not? Who else are they going to get?"

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RICK LYTTLE

Chris Kelly Wants To Learn About Newspapers, Government

Should Chris Kelly ever decide to enter the newspaper field, I fear that I will not be able to take much credit for it. I may have even scared him off.

Chris, 12, is a seventh grader at Miller Creek School. He and I did the beat together Friday morning at the Civic Center.

It soon became obvious that Chris should be in the newspaper field. His questions were much more probing than mine.

FOR INSTANCE, he wanted Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino to tell him exactly what the county counsel's office did. Chris' dad is an attorney, and Chris pressed the question pretty hard.

This prompted a very lengthy answers from Godino. He said that even some attorneys just out of law school had no idea of the functions of a county counsel.

This was a question I have long been reticent to ask, but Chris kept probing until he had an answer. We need people like that in the newspaper business.

"What has all this got to do with the newspaper?" Chris asked Godino next. I was a little stunned by then, but the friendly Godino came up with something about matters of interest to the public. It was a good answer.

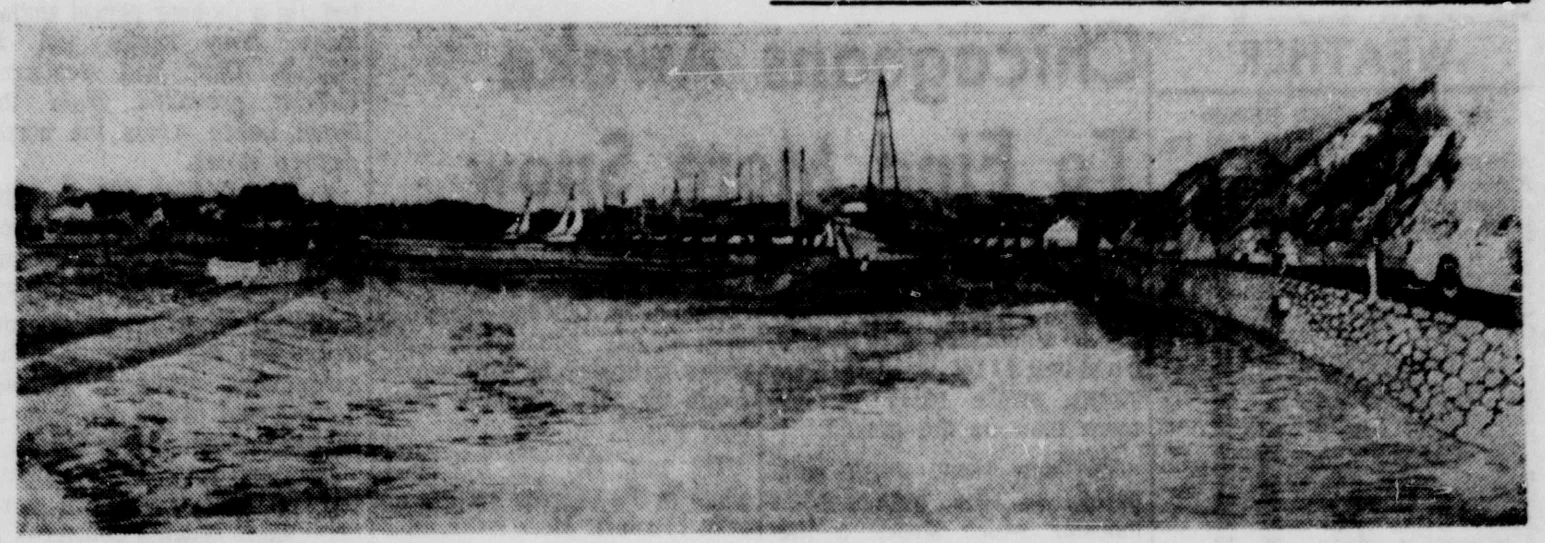
BEFORE DEVELOPMENT—Bolinas Lagoon looking northwest from Shoreline Highway as it appears today in a sketch by Marin County planner Darryl Coneybeare.



AND AFTER—The same spot as envisaged by Coneybeare if development proposed by Bolinas Harbor District takes place. A seawall, right, reinforces new road.

Opposition Has Day At Bolinas

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Two planners employed by Marin County, but appearing in what they explained was their "professional capacity," provided the rallying point Saturday for conservationists opposing plans to develop Bolinas Lagoon.

But apparently unwilling to tread on too many tender toes, county chief of advanced planning Albert Solnit stressed he and colleague Darryl Coneybeare were not about to cause trouble.

He told a standing-room-only meeting called by Bolinas-Stinson Beach unit of the Marin Conservation League to oppose Bolinas Harbor District plans development of the lagoon: "We are not here to stir up anything in the way of a confrontation between the county and the harbor district, although at the staff level, some of us do differ with points in the plan."

NOT BOARD'S VIEW

Several times he pointed out the two planners did not represent the view of the county board of supervisors, which has yet to make a decision of the controversial project. It has been placed in "freeze" until next month to allow time for the county and harbor district to study precise details further.

Trouble there was not. Only one minor outburst caused a surface ripple on what otherwise was a calm and smooth meeting in the Bolinas Community Center.

One boat owner was shouted down when he asked what right the county or anyone else had to overide "the majority of the taxpayers in the community" who had said they wanted a boat harbor in the lagoon.

ADVERSE FINDINGS

Unlike debates of the supervisors and planning commission who heard both sides of the lagoon argument, Saturday's meeting concentrated on a reiteration of the adverse findings of the plan prepared for the harbor district by Mill Valley achitect Norman T. Gilroy.

Solnit called Gilroy "a fine young architect although new at the planning game."

The concern of the county planners, he said, was centered on three main points: earthquake hazard, siltation, and preservation of wildlife.

Ground conditions in the area for certain buildings provide high risk, he considered, and if it is necessary to develop these sites "we should wait to see the extent of the precautions to be taken."

SILTATION PROBLEM

Siltation, he said, was a problem best tackled at its source and he could see no validity in the harbor district's contention that dredging was justified immediately.

Construction in the watershed which would herald a land development boom would accelerate silting in the lagoon, he said.

On wildlife, Solnit said the lagoon is a "rich treasure chest" for plant and animal communities. He did not envisage the area allowed for wildlife in the Gilroy plan would insure the maintenance of the lagoon as a natural habitat.

Solnit, who has a cabin near Stinson Beach, added: "These issues are only secondary to the real issue of what is the quality of the environment we want to end up with.

"We believe that this is the central question on which we shall soon have to make a choice."

CHALK DRAWING

Fellow planner Coneybeare, a former Australian seven months in Marin, said he thought Bolinas unique not only to the county, but also to California and the rest of the country.

He unveiled sepia chalk sketches of his projection of how the lagoon would look before and after development. The "before" drawings drew applause, the "after" projection hisses and laughter.

Coneybeare admitted some people had told him the "after" sketches made the area more attractive. "It doesn't really matter which you prefer," he said. "We have tried to see the change."

He disclosed his own preference later, however. "We are losing something we cannot create," he told the audience. "Are we prepared to pay the price of this sort of development?"

Youths Arrested In Fatal Beating

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Eight youths from two teen gangs here are under arrest today, charged with the brutal beating-death of a man at Ocean Beach last weekend.

Police said there are six or seven more still to be picked up.

The arrest of the eight came after two boys, picked up by police yesterday for glue-sniffing said in the rear of a patrol car, "If these punks knew what we did at the beach last week they'd show us more respect."

Police questioned the pair at the Hall of Justice and subsequently arrested the other six. All are members of either the Eureka Valley or Noe Street gangs.

James N. Stoltz, 35, a file clerk, was found on a shoulder of the Great Highway last Sunday with massive head injuries. He died two days later.

Cushing Plans Latin America Retirement

BOSTON, (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston says he will retire to Latin America when he reaches age 75, and expects no opposition to his plans.

The cardinal has said in the past that he has asked to go to Latin Amerrica but was turned down by superiors.

"I've had it," he told more than 2,000 priests, nuns and laymen gathered in his honor. "The great liberals of today's Church have no sense of humor."

Cardinal Cushing, who will be 72 in August, said the Pope "won't dare to say no" to the retirement, because "nobody's understood me since Pope John XXIII."

In Latin America, he said he plans to be a father confessor to priests and nuns, "because I'm the easiest confessor in the Church," and serve as a "challenge to United States bishops to send more priests to Latin America."

Cardinal Cushing tossed aside a prepared speech in favor of the impromptu remarks at the closing assembly Saturday night of the fourth annual conference of the Catholic Inter-American Cooperation Program.

Health Center Report Is Due

The Marin Hospital District Board will consider revision of the district's contract with the county on financing the Community Mental Health Center today at 6 p.m. in the Coral Room at Marin General Hospital.

Ray K. Bolinger, hospital administrator, said the board will consider revising a section of the contract which specifies that additional costs in building the center, beyond the estimated costs, will be divided equally between district and the county.

The board may appoint someone to replace Judge Hadden W. Roth as director.

Regional Government Need Is Agreed Upon

By DAVID DIETZ

SAN FRANCISCO—Bay Area legislators and public officials agreed Saturday on the need for a regional government, but differed on the speed with which it should be formed.

Three, including Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce, urged prompt creation of a regional body, while State Sen. J. Eugene McAteer of San Francisco sought support for his bill to create a legislative study commission on the plan.

'TOWN MEETING'

The opinions came out at the Bay Area "town meeting," sponsored by the League of Women Voters of San Francisco and the Urban Life Institute of University of San Francisco. About 350 persons attended the seminar in the university's Phelan Hall.

Bruce, a member of a panel that included Sausalito Mayor Mel Wax as moderator, said legislation forming a regional government should be passed this year.

He acknowledged that its initial form might comprise only a federation of local governments, but felt that a timetable should be developed for election of representatives under the one-man, one-vote concept.

Bruce also urged:

1. That a plan be devised to absorb existing regional districts handling specific problems.
2. That the electorate be permitted to decide whether the body once formed, should take on additional authority.
3. That restriction be placed on the regional government in order to maintain the "character" of a locality.
4. That a revenue-raising plan be adopted that "would do more than cover the administrative costs and study expenses" of the proposed body.
5. That housing and transportation problems be tackled first by the regional government.

Agreeing with Bruce were San Francisco Mayor John F. Shelley and Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose.

ENDORSES BILL

Shelley endorsed a bill introduced by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, which would turn the Assn. of Bay Area Governments into a regional government body. ABAG asked such action last month.

Warning against creation of more special-purpose districts, Shelley said:

"If more were formed, we will find ourselves confronted with a state-dominated, uncoordinated and fragmented supergovernment."

BEGIN NOW

Vasconcellos, co-author of the Knox bill, sparred briefly with McAteer, whose legislation would require a study commission to report on the form of regional government in January, 1969.

"This will not wait endless years," Vasconcellos declared. "We should begin hearings now, and get going on the local level, at least."

Retorted McAteer: "We have to go to the people first and win their support of this plan. We need their willingness to support another tax. We're not ready for legislation. There is a need for extensive investigation and exploration.

CRITICAL OF ABAG

McAteer also was critical of ABAG for recommending speedy enactment of a regional government bill, while unable to agree over the form the body should take.

Earlier, Don Fazackerley, vice president of the San Francisco Bay Area Council, urged in a keynote address that the plans of Knox and McAteer be joined in a regional government try.

Kerr Reports On His Ouster

NEW YORK (AP) — Clark Kerr, fired as president of the University of California, is quoted in this week's issue of Newsweek magazine as saying the move to oust him began late last year and that Gov. Ronald Reagan's role in his dismissal was "very substantial."

Newsweek quoted Kerr as saying in an interview:

"There was a strong suggestion from a close supporter of Gov. Reagan That I resign prior to Jan. 1. And the governor privately met with some of the regents the week before the action was taken."

Lighted Matches In Deposit Box

Someone dropped a lighted book of matches into the overnight deposit box at Crocker-Citizens National Bank in the Corte Madera Shopping Center yesterday about 1 a.m., according to Corte Madera police.

B. A. Sill, assistant vice president of the branch bank, said the matches went out without doing any damage. Someone called police at 1:24 a.m. to report that smoke was coming from the box, but Sill told police the box had a time lock and could not be opened.

Redwood Students Plotting Overthrow Of Peking Regime

By LOUISE NEMSCHOFF

Redwood High School Student

Ten Redwood High School students are plotting a strategic overthrow of the Communist regime in Peking.

Sound ridiculous? Maybe. But this is the task of the 10 student delegates representing the Republic of China in the high school Model United Nations.

University of California at Berkeley annually sponsors the Model U.N., designed to parallel the real U.N. as closely as possible while giving students a look at other points of view. Each participating school is designated to represent a country and then is given nearly a year to research that country's policy.

At this year's assembly, to be held Feb. 9, 10 and 11, in Berkeley, Redwood delegates Peter Birdsall of Tiburon, Bob Foster of Greenbrae, Sue Girtler of Tiburon, Scott Hansen of San Rafael, Roger Klemm of Corte Madera, Jim Lazarus of San Anselmo, Louise Nemschoff of Kentfield, Ed Schimberg of Corte Madera, and two observers to be chosen later, will represent the Republic of China. Defending this precarious position is quite a change from last year's role as Albania.

A feature of Redwood's Model U.N. is a current world problems course open to the delegates and other exceptional social studies students. The class is a seminar based on student research and discussion projects. "It's an extraordinary learning experience. We research topics and then discuss (or argue) them," remarked delegation chairman Jim Lazarus.

This year's China delegation at Redwood finds both staunch allies and sharp opposition in delegations from Marin County schools. Drake High School will represent the U.S.A.; Marin Catholic, Bolivia; Terra Linda, the Netherlands; San Domenico, Denmark, and Tamalpais, both Lebanon and North Vietnam observer delegation. San Rafael, Novato and Tomales are not participating.

New active cases of tuberculosis in the U. S. number about 50,000 yearly.

Boys, Parents Due Questioning

Seven San Rafael teen-age boys and their parents will meet with police tomorrow to discuss incidents of Saturday afternoon, when four of them allegedly stripped a 16-year-old girl and the other three retaliated by beating them up.

The boys reportedly pulled the pants off the girl, claiming they had won a game of strip poker. She called her boy friend and he and his friends allegedly beat the four.

Police said the girl was not raped and none of the boys required hospital care for his wounds.

Guitars Stolen

Marc E. Tuel and George J. Trenchard told San Rafael police yesterday that their two guitars, worth $585, were stolen from an apartment at 99 Clark Street sometime Friday.

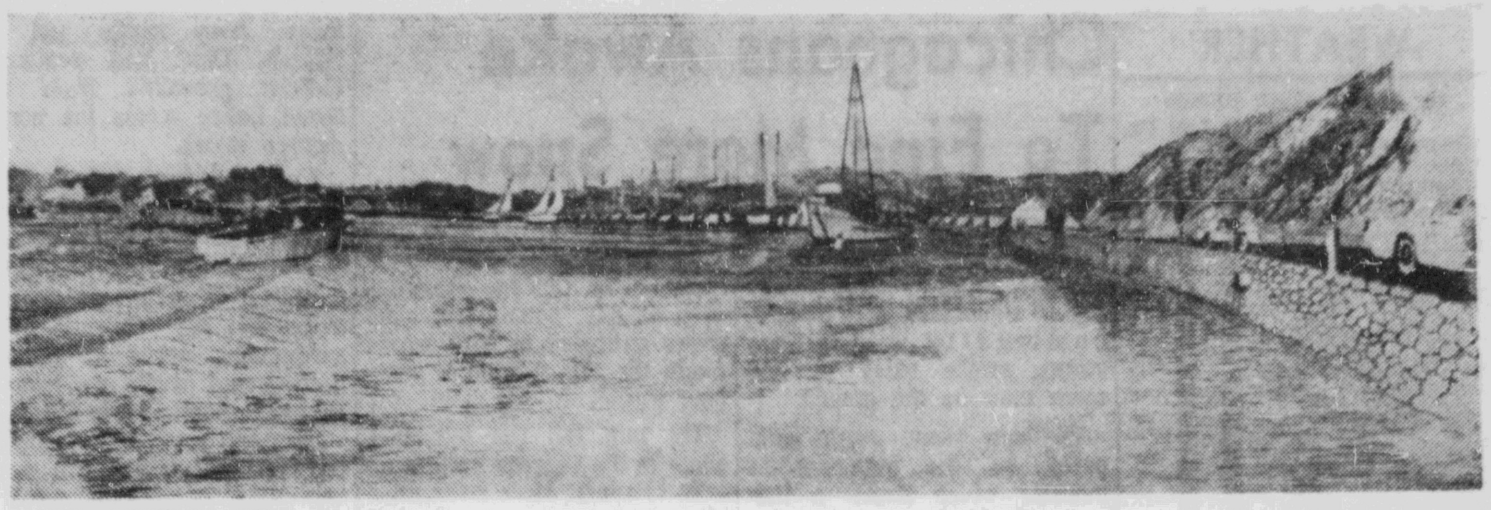
BEFORE DEVELOPMENT—Bolinas Lagoon looking northwest from Shoreline Highway as it appears today in a sketch by Marin County planner Darryl Coneybeare.



AND AFTER—The same spot as envisaged by Coneybeare if development proposed by Bolinas Harbor District takes place. A seawall, right, reinforces new road.

Opposition Has Day At Bolinas

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Two planners employed by Marin County, but appearing in what they explained was their "professional capacity," provided the rallying point Saturday for conservationists opposing plans to develop Bolinas Lagoon.

But apparently unwilling to tread on too many tender toes, county chief of advanced planning Albert Solnit stressed he and colleague Darryl Coneybeare were not about to cause trouble.

He told a standing-room-only meeting called by Bolinas-Stinson Beach unit of the Marin Conservation League to oppose Bolinas Harbor District plans development of the lagoon: "We are not here to stir up anything in the way of a confrontation between the county and the harbor district, although at the staff level, some of us do differ with points in the plan."

NOT BOARD'S VIEW

Several times he pointed out the two planners did not represent the view of the county board of supervisors, which has yet to make a decision of the controversial project. It has been placed in "freeze" until next month to allow time for the county and harbor district to study precise details further.

Trouble there was not. Only one minor outburst caused a surface ripple on what otherwise was a calm and smooth meeting in the Bolinas Community Center.

One boat owner was shouted down when he asked what right the county or anyone else had to overide "the majority of the taxpayers in the community" who had said they wanted a boat harbor in the lagoon.

ADVERSE FINDINGS

Unlike debates of the supervisors and planning commission who heard both sides of the lagoon argument, Saturday's meeting concentrated on a reiteration of the adverse findings of the plan prepared for the harbor district by Mill Valley achitect Norman T. Gilroy.

Solnit called Gilroy "a fine young architect although new at the planning game."

The concern of the county planners, he said, was centered on three main points: earthquake hazard, siltation, and preservation of wildlife.

Ground conditions in the area for certain buildings provide high risk, he considered, and if it is necessary to develop these sites "we should wait to see the extent of the precautions to be taken."

SILTATION PROBLEM

Siltation, he said, was a problem best tackled at its source and he could see no validity in the harbor district's contention that dredging was justified immediately.

Construction in the watershed which would herald a land development boom would accelerate silting in the lagoon, he said.

On wildlife, Solnit said the lagoon is a "rich treasure chest" for plant and animal communities. He did not envisage the area allowed for wildlife in the Gilroy plan would insure the maintenance of the lagoon as a natural habitat.

Solnit, who has a cabin near Stinson Beach, added: "These issues are only secondary to the real issue of what is the quality of the environment we want to end up with.

"We believe that this is the central question on which we shall soon have to make a choice."

CHALK DRAWING

Fellow planner Coneybeare, a former Australian seven months in Marin, said he thought Bolinas unique not only to the county, but also to California and the rest of the country.

He unveiled sepia chalk sketches of his projection of how the lagoon would look before and after development. The "before" drawings drew applause, the "after" projection hisses and laughter.

Coneybeare admitted some people had told him the "after" sketches made the area more attractive. "It doesn't really matter which you prefer," he said. "We have tried to see the change."

He disclosed his own preference later, however. "We are losing something we cannot create," he told the audience. "Are we prepared to pay the price of this sort of development?"

Youths Arrested In Fatal Beating

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Eight youths from two teen gangs here are under arrest today, charged with the brutal beating-death of a man at Ocean Beach last weekend.

Police said there are six or seven more still to be picked up.

The arrest of the eight came after two boys, picked up by police yesterday for glue-sniffing said in the rear of a patrol car, "If these punks knew what we did at the beach last week they'd show us more respect."

Police questioned the pair at the Hall of Justice and subsequently arrested the other six. All are members of either the Eureka Valley or Noe Street gangs.

James N. Stoltz, 35, a file clerk, was found on a shoulder of the Great Highway last Sunday with massive head injuries. He died two days later.

Cushing Plans Latin America Retirement

BOSTON, (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston says he will retire to Latin America when he reaches age 75, and expects no opposition to his plans.

The cardinal has said in the past that he has asked to go to Latin Amerrica but was turned down by superiors.

"I've had it," he told more than 2,000 priests, nuns and laymen gathered in his honor. "The great liberals of today's Church have no sense of humor."

Cardinal Cushing, who will be 72 in August, said the Pope "won't dare to say no" to the retirement, because "nobody's understood me since Pope John XXIII."

In Latin America, he said he plans to be a father confessor to priests and nuns, "because I'm the easiest confessor in the Church," and serve as a "challenge to United States bishops to send more priests to Latin America."

Cardinal Cushing tossed aside a prepared speech in favor of the impromptu remarks at the closing assembly Saturday night of the fourth annual conference of the Catholic Inter-American Cooperation Program.

Health Center Report Is Due

The Marin Hospital District Board will consider revision of the district's contract with the county on financing the Community Mental Health Center today at 6 p.m. in the Coral Room at Marin General Hospital.

Ray K. Bolinger, hospital administrator, said the board will consider revising a section of the contract which specifies that additional costs in building the center, beyond the estimated costs, will be divided equally between district and the county.

The board may appoint someone to replace Judge Hadden W. Roth as director.

Regional Government Need Is Agreed Upon

By DAVID DIETZ

SAN FRANCISCO—Bay Area legislators and public officials agreed Saturday on the need for a regional government, but differed on the speed with which it should be formed.

Three, including Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce, urged prompt creation of a regional body, while State Sen. J. Eugene McAteer of San Francisco sought support for his bill to create a legislative study commission on the plan.

'TOWN MEETING'

The opinions came out at the Bay Area "town meeting," sponsored by the League of Women Voters of San Francisco and the Urban Life Institute of University of San Francisco. About 350 persons attended the seminar in the university's Phelan Hall.

Bruce, a member of a panel that included Sausalito Mayor Mel Wax as moderator, said legislation forming a regional government should be passed this year.

He acknowledged that its initial form might comprise only a federation of local governments, but felt that a timetable should be developed for election of representatives under the one-man, one-vote concept.

Bruce also urged:

1. That a plan be devised to absorb existing regional districts handling specific problems.
2. That the electorate be permitted to decide whether the body once formed, should take on additional authority.
3. That restriction be placed on the regional government in order to maintain the "character" of a locality.
4. That a revenue-raising plan be adopted that "would do more than cover the administrative costs and study expenses" of the proposed body.
5. That housing and transportation problems be tackled first by the regional government.

Agreeing with Bruce were San Francisco Mayor John F. Shelley and Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose.

ENDORSES BILL

Shelley endorsed a bill introduced by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, which would turn the Assn. of Bay Area Governments into a regional government body. ABAG asked such action last month.

Warning against creation of more special-purpose districts, Shelley said:

"If more were formed, we will find ourselves confronted with a state-dominated, uncoordinated and fragmented super-government."

BEGIN NOW

Vasconcellos, co-author of the Knox bill, sparred briefly with McAteer, whose legislation would require a study commission to report on the form of regional government in January, 1969.

"This will not wait endless years," Vasconcellos declared. "We should begin hearings now, and get going on the local level, at least."

Retorted McAteer: "We have to go to the people first and win their support of this plan. We need their willingness to support another tax. We're not ready for legislation. There is a need for extensive investigation and exploration.

CRITICAL OF ABAG

McAteer also was critical of ABAG for recommending speedy enactment of a regional government bill, while unable to agree over the form the body should take.

Earlier, Don Fazackerley, vice president of the San Francisco Bay Area Council, urged in a keynote address that the plans of Knox and McAteer be joined in a regional government try.

Kerr Reports On His Ouster

NEW YORK (AP) — Clark Kerr, fired as president of the University of California, is quoted in this week's issue of Newsweek magazine as saying the move to oust him began late last year and that Gov. Ronald Reagan's role in his dismissal was "very substantial."

Newsweek quoted Kerr as saying in an interview:

"There was a strong suggestion from a close supporter of Gov. Reagan That I resign prior to Jan. 1. And the governor privately met with some of the regents the week before the action was taken."

Lighted Matches In Deposit Box

Someone dropped a lighted book of matches into the overnight deposit box at Crocker-Citizens National Bank in the Corte Madera Shopping Center yesterday about 1 a.m., according to Corte Madera police.

B. A. Sill, assistant vice president of the branch bank, said the matches went out without doing any damage. Someone called police at 1:24 a.m. to report that smoke was coming from the box, but Sill told police the box had a time lock and could not be opened.

Redwood Students Plotting Overthrow Of Peking Regime

By LOUISE NEMSCHOFF

Redwood High School Student

Ten Redwood High School students are plotting a strategic overthrow of the Communist regime in Peking.

Sound ridiculous? Maybe. But this is the task of the 10 student delegates representing the Republic of China in the high school Model United Nations.

University of California at Berkeley annually sponsors the Model U.N., designed to parallel the real U.N. as closely as possible while giving students a look at other points of view. Each participating school is designated to represent a country and then is given nearly a year to research that country's policy.

At this year's assembly, to be held Feb. 9, 10 and 11, in Berkeley, Redwood delegates Peter Birdsall of Tiburon, Bob Foster of Greenbrae, Sue Girtler of Tiburon, Scott Hansen of San Rafael, Roger Klemm of Corte Madera, Jim Lazarus of San Anselmo, Louise Nemschoff of Kentfield, Ed Schimberg of Corte Madera, and two observers to be chosen later, will represent the Republic of China. Defending this precarious position is quite a change from last year's role as Albania.

A feature of Redwood's Model U.N. is a current world problems course open to the delegates and other exceptional social studies students. The class is a seminar based on student research and discussion projects. "It's an extraordinary learning experience. We research topics and then discuss (or argue) them," remarked delegation chairman Jim Lazarus.

This year's China delegation at Redwood finds both staunch allies and sharp opposition in delegations from Marin County schools. Drake High School will represent the U.S.A.; Marin Catholic, Bolivia; Terra Linda, the Netherlands; San Domenico, Denmark, and Tamalpais, both Lebanon and North Vietnam observer delegation. San Rafael, Novato and Tomales are not participating.

New active cases of tuberculosis in the U. S. number about 50,000 yearly.

Two Nations Investigate The Bombings

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The United States and Canada put diplomats and investigators to work today to discover who plotted the pre-dawn bmobings of six Yugoslav diplomatic missions in the two countries.

Terrorists, believed by Yugoslav officials to be expatriate Yugoslavs opposed to the Communist rule of President Tito, placed bombs outside the embassies in Washington and Ottawa and set off explosions at consulates in Toronto, San Francisco, New York and Chicago in highly coordinated attacks that took place within a one-hour period Sunday, beginning at about 3:30 a.m. EST.

There were no injuries directly attributed to the blasts, but a New York fireman died of a heart attack while inspecting damage and a child was thrown from his bed by the embassy explosion in Washington.

Police were guarding all Yugoslav missions in both countries today.

Chicagoans Awake To Find More Snow

CHICAGO (UPI) —Midwest residents who strained resources and backs to clear away just a semblance of a record, community isolating snow storm, awoke today to find more snow on the ground.

The new snow, gentle compared to the million-dollar monster which struck a life-stalling blow at northern Illinois, northern Indiana and southern Michigan, began yesterday.

An additional three inches of snow fell on Chicago yesterday even as city, county and state crews struggled to mak eroads ready for this morning's rush-hour traffic.

The new fall ran the snow depth in the Chicago area to an even two feet. More snow, on a hit-or-miss basis, was forecast for today.

An inch of new snow fell on South Bend and Fort Wayne, Ind., in a six-hour period ending today. Two inches fell at Dayton, Ohio and scattered flurries prevailed from the Great Lakes across the northeastern states.

Wind storms struck the Pacific Northwest, toppling trees, smashing windows and downing utility lines yesterday.

The toll from the worst nsow ever to hit Chicago and surrounding areas of Illinois, Indiana and across the lake in Michigan, continued to mount.

Losses in wages and business profits due to the storm were expected to reach a quarter of a billion dollars by mid-week.

The storm-related death toll climbed to 76. Thirty-nine of the deaths occurred in and around Chicago. Michigan counted 22, Indiana 8, Wisconsin 5 and Ohio 2.

More than 1 million Chicago area school children had classes canceled again today. Despite the fact main arteries had been cleared, the suburbs of Chicago and hundreds of individual neighborhoods could only be reached by long walks through and over drifts ranging to 10 feet deep.

Chicago's freeway system, second only to Los Angeles' in size, was basically useable. But city officials pleaded with commuters to leave their autos at home.

Huge Blaze Under Probe

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Fire investigators yesterday probed a blaze that destroyed a downtown warehouse and badly damaged three other buildings.

Damage in the Saturday night general alarm fire was estimated at $1 million.

The destroyed building belonged to the Pacific Pipe Co. A portion of the three-story structure had been rented to a decorator's supply firm. Several hundred imported commercial paintings were ruined there.

Why Mercedes-Benz has the nerve to charge $4418 for a car with a funny-sounding Diesel engine

The Mercedes-Benz 200D's "funny sound" means 30 miles per gallon of diesel fuel. No carburetors, distributors or spark plugs to replace. And an engine so durable you may measure its lifespan in hundreds of thousands of miles. All this economy—plus advanced features from front disc brakes to fully independent suspension—make the 200D a shrewd investment. For further proof, read on.

As over 500,000 Mercedes-Benz Diesel owners have found, this roomy $4,418*sedan offers more economy—over a far longer period—than flimsy little gasoline-powered "economy" cars ever could.

The secret: A Diesel engine that Mercedes-Benz engineers devoted 30 years to perfecting.

There's no more efficient power plant known—and it cuts costs so sharply that its "funny Diesel sound" is regarded almost with affection by Diesel owners.

Not that it's deafening—as CAR LIFE magazine reports: "Once under way, things quiet down and many unsuspecting passengers are surprised to learn that they've been riding in a Diesel."

Under the hood

Why should a Diesel engine make a different noise than conventional engines?

In a Diesel, fuel feeds through injection nozzles directly into the combustion chambers. Here, instead of spark plugs, compression heat ignites the fuel—with more than twice the force of an average gasoline V8.

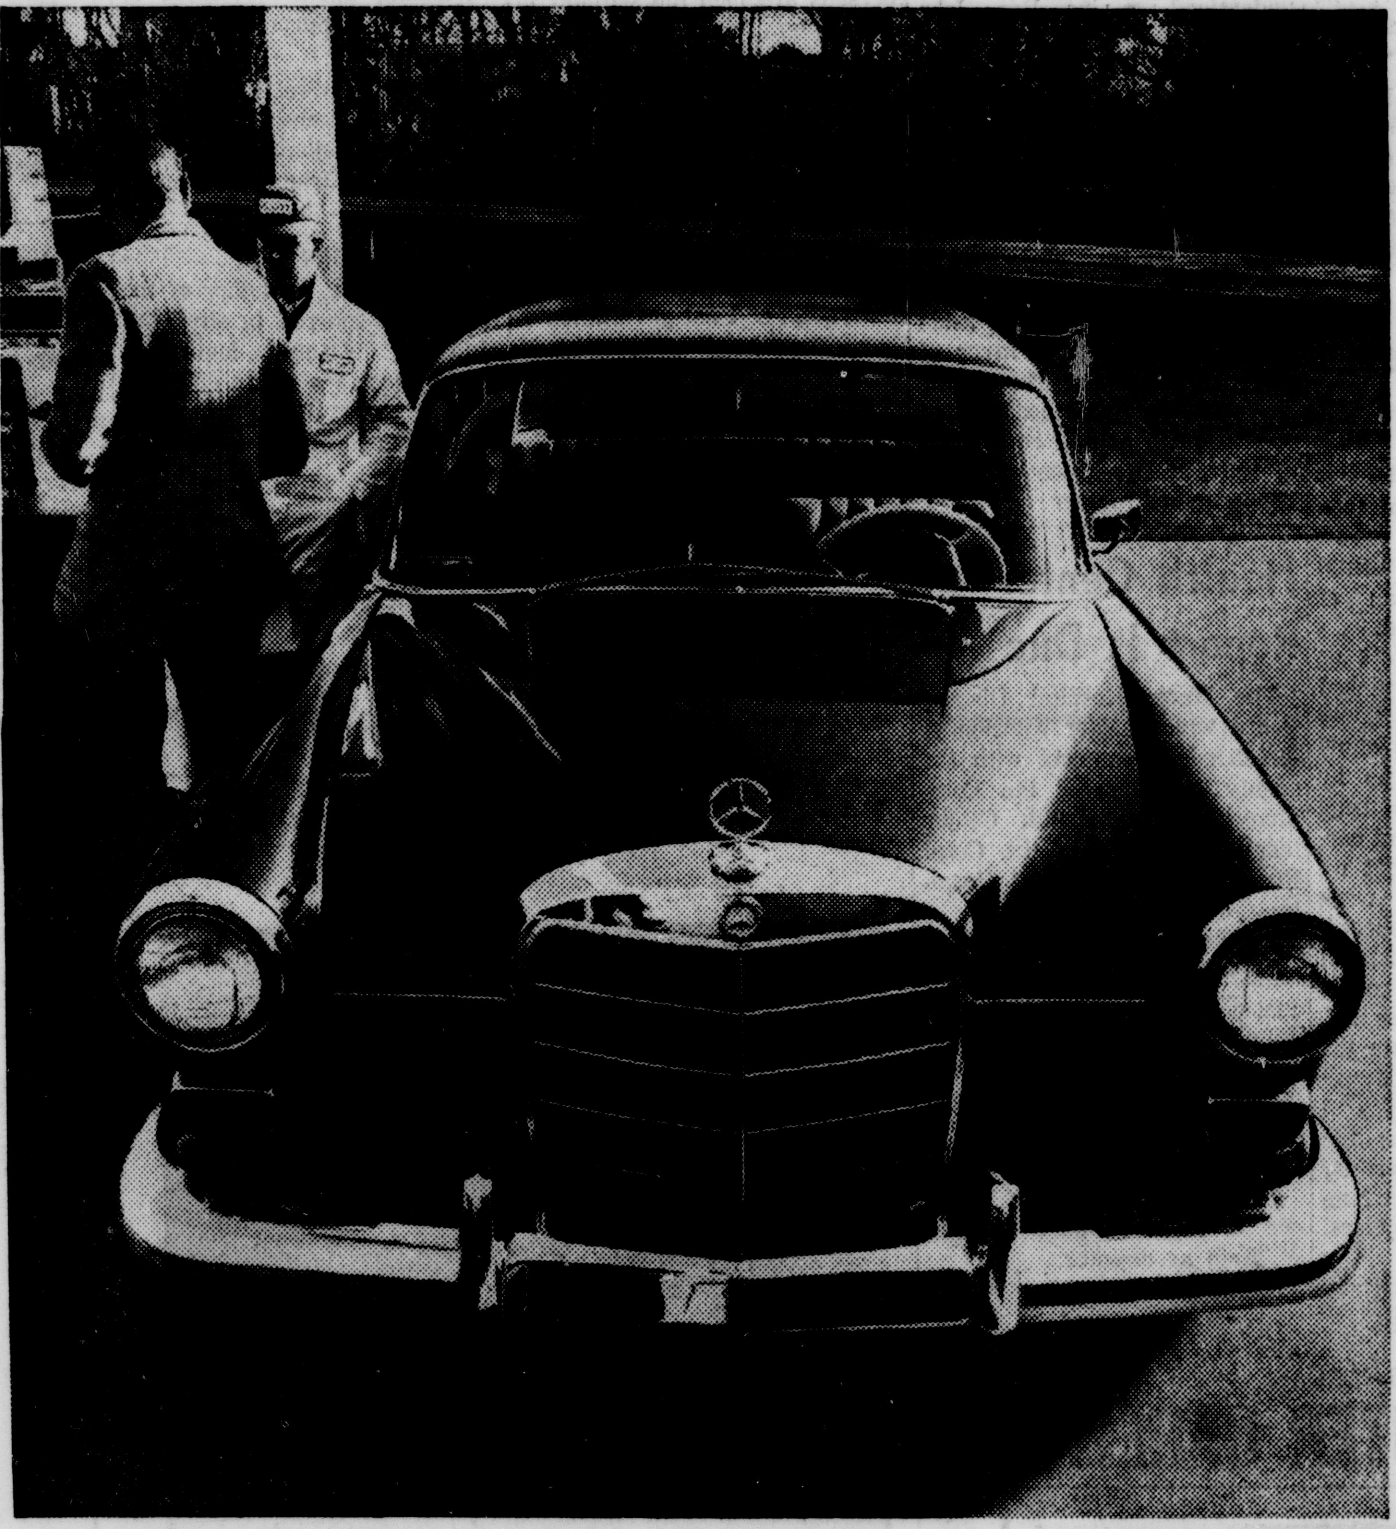
It's this combustion that you hear—and its efficiency helps squeeze 30 miles from every gallon of diesel fuel.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $25,785* to $4,189*

You may be able to afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Below are suggested retail prices* for 8 of the 15 models:

600 Grand Mercedes	$25,785
300SE Coupe	11,916
230SL Roadster	6,262
250S Sedan	5,998
230S Sedan	5,018
230 Sedan	4,386
200 Diesel Sedan	4,418
200 Sedan	4,189

West Coast port of entry, exclusive of transportation charges, options, state and local taxes if any.*



Refuelling stops are rare with the Mercedes-Benz 200D—fuel consumption averages 30 miles per gallon of diesel fuel, and a single tankful can take you 500 miles.

About diesel fuel: It's cheaper than gasoline in most areas. It's obtainable at thousands of outlets, wherever diesel trucks fill up.

And it actually helps lubricate working engine parts—thereby reducing friction and wear dramatically on piston rings and cylinder walls.

Still more savings

Diesel economy stretches beyond fuel consumption figures. This unique engine uses no spark plugs, no points, no distributors or carburetors—so you'll never shell out money for replacements. And due to fundamentally different operation, the Diesel engine's prime parts are built far stronger.

Diesel durability is legend: of the more than 500,000 Mercedes-Benz Diesel passenger cars built since 1936, over 87% are still running.

With decent care, your 200D should still be smoothly humming along when other cars are being chopped up for scrap.

Ask an Alaskan

Mercedes-Benz Diesels are familiar sights in Alaska, Asia and wherever the terrain is rough. The car is rugged, yet you ride in blissful comfort over any surface.

Mercedes-Benz engineers long ago discovered the advantages of a fully independent suspension—an ingenious means of coupling fierce road grip with jolt-free riding ease.

Durability throughout

The 200D is built throughout to standards aimed at a long, trouble-free life.

Durability begins with the body shell—a taut, heavy-gauge steel "unit" structure. Ten thousand spot welds squelch squeaks and rattles. A 24-pound primer coat, plus 24 pounds of permanent undercoating, stifle the creeping menace of corrosion.

Before painting, skilled workmen shave away every burr and blemish from the body. Then the 200D receives two enamel coats—the first coat wet-sanded, the second sprayed by hand.

Staunch brakes

When you stop in the 200D, you stop smoothly and straight. Time after time, from any speed even on gravel roads.

The two major reasons: (1) 9.9-inch front disc brakes and finned, turbo-cooled rear drums that supply excess stopping power for this 1½-ton machine; and (2) four-ply, super premium-grade tires designed to "dig in" on braking as they claw the road in cornering.

Note: The 200D's brakes are power-assisted as standard equipment. There's no extra charge for a 4-speed transmission with floor shift, either.

Chairs, not seats

From inside, it's hard to detect the 200D's economical nature. You're cradled up front in separate, deeply upholstered chairs that orthopedic physicians helped design for minimum fatigue on long trips. The contoured single rear seat measures a full 5 feet wide.

A built-in ventilation system admits constant fresh air while whisking away stale air—with windows shut. Thoughtful extras are plentiful, from an electric clock to rear seat armrest.

A word on safety

Mercedes-Benz has received widespread publicity about its safety engineering achievements over the past several years.

Work continues to make Mercedes-Benz cars even safer, both in avoiding trouble, and in protecting you if trouble should occur.

For sane drivers, Mercedes-Benz cars can help reduce the hazards of driving—without dulling its pleasures.

But however well engineered it may be, no car can entirely defend against the show-off, the drunkard, or the neurotic bent on self-destruction. Safety depends on you, too.

Going to Europe? Send for free kit.

You can order your 200D here, pick it up while on vacation in Europe, enjoy the convenience of private motoring abroad—then bring it home when you return.

Having your own car in Europe is a guarantee of greater enjoyment; no crowded buses, no awkward train schedules. And by arranging overseas delivery, you stand to save hundreds of dollars.

Two Nations Investigate The Bombings

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The United States and Canada put diplomats and investigators to work today to discover who plotted the pre-dawn bmobings of six Yugoslav diplomatic missions in the two countries.

Terrorists, believed by Yugoslav officials to be expatriate Yugoslavs opposed to the Communist rule of President Tito, placed bombs outside the embassies in Washington and Ottawa and set off explosions at consulates in Toronto, San Francisco, New York and Chicago in highly coordinated attacks that took place within a one-hour period Sunday, beginning at about 3:30 a.m. EST.

There were no injuries directly attributed to the blasts, but a New York fireman died of a heart attack while inspecting damage and a child was thrown from his bed by the embassy explosion in Washington.

Police were guarding all Yugoslav missions in both countries today.

Special Meeting Called On Slides

The San Anselmo City Council will have a special meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. to consider further action necessitated by the continuing storm, particularly in the slide area on Red Hill.

The council will also consider a 40-page report from recreation director Andrew J. Snyder, reviewing the city's recreation needs and recommending a bond issue to finance park development.

Chicagoans Awake To Find More Snow

CHICAGO (UPI) —Midwest residents who strained resources and backs to clear away just a semblance of a record, community isolating snow storm, awoke today to find more snow on the ground.

The new snow, gentle compared to the million-dollar monster which struck a life-stalling blow at northern Illinois, northern Indiana and southern Michigan, began yesterday.

An additional three inches of snow fell on Chicago yesterday even as city, county and state crews struggled to mak eroads ready for this morning's rush-hour traffic.

The new fall ran the snow depth in the Chicago area to an even two feet. More snow, on a hit-or-miss basis, was forecast for today.

An inch of new snow fell on South Bend and Fort Wayne, Ind., in a six-hour period ending today. Two inches fell at Dayton, Ohio and scattered flurries prevailed from the Great Lakes across the northeastern states.

Wind storms struck the Pacific Northwest, toppling trees, smashing windows and downing utility lines yesterday.

The toll from the worst nsow ever to hit Chicago and surrounding areas of Illinois, Indiana and across the lake in Michigan, continued to mount.

Losses in wages and business profits due to the storm were expected to reach a quarter of a billion dollars by mid-week.

The storm-related death toll climbed to 76. Thirty-nine of the deaths occurred in and around Chicago. Michigan counted 22, Indiana 8, Wisconsin 5 and Ohio 2.

More than 1 million Chicago area school children had classes canceled again today. Despite the fact main arteries had been cleared, the suburbs of Chicago and hundreds of individual neighborhoods could only be reached by long walks through and over drifts ranging to 10 feet deep.

Chicago's freeway system, second only to Los Angeles' in size, was basically useable. But city officials pleaded with commuters to leave their autos at home.

Huge Blaze Under Probe

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Fire investigators yesterday probed a blaze that destroyed a downtown warehouse and badly damaged three other buildings.

Damage in the Saturday night general alarm fire was estimated at $1 million.

The destroyed building belonged to the Pacific Pipe Co. A portion of the three-story structure had been rented to a decorator's supply firm. Several hundred imported commercial paintings were ruined there.

Why Mercedes-Benz has the nerve to charge $4418 for a car with a funny-sounding Diesel engine

Refuelling stops are rare with the Mercedes-Benz 200D—fuel consumption averages 30 miles per gallon of diesel fuel, and a single tankful can take you 500 miles.

The Mercedes-Benz 200D's "funny sound" means 30 miles per gallon of diesel fuel. No carburetors, distributors or spark plugs to replace. And an engine so durable you may measure its lifespan in hundreds of thousands of miles. All this economy—plus advanced features from front disc brakes to fully independent suspension—make the 200D a shrewd investment. For further proof, read on.

As over 500,000 Mercedes-Benz Diesel owners have found, this roomy $4,418* sedan offers more economy—over a far longer period—than flimsy little gasoline-powered "economy" cars ever could.

The secret: A Diesel engine that Mercedes-Benz engineers devoted 30 years to perfecting.

There's no more efficient power plant known—and it cuts costs so sharply that its "funny Diesel sound" is regarded almost with affection by Diesel owners.

Not that it's deafening—as CAR LIFE magazine reports: "Once under way, things quiet down and many unsuspecting passengers are surprised to learn that they've been riding in a Diesel."

Under the hood

Why should a Diesel engine make a different noise than conventional engines?

In a Diesel, fuel feeds through injection nozzles directly into the combustion chambers. Here, instead of spark plugs, compression heat ignites the fuel—with more than twice the force of an average gasoline V8.

It's this combustion that you hear—and its efficiency helps squeeze 30 miles from every gallon of diesel fuel.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $25,785* to $4,189*

You may be able to afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Below are suggested retail prices* for 8 of the 15 models:

600 Grand Mercedes	$25,785
300SE Coupe	11,916
230SL Roadster	6,262
250S Sedan	5,998
230S Sedan	5,018
230 Sedan	4,386
200 Diesel Sedan	4,418
200 Sedan	4,189

West Coast port of entry, exclusive of transportation charges, options, state and local taxes if any.*

About diesel fuel: It's cheaper than gasoline in most areas. It's obtainable at thousands of outlets, wherever diesel trucks fill up.

And it actually helps lubricate working engine parts—thereby reducing friction and wear dramatically on piston rings and cylinder walls.

Still more savings

Diesel economy stretches beyond fuel consumption figures. This unique engine uses no spark plugs, no points, no distributors or carburetors—so you'll never shell out money for replacements. And due to fundamentally different operation, the Diesel engine's prime parts are built far stronger.

Diesel durability is legend: of the more than 500,000 Mercedes-Benz Diesel passenger cars built since 1936, over 87% are still running.

With decent care, your 200D should still be smoothly humming along when other cars are being chopped up for scrap.

Ask an Alaskan

Mercedes-Benz Diesels are familiar sights in Alaska, Asia and wherever the terrain is rough. The car is rugged, yet you ride in blissful comfort over any surface.

Mercedes-Benz engineers long ago discovered the advantages of a fully independent suspension—an ingenious means of coupling fierce road grip with jolt-free riding ease.

Durability throughout

The 200D is built throughout to standards aimed at a long, trouble-free life.

Durability begins with the body shell—a taut, heavy-gauge steel "unit" structure. Ten thousand spot welds squelch squeaks and rattles. A 24-pound primer coat, plus 24 pounds of permanent undercoating, stifle the creeping menace of corrosion.

Before painting, skilled workmen shave away every burr and blemish from the body. Then the 200D receives two enamel coats—the first coat wet-sanded, the second sprayed by hand.

Staunch brakes

When you stop in the 200D, you stop smoothly and straight. Time after time, from any speed even on gravel roads.

The two major reasons: (1) 9.9-inch front disc brakes and finned, turbo-cooled rear drums that supply excess stopping power for this 1½-ton machine; and (2) four-ply, super premium-grade tires designed to "dig in" on braking as they claw the road in cornering.

Note: The 200D's brakes are power-assisted as standard equipment. There's no extra charge for a 4-speed transmission with floor shift, either.

Chairs, not seats

From inside, it's hard to detect the 200D's economical nature. You're cradled up front in separate, deeply upholstered chairs that orthopedic physicians helped design for minimum fatigue on long trips. The contoured single rear seat measures a full 5 feet wide.

A built-in ventilation system admits constant fresh air while whisking away stale air—with windows shut. Thoughtful extras are plentiful, from an electric clock to rear seat armrest.

A word on safety

Mercedes-Benz has received widespread publicity about its safety engineering achievements over the past several years.

Work continues to make Mercedes-Benz cars even safer, both in avoiding trouble, and in protecting you if trouble should occur.

For sane drivers, Mercedes-Benz cars can help reduce the hazards of driving—without dulling its pleasures.

But however well engineered it may be, no car can entirely defend against the show-off, the drunkard, or the neurotic bent on self-destruction. Safety depends on you, too.

COCO CHANEL presented an evening suit, left, in a 'molten' gold lame and straw fabric in her 1967 spring-summer collection in Paris. It has a wrap-over skirt and long slender high-collared jacket with bracelet-length sleeves. The suit at right is in bouton pink and white stripes with the jacket edged in solid pink linen. Pink straw Spanish sombrero with pink carnation under brim completes the elegant ensemble. At lower left, Emmanuel Ungaro showed a short culotte with horizontally striped jacket. High socks cover the knee.

Mini-Skirt Rude Word—Chanel

PARIS (UPI)—Skirts were short but definitely flared as the French high fashion showings ended their first week.

Among the top deisgners on today's schedule were Ungaro, Capucci and Heim.

There was a lot of room for disagreement in Paris with more than 30 houses showing collections over the more than 10-day span of fashion shows. But the general idea that has emerged so far is that skirts are going to stay short and that they need flares and flounces to liven them up.

ON FRIDAY NIGHT however, the two poles of the fashion scene did not meet.

Coco Chanel presented a collection that was the eternal Chanel—a world in which the mini-skirt is a rude word.

At the other extreme, Pierre Cardin set a mood that was science fiction compared to Chanel.

His skirts were short and among the most flared in Paris. Legs were sheathed in textured and tinted stockings. Hats were shaped like flying saucers.

LARGE CLASPS served as closings on his clothes when zippers would not do. When zippers did the job, they were of the big, industrial variety.

Although the looks were different, Chanel and Cardin shared a fondness for navy blue and white.

Emmanuel Ungaro went the mini-skirt one better. he eliminated skirts, as such, altogether.

Kneecaps were covered, with high, white, elastic - topped socks. Above the socks a good five inches of bare leg appeared.

CUFFED BERMUDA briefs and for later in the day an occasional full bloomer leg were visible. Then, moving upward, the dress, or coat—no longer than a tunic—came into view.

The Bermuda briefs or bloomer legs drop five or six inches below the tunic coat, suit, or dress.

Ungaro has a special cut followed almost throughout the line. The front is usually white, often straight, and dome-like sides cut on the bias are beautifully encrusted.

WAISTLINES AT Ungaro's depend on his fancy. Generally they are somewhere around the hips but one striped coat with smock yoke and flapped breast pockets has the white belt placed well down on the seat.

Ungaro plays with tattersal checks and with stripes throughout his collection. A thigh-length navy and white tunic slashed at the sides has a white military collar, striped sleeves, white briefs, white socks, for sports.

The bride, who is also the sister of John Sibbald stationed with the U.S. Army at Ft. Knox, Ky., is employed with Pacific Telephone employment office in San Rafael. She was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Nance of San Anselmo. He is the brother of Thomas Nance of San Anselmo who served as acolyte in the wedding. A graduate of College of Marin, John is a junior majoring in business and industry at San Jose State College.

IN A MOD, MOD MOOD Mesdames Melvin B. Tyler, John Pelkan, Mark Mullin and Michael Demetrios prepare for a "Happening" to take place Wednesday at the Belvedere Tennis Club. Carolyn Pelkan, running for Mardi Gras queen, has planned the event in support of her candidacy. The Belvedere woman is one of 11 Bay Area hopefuls who are vying for the crown which one will wear at a gala ball on Feb. 7. All the activity will benefit Children's Hospital.

Candidate From Belvedere Plans Club 'Happening'

Belvedere's candidate for Mardi Gras queen is Mrs. John Pelkan, who has arranged a "happening" from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Belvedere Tennis Club on Wednesday.

The new San Francisco Jazz Band will play, cocktails and canapes will be served and guests are invited to improvise their pleasures in the spontaneous spirit of a "happening." Mrs. Pelkan is accepting reservations for the event, which will benefit Children's Hospital. Carolyn is one of 11 young Bay Area women entered in the Little Jim Club contest, which will climax on Feb. 7 when the winning queen reigns over the Mardi Gras Ball at the Palace Hotel.

Carolyn, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoefer of Belvedere, has already had some experience with this kind of activity, because she was selected Sweetheart of Sigma Chi in her undergraduate days at University of California. She followed a family tradition begun by her mother, the former Kay Foster, who was chosen Sweetheart of Sigma Chi when she was a freshman at the Uinversity. Carolyn has two little daughters, Jennifer, 5 and Julie, 1, so who knows where it all might lead?

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Only One Solution In Trying To Save This Marriage–Hard Work

DEAR HELEN:

Can you help a friend who is near suicide? She was married 12 years, had two children. Then she went to work for a ladies' man 20 years her senior. He flattered her into an affair, and when she found she was expecting a baby, she asked her husband far a divorce so she could marry him. The husband left, and only then did the other man tell her he was already married and he wouldn't marry her even if he were free.

After the baby was born, she took him to court to prove with blood tests he had fathered the child. Instead this ladies' man brought a doctor's signed report that he had been sterile for years.

The judge then awarded all three children to the husband, saying that if he couldn't keep them he should put them in foster homes. An adultress shouldn't have them, the judge decreed.

The husband has put the baby in a foster home. He insists it isn't his. The woman ended up without husband, lover or children. Is there any way she can get her children back?

—FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND:

DEAR HELEN:

Several of my friends and I have received invitations to a joint pre-wedding party given for two girls. The mothers of the brides are giving the affair. Both weddings are on the same day but in different towns.

I have been invited to only one wedding. Should I bring a gift for both girls, as I only know one well? Her mother alone invited me. The other girls would like to know too. —H.R.

DEAR H:

Mothers of brides should never give a shower, where gifts are expected. You may bring a present to one or both girls as you choose, but this is not necessary at an "engagement party." —H.

DEAR HELEN:

What's wrong with a man who won't tell his wife he loves her? I think he does, but I need the words. I guess there are many wives like me. Am I right or wrong to be depressed when I never hear, "I love you"?

—WANTING THREE LITTLE WORDS

DEAR WANTING:

You're right to want those three little words, but wrong to be depressed at not hearing them. Most wives get their "I love you's" by osmosis.

Men, the nuts, think actions speak louder. Saying it embarrasses them. A few have learned the value of tenderness and spoken endearments — and they're treated like kings. Others consider this "unmasculine"—and their wives write to HHU. Some males will just never learn.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Only One Solution In Trying To Save This Marriage–Hard Work

DEAR HELEN:

Can you help a friend who is near suicide? She was married 12 years, had two children. Then she went to work for a ladies' man 20 years her senior. He flattered her into an affair, and when she found she was expecting a baby, she asked her husband far a divorce so she could marry him. The husband left, and only then did the other man tell her he was already married and he wouldn't marry her even if he were free.

After the baby was born, she took him to court to prove with blood tests he had fathered the child. Instead this ladies' man brought a doctor's signed report that he had been sterile for years.

The judge then awarded all three children to the husband, saying that if he couldn't keep them he should put them in foster homes. An adultress shouldn't have them, the judge decreed.

The husband has put the baby in a foster home. He insists it isn't his. The woman ended up without husband, lover or children. Is there any way she can get her children back?

—FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND:

I think she should work unceasingly to get her husband back—and with him will come the children. She asked for the divorce, so she should beg for the reconciliation. With the help of a marriage counselor, perhaps it can be arranged. —H.

PERSONAL TO "NEEDING HELP":

You can't tell a know-it-all anything, but maybe you can show him something. Each time he indulges one of his crudities, quietly leave, and take the company with you. You won't need to explain your absence. He'll get the point much faster if you're pleasant and agreeable otherwise — but gone, the moment his disgusting habits start.

'What One Woman Is Doing' —Folksinger Judy Collins

NEW YORK (UPI)—Folk singer Judy Collins has a voice that makes the 20 year old want to go out and protest something, the 30 year old restless in his dark pin stripe and the 40 year old wonder what happened to those dreams of living in a Left Bank garret.

She's got enormous eyes as blue as the mountain lakes of Colorado where she grew up, long brown hair that falls straight to below her shoulders, and is a guitar-carrying member of the New Left who believes she has a message for American women: Take a stand in a "hypocritical society."

AS A FOLK STAR Judy is straightforward and matter of fact. She is not as well known as Joan Baez, but her concerts at cities and colleges around the country are usually sold out with little advance publicity. Her records sell well and she is popular in other countries.

At 27, in a day of pubescent teeny boppers, Judy is almost a senior citizen. Her career mirrors one of today's paradoxes—the performer who criticizes the system and makes a lot of money from a following of dissatisfied youth.

THERE ARE THOSE who might say a "message" singer who profits financially from the effort is not far removed from the "hypocritical society" Judy Collins delineates. From a teen-age singer in a Colorado club she has moved into the big time, with a manager, assistant manager and public relations representatives. She insists it hasn't changed her.

"They make things a lot easier for me," Judy comments as she tries to untangle her fly-away hair before a television show. "My friends are always going to get through to me. My business life is going to be handled with ease. They just make it easier to get other things done."

"Other things" include civil rights and anti-war work, as well as participation in the new left organization of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

"I try to do what I can for the SDS," she says. "I talk to the people involved. I try to raise money for them, and explain what they are doing when people ask. But I certainly don't go out and campaign for them."

JUDY WAS BORN in Seattle, Wash., and grew up in Boulder, Colo., where she studied classical piano and was considered a child prodigy. Then, at 16, she discovered the guitar.

"When I was 19, the manager of a local club in Boulder let me audition," she explains. "When I finished, he said, 'I hate folk music. I'm sorry your audition was such a great success, because the demand is so popular I'm going to have to hire you for $100 a week.' "

Today, Judy is restless to become a success outside the relatively secure mantle of folk music.

Last year she decided it was time to move on into orchestrated songs that she feels mirror current restlessness and revolt. Her guitar is being upstaged by flutes and violins and brass to back her singing of Marat-Sade's crushed rebels, the biting bitterness of Brecht and the weird suddenness of Bob Dylan.

"I DON'T HAVE the young rebel image," she insists. "In my songs I'm trying to make statements as a woman. My message is my music—what one woman is doing.

"I try to show the woman's place in a very, very messed up society. She has a responsibility besides being a wife and mother."

'What One Woman Is Doing' –Folksinger Judy Collins

NEW YORK (UPI)—Folk singer Judy Collins has a voice that makes the 20 year old want to go out and protest something, the 30 year old restless in his dark pin stripe and the 40 year old wonder what happened to those dreams of living in a Left Bank garret.

She's got enormous eyes as blue as the mountain lakes of Colorado where she grew up, long brown hair that falls straight to below her shoulders, and is a guitar-carrying member of the New Left who believes she has a message for American women: Take a stand in a "hypocritical society."

SUMMER PALS — Maudee Wilcutt as the girl in the apartment upstairs, catches the interest of Charles Auerbach, playing the man whose wife is away for the summer, in the Cove Players' production of "The Seven Year Itch."

DRAMA REVIEW

Cove Players Shine In 'Seven Year Itch'

By M. ELIZABETH JOHNSTON

The Cove Players are doing a bang-up job in their version of George Axelrod's "Seven-Year Itch" which opened at the Main Street Theater on Jan. 20.

It will continue Friday and Saturday nights through Feb. 11.

Chuch Auerbach fits perfectly the role of Richard Sherman, a nice-looking, basically conservative "husband-type" who is beset by the double temptation of his wife going away for the summer and the presence upstairs of a pretty, slim blond actress. The girl, played by Maudee Willcutt, looks beautifully blond enough to make the temptation believable. Auerbach as Sherman, publisher of 70-cent books, is funny, coy, embarrased and frustrated, without over acting.

Sandy Keppel turns in a good job as Sherman's wife, whom he suspects of "carrying on" with an old friend, Tom Mackenzies, played ably by Bob Salvos.

The script has been rewritten to localize place names. Instead of Sherman living in New York, as in the original play, he lives in San Francisco, and his wife is visiting Lake Tahoe for the summer, etc.

Dr. Brubaker, played by John Vigurs, has some very funny scenes with Sherman, in which the latter nervously tries to get some free advice on his problem from the famous psychiatrist, whose book, "The Scarlet Letter," Sherman is reading for publication. Dr. Brubaker objects to Sherman's boss wanting to update the book's title to "Sex and Violence."

Marianne Richardson, Claudio Keppel and Janet Jacobs appear briefly but also do well as Sherman's other female temptress, much of which appears to be in his imagination. The stream of consciousness scenes in which characters flash on and off stage, or are only heard as voices, are tricky and mostly come off with good timing, including the complicated lighting chores and costume changes involved.

"The "tea party" scene in which Sherman imagines the women in his life ara discussing him, while sipping tea in unison, is delightful.

The smallness of the theater and closeness of the actors help greatly in making the audience feel involved in the action as the play progresses. A scene in which a tomato plant crashes down from above gains real impact as it lands about three feet from the front row.

The play ends with a satisfactory solution to the summer romances, without being predictable or trite. In fact, the status of the relationship between Sherman and the girl upstairs, is not resolved until the last few minutes. The characters and their actions hold the interest until the lights blink out at the end (there is no curtain).

More Ready For Post Of Education

More aspirants for appointment to the San Rafael Board of Education appeared today.

Kenneth M. Proctor, insurance agent of 8 Bayo Vista Way, filed a letter of application with City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen for appointment to the board to fill out the term of Walter R. Castro Jr., who resigned last Tuesday night on advice of his physician. Proctor ran fourth in a field of four for election to the board of education two years ago.

Andersen reported he had also received a letter nominating John D. LaNoue from Rex T. Silvernale, a former board of education member. LaNoue, district manager of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., resides at 92 Oakmont Avenue.

It was reported that Paul L. Jones, area field director for the Civil Defense Administration, also would be an applicant for the position. Jones, who lives at 735 Las Collindas Road, Terra Linda, is a former Terra Linda High School Parent - Teacher Assn. president.

City Manager Andersen has asked that persons seeking the appointment file application by Wednesday. The city council has until Feb. 13 to fill the vacancy. If it fails to do so by then, the appointing power passes to the board of education.

Johnson Asks For Redwoods National Park

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress now faces a "last chance" opportunity to preserve California's great redwoods, President Johnson said today.

He asked that Congress establish a Redwoods National Park in Northern California to "preserve a significant acreage of these primeval redwoods."

"If we do not act promptly, we may lose for all time the magnificent redwoods of northern California," Johnson said in his message to the House and Senate proposing measures for "Protecting our National Heritage."

OTHER PARKS

Supplementing earlier budget proposals for 1968, Johnson called for creation of a redwoods park and three other parks. They included:

—A North Cascades park in Washington state to protect wilderness and recreation areas in that area. "This spectacular area of unparalleled mountain masses, glaciers, meadows and timbered valleys is close to major metropolitan areas and lies entirely within national forests."

—A Potomac Valley Park in West Virginia, Virginia and Maryland, along the Upper Potomac. "This park, creating a green and open spaces along the reaches of the Potomac would help make the Potomac Valley a model scenic and recreation area for the nation."

—An Apostle Island National Lakeshore in Wisconsin "to add a superb string of islands to our national seashore system."

RIVER SYSTEM

Johnson renewed his recommendation for establishment of a national scenic rivers systems and nationwide system of trails beginning with authorization of the Appalachian trial from Maine to Georgia. He also called for authorization for inclusion of Los Padres National Forest, Calif., into the national wilderness system.

The President asked appropriation of $142 million for the Land and Water Conservation Fund in fiscal 1968, about a third higher than a similar appropriation in the current fiscal year, to acquire additional land for recreational areas and thus combat rising prices for this type of land.

Truck Takes Wild Route

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A driverless truck careened wildly down a rain-slick Russian Hill street yesterday, coming to rest only after it grazed or sideswiped 13 parked cars.

A refrigerator that was placed on the truck's tailgate just before the vehicle began its free-roll remained standing throughout the incident.

Van operator Joseph Huba, 47, was at a loss to explain how the truck started rolling.

"When the truck started to roll, I grabbed it and tried to hold it back," Huba said. "I just thank God that no one was hurt.

Coins Are Stolen

Daniel J. O'Keefe of 331 Jewell Street, San Rafael, who had managed to hord away 80 Kennedy half dollar coins, now wishes he hadn't. The 50-cent pieces and other coins and cash for a $55 total were stolen from his home Friday by burglars who broke a rear window, police said.

CONCERT REVIEWS

String Section Lifts Orchestra

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Yesterday afternoon's winter concert of the College of Marin's 44-instrument community orchestra, directed by John H. Meyers, was the best we have heard from this group in the years we have been reviewing its performances.

The concert was presented in the gymnasium before a fair-sized audience despite inclement weather.

GOOD CONTROL

Certainly part of the reason for the excellence was the great improvement in the strings, especially the violins, which showed not only precision but expressive subtlety, fine control of dynamics and admirable rapport among the choirs.

And this wasn't an easy program. Myers evidently believes in selecting works that test the mettle of the players.

So often the first number serves as a warmup and sounds like one, but we especially enjoyed the opening "Consecretation of The House" Overture Op. 124 by Beethoven.

The second number, Symphony No. 5 in D Major by William Boyce — actually a concerto grosso with oboes and trumpets contrasted with the string ensemble—was notable for the fine work of these solo instruments, oboes played by Janet Cousins and Ray Pancost and trumpets by Paul Skvaril and Gene Stewart. The trumpets were better in the later passages than in earlier ones.

MILHAUD MUSE

New to us and hauntingly piquant in its harmonic structure was Milhaud's "La Muse Managere" (The Household Muse), a piece evocative in its 15 sections of scenes and moods in Milhaud's own home. The woodwinds were outstanding in this, particularly some enchanting oboe playing by Janet Cousins. The pianissimo and long sustained legato of the strings were remarkable, too.

The three dances from "Nell Gwynn" by Edward German were very appealing because of their rhythmic vitality that was admirable supported by a strong bass line provided by the string basses.

No doubt much credit for the improvement in the strings in due to Charles Meacham, assistant conductor, who has been given this responsibility by Myers.

Youth Orchestra s Concert Shows Maturity And Training

Once again Hugo Rinaldi and the Marin Youth Orchestra have presented a concert that would do credit to a far more mature group.

It was performed last night in Angelico Hall by 81 youngsters from 20 schools, the largest Marin Youth Orchestra to date.

REAL PRO

What could have been a disaster in the first number, the first movement of J. S. Bach's Violin Concerto in A Minor, was prevented by the phenomenal poise of talented concertmistress Megan Roberts, 16, as soloist. When a string snapped shortly after she began playing, quick as a flash she exchanged violins with the nearest violinist and calmly resumed.

Amazingly sensitive was Delius's Symphonic poem "Over the Hills and Far Away," which was especially memorable for the soft, beautifully sustained blending of French horns and strings and some surprisingly strong cello work.

FINE SOLO

This piece and Mike Wellen's clarinet solo in Von Weber's Concerto for Clarinet and Orchestra were the high points of the evening. This 17-year-old boy is already of professional caliber, with great innate musicality, a fabulous technical facility and wonderful rhythmic sense.

Copland's "An Outdoor Overture" was played wiith verve and brilliance and was highlighted by a splendid trumpet solo by Bert Truax.

The finale, Bizet's "Carmen" Suite No. 1, successfully conveyed the dramatic excitement of that opera. There was an exquisite duet between the harp played by Cindi Jobse and flute by Linda Stein and some excellent passages by Mark Salkind, our nationally famous young oboist since his appearance Friday night on Leonard Bernstein's Young People's Concert, Mike Wellen on the clarinet, and Jaina Tegeler and Deborah Hoyt on English horns.

The whole performance was taped by Radio Station KKHI and will be broadcast on Feb. 11 at 9 a.m.—M.S.

Creative Dancing Classes To Begin

The spring term of courses in creative dance given by the Dancers' Workshop Company will begin Wednesday, according to director Ann Halprin of Kentfield. Information about the courses can be obtained by calling Mrs. Halprin.

The workshop will perform its version of "Parades & Changes" at 12:30 p.m., Feb. 15 in the main auditorium at San Francisco State College.

Portuguese Surrender In Macao

MACAO (UPI)—Thousands of Chinese Communists danced in the streets of this Portuguese colony today celebrating the governments surrender to a list of demands dictated by Peking.

The Portuguese, under threat of a Red Guard invasion, capitulated yesterday to the Chinese demands which leave the colonial government little more than a figurehead to take orders from Peking.

In a room decked by a portrait of Mao Tse-tung, Macao Gov. Jose Nobre de Carvalho grimly signed a document bowing to demands of the Communists, who claim to represent the 250,000 Chinese of this six square mile enclave southwest of Hong Kong. There are only 5,000 Portuguese in Macao which became a colony in 1557.

The demands which Portuguese rulers agreed to accept included:

Admission of Portuguese "guilt" for the death of eight Chinese during riots in November and December; it revealed that officials involved —including the former military commander and police chief —had been sent back to Lisbon for trial. It also promised compensation to those injured and the families of the dead.

A promise to ship back any defector arriving from Red China and to banish all Nationalist Chinese agents from Macao. It revealed that seven Nationalist "spies" had been handed over to the Communists last month.

A promise also to ban all Nationalist organizations, flags, emblems, names or signs.

The document also pledged the release of 62 Chinese arrested during and after the rioting which began when police tried to prevent Chinese workers on Taipa island from building a school.

Window Shattered

A plate glass window at the Civic Center Post Office was shattered, probably by a bullet, Saturday night or early yesterday, the Marin County sheriff's office reported. Deputies estimated the damage at $300.

SUMMER PALS — Maudee Wilcutt as the girl in the apartment upstairs, catches the interest of Charles Auerbach, playing the man whose wife is away for the summer, in the Cove Players' production of "The Seven Year Itch."

DRAMA REVIEW

Cove Players Shine In 'Seven Year Itch'

By M. ELIZABETH JOHNSTON

The Cove Players are doing a bang-up job in their version of George Axelrod's "Seven-Year Itch" which opened at the Main Street Theater on Jan. 20.

It will continue Friday and Saturday nights through Feb. 11.

Chuch Auerbach fits perfectly the role of Richard Sherman, a nice-looking, basically conservative "husband-type" who is beset by the double temptation of his wife going away for the summer and the presence upstairs of a pretty, slim blond actress. The girl, played by Maudee Willcutt, looks beautifully blond enough to make the temptation believable. Auerbach as Sherman, publisher of 70-cent books, is funny, coy, embarrased and frustrated, without over acting.

Sandy Keppel turns in a good job as Sherman's wife, whom he suspects of "carrying on" with an old friend, Tom Mackenzies, played ably by Bob Salvos.

The script has been rewritten to localize place names. Instead of Sherman living in New York, as in the original play, he lives in San Francisco, and his wife is visiting Lake Tahoe for the summer, etc.

Dr. Brubaker, played by John Vigurs, has some very funny scenes with Sherman, in which the latter nervously tries to get some free advice on his problem from the famous psychiatrist, whose book, "The Scarlet Letter," Sherman is reading for publication. Dr. Brubaker objects to Sherman's boss wanting to update the book's title to "Sex and Violence."

Marianne Richardson, Claudio Keppel and Janet Jacobs appear briefly but also do well as Sherman's other female temptress, much of which appears to be in his imagination. The stream of consciousness scenes in which characters flash on and off stage, or are only heard as voices, are tricky and mostly come off with good timing, including the complicated lighting chores and costume changes involved.

"The "tea party" scene in which Sherman imagines the women in his life ara discussing him, while sipping tea in unison, is delightful.

The smallness of the theater and closeness of the actors help greatly in making the audience feel involved in the action as the play progresses. A scene in which a tomato plant crashes down from above gains real impact as it lands about three feet from the front row.

The play ends with a satisfactory solution to the summer romances, without being predictable or trite. In fact, the status of the relationship between Sherman and the girl upstairs, is not resolved until the last few minutes. The characters and their actions hold the interest until the lights blink out at the end (there is no curtain).

More Ready For Post Of Education

More aspirants for appointment to the San Rafael Board of Education appeared today.

Kenneth M. Proctor, insurance agent of 8 Bayo Vista Way, filed a letter of application with City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen for appointment to the board to fill out the term of Walter R. Castro Jr., who resigned last Tuesday night on advice of his physician. Proctor ran fourth in a field of four for election to the board of education two years ago.

Andersen reported he had also received a letter nominating John D. LaNoue from Rex T. Silvernale, a former board of education member. LaNoue, district manager of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., resides at 92 Oakmont Avenue.

It was reported that Paul L. Jones, area field director for the Civil Defense Administration, also would be an applicant for the position. Jones, who lives at 735 Las Collindas Road, Terra Linda, is a former Terra Linda High School Parent-Teacher Assn. president.

City Manager Andersen has asked that persons seeking the appointment file application by Wednesday. The city council has until Feb. 13 to fill the vacancy. If it fails to do so by then, the appointing power passes to the board of education.

Johnson Asks For Redwoods National Park

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress now faces a "last chance" opportunity to preserve California's great redwoods, President Johnson said today.

He asked that Congress establish a Redwoods National Park in Northern California to "preserve a significant acreage of these primeval redwoods."

"If we do not act promptly, we may lose for all time the magnificent redwoods of northern California," Johnson said in his message to the House and Senate proposing measures for "Protecting our National Heritage."

OTHER PARKS

Supplementing earlier budget proposals for 1968, Johnson called for creation of a redwoods park and three other parks. They included:

—A North Cascades park in Washington state to protect wilderness and recreation areas in that area. "This spectacular area of unparalleled mountain masses, glaciers, meadows and timbered valleys is close to major metropolitan areas and lies entirely within national forests."

—A Potomac Valley Park in West Virginia, Virginia and Maryland, along the Upper Potomac. "This park, creating a green and open spaces along the reaches of the Potomac would help make the Potomac Valley a model scenic and recreation area for the nation."

—An Apostle Island National Lakeshore in Wisconsin "to add a superb string of islands to our national seashore system."

RIVER SYSTEM

Johnson renewed his recommendation for establishment of a national scenic rivers systems and nationwide system of trails beginning with authorization of the Appalachian trial from Maine to Georgia. He also called for authorization for inclusion of Los Padres National Forest, Calif., into the national wilderness system.

The President asked appropriation of $142 million for the Land and Water Conservation Fund in fiscal 1968, about a third higher than a similar appropriation in the current fiscal year, to acquire additional land for recreational areas and thus combat rising prices for this type of land.

Wallenda Back

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Karl Wallenda, 62, the patriarch of "The Great Wallendas," will come out of retirement briefly to resume 40 years of high-wire walking, he said yesterday in Sarasota, Fla.

Code Of Ethics Urged By Church

DETROIT (UPI) —The president of the Lutheran World Federation urged yesterday enactment of a congressional code of ethics.

Rev. Frederick Shiotz, a Minneapolis minister who is also president of the American Council of Lutheran Churches, said, "It is clear that a good many other congressmen (than Rep. Adam C. Powell) have been delinquent —at least in this that they have spent the public's money for trips that have sometimes been other than necessary."

Court Sought For Taxpayers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sixth senators are cosponsoring a bill by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., to set up what would amount to a small claims court for taxpayers.

Under Magnuson's plan, made public during the weekend, two small tax court commissioners would be named for each tax circuit to decide disputes between taxpayers and the Internal Revenue Service over amounts ranging from a few dollars up to $2,500.

Historic Vote To Come Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The National Labor Relations Board will be watching the elections it supervises closely in February in a search for the 25 millionth U.S. worker to cast a ballot for union representation.

The board said during the weekend that it expects the big ballot be cast some time early in the month —just where nobody cares to guess. The 25 million milestone comes after 32 years of NLRB elections.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGES IN THE REGULATIONS OF THE CALIFORNIA DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
Pertaining to Proposed Hawthorne-Juniper Rust Interior Quarantine

Notice is hereby given that the California Department of Agriculture, pursuant to the authority vested by sections 16, 106 and 108 of the Agricultural Code of California, and to implement, interpret, and make specific sections 106 and 108 of the Agricultural Code, proposes to adopt regulations in Title 3 of the California Agricultural Administrative Code as follows:

The regulated area would include all or a portion of the cities of Corte Madera, Larkspur and Mill Valley, the communities of Kentfield and Greenbrae, and adjacent areas. Restrictions would be placed on movements from the regulated area of hawthorne and tam juniper plants and propagative parts except seed. Hawthorne plants and parts would be prohibited movement from the area unless completely defoliated and dormant. Juniper plants and parts would be prohibited movement from the area unless such plants and parts are brought into the area during the period December 1 to May 1, and are reshipped from the area during the same period under certificate issued by the County Agricultural Commissioner.

Adopt Section 3636, proclaiming the entire County of Marin as a Hawthorne-Juniper Rust Eradication Area and providing for the application of fungicides, removal and destruction of hosts, and visual examination of hosts as the means and methods to be used in eradicating the rust.

A complete copy of the proposed regulations may be obtained on request from the Division of Plant Industry, California Department of Agriculture, 1220 N Street, Sacramento, California 95814.

YOU AND EACH OF YOU WILL PLEASE TAKE NOTICE:

1. That there are 200 trust deeds, each purportedly secured by a separate parcel of land in the Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property consisting of approximately 108 acres of land located in the City of Tiburon in the County of Marin, State of California.

2. That this action was filed as a condemnation action whereby the plaintiff school district seeks to acquire some 47.75 acres of land on the Tiburon Peninsula for the construction of a high school.

3. That the land sought to be condemned is a part of a larger parcel of land called the Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract. On or about March 9, 1959, Reedlands, Inc., issued some 200 promissory notes, each of which was in the principal sum of $2,342.86, with interest at the rate of 10% per annum and each of which was secured by a separate deed of trust purportedly covering a separate parcel within the Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract. These promissory notes and accompanying deeds of trust were thereafter assigned to the Los Angeles Trust Deed and Mortgage Exchange and were then sold to various trust deed investors.

4. That the legal description of the 108 acre Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property (including the 47.75 acres sought to be taken by plaintiff) is annexed hereto as Exhibit One.

5. That of the two hundred trust deeds covering property standing in the name of Reedlands, Inc., 108 purport to cover particular parcels which are entirely or partly in the area sought to be condemned and 92 purport to cover particular parcels outside the taking area. That certain of the trust deed investors have filed an answer and cross-complaint in this action purportedly on behalf of the entire group of investors in the 200 trust deeds.

6. That Hermann Schneider and the other trust deed investors filing said answer and cross complaint ask that this Court treat all of the holders and beneficiaries of the said 200 trust deeds equally, without regard to the location in the tract of the property purportedly securing any individual trust deed, and that the Court determine the fair market value of the 47.75 acres of property taken and the severance damages to the balance of the Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract and divide said sums equally among the owners, holders and beneficiaries of said 200 trust deeds after deducting the costs and expenses of this litigation, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

7. That Hermann Schneider and the other trust deed investors filing said answer and cross-complaint contend that this is the only equitable and fair distribution of the condemnation award and the severance damages, relying on the California Supreme Court cases of Chance vs. Superior Court (1962) 58 C. 2d, 275, and Hink vs. Superior Court, (1962) 58 C. 2d, 921. That said Unit No. 5 tract was never properly subdivided, and they therefore contend that the trust deeded parcels do not exist separately from the rest of the tract, as a matter of law.

8. That the Pre-Trial Conference in this action was held on July 25, 1966, and the Marin County Superior Court made its Pre-Trial Conference Order setting forth and defining the issues to be resolved by the trial of this action.

9. That the Court determined in its Pre-Trial Conference Order that for the purpose of trying the valuation phase of this litigation, that defendants Hermann Schneider, and the other defendant investors represented by attorneys C. Douglas Wikle, Walter Atkinson, David B. Boller, W. Alan Thody, Dell L. Falls, and Hill, Farrer & Burrill, properly represent the trust deed investors in the said 200 trust deeds.

10. That each of said trust deed investors has heretofore, on or about September 10, 1966, been mailed copies of each of the following documents setting forth the issues and controversies in this action, to wit:

(1.) Notice of Trial of Condemnation Action and of Hearing on Apportionment of Condemnation Award and Severance Damages.

(2.) The plaintiff's Complaint herein.

(3.) The Amended and Supplemental Answer and Amended and Supplemental Cross-Complaint filed by defendants Hermann Schneider, et al.

(4.) The Pre-Trial Conference Order in this action. You should have read these documents. If for any reason you do not have copies of these documents, they may be examined in the Marin County Clerk's Office in the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael, California, or you may obtain copies by requesting them in writing from the undersigned attorneys, Suite 1000, 650 South Grand Avenue, Los Angeles, California, 90017.

11. That by the terms of the Pre-Trial Conference Order, the Court also determined that the trial of this action would be held in two stages, as follows:

a.) The valuation phase, in which the Court or a jury would determine the value of 47.75 acres of property taken by the plaintiff, the severance damages sustained by the balance of the said 108 acre Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property, and the special benefits, if any, to the remaining Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property.

b.) The apportionment phase, which will be tried following the determination of the fair market value, and the total amount of damages. In this phase, the Court will determine who will be entitled to share in the award, and the amount to be received by each.

12. That this action was called for a jury trial of the valuation phase on October 10, 1966. After several days of trial, the attorneys for plaintiff and the attorneys for defendants Hermann Schneider, and others, agreed to recommend that this action be settled insofar as the valuation phase and the controversy between plaintiff and defendants is concerned by payment of $350,000 in cash, and entering certain agreements as to construction of improvements, which agreements will benefit the portion not taken and enhance its value by approximately $60,000. After extended negotiations as to the exact language to be used in the stipulation, which in large part was an engineering and design problem requiring consultation with engineers for each side, attorneys for plaintiff and attorneys for defendants have agreed upon a Stipulation for Judgment which contains a compromise and settlement of the controversies in this action between plaintiff and defendants. Attorneys for defendants Hermann Schneider, and others, have filed in this action their Application for Approval of Stipulation for Judgment Compromising and Settling Action.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that defendants Hermann Schneider and others have filed an application herein for an order that, upon entry of judgment, plaintiff shall pay the sum of $350,000.00 to David B. Boller, one of the attorneys for defendants Hermann Schneider, et al., as Trustee, or some other trustee nominated by defendants' attorneys and appointed by the Court, for deposit in an interest bearing account or in certificates of deposit in the United California Bank in San Rafael, or some other bank approved by the Court, upon such terms that no withdrawal from said savings account or certificate of deposit may be made except upon specific order of this Court with a certified copy of said order to be deposited with said bank prior to withdrawal, and that any and all withdrawals from said savings account or certificates of deposit must be on the dual signature of the said trustee and Joseph G. Wilson, Judge, of this Court.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that defendants Hermann Schneider and others have filed an application herein for an order that payment be made from the said fund of $350,000.00 to William C. Haley, M.A.I., and Ralph F. Clark, M.A.I., C.R.E., the real estate appraisers retained by defendants pursuant to order of this Court, of their appraisal and court appearance fees of $2,025.00 and $3,000.00 respectively, together with interest thereon, and that payment be made from the said fund to Bala & Strandgaard, the engineers retained by defendants pursuant to order of this Court, of their engineering and court appearance fees in the estimated amount of $4,765.00, together with interest thereon, or in such other amounts as the Court may determine to be due and owing.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the said Application for Approval of Stipulation for Judgment Compromising and Settling Action (which has attached thereto a copy of said Stipulation for Judgment), the said Application for Order Appointing Trustee and Authorizing Opening of Trust Account and Deposit of Funds, and the said Application for Payment of Appraisers and Engineers for Services Rendered, referred to above, are on file in the above entitled action No. 39,855 in the Superior Court Clerk's office in the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael, California, and may there be examined by all interested parties. All interested parties may obtain free copies of these documents by writing or telephoning the undersigned attorneys at their address below. IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN THIS ACTION YOU SHOULD READ THESE DOCUMENTS.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that each of said applications will be heard in Department No. 2 of the above-entitled Court located in the Marin County Courthouse Building, located in San Rafael, California, on February 24, 1967, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., or as soon thereafter as these matters may be heard, or on any other date to which said matters are continued by said Court at said time and place.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that at said hearings the Court will be asked to determine the fair market value of said property taken, and the amount of severance damage and special benefits, to be in accordance with the Stipulation for Judgment, and to approve said Stipulation for Judgment and to grant said applications.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that at the conclusion of said hearings commencing at the time and place aforesaid, this Court will set a date for the trial and hearing of apportionment proceedings pursuant to Section 1246.1 of the Code of Civil Procedure. That the Basic issues to be determined in these apportionment proceedings arise out of the contentions with respect to whether the trust deed investors are to be treated as a class and are as follows:

1. Whether the trust deed investors may properly be treated as a class in asserting their claims as defendants in the condemnation action, taking into account the factors normally governing the maintenance of class actions and the factual evidence pertaining thereto;
2. If, under the facts and circumstances of this case, the trust deed investors may properly be treated as a class do defendants Schneider properly represent the class defendants in the action;
3. Does the class consist of all trust deed investors who hold trust deeds on parcels of land formerly standing in the name of Reedlands, Inc., regardless of whether said parcels are inside or outside of the area sought to be condemned, or must the class be confined only to those trust deed investors whose trust deeds describe parcels within the area sought to be taken;
4. Assuming the class consists of all trust deed investors is there any basis for treating those trust deed investors who hold trust deeds on parcels inside the area sought to be taken differently from those holding trust deeds on parcels outside this area, or, should all trust deed investors be treated alike in the apportionment of the award;
5. Are there any individual trust deed investors who, regardless of whether a class is determined to exist, are entitled to be treated as not being members of the class and are therefore entitled to assert separate claims to a portion of the proceeds of the award based upon their claimed individual interest in particular parcels;
6. Are there any members of the class who under the facts of this case are entitled to be treated other than on a pro-rata basis in apportioning the award;
7. Should the award be treated as part of a common fund to be added to any proceeds eventually obtained from the foreclosure and sale of the entire larger parcel and thereafter apportioned among all the trust deed investors after deduction for litigation expenses and attorneys' fees as allowed by the court;
8. Should the award be apportioned only among those trust deed investors whose trust deeds cover parcels within the area sought to be taken and if so should there be deducted a proportionate amount for litigation expenses and attorneys' fees as allowed by the court, in this condemnation action;
9. The amount of the County of Marin's claim for unpaid taxes.

That in the event the court determines that there are individual trust deed investors who are entitled to be treated as not being members of any class there will then be a further hearing, which will be before the trial court or jury as the parties may request, for the purpose of placing a valuation upon any such separately claimed interests.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that at the said trial of the apportionment proceedings pursuant to Section 1246.1 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the Court will be asked to distribute the said condemnation award and damages equally among the holders of the 200 Reedlands Unit No. 5 trust deeds after deducting reasonable costs and attorneys' fees, and to enter judgment accordingly.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that anyone who desires to object to these proceedings or to said applications, or to any of them, or to any proceedings connected therewith, or who wishes to appear at said hearings or trial, and who can establish himself to be a person interested in the said Reedlands Unit No. 5 property, shall at the aforesaid time and place appear, and in the event of failure so to appear, will be deemed to have consented and acceded to the within action and to the granting of said application, and the proceedings in connection therewith, including the treatment of the holders of the 200 trust deeds as a class, and the above-entitled Court will enter its judgment and make its orders accordingly in this action, and will set other hearing and trial dates, and will establish attorneys' fees and costs to be allowed to counsel herein out of the funds recovered, and will make such other and further rulings and orders as it deems necessary or proper.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Court at the aforesaid hearings and continued trial will establish a time and a place for filing and hearing the applications for award of attorneys' fee and costs to those attorneys of record who represent defendants Hermann Schneider and the other defendant trust deed investors who purportedly represent the entire class of the holders and beneficiaries of the said 200 Reedlands Unit No. 5 trust deeds, namely C. Douglas Wikle, Walter Atkinson, David B. Boller, Dell L. Falls, W. Alan Thody and Hill, Farrer & Burrill. Said attorneys will petition the said court for award to them of reasonable contingent attorneys' fees payable out of the funds recovered herein, in a sum equal to 25% of all funds recovered, together with the reasonable costs and expenses. Said hearing on attorneys' fees and costs is to be held subsequent to the said hearings and continued trial at a time to be set at the conclusion of said trial.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Court at the aforesaid hearings and continued trial will establish a time and a place for hearing of an application by defendant Hermann Schneider and the other defendants represented by said attorneys for the refund to defendants of those costs of court and attorneys' fees thus far advanced by defendants to their counsel which are allocable to these legal proceedings and other proceedings regarding the Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property and contributed to the successful conclusion of the Reedlands Unit No. 5 litigation.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the individual trust deed investors need not be present at the said hearings and continued trial in order to benefit therefrom. However, if you have any objection to the proceedings, or to the applications or to any of them, or wish to present any evidence, or to make any contentions, or to be heard in any manner in connection therewith, you should file an appearance in writing with the Clerk of the Marin County Superior Court, located in the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael, California, not later than February 24, 1967, after having served a true copy by mail on Rockwell, Fulkerson and Clarke, 1330 Lincoln Avenue, P.O. Box 1257, San Rafael, California, attorneys for plaintiff, and after having served a true copy by mail on C. Douglas Wikle, Walter Atkinson, David B. Boller, W. Alan Thody, Dell L. Falls and Hill, Farrer and Burrill, at Suite 1000, 650 South Grand Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90017, attorneys for defendant trust deed investors Hermann Schneider and the members of the class of defendant trust deed investors represented herein. Your objections or contentions will then be heard in Department No. 2 of this Court at the hearings and continued trial commencing at 10:00 o'clock A.M. on February 24, 1967, in the Marin County Courthouse at San Rafael, California, or at such other time and place as may be set by the Court, at said time and place, or to which the said hearings and trial may be continued.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that said hearings and continued trial, or any of them, may be continued from time to time by the order of the Court WITHOUT ANY FURTHER NOTICE BEING GIVEN TO THE TRUST DEED INVESTORS.

A trust deed investor need not have fully paid for his trust deed in order to benefit from these proceedings, and should not make any additional payment thereon.

A trust deed investor does not need to have possession of his trust deed in order to be paid from the condemnation award or severance damages, if any, awarded by the judgment in this action.

Methadone Helping The Heroin Addict

NEW YORK (SS) — After nearly three years of preliminary testing, the drug methadone appears to have fulfilled its promise as an answer to heroin addiction.

Some 276 hard-core New York addicts treated at the Rockefeller University Hospital and Beth Israel Medical Center have lost their habits and none has returned to heroin — a 100 per cent success rating.

Methadone, a synthetic narcotic, acts by blocking the euphoric effect of opiates. Addicts thus get nothing from heroin and feel no desire to take it.

They must, however, be permanently maintained on methadone — 100 milligrams per day taken orally is the rate established by the Rockefeller researchers. But methadone lacks the toxic effects of heroin and once stabilized on the drug, addicts are alert, feel well and are apparently able to live completely normal lives.

Dr. Marie Nyswander, a psychiatrist on the methadone project, reports that 75 per cent of the male patients who have been on the program for six months at the end of 1966 were working full-time.

Of the women, 50 per cent were working or taking care of their homes. This, however, was not due solely to methadone. The drug relieved the addiction, but an excellent rehabilitation program put them back into society.

Most of the addicts came into the program with prison records, "tracks" on their arms, poor education and background, Dr. Nyswander reports in the January Bulletin, published by New York branches of the American Psychiatric Association.

Though they received no formal psychotherapy, the addicts did profit from a very small patient-staff ratio. Counselors helped them to find homes, jobs, educate them "in the ways of the world" and shared their successes and failures. By the end of the program's first year, most were working regularly or were in school.

Since the methadone project began in early 1964, only three addicts have dropped out, said Dr. Nyswander. The project itself dropped 24 for psychiatric reasons; violence, alcoholism or the use of nonopiate drugs.

To be admitted at all, the addicts had to have a long-standing heroin addiction, whie being free of obvious psychopathology. For these addicts, Dr. Nyswander believes addiction to be a chemical problem requiring medical, not a psychiatric solution.

Treasurer's Group May Oppose Measure

A portion of Assemblyman William T. Bagley's bill to revise the state inheritance tax appraisal system in California may be opposed by the California County Treasurer's Assn.

Marin County Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez returned today from a meeting of the state group in Sacramento. He said the move to do away with the appointed appraisers will not be opposed. At issue is the deletion of the offices of county treasurers in handling estates.

Fontez said the treasurers appointed a committee to look into this phase of the bill.

Monday Syndrome Hints Rare Types Of Industrial Illness

VAN DELLEN

Raw flax goes through a long and dusty process to make the yarn from which linen is woven. The mill workers are prone to respiratory disorders such as byssinosis unless adequate precautions are taken. The Monday morning syndrome is the most characteristic of this disorder.

Within a few hours of his return to work on Monday, the victim develops tightness of the chest, shortness of breath and wheezing. The second stage occurs with continued exposure; the symptoms now continue over the week-end. The last stage is similar to chronic bronchitis and emphysema.

continued exposure; the symptoms now continue over the week-end. The last stage is similar to chronic bronchitis and smphysema.

A GROUP of physicians from the University of Belfast in Northern Ireland found that more than half of those engaged in the preparation and carding of the fibers had byssinosis. The problem was not so troublesome to workers in less dusty departments.

Some of the flax workers who left the industry had residual breathlessness on exertion, because of permanent impairment of the lungs, although the majority improved considerably.

In this country byssinosis is rare because of adequate ventilation. The disease can and should be prevented. Men and women working in these industries may develop chronic bronchitis and emphysema not traceable to their occupation. This is true if they are heavy smokers or live in areas where air pollution is marked. They do not develop the Monday syndrome.

SUGAR INDUSTRY workers develop bagassossis. Bagasse, the residue in sugar cane after the sugar has been extracted, is used in the manufacture of wallboard, paper, and other insulating material. The disease is more acute than byssinosis. It resembles pneumonia with shortness of breath, malaise, and fever and may be caused by fungi on the fibers or an allergy.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

SYMPATHY NAUSEA

Mrs. A. writes: Every time my daughter becomes pregnant I suffer from morning sickness even though I don't know about the baby until a few months before it is born. I also put on weight at this time and after confinement lose five pounds a week until I am back to normal. After having five of my own I don't see why I have to go through this misery again with my grandchidlren. My daughter feels wonderful and has her babies with no trouble.

REPLY

This phenomenon is well known among fathers-to-be, but your experience is unique as far as I know.

GRAY WHITES OF EYES

D. D. writes: Why are the whites of my eyes gray?

REPLY

Offshades of white are normal. On the other hand, definite grayness may be due to excessive medications containing silver.

PALE ON FAINTING

I. E. writes: Why do some people turn pale on fainting?

REPLY

Because circulatory collapse accompanies fainting. The capillaries cease to function and the skin becomes white, cold, and clammy.

PERFECT PRESSURE

S. P. A. writes: Is 112 blood pressure good or bad in a woman of 55?

REPLY

Perfect.

From the State Bar Of California

Contracts Not Always Binding

Both parties are bound by the terms of a contract in almost every case. But there are exceptions. Although valid (not obtained by fraud, say, or not made with minors), a contract may still not be enforceable. An overriding "public policy" may modify its terms.

Since the early days, contracts that sought to excuse a business man from his own negligence were held to be against public policy.

An innkeeper, carrier, parking attendant, or repairman who tried to exempt himself as not responsible through a posted sign or an agreement could seldom enforce it. Nor could an employer abuse child workers, women, or handicapped persons with impunity by getting them to sign an agreement.

Often an unequal bargaining power forces someone to enter into a contract. Courts will look closely at such contracts. Any vagueness in a contract will be construed in favor of the person who was "forced" into signing the prepared agreement.

For example, take a ontract one might have to sign to rent a car. The lengthy agreement means little to the renter. Recently, Sam rented a car at the airport and signed an agreement which covered several things including car insurance. One provision said that there would be no coverage for the renter if the car was operated by a person other than the renter, his family, or his employee. Another said that he would not be insured if he is merely riding in the car and not driving it.

Sam was riding in the car's front seat while his friend, Jack, was driving. They had a fatal crash and Sam's widow sued Jack. Jack demanded that the rental insurance company defend the lawsuit. Refusing, the insurance company said that its policy had excluded Jack and Sam from coverage.

The California Supreme Court declared that clause in the policy illegal as against public policy. California's auto responsibility laws protect drivers who use another's car with permission. The rental company is placing cars into the hands of persons and making a profit based on the use of the car, often without regard to the actual operator.

Jack, driving with Sam's permission, would assume that insurance would protect him.

The rental company can not exclude itself from responsibility under such normal usage. Such an exemption from coverage would violate "public policy."

In another case a hospital which took in charity patients called upon each one entering to agree that he could not hold the hospital to blame for negligent treatment. An injured charity patient nevertheless sued the hospital. Again the court said that such an agreement was against public policy and could not be enforced.

No. 39855

Superior Court of the State of California for the County of Marin.

TAMALPAIS UNION HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT OF MARIN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, Plaintiff,
vs.
JOHN C. GAMM, et al., Defendants.
HERMANN SCHNEIDER, et al., Cross-Complainants,
vs.
COUNTY OF MARIN, et al., Cross-Defendants.

BY ORDER OF THE MARIN COUNTY SUPERIOR COURT THIS NOTICE IS DIRECTED TO ALL THOSE TRUST DEED INVESTORS WHO INVESTED IN THOSE TRUST DEEDS SECURED BY THE REEDLANDS UNIT NO. 5 REAL PROPERTY LOCATED IN THE CITY OF TIBURON IN THE COUNTY OF MARIN, CALIFORNIA, WHICH TRUST DEEDS WERE EXECUTED BY REEDLANDS, INC., AND SOLD BY LOS ANGELES TRUST DEED AND MORTGAGE EXCHANGE TO THE INVESTING PUBLIC, AND TO ALL OTHER PERSONS WHOM THIS MAY CONCERN.

YOU AND EACH OF YOU WILL PLEASE TAKE NOTICE:

1. That there are 200 trust deeds, each purportedly secured by a separate parcel of land in the Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property consisting of approximately 108 acres of land located in the City of Tiburon in the County of Marin, State of California.

2. That this action was filed as a condemnation action whereby the plaintiff school district seeks to acquire some 47.75 acres of land on the Tiburon Peninsula for the construction of a high school.

3. That the land sought to be condemned is a part of a larger parcel of land called the Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract. On or about March 9, 1959, Reedlands, Inc., issued some 200 promissory notes, each of which was in the principal sum of $2,342.86, with interest at the rate of 10% per annum and each of which was secured by a separate deed of trust purportedly covering a separate parcel within the Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract. These promissory notes and accompanying deeds of trust were thereafter assigned to the Los Angeles Trust Deed and Mortgage Exchange and were then sold to various trust deed investors.

4. That the legal description of the 108 acre Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property (including the 47.75 acres sought to be taken by plaintiff) is annexed hereto as Exhibit One.

5. That of the two hundred trust deeds covering property standing in the name of Reedlands, Inc., 108 purport to cover particular parcels which are entirely or partly in the area sought to be condemned and 92 purport to cover particular parcels outside the taking area. That certain of the trust deed investors have filed an answer and cross-complaint in this action purportedly on behalf of the entire group of investors in the 200 trust deeds.

6. That Hermann Schneider and the other trust deed investors filing said answer and cross complaint ask that this Court treat all of the holders and beneficiaries of the said 200 trust deeds equally, without regard to the location in the tract of the property purportedly securing any individual trust deed, and that the Court determine the fair market value of the 47.75 acres of property taken and the severance damages to the balance of the Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract and divide said sums equally among the owners, holders and beneficiaries of said 200 trust deeds after deducting the costs and expenses of this litigation, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

7. That Hermann Schneider and the other trust deed investors filing said answer and cross-complaint contend that this is the only equitable and fair distribution of the condemnation award and the severance damages, relying on the California Supreme Court cases of Chance vs. Superior Court (1962) 58 C. 2d, 275, and Hink vs. Superior Court, (1962) 58 C, 2d, 921. That said Unit No. 5 tract was never properly subdivided, and they therefore contend that the trust deeded parcels do not exist separately from the rest of the tract, as a matter of law.

8. That the Pre-Trial Conference in this action was held on July 25, 1966, and the Marin County Superior Court made its Pre-Trial Conference Order setting forth and defining the issues to be resolved by the trial of this action.

9. That the Court determined in its Pre-Trial Conference Order that for the purpose of trying the valuation phase of this litigation, that defendants Hermann Schneider, and the other defendant investors represented by attorneys C. Douglas Wikle, Walter Atkinson, David B. Boller, W. Alan Thody, Dell L. Falls, and Hill, Farrer & Burrill, properly represent the trust deed investors in the said 200 trust deeds.

10. That each of said trust deed investors has heretofore, on or about September 10, 1966, been mailed copies of each of the following documents setting forth the issues and controversies in this action, to wit:

(1.) Notice of Trial of Condemnation Action and of Hearing on Apportionment of Condemnation Award and Severance Damages.

(2.) The plaintiff's Complaint herein.

(3.) The Amended and Supplemental Answer and Amended and Supplemental Cross-Complaint filed by defendants Hermann Schneider, et al.

(4.) The Pre-Trial Conference Order in this action. You should have read these documents. If for any reason you do not have copies of these documents, they may be examined in the Marin County Clerk's Office in the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael, California, or you may obtain copies by requesting them in writing from the undersigned attorneys, Suite 1000, 650 South Grand Avenue, Los Angeles, California, 90017.

11. That by the terms of the Pre-Trial Conference Order, the Court also determined that the trial of this action would be held in two stages, as follows:

a.) The valuation phase, in which the Court or a jury would determine the value of 47.75 acres of property taken by the plaintiff, the severance damages sustained by the balance of the said 108 acre Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property, and the special benefits, if any, to the remaining Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property.

b.) The apportionment phase, which will be tried following the determination of the fair market value, and the total amount of damages. In this phase, the Court will determine who will be entitled to share in the award, and the amount to be received by each.

12. That this action was called for a jury trial of the valuation phase on October 10, 1966. After several days of trial, the attorneys for plaintiff and the attorneys for defendants Hermann Schneider, and others, agreed to recommend that this action be settled insofar as the valuation phase and the controversy between plaintiff and defendants is concerned by payment of $350,000 in cash, and entering certain agreements as to construction of improvements, which agreements will benefit the portion not taken and enhance its value by approximately $60,000. After extended negotiations as to the exact language to be used in the stipulation, which in large part was an engineering and design problem requiring consultation with engineers for each side, attorneys for plaintiff and attorneys for defendants have agreed upon a Stipulation for Judgment which contains a compromise and settlement of the controversies in this action between plaintiff and defendants. Attorneys for defendants Hermann Schneider, and others, have filed in this action their Application for Approval of Stipulation for Judgment Compromising and Settling Action.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that defendants Hermann Schneider and others have filed an application herein for an order that, upon entry of judgment, plaintiff shall pay the sum of $350,000.00 to David B. Boller, one of the attorneys for defendants Hermann Schneider, et al., as Trustee, or some other trustee nominated by defendants' attorneys and appointed by the Court, for deposit in an interest bearing account or in certificates of deposit in the United California Bank in San Rafael, or some other bank approved by the Court, upon such terms that no withdrawal from said savings account or certificate of deposit may be made except upon specific order of this Court with a certified copy of said order to be deposited with said bank prior to withdrawal, and that any and all withdrawals from said savings account or certificates of deposit must be on the dual signature of the said trustee and Joseph G. Wilson, Judge, of this Court.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that defendants Hermann Schneider and others have filed an application herein for an order that payment be made from the said fund of $350,000.00 to William C. Haley, M.A.I., and Ralph F. Clark, M.A.I., C.R.E., the real estate appraisers retained by defendants pursuant to order of this Court, of their appraisal and court appearance fees of $2,025.00 and $3,000.00 respectively, together with interest thereon, and that payment be made from the said fund to Bala & Strandgaard, the engineers retained by defendants pursuant to order of this Court, of their engineering and court appearance fees in the estimated amount of $4,765.00, together with interest thereon, or in such other amounts as the Court may determine to be due and owing.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the said Application for Approval of Stipulation for Judgment Compromising and Settling Action (which has attached thereto a copy of said Stipulation for Judgment), the said Application for Order Appointing Trustee and Authorizing Opening of Trust Account and Deposit of Funds, and the said Application for Payment of Appraisers and Engineers for Services Rendered, referred to above, are on file in the above entitled action No. 39,855 in the Superior Court Clerk's office in the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael, California, and may there be examined by all interested parties. All interested parties may obtain free copies of these documents by writing or telephoning the undersigned attorneys at their address below. IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN THIS ACTION YOU SHOULD READ THESE DOCUMENTS.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that each of said applications will be heard in Department No. 2 of the above-entitled Court located in the Marin County Courthouse Building, located in San Rafael, California, on February 24, 1967, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., or as soon thereafter as these matters may be heard, or on any other date to which said matters are continued by said Court at said time and place.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that at said hearings the Court will be asked to determine the fair market value of said property taken, and the amount of severance damage and special benefits, to be in accordance with the Stipulation for Judgment, and to approve said Stipulation for Judgment and to grant said applications.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that at the conclusion of said hearings commencing at the time and place aforesaid, this Court will set a date for the trial and hearing of apportionment proceedings pursuant to Section 1246.1 of the Code of Civil Procedure. That the Basic issues to be determined in these apportionment proceedings arise out of the contentions with respect to whether the trust deed investors are to be treated as a class and are as follows:

1. Whether the trust deed investors may properly be treated as a class in asserting their claims as defendants in the condemnation action, taking into account the factors normally governing the maintenance of class actions and the factual evidence pertaining thereto;
2. If, under the facts and circumstances of this case, the trust deed investors may properly be treated as a class do defendants Schneider properly represent the class defendants in the action;
3. Does the class consist of all trust deed investors who hold trust deeds on parcels of land formerly standing in the name of Reedlands, Inc., regardless of whether said parcels are inside or outside of the area sought to be condemned, or must the class be confined only to those trust deed investors whose trust deeds describe parcels within the area sought to be taken;
4. Assuming the class consists of all trust deed investors is there any basis for treating those trust deed investors who hold trust deeds on parcels inside the area sought to be taken differently from those holding trust deeds on parcels outside this area, or, should all trust deed investors be treated alike in the apportionment of the award;
5. Are there any individual trust deed investors who, regardless of whether a class is determined to exist, are entitled to be treated as not being members of the class and are therefore entitled to assert separate claims to a portion of the proceeds of the award based upon their claimed individual interest in particular parcels;
6. Are there any members of the class who under the facts of this case are entitled to be treated other than on a pro-rata basis in apportioning the award;
7. Should the award be treated as part of a common fund to be added to any proceeds eventually obtained from the foreclosure and sale of the entire larger parcel and thereafter apportioned among all the trust deed investors after deduction for litigation expenses and attorneys' fees as allowed by the court;
8. Should the award be apportioned only among those trust deed investors whose trust deeds cover parcels within the area sought to be taken and if so should there be deducted a proportionate amount for litigation expenses and attorneys' fees as allowed by the court, in this condemnation action;
9. The amount of the County of Marin's claim for unpaid taxes.

That in the event the court determines that there are individual trust deed investors who are entitled to be treated as not being members of any class there will then be a further hearing, which will be before the trial court or jury as the parties may request, for the purpose of placing a valuation upon any such separately claimed interests.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that at the said trial of the apportionment proceedings pursuant to Section 1246.1 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the Court will be asked to distribute the said condemnation award and damages equally among the holders of the 200 Reedlands Unit No. 5 trust deeds after deducting reasonable costs and attorneys' fees, and to enter judgment accordingly.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that anyone who desires to object to these proceedings or to said applications, or to any of them, or to any proceedings connected therewith, or who wishes to appear at said hearings or trial, and who can establish himself to be a person interested in the said Reedlands Unit No. 5 property, shall at the aforesaid time and place appear, and in the event of failure so to appear, will be deemed to have consented and acceded to the within action and to the granting of said application, and the proceedings in connection therewith, including the treatment of the holders of the 200 trust deeds as a class, and the above-entitled Court will enter its judgment and make its orders accordingly in this action, and will set other hearing and trial dates, and will establish attorneys' fees and costs to be allowed to counsel herein out of the funds recovered, and will make such other and further rulings and orders as it deems necessary or proper.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Court at the aforesaid hearings and continued trial will establish a time and a place for filing and hearing the applications for award of attorneys' fee and costs to those attorneys of record who represent defendants Hermann Schneider and the other defendant trust deed investors who purportedly represent the entire class of the holders and beneficiaries of the said 200 Reedlands Unit No. 5 trust deeds, namely C. Douglas Wikle, Walter Atkinson, David B. Boller, Dell L. Falls, W. Alan Thody and Hill, Farrer & Burrill. Said attorneys will petition the said court for award to them of reasonable contingent attorneys' fees payable out of the funds recovered herein, in a sum equal to 25% of all funds recovered, together with the reasonable costs and expenses. Said hearing on attorneys' fees and costs is to be held subsequent to the said hearings and continued trial at a time to be set at the conclusion of said trial.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Court at the aforesaid hearings and continued trial will establish a time and a place for hearing of an application by defendant Hermann Schneider and the other defendants represented by said attorneys for the refund to defendants of those costs of court and attorneys' fees thus far advanced by defendants to their counsel which are allocable to these legal proceedings and other proceedings regarding the Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property and contributed to the successful conclusion of the Reedlands Unit No. 5 litigation.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the individual trust deed investors need not be present at the said hearings and continued trial in order to benefit therefrom. However, if you have any objection to the proceedings, or to the applications or to any of them, or wish to present any evidence, or to make any contentions, or to be heard in any manner in connection therewith, you should file an appearance in writing with the Clerk of the Marin County Superior Court, located in the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael, California, not later than February 24, 1967, after having served a true copy by mail on Rockwell, Fulkerson and Clarke, 1330 Lincoln Avenue, P.O. Box 1257, San Rafael, California, attorneys for plaintiff, and after having served a true copy by mail on C. Douglas Wikle, Walter Atkinson, David B. Boller, W. Alan Thody, Dell L. Falls and Hill, Farrer and Burrill, at Suite 1000, 650 South Grand Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90017, attorneys for defendant trust deed investors Hermann Schneider and the members of the class of defendant trust deed investors represented herein. Your objections or contentions will then be heard in Department No. 2 of this Court at the hearings and continued trial commencing at 10:00 o'clock A.M. on February 24, 1967, in the Marin County Courthouse at San Rafael, California, or at such other time and place as may be set by the Court, at said time and place, or to which the said hearings and trial may be continued.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that said hearings and continued trial, or any of them, may be continued from time to time by the order of the Court WITHOUT ANY FURTHER NOTICE BEING GIVEN TO THE TRUST DEED INVESTORS.

A trust deed investor need not have fully paid for his trust deed in order to benefit from these proceedings, and should not make any additional payment thereon.

A trust deed investor does not need to have possession of his trust deed in order to be paid from the condemnation award or severance damages, if any, awarded by the judgment in this action.

Methadone Helping The Heroin Addict

NEW YORK (SS) — After nearly three years of preliminary testing, the drug methadone appears to have fulfilled its promise as an answer to heroin addiction.

Some 276 hard-core New York addicts treated at the Rockefeller University Hospital and Beth Israel Medical Center have lost their habits and none has returned to heroin — a 100 per cent success rating.

Methadone, a synthetic narcotic, acts by blocking the euphoric effect of opiates. Addicts thus get nothing from heroin and feel no desire to take it.

They must, however, be permanently maintained on methadone — 100 milligrams per day taken orally is the rate established by the Rockefeller researchers. But methadone lacks the toxic effects of heroin and once stabilized on the drug, addicts are alert, feel well and are apparently able to live completely normal lives.

Dr. Marie Nyswander, a psychiatrist on the methadone project, reports that 75 per cent of the male patients who have been on the program for six months at the end of 1966 were working full-time.

Of the women, 50 per cent were working or taking care of their homes. This, however, was not due solely to methadone. The drug relieved the addiction, but an excellent rehabilitation program put them back into society.

Most of the addicts came into the program with prison records, "tracks" on their arms, poor education and background, Dr. Nyswander reports in the January Bulletin, published by New York branches of the American Psychiatric Association.

Though they received no formal psychotherapy, the addicts did profit from a very small patient-staff ratio. Counselors helped them to find homes, jobs, educate them "in the ways of the world" and shared their successes and failures. By the end of the program's first year, most were working regularly or were in school.

Since the methadone project began in early 1964, only three addicts have dropped out, said Dr. Nyswander. The project itself dropped 24 for psychiatric reasons; violence, alcoholism or the use of nonopiate drugs.

To be admitted at all, the addicts had to have a long-standing heroin addiction, whie being free of obvious psychopathology. For these addicts, Dr. Nyswander believes addiction to be a chemical problem requiring medical, not a psychiatric solution.

Treasurer's Group May Oppose Measure

A portion of Assemblyman William T. Bagley's bill to revise the state inheritance tax appraisal system in California may be opposed by the California County Treasurer's Assn.

Marin County Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez returned today from a meeting of the state group in Sacramento. He said the move to do away with the appointed appraisers will not be opposed. At issue is the deletion of the offices of county treasurers in handling estates.

Fontez said the treasurers appointed a committee to look into this phase of the bill.

Johnson Delays Railroad Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has acted to delay until March 28 a possible strike of the nation's railroads by six shopcraft unions representing some 146,000 workers.

Johnson set up an emergency board late Saturday to look into the dispute which the National Mediation Board said "threatens to substantially interrupt interstate commerce to a degree such as to deprive the country of essential transportation service."

Drinks Champagne

Burglars with a taste for the good life broke into Kaye A. Keller's apartment at 45 Louise Street, San Rafael, last night. They consumed a bottle of champagne stolen from the refrigerator and used Mrs. Keller's telephone, police reported.

Slide Causes Two-Car Crash

A mud slide was blamed for a two-car crash on the Sausalito lateral that injured one driver at 6:10 p. m. yesterday.

The California Highway Patrol reported mud slid onto the road near the entrance to Fort Baker and Barry. As traffic stopped for the slide, a northbound car driven by Paul Robinette Doherty, 28, of San Jose was struk in the rear by one driven by Mervyn Alden Coughlan, 24, of Vallejo. Coughlan told the patrol he would see his own doctor for treatment of minor injuries.

Condition Better

Janice Lee Estelita, 30, of 100 Bryer Road, Kentfield, hurt Thursday night when her car blew a tire and hit a utility pole on Sar Francis Drake Boulevard near Cordone Avenue in San Anselmo, was reported improving and in good condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Money Taken

A burglar climbed through the window of the Tony J. Fagundes home at 16 Thomas Court, San Rafael, yesterday afternoon and stole $8, then made his getaway on a bicycle stolen from the Velma M. DeLeon home next door at 18 Thomas Court, San Rafael police reported.

Auto Stereo Taken

Horace R. White Jr. of 805 Diablo Avenue, Novato, complained to San Rafael police Saturday that someone smashed the wind-wing of his car to steal a $130 auto stereo unit and $54 in tape recordings at 135 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, Friday night.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Monday Syndrome Hints Rare Types Of Industrial Illness

VAN DELLEN

Raw flax goes through a long and dusty process to make the yarn from which linen is woven. The mill workers are prone to respiratory disorders such as byssinosis unless adequate precautions are taken. The Monday morning syndrome is the most characteristic of this disorder.

Within a few hours of his return to work on Monday, the victim develops tightness of the chest, shortness of breath and wheezing. The second stage occurs with continued exposure; the symptoms now continue over the week-end. The last stage is similar to chronic bronchitis and emphysema.

continued exposure; the symptoms now continue over the week-end. The last stage is similar to chronic bronchitis and smphysema.

A GROUP of physicians from the University of Belfast in Northern Ireland found that more than half of those engaged in the preparation and carding of the fibers had byssinosis. The problem was not so troublesome to workers in less dusty departments.

Some of the flax workers who left the industry had residual breathlessness on exertion, because of permanent impairment of the lungs, although the majority improved considerably.

In this country byssinosis is rare because of adequate ventilation. The disease can and should be prevented. Men and women working in these industries may develop chronic bronchitis and emphysema not traceable to their occupation. This is true if they are heavy smokers or live in areas where air pollution is marked. They do not develop the Monday syndrome.

SUGAR INDUSTRY workers develop bagassossis. Bagasse, the residue in sugar cane after the sugar has been extracted, is used in the manufacture of wallboard, paper, and other insulating material. The disease is more acute than byssinosis. It resembles— pneumonia with shortness of breath, malaise, and fever and may be caused by fungi on the fibers or an allergy.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

SYMPATHY NAUSEA

Mrs. A. writes: Every time my daughter becomes pregnant I suffer from morning sickness even though I don't know about the baby until a few months before it is born. I also put on weight at this time and after confinement lose five pounds a week until I am back to normal. After having five of my own I don't see why I have to go through this misery again with my grandchidlren. My daughter feels wonderful and has her babies with no trouble.

REPLY

This phenomenon is well known among fathers-to-be, but your experience is unique as far as I know.

GRAY WHITES OF EYES

D. D. writes: Why are the whites of my eyes gray?

REPLY

Offshades of white are normal. On the other hand, definite grayness may be due to excessive medications containing silver.

PALE ON FAINTING

I. E. writes: Why do some people turn pale on fainting?

REPLY

Because circulatory collapse accompanies fainting. The capillaries cease to function and the skin becomes white, cold, and clammy.

PERFECT PRESSURE

S. P. A. writes: Is 112 blood pressure good or bad in a woman of 55?

REPLY

Perfect.

Today's Health Hint — The fatigued skier is more accident-prone.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Contracts Not Always Binding

Both parties are bound by the terms of a contract in almost every case. But there are exceptions. Although valid (not obtained by fraud, say, or not made with minors), a contract may still not be enforceable. An overriding "public policy" may modify its terms.

Since the early days, contracts that sought to excuse a business man from his own negligence were held to be against public policy.

An innkeeper, carrier, parking attendant, or repairman who tried to exempt himself as not responsible through a posted sign or an agreement could seldom enforce it. Nor could an employer abuse child workers, women, or handicapped persons with impunity by getting them to sign an agreement.

Often an unequal bargaining power forces someone to enter into a contract. Courts will look closely at such contracts. Any vagueness in a contract will be construed in favor of the person who was "forced" into signing the prepared agreement.

For example, take a ontract one might have to sign to rent a car. The lengthy agreement means little to the renter. Recently, Sam rented a car at the airport and signed an agreement which covered several things including car insurance. One provision said that there would be no coverage for the renter if the car was operated by a person other than the renter, his family, or his employee. Another said that he would not be insured if he is merely riding in the car and not driving it.

Sam was riding in the car's front seat while his friend, Jack, was driving. They had a fatal crash and Sam's widow sued Jack. Jack demanded that the rental insurance company defend the lawsuit. Refusing, the insurance company said that its policy had excluded Jack and Sam from coverage.

The California Supreme Court declared that clause in the policy illegal as against public policy. California's auto responsibility laws protect drivers who use another's car with permission. The rental company is placing cars into the hands of persons and making a profit based on the use of the car, often without regard to the actual operator.

Jack, driving with Sam's permission, would assume that insurance would protect him.

The rental company can not exclude itself from responsibility under such normal usage. Such an exemption from coverage would violate "public policy."

In another case a hospital which took in charity patients called upon each one entering to agree that he could not hold the hospital to blame for negligent treatment. An injured charity patient nevertheless sued the hospital. Again the court said that such an agreement was against public policy and could not be enforced.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Driver Treated

Evelyn Maria Barial, 23, of 92 Forest Lane, San Rafael, was treated for minor injuries Saturday at Marin General Hospital after her car spun off Highway 101 at the top of California Park hill about 9:15 a.m. and hit an embankment, according to California Highway Patrol.

In Fair Condition

Judith Ann Hutchinson, 25, of 2015 Bridgeway, Sausalito, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with scalp cuts suffered yesterday when her sports car collided with a parked truck in the 700 block of Bridgeway.

In Hospital

Emil Illich, 70, of 45 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera, was in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a "fever of undetermined origin, possibly pneumonia," a hospital spokesman said. Illich was taken to the hospital Saturday at 10:45 a.m. after Corte Madera firemen administered resuscitation at his home.

TV REVIEW

Enchanting Hour Look At Bay City

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —San Francisco has been paid many compliments, but few more enchanting than last evening's "Telephone Hour" on NBC-TV, a visual mood poem offering a montage of the city's sights and musical life.

The program was not only a rhapsodic piece of film, but was a high point for the "Telephone Hour" in its attempts at unifying the documentary and musical forms of entertainment.

LOVE FEAT

A gifted gentleman named Ed Speigel wrote, directed and produced the broadcast, and it was completely obvious that he and his staff are in love with San Francisco, which is a very easy thing to be because it is a city where people live the way that people ought to live. Mr. Speigel's sensitivity at projecting this civilized attitude enabled him to suggest more than the sights and music—to hint at what the city stands for at its best.

This suggestion was perhaps at its zenith during an electrifying segment in which a jazz saxophonist with a classical bent, John Handy, performed at an outdoor concert. The combination of the music, the wide range of spectators deeply involved and the artistic selectivity of Mr. Speigel in juxtaposing the various faces to help make his point was a remarkable bit of doing. The viewer also became involved, and happily got lost in the spell being cast.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

There was hardly any narrative in the hour. It didn't need much. I can't imagine a better American television film to send abroad.

Over the CBS-TV, meanwhile, "The 21st Century," a new, half-hour last evening series about the world of tomorrow, arrived as a successor to "The 20th Century," which presumably couldn't face the next 33 years, an understandable feeling.

I wish that every producer of educational television programs had watched the Sunday premiere, which dealth with the coming revolution in communications, for this was a first-class exhibition of how to make facts and learning come alive. The visual concepts, the actual illustrations of devices and the proper amount of showmanship supplemented the excellent script in a way that held the viewer's interest throughout.

This was particularly true in the case of a futuristic room that indicated how the home may well be a center for receiving news, attending school, doing research, watching entertainment—and for communicating with almost anyone about almost anything. There was also a perceptive sequence indicating how man may finally be making the machine his servant rather than master. The big question, of course, is what all this will do to the television ratings system.

Also yesterday, "CBS Playhouse," a series of occasional specials, had its premier with a 90-minute play entitled "The Final War of Olly Winter," a mildly interesting failure about a professional U.S. Negro soldier in Vietnam who is weary after 20 years of service.

FLASH BACKS

He gets separated in the jungle and has encounters with a lovely girl and a Viet Cong soldier. He has flashbacks, and here is the most touching part of the play: that a man who, with his family, has had such a rough time throughout life is still willing to be a professional soldier to defend his country. Other than this implicit point, however, the play had nothing extraordinary to say.

Another static CBS-TV disappointed yesterday was an hour reading of the works of Charles Dickens by Emlyn Williams. As with "The Final War of Olly Winter," one is tempted to be polite, but that never serves any real purpose. The Dickens show, alas, was one of those that one appreciates rather than enjoys. Mr. Williams is a splendid actor, but the hour had little change of pace, was monotonous and some of the Dickens pieces were quite boring.

ART SHOW

Not at all boring, however, was a one-hour NBC-TV tour of "The Royal Palaces of Britain," displaying the great art treasures within and going over some of the hsitory and tastes of the monarchs who lived in them. British art critic Sir Kenneth Clark was a more than amiable guide, and the program was genuinely rewarding.

Soviet Leader Visits The Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny and Pope Paul VI today began an historic meeting that could lead to establishment of formal relations between the Vatican and the Kremlin.

The unprecedented meeting between a Pope and a Communist chief of state was described as "privatissima" (very private). But it was generally expected to cover prospects for peace in Vietnam and religious liberty in the Soviet Union.

Tiger Snake Farm Aiding Viet Soldiers

CANBERRA, Australia (SS) — A sheep rancher (grazier) who runs two sheep and dozens of deadly tiger snakes to the acre is helping Australia soldiers in Vietnam.

Some of the venom "milked" from the snakes is sent to jungle battle areas and shared by the Australian "Diggers", who must fight the reptiles, as well as the Viet Cong.

Australian tiger snake venom is so potent that an antidote from it is used successfully against most types of snakebite.

The grazier, Sylvester Smith, owns a 829-acre ranch on the shores of Lake George near here. It is rated among the most snake-infested country in Australia.

After the snakes are "milked", the venom is sent to the Commonwealth Serum Laboratories in Melbourne, where it is made into antivenim. The CSL supplies all antivenims in Australia to the armed forces and civilian health authorities.

More than 1,000 tiger snakes have been caught on the property. The average milking of a tiger snake tields 40 milligrams. It takes less than two milligrams to kill a big horse and even less to kill a man. When a mother tiger snake gives birth, she does it in style — between 40 and 50 little ones at a time.

Smith collects his snakes at night with a powerful torch and a pronged stick. He believes there are enough snakes to keep his supply going for years.

Storm Drain Talks

TV REVIEW

Enchanting Hour Look At Bay City

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —San Francisco has been paid many compliments, but few more enchanting than last evening's "Telephone Hour" on NBC-TV, a visual mood poem offering a montage of the city's sights and musical life.

The program was not only a rhapsodic piece of film, but was a high point for the "Telephone Hour" in its attempts at unifying the documentary and musical forms of entertainment.

LOVE FEAT

A gifted gentleman named Ed Speigel wrote, directed and produced the broadcast, and it was completely obvious that he and his staff are in love with San Francisco, which is a very easy thing to be because it is a city where people live the way that people ought to live. Mr. Speigel's sensitivity at projecting this civilized attitude enabled him to suggest more than the sights and music—to hint at what the city stands for at its best.

This suggestion was perhaps at its zenith during an electrifying segment in which a jazz saxophonist with a classical bent, John Handy, performed at an outdoor concert. The combination of the music, the wide range of spectators deeply involved and the artistic selectivity of Mr. Speigel in juxtaposing the various faces to help make his point was a remarkable bit of doing. The viewer also became involved, and happily got lost in the spell being cast.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

There was hardly any narrative in the hour. It didn't need much. I can't imagine a better American television film to send abroad.

Over the CBS-TV, meanwhile, "The 21st Century," a new, half-hour last evening series about the world of tomorrow, arrived as a successor to "The 20th Century," which presumably couldn't face the next 33 years, an understandable feeling.

I wish that every producer of educational television programs had watched the Sunday premiere, which dealth with the coming revolution in communications, for this was a first-class exhibition of how to make facts and learning come alive. The visual concepts, the actual illustrations of devices and the proper amount of showmanship supplemented the excellent script in a way that held the viewer's interest throughout.

This was particularly true in the case of a futuristic room that indicated how the home may well be a center for receiving news, attending school, doing research, watching entertainment—and for communicating with almost anyone about almost anything. There was also a perceptive sequence indicating how man may finally be making the machine his servant rather than master. The big question, of course, is what all this will do to the television ratings system.

Also yesterday, "CBS Playhouse," a series of occasional specials, had its premier with a 90-minute play entitled "The Final War of Olly Winter," a mildly interesting failure about a professional U.S. Negro soldier in Vietnam who is weary after 20 years of service.

FLASH BACKS

He gets separated in the jungle and has encounters with a lovely girl and a Viet Cong soldier. He has flashbacks, and here is the most touching part of the play: that a man who, with his family, has had such a rough time throughout life is still willing to be a professional soldier to defend his country. Other than this implicit point, however, the play had nothing extraordinary to say.

Another static CBS-TV disappointed yesterday was an hour reading of the works of Charles Dickens by Emlyn Williams. As with "The Final War of Olly Winter," one is tempted to be polite, but that never serves any real purpose. The Dickens show, alas, was one of those that one appreciates rather than enjoys. Mr. Williams is a splendid actor, but the hour had little change of pace, was monotonous and some of the Dickens pieces were quite boring.

ART SHOW

Not at all boring, however, was a one-hour NBC-TV tour of "The Royal Palaces of Britain," displaying the great art treasures within and going over some of the hsitory and tastes of the monarchs who lived in them. British art critic Sir Kenneth Clark was a more than amiable guide, and the program was genuinely rewarding.

Soviet Leader Visits The Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny and Pope Paul VI today began an historic meeting that could lead to establishment of formal relations between the Vatican and the Kremlin.

The unprecedented meeting between a Pope and a Communist chief of state was described as "privatissima" (very private). But it was generally expected to cover prospects for peace in Vietnam and religious liberty in the Soviet Union.

Tiger Snake Farm Aiding Viet Soldiers

CANBERRA, Australia (SS) — A sheep rancher (grazier) who runs two sheep and dozens of deadly tiger snakes to the acre is helping Australia soldiers in Vietnam.

Some of the venom "milked" from the snakes is sent to jungle battle areas and shared by the Australian "Diggers", who must fight the reptiles, as well as the Viet Cong.

Australian tiger snake venom is so potent that an antidote from it is used successfully against most types of snakebite.

The grazier, Sylvester Smith, owns a 829-acre ranch on the shores of Lake George near here. It is rated among the most snake-infested country in Australia.

After the snakes are "milked", the venom is sent to the Commonwealth Serum Laboratories in Melbourne, where it is made into antivenim. The CSL supplies all antivenims in Australia to the armed forces and civilian health authorities.

More than 1,000 tiger snakes have been caught on the property. The average milking of a tiger snake tields 40 milligrams. It takes less than two milligrams to kill a big horse and even less to kill a man. When a mother tiger snake gives birth, she does it in style — between 40 and 50 little ones at a time.

Smith collects his snakes at night with a powerful torch and a pronged stick. He believes there are enough snakes to keep his supply going for years.

Mariners Explode To Wallop Lassen

College of Marin, the western division leaders by a mile in the Golden Valley Conference, won, 84-62, in one heck of a tight runaway against Lassen at Kentfield Saturday.

The Tars and Lassen were cheek to cheek and nip and tuck for 27 minutes of touch and go basketball before Russ Williams and Bob Phillips sparked an A-Bomb quality explosion that saw Marin reel off 30 points to Lassen's two in the space of seven minutes.

That happened with about 13 minutes left in the game. Until that time, Lassen's glue-tight zone, a cold night by Bill Pandiani and Russ Smith and the free-throw shooting of Lassen's 6-3 center Mike Turner, had made it a very close game, with neither team leading by more that four points.

Marin's biggest margin was four points early in the game while Lassen held as much as a three-point spread, at 39-36, early in the second half. Fittingly, the score was tied at the half, 28-28.

Bob Phillips took up the scoring slack out front, punching in 15 points in the first half to keep the Tars going.

Lassen was ahead, 42-41, when the heavy artillery buried them. Russ Williams came off the bench to hit 7 of 10 shots and that sparked the Tars sky-high.

The victory gave Marin a 7-1 division record.

PAUSE THAT REFRESHES FOR PREP CAGE QUINTS

It's non-league and faculty games tomorrow in the Marin County Athletic League as the seven teams take a pause that refreshes at the midway point of the loop basketball wars.

Marin Catholic, Redwood and Terra Linda take on non-league foes tomorrow afternoon, with the Marin Wildcats battling at Vallejo at 4 p.m., Terra Linda visiting powerful Petaluma at 3:45 p.m. and Redwood hosting a strong San Francisco entry in Lincoln at 4 p.m.

Drake and Novato take a genuine breather while still playing faculty teams at 4 p.m. Tamalpais and San Rafael are idle.

Friday, round two of the loop race begins with a rematch of Tamalpais and San Rafael at San Rafael while Novato visits Marin Catholic and Terra Linda is at Redwood. All games are at 8:15 p.m.

Cerrudo Named On Walker Cup Squad

Ron Cerrudo, 22-year-old golfer from San Rafael, a member of the U.S. World Cup golf team last year, now gets a chance to compete on the United States Walker Cup team.

Cerrudo, who was named Saturday to the 10-man Walker Cup team which will go against Britain at Sandwich, England, May 19-30, admits he had "high expectations" of making the team.

And his reasoning is sound. He was one of four United States amateur golfers named to the World Cup team, and 10 players are named to the Walker Cup team. He figured if he could get named to a four-man team, he had a good chance of making it on the larger Walker Cup delegation.

He said his experience with the World Cup team last October, his first international play, would help him in the Walker Cup team event. "But I'm still kind of a youngster in international matches."

"I enjoyed the team competition very much," Cerrudo said of his play for the World Cup title which went to Australia, a two-stroke winner over the U.S. team. "There is more pressure in team play. If you goof, it hurts the whole team, not just you. I even found myself trying too hard in the final round."

A former San Jose State College student, Cerrudo was runner-up in the Western Amateur Golf championship at Pinehurst, N. C., last August. The following month he finished in a three-way tie for second in the National Amateur championships. Less than a week later he was

49ers Vs. Raiders On Sept. 3; NBA All-Rookie Team Forecast

SCOOP-BE-DO-BE-DO—As the big time columnists would report, I have it from an unimpeachable source that the 49ers will meet the Raiders at Oakland Coliseum on Sunday, Sept. 3—their very first interleague engagement. Clip this item, paste it in your hat, and see just how unimpeachable my source is.

GUESSING GAME—Glue this one in your topper, too: the National Basketball Assn.'s All-Rookie team this season will be Walt Wesley of Cincinnati at center, Lou Hudson of St. Louis and Jerry Chambers of Los Angeles at guards and Archie Clark of L. A. and Dave Bing of Detroit at forwards.

MORE WOES — Forty-Niner General Manager Lou Spadia's headaches are just beginning.

Not only is he struggling with fullback Ken Willard's trade-me-or-I-quit edict, but Spadia can expect a similar demand from Charley Kreuger, another disenchanted Prospector.

Willard, by the way, works for Equitable Life Assurance Society and figures playing closer to his Richmond, Va. home would help him strike it rich in the insurance field. He recently pocketed a $3,000 commission for six weeks of work and figures he has found a gravy train.

Ken, by the way, earned $30,000 with the 49ers last season.

I don't know what Kreuger's beef is, but he wants out-out-OUT.

SNOW FOOLIN'—Hey, I want to join the Marin Ski Club.

I thought the schussboomers worried only about broken bones, but the Marin club's newsletter this month noted that "Breakage rate is high on highball and wine glasses at the lodge. Can you donate some that you're storing on the top shelf and not using?"

EYES RIGHT—Drake basketball star Chet Carlisle lost his contact lens during the game against Redwood Thursday night, so play was suspended for the great search.

Guess who finally found the built-in cheater and dutifully returned it to Carlisle? Redwood star Jack Fitzhenry.

As Carlisle went out to score 17 points and lead Drake to a 57-50 triumph, Fitz is getting razzed something awful these days.

Saldivar Retains His Title

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Vicente Saldivar proved to himself last night he is worthy of being world featherweight champion.

Saldivar, of Mexico, used a strong body attack and his "golden left" to demolish challenger Mitsunori Seki of Japan in the seventh round of a scheduled 15-round title bout.

The end came at 1:30 of the seventh on the order of the president of the Mexico State Boxing Commission as Saldivar pounded away at his helpless opponent.

A crowd of about 23,500 persons — almost all of them backing Saldivar — saw the fight in the El Toreo bull ring. It was also televised live to Japan. Saldivar weighed 125½ pounds and Seki 126, the division limit.

The champion, fighting in his hometown, said he wanted to prove to his supporters, and to himself, he could beat Seki badly. Saldivar won a 15-round decision over Seki in the same ring last Aug. 7, which was so close it left doubts in the minds of some about his ability to master the Orient titleholder.

This time Saldivar controlled the fight from the start and put Seki on the canvas in the seventh and with a left uppercut which left Seki spitting blood, groggy and unable to defend himself.

Seki was in trouble as early as the third round when the southpaw champ with the strong left hand connected with a series of left crosses that left the Japanese sagging at the round's end.

Saldivar, who said he wasn't trying for an early knockout, opened the fight with solid body punches. Seki, in the best condition of his career for his third shot at the featherweight crown, was obviously hurt by them.

The outcome was clear before the sixth round was a minute old. Saldivar, bleeding from the nose, scored with solid blows to the body and head which left the challenger wobblying back to his corner at the end.

Seki danced out for the seventh apparently refreshed. But he caught three right jabs, a combination and a left hook. He moved into the champ to clinch and, with his head at Saldivar's chest, caught the left uppercut he said he never saw coming.

The challenger fell halfway across the ring with blood pouring from two deep cuts inside his mouth. He was up by five, took the mandatory eight count and tried to cling.

But the Seki's left was too much, and even the champion admitted it was wise to stop the fight then.

Lutherans, Baptists Win In Cage League

Faith Lutheran Church, Valley Baptist Church and the St. Isabella Hawks notched up victories in the Terra Linda Recreation Park District basketball league last week.

ADELAIDES, Australia (AP) — Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., won the women's singles title of the Australian Tennis Championships today, but Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., failed in his bid for the men's crown.

Miss Richey, playing terrific tennis, broke Miss Turner's service in the third, fifth and seventh games in winning the first set.

In the second set, Miss Turner won the first three games, but the 23-year-old Texan fought back to break Miss Turner's service in the fourth game. Both players then held service until Miss Richey broke through in the eighth game to tie it at 4-4.

Emerson took only 75 minutes to win his sixth Australian championship, the last five in succession.

The veteran Australian quickly broke Ashe's service in the first game of the second set and broke it again in the fifth and seventh games for a 2-0 lead.

Emerson won the first three games in the final set,but Ashe fought back to tie it at 4-4. Emerson held his service and then won the match with a brilliant passing shot.

Cincinnati Stops Warriors

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Unable to get the jump on the smaller Cincinnati Royals, the San Francisco Warriors now must face the larger Boston Celtics tonight in Greensboro. The Celts are on a nine-game winning streak.

Before a national television audience yesterday, the Warriors were beaten on the boards and finished on the short end of a 121-118 count in Cincinnati.

Jerry Lucas grabbed 30 rebounds for the Royals. The former Ohio State star teamed with Connie Dierking to shut off Nate Thurmond from the backboards. Dierking also scored 23 points against Thurmond, far above the Cincinnati center's average in National Basketball Assn. play.

Oscar Robertson was the chief beneficiary of the Royals' board work, getting 35 points. Lucas added 25 and Adrian Smith 20.

Rick Barry scored only nine points in the first half. But he roared back in the third quarter for the Warriors and finished with a game-high 37 points. Jeff Mullins scored 22.

Paul Neumann, who also got 22 for San Francisco, put the Warriors ahead 87-85 early in the fourth quarter. But the Royals came back behind Lucas and Robertson for the victory.

The defeat cut the Warriors' lead in the Western Division to 10 games over St. Louis.

Brewer 5 Behind; Nicklaus Blanked

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Arnold Palmer, the thinking man's golfer, got to thinking. He was in Los Angeles but he started thinking about San Francisco. So he stopped thinking about records.

Palmer shot a final round 68 for 269, 15 strokes under par, in winning the Los Angeles Open for the second straight year yesterday. His score was just one stroke shy of the tournament record set by Phil Rodgers in 1962.

So was he thinking about Rodgers' record?

"It came to my mind, but I wasn't going to be foolish about this one," a laughing Palmer said.

It was an obvious reference to the 1966 U.S. Open at San Francisco. Palmer had a seven stroke lead with nine holes to go on the final round. He was within sight of Ben Hogan's Open record 274 and started thinking about it.

The rest is history: Palmer blew the seven stroke lead and Billy Casper went on to win it.

$20,000 CHECK

"I was just trying to win this one," Palmer said after collecting his $20,000 check for his third victory in the Los Angeles Open since 1963.

Palmer took the lead in the third round Saturday by four strokes, saw it dwindle to two after 67 holes yesterday as Gay Brewer came on, but the Arnie assault reasserted itself and he stormed in to win by five shots.

Brewer finished second with a 69 for 274, worth $12,000, while Julius Boros, with a 67, and Don Massengale, the second round leader, and young Lou Graham, each with a 69, tied for third at 275.

Casper and Bruce Crampton tied for sixth with 277's.

Favored Jack Nicklaus went away empty handed. His final round 71 left him at 286, one stroke out of the money. It was the first time Nicklaus had suffered such embarrassment since the American Golf Championship at Akron, Ohio, in 1965.

CLOSES GAP

Brewer closed the gap to two strokes on yesterday's 13th hole. Brewer got a birdie four on a wedge shot that left him with a one-foot putt. Palmer, playing behind Brewer, had par five.

But Palmer holed putts of six and 12 feet on the next two holes and Gay bogeyed the 14th when a 6-iron shot carried past the pin.

Was this the turning point?

"I don't know about that," said Palmer. "Even if I don't birdie the hole and Gay doesn't bogey it, he's still got to make three birdies to pass me and that's a pretty tough job on those last four holes."

Argentines Tip Brazil In Soccer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—River Plate of Argentina topped Santos of Brazil, 4-2, yesterday in an exhibition soccer match played before 31,291 under cloudy skies in Memorial Coliseum.

Santos, frequent World Cup contestants, tried 21 goal attempts in the contest but made only two, largely because of the efforts of River Plate goalie Carrizo, who was voted player of the game.

The winners got off only 10 attempts but made four.

River Plate double - teamed Santos star Pele, considered soccer's superstar, and held him scoreless until the 73rd minute. Pele then made another goal in the 88th minute. The great Brazilian, guarded by Solari and Guzman, suffered an injury to his left leg but continued playing.

The Argentines took a first-half 2-0 lead on goals by Lallana. On the first, he cashed in a penalty shot in the 11th minute. The second came after he took a short pass in front of the Santos goal and kicked it in.

River Plate's last two markers came from Solari in the 80th minute and from Ermindo Omega in the 18st minute.

Carrizo, who made 11 saves in the contest, was carried off the field on the shoulders of fans, many of them South Americans who live in the Los Angeles area.

Mariners Explode To Wallop Lassen

College of Marin, the western division leaders by a mile in the Golden Valley Conference, won, 84-62, in one heck of a tight runaway against Lassen at Kentfield Saturday.

The Tars and Lassen were cheek to cheek and nip and tuck for 27 minutes of touch and go basketball before Russ Williams and Bob Phillips sparked an A-Bomb quality explosion that saw Marin reel off 30 points to Lassen's two in the space of seven minutes.

That happened with about 13 minutes left in the game. Until that time, Lassen's glue-tight zone, a cold night by Bill Pandiani and Russ Smith and the free-throw shooting of Lassen's 6-3 center Mike Turner, had made it a very close game, with neither team leading by more that four points.

Marin's biggest margin was four points early in the game while Lassen held as much as a three-point spread, at 39-36, early in the second half. Fittingly, the score was tied at the half, 28-28.

Bob Phillips took up the scoring slack out front, punching in 15 points in the first half to keep the Tars going.

Lassen was ahead, 42-41, when the heavy artillery buried them. Russ Williams came off the bench to hit 7 of 10 shots and that sparked the Tars sky-high.

The victory gave Marin a 7-1 division record.

PAUSE THAT REFRESHES FOR PREP CAGE QUINTS

It's non-league and faculty games tomorrow in the Marin County Athletic League as the seven teams take a pause that refreshes at the midway point of the loop basketball wars.

Marin Catholic, Redwood and Terra Linda take on non-league foes tomorrow afternoon, with the Marin Wildcats battling at Vallejo at 4 p.m., Terra Linda visiting powerful Petaluma at 3:45 p.m. and Redwood hosting a strong San Francisco entry in Lincoln at 4 p.m.

Drake and Novato take a genuine breather while still playing faculty teams at 4 p.m. Tamalpais and San Rafael are idle.

Friday, round two of the loop race begins with a rematch of Tamalpais and San Rafael at San Rafael while Novato visits Marin Catholic and Terra Linda is at Redwood. All games are at 8:15 p.m.

Cerrudo Named On Walker Cup Squad

Ron Cerrudo, 22-year-old golfer from San Rafael, a member of the U.S. World Cup golf team last year, now gets a chance to compete on the United States Walker Cup team.

Cerrudo, who was named Saturday to the 10-man Walker Cup team which will go against Britain at Sandwich, England, May 19-30, admits he had "high expectations" of making the team.

And his reasoning is sound. He was one of four United States amateur golfers named to the World Cup team, and 10 players are named to the Walker Cup team. He figured if he could get named to a four-man team, he had a good chance of making it on the larger Walker Cup delegation.

He said his experience with the World Cup team last October, his first international play, would help him in the Walker Cup team event. "But I'm still kind of a youngster in international matches."

"I enjoyed the team competition very much," Cerrudo said of his play for the World Cup title which went to Australia, a two-stroke winner over the U.S. team. "There is more pressure in team play. If you goof, it hurts the whole team, not just you. I even found myself trying too hard in the final round."

A former San Jose State College student, Cerrudo was runner-up in the Western Amateur Golf championship at Pinehurst, N. C., last August. The following month he finished in a three-way tie for second in the National Amateur championships. Less than a week later he was

SCOOP-BE-DO-BE-DO—As the big time columnists would report, I have it from an unimpeachable source that the 49ers will meet the Raiders at Oakland Coliseum on Sunday, Sept. 3—their very first interleague engagement. Clip this item, paste it in your hat, and see just how unimpeachable my source is.

GUESSING GAME—Glue this one in your topper, too: the National Basketball Assn.'s All-Rookie team this season will be Walt Wesley of Cincinnati at center, Lou Hudson of St. Louis and Jerry Chambers of Los Angeles at guards and Archie Clark of L. A. and Dave Bing of Detroit at forwards.

MORE WOES—Forty-Niner General Manager Lou Spadia's headaches are just beginning.

Not only is he struggling with fullback Ken Willard's trade-me-or-I-quit edict, but Spadia can expect a similar demand from Charley Kreuger, another disenchanted Prospector.

Willard, by the way, works for Equitable Life Assurance Society and figures playing closer to his Richmond, Va. home would help him strike it rich in the insurance field. He recently pocketed a $3,000 commission for six weeks of work and figures he has found a gravy train.

Ken, by the way, earned $30,000 with the 49ers last season.

I don't know what Kreuger's beef is, but he wants out-out-OUT.

SNOW FOOLIN'—Hey, I want to join the Marin Ski Club.

I thought the schussboomers worried only about broken bones, but the Marin club's newsletter this month noted that "Breakage rate is high on highball and wine glasses at the lodge. Can you donate some that you're storing on the top shelf and not using?"

EYES RIGHT—Drake basketball star Chet Carlisle lost his contact lens during the game against Redwood Thursday night, so play was suspended for the great search.

Guess who finally found the built-in cheater and dutifully returned it to Carlisle? Redwood star Jack Fitzhenry.

As Carlisle went out to score 17 points and lead Drake to a 57-50 triumph, Fitz is getting razzed something awful these days.

Saldivar Retains His Title

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Vicente Saldivar proved to himself last night he is worthy of being world featherweight champion.

Saldivar, of Mexico, used a strong body attack and his "golden left" to demolish challenger Mitsunori Seki of Japan in the seventh round of a scheduled 15-round title bout.

The end came at 1:30 of the seventh on the order of the president of the Mexico State Boxing Commission as Saldivar pounded away at his helpless opponent.

A crowd of about 23,500 persons — almost all of them backing Saldivar — saw the fight in the El Toreo bull ring. It was also televised live to Japan. Saldivar weighed 125½ pounds and Seki 126, the division limit.

The champion, fighting in his hometown, said he wanted to prove to his supporters, and to himself, he could beat Seki badly. Saldivar won a 15-round decision over Seki in the same ring last Aug. 7, which was so close it left doubts in the minds of some about his ability to master the Orient titleholder.

This time Saldivar controlled the fight from the start and put Seki on the canvas in the seventh and with a left uppercut which left Seki spitting blood, groggy and unable to defend himself.

Seki was in trouble as early as the third round when the southpaw champ with the strong left hand connected with a series of left crosses that left the Japanese sagging at the round's end.

Saldivar, who said he wasn't trying for an early knockout, opened the fight with solid body punches. Seki, in the best condition of his career for his third shot at the featherweight crown, was obviously hurt by them.

The outcome was clear before the sixth round was a minute old. Saldivar, bleeding from the nose, scored with solid blows to the body and head which left the challenger wobblying back to his corner at the end.

Seki danced out for the seventh apparently refreshed. But he caught three right jabs, a combination and a left hook. He moved into the champ to clinch and, with his head at Saldivar's chest, caught the left uppercut he said he never saw coming.

The challenger fell halfway across the ring with blood pouring from two deep cuts inside his mouth. He was up by five, took the mandatory eight count and tried to cling.

But the Seki's left was too much, and even the champion admitted it was wise to stop the fight then.

In the second set, Miss Turner won the first three games, but the 23-year-old Texan fought back to break Miss Turner's service in the fourth game. Both players then held service until Miss Richey broke through in the eighth game to tie it at 4-4.

Miss Richey then held her service and broke Miss Turner's in the 10th game by slamming a backhand down the sideline for the set and the title.

Emerson took only 75 minutes to win his sixth Australian championship, the last five in succession.

With a crowd of more than 6,000 watching in ideal weather, the first set went to 4-4 before Ashe double faulted three straight times to drop his service. Emerson then served out to win the set.

The veteran Australian quickly broke Ashe's service in the first game of the second set and broke it again in the fifth and seventh games for a 2-0 lead.

Emerson won the first three games in the final set, but Ashe fought back to tie it at 4-4. Emerson held his service and then won the match with a brilliant passing shot.

S.F. FACES CELTICS TONIGHT

Cincinnati Stops Warriors

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Unable to get the jump on the smaller Cincinnati Royals, the San Francisco Warriors now must face the larger Boston Celtics tonight in Greensboro. The Celts are on a nine-game winning streak.

Before a national television audience yesterday, the Warriors were beaten on the boards and finished on the short end of a 121-118 count in Cincinnati.

Jerry Lucas grabbed 30 rebounds for the Royals. The former Ohio State star teamed with Connie Dierking to shut off Nate Thurmond from the backboards. Dierking also scored 23 points against Thurmond, far above the Cincinnati center's average in National Basketball Assn. play.

Oscar Robertson was the chief beneficiary of the Royals' board work, getting 35 points. Lucas added 25 and Adrian Smith 20.

Rick Barry scored only nine points in the first half. But he roared back in the third quarter for the Warriors and finished with a game-high 37 points. Jeff Mullins scored 22.

Paul Neumann, who also got 22 for San Francisco, put the Warriors ahead 87-85 early in the fourth quarter. But the Royals came back behind Lucas and Robertson for the victory.

The defeat cut the Warriors' lead in the Western Division to 10 games over St. Louis.

Brewer 5 Behind; Nicklaus Blanked

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Arnold Palmer, the thinking man's golfer, got to thinking. He was in Los Angeles but he started thinking about San Francisco. So he stopped thinking about records.

Palmer shot a final round 68 for 269, 15 strokes under par, in winning the Los Angeles Open for the second straight year yesterday. His score was just one stroke shy of the tournament record set by Phil Rodgers in 1962.

So was he thinking about Rodgers' record?

"It came to my mind, but I wasn't going to be foolish about this one," a laughing Palmer said.

It was an obvious reference to the 1966 U.S. Open at San Francisco. Palmer had a seven stroke lead with nine holes to go on the final round. He was within sight of Ben Hogan's Open record 274 and started thinking about it.

The rest is history: Palmer blew the seven stroke lead and Billy Casper went on to win it.

$20,000 CHECK

"I was just trying to win this one," Palmer said after collecting his $20,000 check for his third victory in the Los Angeles Open since 1963.

Palmer took the lead in the third round Saturday by four strokes, saw it dwindle to two after 67 holes yesterday as Gay Brewer came on, but the Arnie assault reasserted itself and he stormed in to win by five shots.

Brewer finished second with a 69 for 274, worth $12,000, while Julius Boros, with a 67, and Don Massengale, the second round leader, and young Lou Graham, each with a 69, tied for third at 275.

Casper and Bruce Crampton tied for sixth with 277's.

Favored Jack Nicklaus went away empty handed. His final round 71 left him at 286, one stroke out of the money. It was the first time Nicklaus had suffered such embarrassment since the American Golf Championship at Akron, Ohio, in 1965.

CLOSES GAP

Brewer closed the gap to two strokes on yesterday's 13th hole. Brewer got a birdie four on a wedge shot that left him with a one-foot putt. Palmer, playing behind Brewer, had par five.

But Palmer holed putts of six and 12 feet on the next two holes and Gay bogeyed the 14th when a 6-iron shot carried past the pin.

Was this the turning point?

"I don't know about that," said Palmer. "Even if I don't birdie the hole and Cay doesn't bogey it, he's still got to make three birdies to pass me and that's a pretty tough job on those last four holes."

Argentines Tip Brazil In Soccer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—River Plate of Argentina topped Santos of Brazil, 4-2, yesterday in an exhibition soccer match played before 31,291 under cloudy skies in Memorial Coliseum.

Santos, frequent World Cup contestants, tried 21 goal attempts in the contest but made only two, largely because of the efforts of River Plate goalie Carrizo, who was voted player of the game.

The winners got off only 10 attempts but made four.

River Plate double - teamed Santos star Pele, considered soccer's superstar, and held him scoreless until the 73rd minute. Pele then made another goal in the 88th minute. The great Brazilian, guarded by Solari and Guzman, suffered an injury to his left leg but continued playing.

The Argentines took a first-half 2-0 lead on goals by Lallana. On the first, he cashed in a penalty shot in the 11th minute. The second came after he took a short pass in front of the Santos goal and kicked it in.

River Plate's last two markers came from Solari in the 80th minute and from Ermindo Omega in the 18st minute.

Carrizo, who made 11 saves in the contest, was carried off the field on the shoulders of fans, many of them South Americans who live in the Los Angeles area.

Jones Dethrones Gurney In Riverside '500' Race

RIVERSIDE (AP)—It took a thinking man to dethrone Dan Gurney as champ of the annual Riverside-Motor Trend 500-mile race for grand national stock cars.

A balding, wiry driver named Parnelli Jones thought and drove his way around the twisty, 1.7-mile course yesterday to win $21,980 in the delayed race.

The race, started a week ago but postponed by rain, pitted some of the nation's top drivers against four-time winner Gurney, and the pressure finally paid off.

Jones, of Torrance, entered the race determined to avoid an old bugaboo—broken machinery. He said he thought about it constantly.

"I felt I could outrun all the other cars," Jones said, "and I thought if I talked to myself I could keep from punishing the car and I might make it."

He made it, averaging 91.08 miles an hour in a 1967 Ford. He was sometimes a whole lap ahead, especially after Gurney's machine, a 1967 Mercury Cyclone, blew its engine near the end of the race.

Placing second behind Jones was Paul Goldsmith of Munster, Ind., in a 1966 Plymouth, followed by Norm Nelson of Racine, Wis., in a 1967 Plymouth. Goldsmith got $8,828 for his work.

The day — almost perfect for racing except for a slight haze —drew 77,000 spectators, race officials said. A crowd of 61,000 turned out a week ago for the soggy first section.

For Jones, it was only his second victory after many races on the popular course. His has been a bad luck story, especially in 1964 when he was far ahead at the 400-mile mark, and his engine blew up.

In all, Jones led in 126 of the 185 laps this time.

The race was stopped the previous week after 50 laps — 135 miles — because of rain. The delay caused some problems, especially to Freddie Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., who was leading when racing stopped.

He had a flat tire and was in the pits preparing to fix it. So, race officials made him leave it flat for a week and fix it when racing resumed yesterday. It cost him the lead, but he made a good race of it.

Gurney was in good position to win for awhile, but a mistake during a yellow flag caution period cost him almost a lap as penalty. Then a long pit stop to change tires and get gas put him far behind. He had worked up to third again before his engine blew up.

Only 13 of the 44 cars entered were running at the end.

Among those felled by mechanical ills was two-time Indianapolis 500 winner A.J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., who left the race on the 87th lap after his engine blew.

"I've never had any luck here at Riverside, so there's no reason for my luck to change now," Foyt said.

Finishers in order were:

Parnelli Jones, Torrance, Calif., 1967 Ford.
Paul Goldsmith, Munster, Ind., 1966 Plymouth.
Norm Nelson, Racine, Wis., 1967 Plymouth.
Don White, Keokuxk, Iowa, 1966 Dodge.
James Hylton, Inman, S.C., 1965 Dodge.
Bruce Worrell, Long Beach, Calif., 1964 Mercury.
Scotty Cain, Fresno, Calif., 1966 Ford.
David Pearson, Spartanburg, S.C., 1967 Dodge.
Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa., 1967 Ford.
Charles Prickett, Sanger, Calif., 1965 Chevrolet.
Jerry Oliver, Walnut Creek, Calif., 1965 Chevrolet.
Bo Reeder, Compton, Calif., 1964 Ford.
Jack Harden, Huntsville, Ala., 1966 Ford.

BRUINS SWEEP PAIR

Lew Alcindor Takes Windy City By Storm

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The second storm to hit Chicago the past weekend happen indoors and came from the West.

Lew Alcindor and his UCLA Bruins swept into the Chicago Stadium and came away 82-69 winners Saturday over Chicago Loyola and overwhelmed Illinois 120-82 yesterday afternoon.

Alcindor scored 35 points in the Saturday game, parts of a tripleheader, and then poured through 45 points yesterday in a game postponed from Friday because of the snow storm. The 7-foot-1⅜ sophomore set a Chicago Stadium record with 21 field goals as the top - ranked Bruins remained unbeaten after 16 outings.

In other games Saturday involving West Coast teams, Washington upset No. 3 rated Houston 81-78 in Seattle, California won a fight-pocked contest over Santa Clara 80-77, Southern California beat UC Santa Barbara 74-63, Oregon edged Oregon State 56-55 in a regionally televised, non-conference afternoon clash, Washington State overcame Idaho 73-60, Seattle drubbed Montana State 93-73, Loyola of Los Angeles moved into a tie for the West Coast Athletic Conference lead by beating San Jose State 97-79, and University of the Pacific easily defeated the Japanese National team 99-60.

Despite the weather, 17,024 turned out Saturday night for the Chicago triple bill and a chance to watch Alcindor. He didn't disappoint anyone against a Loyola squad without a starter over 6-4. It was all the UCLA center as he blocked shots and dunked baskets in an exhibition that should dispel any Midwest doubts about him.

On Sunday, Alcindor's 45 points tied an arena record. He was taken out for good with 6:15 remaining despite the crowd of 10,025 chanting, "We want Lew," to break the mark.

The UCLA spotlighting tended to put Washington's upset of Houston in the shadows. The winning Huskies went to the fast break for the victory over a Houston squad that looked rusty after a two-week layoff.

At San Jose with 1:42 to go in the game, California's Myron Erickson elbowed Santa Clara center Bud Ogden in the nose during the second fight of the contest. Erickson was thrown out and Ogden left with a broken nose.

In another part of town, Loyola and San Jose State got together and set four WCAC records. Loyola put in 43 free throws out of 55 chances—both figures records —and San Jose committed 37 personal fouls for another mark. The 61 personals by both squads also was a record.

St. Mary's is at Oregon State tonight. On Wednesday, San Jose State and Santa Clara tangle in a WCAC game and Seattle travels to Montana State. On Thursday, Oregon State is at Portland.

The WCAC resumes league play this week. The Pacific-8 Conference has only one league game — a Saturday contest between UCLA and USC, the third time the Los Angeles schools have met this season.

Little Poison, Mahatma In 'Hall'

By BOB GREEN

LLOYD WANER

BRANCH RICKEY

NEW YORK (AP) — "I think it's just wonderful," said Lloyd (Little Poison) Waner, "to be put in there with my brother."

He was talking about his election to baseball's Hall of Fame yesterday. But his remark was just an echo, almost verbatim, of his comment 40 years ago when he was put into the Pittsburgh Pirates' outfield with big brother Paul.

Paul (Big Poison) already had established himself and Lloyd was a skinny, uncertain rookie at the time, in 1927. But Lloyd wasted no time proving himself. He laced National League pitching for a .355 average and a record 223 hits in his rookie season, and, with Paul, led the Pirates to a National League pennant.

"I've had lots of thrills in baseball, but this here is the biggest thrill of all," Lloyd said in Pittsburgh when notified of his selection.

He and long-time baseball executive Branch Rickey were named to the Hall by the veterans committee, becoming the 105th and 106th members of baseball's elite. They'll be inducted into the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y. in July.

The 12-man veterans committee, headed by former Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, can name no more than two players in their annual elections. They consider players who have been retired 20 years or more. Rickey, who died in 1965 at the age of 83, was elected under a special provision governing executives 65 years or older. Paul Waner, who died last year, had been elected earlier.

Rickey's widow, in St. Louis, said she was delighted but not surprised her late husband has gained the Hall.

"I think he should be in the Hall of Fame," she said. "He contributed a great deal to baseball and I'm pleased indeed."

In 1906, when the couple were married, Rickey was a catcher for the old St. Louis Browns. He later played with the New York Yankees, but arm trouble and tuberculosis cut short a rather mediocre playing career.

Then he turned his talents to administration. And made baseball history.

The colorful, bushy-browed Mahatma broke the color line in baseball when he signed Jackie Robinson to a contract with the old Brooklyn Dodgers and is credited with being the founder of the farm system.

He became president of the Cardinals in 1917, and, during his administration, the team won seven National League pennants and five World Series.

He moved on to Brooklyn in 1942 and won two pennants in eight years before selling his 25 per cent share of the club for a million dollars. At 69, he signed a five-year contract as executive vice president and general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

He retired at 74 but came out of retirement to serve as president of the Continental League, which never really materialized, and later as an adviser for the Cardinals.

Waner, who now lives in Oklahoma City, had a 19-year major league career and a lifetime batting average of .316. He never won a batting championships but had high averages of .362, .355 and .353. He hit .300 or better 12 seasons and four times had 200 or more hits in a season.

Waner was a 5-foot-8, 150-pound, left-handed hitter. He spent most of his career with the Pirates but also played briefly with Boston, Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Brooklyn of the National League. He was in Pittsburgh to be honored at a dinner.

named to the U.S. World Cup team.

His high finish in the National Amateur tourney qualified Cerrudo for the Masters for the second straight year. He will be playing in the 1967 Masters April 6-9 at Augusta, Ga. He will also be in the Pensacola Open field in March, at Pensacola, Fla. Also on Cerrudo's schedule is the Western Open Aug. 3-6 in Chicago. He also has the San Francisco City Championships to play, starting Feb. 11.

A public relations man with Richmond Motors (Cadillacs and Pontiacs) in Richmond, Cerrudo said today he had no immediate plans of turning professional. "Amateur golf is a lot of fun," he said.

The U.S. Walker Cup team includes three former national amateur champions. They're Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., two-time national champ; William Campbell, 43, of Huntington, W. Va., 1964 champ, and Bob Murphy Jr., 23, of Nichols, Fla., victor in '65.

Other team members are Edgar Tutwiler, 47, Indianapolis; Donald Allen, 28, Rochester, N. Y.; Downing Gray, 28, Pensacola, Fal.; James Grant, 24, Wethersfield, Conn.; Bob Dickson, 23, McAlester, Okla., and Jack Lewis Jr., 19, Florence, S. C.

Jesse Sweetser, former U.S. and British amateur champ from Washington D. C., was selected non-playing captain. He handled the U. S. World Cup team in Mexico City.

The 1967 Walker Cup tourney will be played on the Royal St. George's course, one of the most famous and demanding in the British Isles.

Jim Corbett Dies; Dynamic Sports Boss

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Jim Corbett was embarking on a mission to challenge pro football for television's gold and bring more money to collegiate athletics when he died.

Corbett, LSU's dynamic athletic director, died of a heart attack here yesterday morning. He was 47.

Corbett was recognized as one of the nation's top athletic administrators. He had come up with many revolutionary undertakings. His latest idea wasn't his own, but he had adopted it, with a few new trappings.

Corbett expounded on a playoff play for the nation's college teams to decide a true national champion and bring more revenue to collegiate athletics at the Southeastern Conference meetings here last week.

Undoubtedly he planned to explore the idea further this week in talks with NCAA officials and others in New York.

He was at a motel across from New Orleans International Airport when death came.

Corbett, who had a history of heart trouble, reached for the beside telephone and told the operator he was having severe chest pains. He was just an hour away from flying to New York.

A few minutes later Corbett was dead. The coroner's office said death occurred at 9:15 a.m. and was caused "by a massive heart attack."

His wife, Mary Louise, and their eldest daughter, Ann, 19, a cheerleader at LSU this past fall were vacationing at Nassau in the Bahamas. They flew back to Baton Rouge late yesterday.

Corbett's body was returned to Baton Rouge, his home and the site of LSU's main campus.

The Corbetts had two other children, James Joseph Jr., 21, who was married last summer, and Jean, 9.

GETS THE FLAG — Parnelli Jones gets the checkered flag, winning the fifth annual Riverside 500-mile race for stock cars yesterday at Riverside Raceway. (AP Wirephoto)

Jones Dethrones Gurney In Riverside '500' Race

RIVERSIDE (AP)—It took a thinking man to dethrone Dan Gurney as champ of the annual Riverside-Motor Trend 500-mile race for grand national stock cars.

A balding, wiry driver named Parnelli Jones thought and drove his way around the twisty, 1.7-mile course yesterday to win $21,980 in the delayed race.

The race, started a week ago but postponed by rain, pitted some of the nation's top drivers against four-time winner Gurney, and the pressure finally paid off.

Jones, of Torrance, entered the race determined to avoid an old bugaboo—broken machinery. He said he thought about it constantly.

"I felt I could outrun all the other cars," Jones said, "and I thought if I talked to myself I could keep from punishing the car and I might make it."

He made it, averaging 91.08 miles an hour in a 1967 Ford. He was sometimes a whole lap ahead, especially after Gurney's machine, a 1967 Mercury Cyclone, blew its engine near the end of the race.

Placing second behind Jones was Paul Goldsmith of Munster, Ind., in a 1966 Plymouth, followed by Norm Nelson of Racine, Wis., in a 1967 Plymouth. Goldsmith got $8,828 for his work.

The day — almost perfect for racing except for a slight haze —drew 77,000 spectators, race officials said. A crowd of 61,000 turned out a week ago for the soggy first section.

For Jones, it was only his second victory after many races on the popular course. His has been a bad luck story, especially in 1964 when he was far ahead at the 400-mile mark, and his engine blew up.

In all, Jones led in 126 of the 185 laps this time.

The race was stopped the previous week after 50 laps — 135 miles — because of rain. The delay caused some problems, especially to Freddie Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., who was leading when racing stopped.

He had a flat tire and was in the pits preparing to fix it. So, race officials made him leave it flat for a week and fix it when racing resumed yesterday. It cost him the lead, but he made a good race of it.

Gurney was in good position to win for awhile, but a mistake during a yellow flag caution period cost him almost a lap as penalty. Then a long pit stop to change tires and get gas put him far behind. He had worked up to third again before his engine blew up.

Only 13 of the 44 cars entered were running at the end.

Among those felled by mechanical ills was two-time Indianapolis 500 winner A.J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., who left the race on the 87th lap after his engine blew.

"I've never had any luck here at Riverside, so there's no reason for my luck to change now," Foyt said.

Finishers in order were:

Parnelli Jones, Torrance, Calif., 1967 Ford.
Paul Goldsmith, Munster, Ind., 1966 Plymouth.
Norm Nelson, Racine, Wis., 1967 Plymouth.
Don White, Keokuxk, Iowa, 1966 Dodge.
James Hylton, Inman, S.C., 1965 Dodge.
Bruce Worrell, Long Beach, Calif., 1964 Mercury.
Scotty Cain, Fresno, Calif., 1966 Ford.
David Pearson, Spartanburg, S.C., 1967 Dodge.
Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa., 1967 Ford.
Charles Prickett, Sanger, Calif., 1965 Chevrolet.
Jerry Oliver, Walnut Creek, Calif., 1965 Chevrolet.
Bo Reeder, Compton, Calif., 1964 Ford.
Jack Harden, Huntsville, Ala., 1966 Ford.

BRUINS SWEEP PAIR

Lew Alcindor Takes Windy City By Storm

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The second storm to hit Chicago the past weekend happen indoors and came from the West.

Lew Alcindor and his UCLA Bruins swept into the Chicago Stadium and came away 82-69 winners Saturday over Chicago Loyola and overwhelmed Illinois 120-82 yesterday afternoon.

Alcindor scored 35 points in the Saturday game, parts of a tripleheader, and then poured through 45 points yesterday in a game postponed from Friday because of the snow storm. The 7-foot-1⅜ sophomore set a Chicago Stadium record with 21 field goals as the top - ranked Bruins remained unbeaten after 16 outings.

In other games Saturday involving West Coast teams, Washington upset No. 3 rated Houston 81-78 in Seattle, California won a fight-pocked contest over Santa Clara 80-77, Southern California beat UC Santa Barbara 74-63, Oregon edged Oregon State 56-55 in a regionally televised, non-conference afternoon clash, Washington State overcame Idaho 73-60, Seattle drubbed Montana State 93-73, Loyola of Los Angeles moved into a tie for the West Coast Athletic Conference lead by beating San Jose State 97-79, and University of the Pacific easily defeated the Japanese National team 99-60.

Despite the weather, 17,024 turned out Saturday night for the Chicago triple bill and a chance to watch Alcindor. He didn't disappoint anyone against a Loyola squad without a starter over 6-4. It was all the UCLA center as he blocked shots and dunked baskets in an exhibition that should dispel any Midwest doubts about him.

On Sunday, Alcindor's 45 points tied an arena record. He was taken out for good with 6:15 remaining despite the crowd of 10,025 chanting, "We want Lew," to break the mark.

The UCLA spotlighting tended to put Washington's upset of Houston in the shadows. The winning Huskies went to the fast break for the victory over a Houston squad that looked rusty after a two-week layoff.

At San Jose with 1:42 to go in the game, California's Myron Erickson elbowed Santa Clara center Bud Ogden in the nose during the second fight of the contest. Erickson was thrown out and Ogden left with a broken nose.

In another part of town, Loyola and San Jose State got together and set four WCAC records. Loyola put in 43 free throws out of 55 chances—both figures records —and San Jose committed 37 personal fouls for another mark. The 61 personals by both squads also was a record.

St. Mary's is at Oregon State tonight. On Wednesday, San Jose State and Santa Clara tangle in a WCAC game and Seattle travels to Montana State. On Thursday, Oregon State is at Portland.

The WCAC resumes league play this week. The Pacific-8 Conference has only one league game — a Saturday contest between UCLA and USC, the third time the Los Angeles schools have met this season.

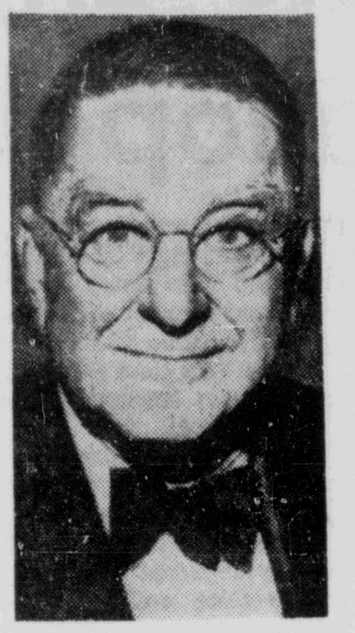
Little Poison, Mahatma In 'Hall'

By BOB GREEN

LLOYD WANER



BRANCH RICKEY

NEW YORK (AP) — "I think it's just wonderful," said Lloyd (Little Poison) Waner, "to be put in there with my brother."

He was talking about his election to baseball's Hall of Fame yesterday. But his remark was just an echo, almost verbatim, of his comment 40 years ago when he was put into the Pittsburgh Pirates' outfield with big brother Paul.

Paul (Big Poison) already had established himself and Lloyd was a skinny, uncertain rookie at the time, in 1927. But Lloyd wasted no time proving himself. He laced National League pitching for a.355 average and a record 223 hits in his rookie season, and, with Paul, led the Pirates to a National League pennant.

"I've had lots of thrills in baseball, but this here is the biggest thrill of all," Lloyd said in Pittsburgh when notified of his selection.

He and long-time baseball executive Branch Rickey were named to the Hall by the veterans committee, becoming the 105th and 106th members of baseball's elite. They'll be inducted into the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y. in July.

The 12-man veterans committee, headed by former Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, can name no more than two players in their annual elections. They consider players who have been retired 20 years or more. Rickey, who died in 1965 at the age of 83, was elected under a special provision governing executives 65 years or older. Paul Waner, who died last year, had been elected earlier.

Rickey's widow, in St. Louis, said she was delighted but not surprised her late husband has gained the Hall.

"I think he should be in the Hall of Fame," she said. "He contributed a great deal to baseball and I'm pleased indeed."

In 1906, when the couple were married, Rickey was a catcher for the old St. Louis Browns. He later played with the New York Yankees, but arm trouble and tuberculosis cut short a rather mediocre playing career.

Then he turned his talents to administration. And made baseball history.

The colorful, bushy-browed Mahatma broke the color line in baseball when he signed Jackie Robinson to a contract with the old Brooklyn Dodgers and is credited with being the founder of the farm system.

He became president of the Cardinals in 1917, and, during his administration, the team won seven National League pennants and five World Series.

He moved on to Brooklyn in 1942 and won two pennants in eight years before selling his 25 per cent share of the club for a million dollars. At 69, he signed a five-year contract as executive vice president and general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

He retired at 74 but came out of retirement to serve as president of the Continental League, which never really materialized, and later as an adviser for the Cardinals.

Waner, who now lives in Oklahoma City, had a 19-year major league career and a lifetime batting average of .316. He never won a batting championships but had high averages of .362, .355 and .353. He hit .300 or better 12 seasons and four times had 200 or more hits in a season.

Waner was a 5-foot-8, 150-pound, left-handed hitter. He spent most of his career with the Pirates but also played briefly with Boston, Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Brooklyn of the National League. He was in Pittsburgh to be honored at a dinner.

named to the U.S. World Cup team.

His high finish in the National Amateur tourney qualified Cerrudo for the Masters for the second straight year. He will be playing in the 1967 Masters April 6-9 at Augusta, Ga. He will also be in the Pensacola Open field in March, at Pensacola, Fla. Also on Cerrudo's schedule is the Western Open Aug. 3-6 in Chicago. He also has the San Francisco City Championships to play, starting Feb. 11.

A public relations man with Richmond Motors (Cadillacs and Pontiacs) in Richmond, Cerrudo said today he had no immediate plans of turning professional. "Amateur golf is a lot of fun," he said.

The U.S. Walker Cup team includes three former national amateur champions. They're Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., two-time national champ; William Campbell, 43, of Huntington, W. Va., 1964 champ, and Bob Murphy Jr., 23, of Nichols, Fla., victor in '65.

Other team members are Edgar Tutwiler, 47, Indianapolis; Donald Allen, 28, Rochester, N. Y.; Downing Gray, 28, Pensacola, Fal.; James Grant, 24, Wethersfield, Conn.; Bob Dickson, 23, McAlester, Okla., and Jack Lewis Jr., 19, Florence, S. C.

Jesse Sweetser, former U.S. and British amateur champ from Washington D. C., was selected non-playing captain. He handled the U. S. World Cup team in Mexico City.

The 1967 Walker Cup tourney will be played on the Royal St. George's course, one of the most famous and demanding in the British Isles.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Medical Expenses Are Deductible

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Medical expenses are deductible to the extent that they exceed 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income.

If you or your spouse are over 65 years old, the 3 per cent provision does not apply to you for 1966. However, it will apply beginning January 1, 1967, for the tax return you will file for the year 1967.

Wikel

You can deduct any sums that you spent for ". . . the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment or prevention of disease, or for the purpose of affecting any structure or function of the body (including amounts paid for accident or health insurace), or for transportation primarily for and essential to medical care . . ."

DRUGS COSTS

Your costs for drugs and medicines count to the extent that they exceed 1 per cent of your adjusted gross income. If you are over 65, you can deduct all of your medicine and drugs without first deducting the 1 per cent and the 3 per cent.

Costs of travel, transportation, rental of special sickroom equipment, etc., as well as doctor bills, nurses, hospital costs and other expenses directly connected with your illness or accident are deductible.

Deductible medical expenses can be for yourself or any part of your dependents.

A dependent must have been your dependent either at the time the costs were incurred or at the time they were paid. You can deduct medical costs you paid for a dependent even though you may not be able to claim the dependent as a tax exemption. For instance: You help support your mother who worked part time and made over $600. Because she made over $600 you cannot claim her as a dependent. However, if you furnished over one-half of her support, you can still deduct the medical costs you paid for her.

If you pay medical expenses for your dependent parent and the parent is over 65 years old, you can deduct all of the parent's medical expenses. In other words, the expenses paid for the parent are not reduced by 1 per cent or 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income and there is no maximum limitation, even though you are not yet 65 yourself.

However, your maximum deduction cannot exceed $5,000 per personal exemption and not more than $10,000 on a separate return or more than $20,000 on a joint or head of household return. Exemptions for old age and blindness do not count.

If you or your wife are over 65, there is no maximum limitation.

Medicare costs are deductible as medical expense. That is, the $3 per month you pay.

5 CENTS

Under Revenue Procedure 64-15 you can deduct 5 cents per mile for the use of your car for transportation to secure medical care.

Use form 2948 medical and dental expense statement and attach it to your tax return.

It does not matter when these costs were incurred. They are deductible in the year paid. You cannot deduct costs that you owe. They must be paid to get the deduction.

If part of your medical costs were reimbursed, that is, if your insurance company paid a part of them, then you can deduct only the part you actually paid and that was not reimbursed to you.

BankAmericard Has 3 Million Cardholders

SAN FRANCISCO — BankAmericard, the first national bank credit card interchange program, has just passed the 3,000,000 mark in cardholders, and anticipates reaching 4,500,000 by mid-year, it was announced by Vern C. Richards, president of Bankamerica Service Corp.

The announcement, incorporating data compiled from the 15 banks participating in the national BankAmericard program, was made following the six-month anniversary of BSC's formation last July.

The eight banks now issuing the card have a combined total of 3,108,000 cardholders and 90,896 merchant members, Richards said. In April and May, he said, seven more banks will begin issuing BankAmericards.

Gas Firm Seeks Rate Reduction

LOS ANGELES—El Paso Natural Gas Co. filed a proposal with the Federal Power Commission to reduce its rates to customers in California and the Southwest by approximately $9.6 million annually, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Howard Boyd, chairman of the board, said the rate cuts are possible largely because of efficiencies and economies in a recently authorized gas supply project for Southern California, and because the company will pass along to customers the effect of presently reduced taxes resulting from the use of accelerated depreciation.

These rate reductions will amount to approximately $8.2 million per year to California, and approximately $1.4 million per year in states east of California.

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "We are a childless couple just retired with a guaranteed annual income for life of $7,200. We have $62,000 in savings, part of which we want to invest. In our position would you buy an annuity or would you buy stocks with some growth potential to compensate for inflation? If so, which stocks do you suggest?" A. K.

A. You seem to be in a fine position to sit back now and enjoy life. All your present income is fixed and as such can actually deteriorate in purchasing power over the years if the value of the dollar continues downward. I do not recommend an annuity, which is itself a fixed-income type of investment.

I believe you should place at least $30,000 in growth stocks which can appreciate in value to compensate for inflation, as you so nicely put it. I suggest Avon Products, Plough, General Foods, General Tel. & Electronics and Texaco.

Q. "Please explain how a margin account works? I am thinking of opening such an account and would appreciate you advice." O. W.

A. A margin account is simply a means of borrowing money from your broker to buy more stock than you have the cash to pay for. The amount you can borrow is regulated by the Federal Reserve Board. The present margin is 70 per cent, which means that you can buy $100 worth of stock for each $70 you deposit with your broker in cash or listed securities.

I do not recommend margin trading for the average person. An investor can build profits more rapidly in a rising market with someone else's capital added to his own. But when prices fall he may be asked for more margin and in a severe decline he can be wiped out. You sound as if you have limited trading experience and I believe you will sleep better at night if you pay in full for your stocks when you are ready to invest.

Stocks Close Higher In Heavy Action

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher again today. Trading was heavy.

Prices rose from the start despite some factors which were regarded as bearish. The market was buoyed once again by the new trend toward lower interest rates and easier credit, brokers said.

Volume for the day was estimated at 10.3 million shares compared with 9.7 million Friday.

Glamor stocks outdid the pivotal key stocks which influence the averages, but gains in each sector were substantial.

Genera l Motors, Anaconda, Westinghouse Electric and American Smelting rose more than a point each.

Xerox spurted more than 8 points, Motorola nearly 6, Eastern Airlines 3 or more and IBM about 2½.

Avco, up nearly 2 and Sperry Rand, up a point, were pacing the list on volume.

Amerada, up more than 2, and Ashland Oil, down more than a point, reacted to news of their proposed merger.

Gains exceeding 2 points were made by Studebaker, Eastman Kodak and U.S. Smelting.

Gains exceeding a point were scored by New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad in a strong rail section.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

MAI Equipment Moves To Marin; Young, Rubicam Names McManus

The Twenty Sunnyside Building in Mill Valley has been chosen to house the new western regional office of MAI Equipment Corp., formerly in the Hobart Building, San Francisco.

MAI Equipment is a subsidary of Management Assistants, Inc., New York which specializes in the purchase, leaseback and service of computers and related equipment. Entire second floor of the building has been taken, according to property manager Robert H. Greene — about 3,000 square feet.

There will be a staff of about 25, headed by regional manager Robert Kohler of San Francisco. David Pappert of Terra Linda is assistant manager. Apparently a number of others on the staff are Marinites — or soon will be. Another example of the growing trend for many organizations to relocate their main offices out of downtown metropolitan areas.

Lease negotiations were handled by Callan, Stroud and Dale, San Francisco, with partner Michael Stroud of Mill Valley doing the ground work of locating MAI Equipment in Marin. The office is now open for business.

CLARIFICATION OF NAME CHANGE. Ward Manufacturing Co., Ltd., Sausalito, mentioned last Tuesday as taken over by Rich Hydro-Cushion Manufacturing Co., still uses its own name in the manufacturing of vinyl and plastic parts.

The story is that for the past two years Ward has been doing the development and manufacture of soft cushion bumpers for Rich Shock Proof Bumper, Sacramento. This company and Ward together have now formed a new corporatioin (Rich Hydro-Cushion) to continue this work. Ward's other operations are not included.

McManus

Meier

JAMES H. MCMANUS of Mill Valley has been appointed vice president and manager of Young and Rubicam, Inc., San Francisco, replacing William P. Reilly who has been transferred to New York headquarters in charge of the agency's branch offices. McManus joined the company at New York in 1946 and came to San Francisco in 1946. Successively he has served as media director, account executive — and a vice president and account supervisor since 1963.

FRED R. MEIER of Lucas Valley has been appointed sales promotion specialist for the Burroughs Corp. U.S. marketing district headquartered in San Francisco. He joined the company as a saleman in 1956 and has since served as account executive, product specialist and account manager.

GEORGE DOUGLAS VAUGHN of Mill Valley has become associated with the legal firm of Shirley and Peterson, San Francisco. He was admitted to the State Bar of California last year and is a graduate of University of Oregon and Hastings College of Law. Formerly he was with the trust department of Bank of America in San Francisco and Marin and with the legal department of Western Title Insurance Co.

Whitehill

Banducci

INSURANCE. Bernard R. Whitehill of Sleepy Hollow, agent with the San Francisco office of New York Life, was chairman of the annual sales congress of the San Francisco Life Underwriters Assn. last Friday . . . San Rafael insurance broker Fred A. Banducci was presented with a plaque as "Man of the Year" at the annual installation of the Insurance Brokers Assn. of California in San Francisco last Tuesday . . . Robert D. Squires of Mill Valley was cited for superior sales and service during 1966 at the national conference of Equitable Life Assurance in New York . . . Nicholas J. Dollwet of San Rafael, agent for Minnesota Mutual, was honored at the Man of the Year banquet last week by the San Francisco General Agents and Managers Assn.

NOTICE!
The Truth About Health

The public has not been receiving the truth about health. Why is it that you have not heard of the thousands of people, who have found relief from asthma, allergies, headaches, stomach trouble, high blood pressure and many so-called incurable conditions? Why is it that so many have to continue in distress needlessly, until they are fortunate enough to learn of Chiropractic? Why are you not being told of the power in your body, that has the ability to relieve and correct any disease process?

The answer is found in the Neros and Hitlers of the drug industry and the mighty monopoly medicine (AMA) and the billions of dollars they spend annually to see that no Chiropractic information is made available to the sick. Radio, television, newspapers and magazines are controlled by drug interests and consequently, suppress the true story of Chiropractic.

The mighty monopoly medicine continues its attempt to wipe out its competition . . . but in spite of that MIGHT, MONEY and UNDERHANDED TACTICS, they cannot destroy TRUTH. The mighty monster medicine (AMA) declared in 1961, that it would destroy Chiropractic . . . and has since planted various articles in magazines and newspapers to try and degrade public opinion of Chiropractic . . . the opposite reaction takes place however . . . because this approach only drives more people into our offices, as is evidenced by our continued large increase in patients . . . people are getting quite familiar with medical ethics.

TIME FOR ACTION!! This office, along with thousands of others throughout the nation, is dedicated to take this great thing called the LIFE PRINCIPLE, (the wonderful healing principle of Chiropractic) directly to the people . . . to whom it rightfully belongs . . . so that they can choose intelligently the method of healing, which is best for them.

If you desire more information . . . phone 454-5556 for an appointment.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Medical Expenses Are Deductible

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Medical expenses are deductible to the extent that they exceed 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income.

If you or your spouse are over 65 years old, the 3 per cent provision does not apply to you for 1966. However, it will apply beginning January 1, 1967, for the tax return you will file for the year 1967.

Wikel

You can deduct any sums that you spent for ". . . the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment or prevention of disease, or for the purpose of affecting any structure or function of the body (including amounts paid for accident or health insurace), or for transportation primarily for and essential to medical care . . ."

DRUGS COSTS

Your costs for drugs and medicines count to the extent that they exceed 1 per cent of your adjusted gross income. If you are over 65, you can deduct all of your medicine and drugs without first deducting the 1 per cent and the 3 per cent.

Costs of travel, transportation, rental of special sickroom equipment, etc., as well as doctor bills, nurses, hospital costs and other expenses directly connected with your illness or accident are deductible.

Deductible medical expenses can be for yourself or any part of your dependents.

A dependent must have been your dependent either at the time the costs were incurred or at the time they were paid. You can deduct medical costs you paid for a dependent even though you may not be able to claim the dependent as a tax exemption. For instance: You help support your mother who worked part time and made over $600. Because she made over $600 you cannot claim her as a dependent. However, if you furnished over one-half of her support, you can still deduct the medical costs you paid for her.

If you pay medical expenses for your dependent parent and the parent is over 65 years old, you can deduct all of the parent's medical expenses. In other words, the expenses paid for the parent are not reduced by 1 per cent or 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income and there is no maximum limitation, even though you are not yet 65 yourself.

However, your maximum deduction cannot exceed $5,000 per personal exemption and not more than $10,000 on a separate return or more than $20,000 on a joint or head of household return. Exemptions for old age and blindness do not count.

If you or your wife are over 65, there is no maximum limitation.

Medicare costs are deductible as medical expense. That is, the $3 per month you pay.

5 CENTS

Under Revenue Procedure 64-15 you can deduct 5 cents per mile for the use of your car for transportation to secure medical care.

Use form 2948 medical and dental expense statement and attach it to your tax return.

It does not matter when these costs were incurred. They are deductible in the year paid. You cannot deduct costs that you owe. They must be paid to get the deduction.

If part of your medical costs were reimbursed, that is, if your insurance company paid a part of them, then you can deduct only the part you actually paid and that was not reimbursed to you.

BankAmericard Has 3 Million Cardholders

SAN FRANCISCO — BankAmericard, the first national bank credit card interchange program, has just passed the 3,000,000 mark in cardholders, and anticipates reaching 4,500,000 by mid-year, it was announced by Vern C. Richards, president of Bankamerica Service Corp.

The announcement, incorporating data compiled from the 15 banks participating in the national BankAmericard program, was made following the six-month anniversary of BSC's formation last July.

The eight banks now issuing the card have a combined total of 3,108,000 cardholders and 90,896 merchant members, Richards said. In April and May, he said, seven more banks will begin issuing BankAmericards.

Gas Firm Seeks Rate Reduction

LOS ANGELES—El Paso Natural Gas Co. filed a proposal with the Federal Power Commission to reduce its rates to customers in California and the Southwest by approximately $9.6 million annually, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Howard Boyd, chairman of the board, said the rate cuts are possible largely because of efficiencies and economies in a recently authorized gas supply project for Southern California, and because the company will pass along to customers the effect of presently reduced taxes resulting from the use of accelerated depreciation.

These rate reductions will amount to approximately $8.2 million per year to California, and approximately $1.4 million per year in states east of California.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Annuities Offer No Inflation Hedge

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "We are a childless couple just retired with a guaranteed annual income for life of $7,200. We have $62,000 in savings, part of which we want to invest. In our position would you buy an annuity or would you buy stocks with some growth potential to compensate for inflation? If so, which stocks do you suggest?" A. K.

A. You seem to be in a fine position to sit back now and enjoy life. All your present income is fixed and as such can actually deteriorate in purchasing power over the years if the value of the dollar continues downward. I do not recommend an annuity, which is itself a fixed-income type of investment.

I believe you should place at least $30,000 in growth stocks which can appreciate in value to compensate for inflation, as you so nicely put it. I suggest Avon Products, Plough, General Foods, General Tel. & Electronics and Texaco.

Q. "Please explain how a margin account works? I am thinking of opening such an account and would appreciate you advice." O. W.

A. A margin account is simply a means of borrowing money from your broker to buy more stock than you have the cash to pay for. The amount you can borrow is regulated by the Federal Reserve Board. The present margin is 70 per cent, which means that you can buy $100 worth of stock for each $70 you deposit with your broker in cash or listed securities.

I do not recommend margin trading for the average person. An investor can build profits more rapidly in a rising market with someone else's capital added to his own. But when prices fall he may be asked for more margin and in a severe decline he can be wiped out. You sound as if you have limited trading experience and I believe you will sleep better at night if you pay in full for your stocks when you are ready to invest.

Stocks Close Higher In Heavy Action

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher again today. Trading was heavy.

Prices rose from the start despite some factors which were regarded as bearish. The market was buoyed once again by the new trend toward lower interest rates and easier credit, brokers said.

Volume for the day was estimated at 10.3 million shares compared with 9.7 million Friday.

Glamor stocks outdid the pivotal key stocks which influence the averages, but gains in each sector were substantial.

Genera l Motors, Anaconda, Westinghouse Electric and American Smelting rose more than a point each.

Xerox spurted more than 8 points, Motorola nearly 6, Eastern Airlines 3 or more and IBM about 2½.

Avco, up nearly 2 and Sperry Rand, up a point, were pacing the list on volume.

Amerada, up more than 2, and Ashland Oil, down more than a point, reacted to news of their proposed merger.

Gains exceeding 2 points were made by Studebaker, Eastman Kodak and U.S. Smelting.

Gains exceeding a point were scored by New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad in a strong rail section.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

MAI Equipment Moves To Marin; Young, Rubicam Names McManus

The Twenty Sunnyside Building in Mill Valley has been chosen to house the new western regional office of MAI Equipment Corp., formerly in the Hobart Building, San Francisco.

MAI Equipment is a subsidary of Management Assistants, Inc., New York which specializes in the purchase, leaseback and service of computers and related equipment. Entire second floor of the building has been taken, according to property manager Robert H. Greene — about 3,000 square feet.

There will be a staff of about 25, headed by regional manager Robert Kohler of San Francisco. David Pappert of Terra Linda is assistant manager. Apparently a number of others on the staff are Marinites — or soon will be. Another example of the growing trend for many organizations to relocate their main offices out of downtown metropolitan areas.

Lease negotiations were handled by Callan, Stroud and Dale, San Francisco, with partner Michael Stroud of Mill Valley doing the ground work of locating MAI Equipment in Marin. The office is now open for business.

CLARIFICATION OF NAME CHANGE. Ward Manufacturing Co., Ltd., Sausalito, mentioned last Tuesday as taken over by Rich Hydro-Cushion Manufacturing Co., still uses its own name in the manufacturing of vinyl and plastic parts.

The story is that for the past two years Ward has been doing the development and manufacture of soft cushion bumpers for Rich Shock Proof Bumper, Sacramento. This company and Ward together have now formed a new corporatioin (Rich Hydro-Cushion) to continue this work. Ward's other operations are not included.

McManus

Meier

JAMES H. MCMANUS of Mill Valley has been appointed vice president and manager of Young and Rubicam, Inc., San Francisco, replacing William P. Reilly who has been transferred to New York headquarters in charge of the agency's branch offices. McManus joined the company at New York in 1946 and came to San Francisco in 1946. Successively he has served as media director, account executive — and a vice president and account supervisor since 1963.

FRED R. MEIER of Lucas Valley has been appointed sales promotion specialist for the Burroughs Corp. U.S. marketing district headquartered in San Francisco. He joined the company as a saleman in 1956 and has since served as account executive, product specialist and account manager.

GEORGE DOUGLAS VAUGHN of Mill Valley has become associated with the legal firm of Shirley and Peterson, San Francisco. He was admitted to the State Bar of California last year and is a graduate of University of Oregon and Hastings College of Law. Formerly he was with the trust department of Bank of America in San Francisco and Marin and with the legal department of Western Title Insurance Co.

Whitehill

Banducci

INSURANCE. Bernard R. Whitehill of Sleepy Hollow, agent with the San Francisco office of New York Life, was chairman of the annual sales congress of the San Francisco Life Underwriters Assn. last Friday . . . San Rafael insurance broker Fred A. Banducci was presented with a plaque as "Man of the Year" at the annual installation of the Insurance Brokers Assn. of California in San Francisco last Tuesday . . . Robert D. Squires of Mill Valley was cited for superior sales and service during 1966 at the national conference of Equitable Life Assurance in New York . . . Nicholas J. Dollwet of San Rafael, agent for Minnesota Mutual, was honored at the Man of the Year banquet last week by the San Francisco General Agents and Managers Assn.

NOTICE!
The Truth About Health

The public has not been receiving the truth about health. Why is it that you have not heard of the thousands of people, who have found relief from asthma, allergies, headaches, stomach trouble, high blood pressure and many so-called incurable conditions? Why is it that so many have to continue in distress needlessly, until they are fortunate enough to learn of Chiropractic? Why are you not being told of the power in your body, that has the ability to relieve and correct any disease process?

The answer is found in the Neros and Hitlers of the drug industry and the mighty monopoly medicine (AMA) and the billions of dollars they spend annually to see that no Chiropractic information is made available to the sick. Radio, television, newspapers and magazines are controlled by drug interests and consequently, suppress the true story of Chiropractic.

The mighty monopoly medicine continues its attempt to wipe out its competition . . . but in spite of that MIGHT, MONEY and UNDERHANDED TACTICS, they cannot destroy TRUTH. The mighty monster medicine (AMA) declared in 1961, that it would destroy Chiropractic . . . and has since planted various articles in magazines and newspapers to try and degrade public opinion of Chiropractic . . . the opposite reaction takes place however . . . because this approach only drives more people into our offices, as is evidenced by our continued large increase in patients . . . people are getting quite familiar with medical ethics.

TIME FOR ACTION!! This office, along with thousands of others throughout the nation, is dedicated to take this great thing called the LIFE PRINCIPLE, (the wonderful healing principle of Chiropractic) directly to the people . . . to whom it rightfully belongs . . . so that they can choose intelligently the method of healing, which is best for them.

If you desire more information . . . phone 454-5556 for an appointment.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Flexing Your Muscles Wrong Can Lead To Total Disaster

As the annual team tournament at the Riviera Hotel in Las Vegas begins, Los Angeles expert Bob Hamman flexes his muscles to defend the championship he won last year.

Fortunately for his team, Hamman knows how to flex in the right direction.

THE LAYOUT

Hammon won the first trick with the king of hearts and looked for a way to make sure of nine tricks.

One flex in the wrong direction would have cost him his contract.

For example, most players would start by taking the club finesse. East would take the king of clubs and return the jack of diamonds. Declarer might hold up the ace until the third round of diamonds, but it would not help.

SPADE FINESS

Sooner or later South would have to try the spade finesse in his attempt to develop a ninth trick, and then the defenders would get the rest of the diamonds in addition to the two black kings. Down one.

AVOIDS TRAP

Hamman avoided this trap because he saw the danger of allowing East to start the diamonds.

Since West was comparatively harmless, Hamman took his first finesse so that it would lose to West rather than to East.

With this in mind, declarer began with a club to dummy's ace and returned the queen of spades for a finesse.

West won with the king but could not safely attack diamonds. West's actual heart continuation was not a serious threat.

FORCE OUT

South won with the ace of hearts and led a club to force out the king. It was now too late for the defenders to attack diamonds. Hamman could take the ace of diamonds, four clubs, two hearts and two spades, socring his vulnerable game.

ANSWER:

Bid one heart.

Since you have six points in high cards your hand is worth a response. Show your long suit and prepare to lapse into silence unless partner makes a forcing bid.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, Jan. 30, the 30th day of 1967 with 335 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Saturn and Jupiter.

The 32nd president of the United States, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, was born on this day in 1882.

On this day in history:

In 1948, Indian nationalist leader Mohandas Gandhi was assassinated by an extremist in New Delhi.

In 1959, a Danish ship was lost off Greenland with 95 persons aboard.

In 1962, Cuba was ousted from the Organization of American States by a vote of 14-1 with six nations abstaining.

In 1965, British statesman Sir Winston Churchill, who died on Jan. 24, was buried in Westminster Abbey.

A thought for the day — President Franklin Roosevelt said: "The only limit to our realization of tomorrow will be our doubts of today. Let us move forward with strong and active faith."

TIME AND TIDE

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Larkspur Council To Get Review Of Flood Damage

The Larkspur City Council will hear a report and see slides on storm damage in Larkspur Wednesday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Public hearings will be held on rezoning part of Redwood High School property from unclassified to residential, on annexation of part of Christmas Tree Hill to Larkspur from Corte Madera, on a fill permit for Industrial Way and on an amendment to the personnel ordinance providing that employees be paid in advance when pay days fall on weekends or holidays.

The council will consider a policy regulating the engineering of driveways to make them safer for parking. An ordinance requiring permits for encroachments on city rights of way will be considered. For final adoption, and an ordinance requiring soil reports for parcels in subdivisions and allowing parcel maps to be submitted in lieu of records of survey, may be introduced.

Final acceptance of the Doherty Drive Extension and the Bon Air Road and Magnolia Avenue intersection improvements will be taken up.

The council will consider an encroachment permit requested by Robert Brabo at Redwood and Madrone avenues, and an overlay of asphalt requested in front of the Redwood Church on Magnolia Avenue.

Records Stolen

Catherine Ruth Hickling of 132 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, reported to sheriff's deputies Saturday that someone took 28 phonograph hecord albums, valued at about $120, from her apartment. Deputies said the front door had been unlocked.

Woman Hurt In Car Crash

An unidentified car entering Highway 101 from the southbound on ramp at the Corte Madera overpass started a series of moves that resulted in a two-car collision and injuries to a Santa Rosa woman at 1:15 p. m. Saturday.

The California Highway Patrol reported the unidentified auto forced a car in the southbound slow lane toward the center lane. This forced a car in the center lane driven by Natalie Oates, 35, of 101 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, toward the fast lane where it collided with one driven by Lois Margaret Newman, 52, of Santa Rosa, officers said.

The Newman car rolled over after the collision and came to rest right side up, officers reported. The driver suffered a fractured collarbone and bruised ribs and was taken to Marin General Hospital, where she was reported in good condition.

A U. S. observatory is operated at Tucson, Ariz.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Flexing Your Muscles Wrong Can Lead To Total Disaster

As the annual team tournament at the Riviera Hotel in Las Vegas begins, Los Angeles expert Bob Hamman flexes his muscles to defend the championship he won last year.

Fortunately for his team, Hamman knows how to flex in the right direction.

THE LAYOUT

Hammon won the first trick with the king of hearts and looked for a way to make sure of nine tricks.

One flex in the wrong direction would have cost him his contract.

For example, most players would start by taking the club finesse. East would take the king of clubs and return the jack of diamonds. Declarer might hold up the ace until the third round of diamonds, but it would not help.

SPADE FINESS

Sooner or later South would have to try the spade finesse in his attempt to develop a ninth trick, and then the defenders would get the rest of the diamonds in addition to the two black kings. Down one.

AVOIDS TRAP

Hamman avoided this trap because he saw the danger of allowing East to start the diamonds.

Since West was comparatively harmless, Hamman took his first finesse so that it would lose to West rather than to East.

With this in mind, declarer began with a club to dummy's ace and returned the queen of spades for a finesse.

West won with the king but could not safely attack diamonds. West's actual heart continuation was not a serious threat.

FORCE OUT

South won with the ace of hearts and led a club to force out the king. It was now too late for the defenders to attack diamonds. Hamman could take the ace of diamonds, four clubs, two hearts and two spades, socring his vulnerable game.

Bid one heart.

Since you have six points in high cards your hand is worth a response. Show your long suit and prepare to lapse into silence unless partner makes a forcing bid.

Unruh Sees Long Search

LOS ANGELES (AP) — State Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh believes it will be hard to find "a prestigious person" to take the University of California president's job.

Unruh said in a radio interview yesterday.

"I think there will be a great deal of hesitation on the part of the academic community nationally before someone of outstanding academic qualifications would accept this job."

The Democratic leader was questioned by radio newsmen on the recent firing of Clark Kerr as president by the U.C. regents.

Unruh, himself a regent, said he didn't agree with everything Kerr had done as president—especially during the student uprisings on the Berkeley campus—but he said he opposed his firing.

Cadets To Parade

The cadet battalion of the San Rafael Military Academy will present a retreat parade and promotion ceremony at 3:45 Sunday. Included in the program will be music by the academy band, drill team demonstrations, promotion announcements and a retreat and review parade.

Minority Job Issue Before Board Again

The Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow will once again reconsider the minority hire clause in the contract for the Community Mental Health Center to be built at Marin General Hospital under a cooperative agreement with the hospital district.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center with the mental health center as item 15 on the agenda and due to be taken up in the morning session.

Hospital directors last week said they would not expose the hospital district to any additional cost that might be involved in the equal hire clause, and they urged the board to delete it for fear that it might restrict the number of bidders for the job.

The clause requires contractors to agree prior to bidding to abide by certain requirements, including the designation of a company man to handle minority employment and encourage apprentice training on the job.

Also on tomorrow's agenda is discussion of a contract with consultants who are to recommend means of improving operation of the county's data processing department, discussion of the Point Reyes Station Water Co., whose service has frequently failed and proposed condemnation of Elephant Rocks in northwest Marin for a county park.

Larkspur Council To Get Review Of Flood Damage

The Larkspur City Council will hear a report and see slides on storm damage in Larkspur Wednesday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Public hearings will be held on rezoning part of Redwood High School property from unclassified to residential, on annexation of part of Christmas Tree Hill to Larkspur from Corte Madera, on a fill permit for Industrial Way and on an amendment to the personnel ordinance providing that employees be paid in advance when pay days fall on weekends or holidays.

The council will consider a policy regulating the engineering of driveways to make them safer for parking. An ordinance requiring permits for encroachments on city rights of way will be considered. For final adoption, and an ordinance requiring soil reports for parcels in subdivisions and allowing parcel maps to be submitted in lieu of records of survey, may be introduced.

Final acceptance of the Doherty Drive Extension and the Bon Air Road and Magnolia Avenue intersection improvements will be taken up.

The council will consider an encroachment permit requested by Robert Brabo at Redwood and Madrone avenues, and an overlay of asphalt requested in front of the Redwood Church on Magnolia Avenue.

Records Stolen

Catherine Ruth Hickling of 132 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, reported to sheriff's deputies Saturday that someone took 28 phonograph hecord albums, valued at about $120, from her apartment. Deputies said the front door had been unlocked.

Woman Hurt In Car Crash

An unidentified car entering Highway 101 from the southbound on ramp at the Corte Madera overpass started a series of moves that resulted in a two-car collision and injuries to a Santa Rosa woman at 1:15 p. m. Saturday.

The California Highway Patrol reported the unidentified auto forced a car in the southbound slow lane toward the center lane. This forced a car in the center lane driven by Natalie Oates, 35, of 101 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, toward the fast lane where it collided with one driven by Lois Margaret Newman, 52, of Santa Rosa, officers said.

The Newman car rolled over after the collision and came to rest right side up, officers reported. The driver suffered a fractured collarbone and bruised ribs and was taken to Marin General Hospital, where she was reported in good condition.

More Buildings Slide; Forecast Is For Rain

Sausalito Slipping Hill Stops

By STEPHEN COOK

The super-saturated soils of Marin County continued to slip today as rain continued to fall, taking a toll of expensive homes and commercial buildings and threatening others.

Minor flooding was reported in some areas, as the United States Weather Bureau issued a forecast of rain continuing intermittently the next five days.

GIVEN UP

Heaviest rainfall will most likely be on Thursday and Saturday, the prediction said. Occasional rain tonight and partly cloudy tomorrow was forecast.

In Larkspur today, the $55,000 Greenbrae home of W. G. Stone at 292 Via La Paz was given up for lost. Plans were being made to demolish it before it could slide down the slope into another home, according to Public Works Director Warren Mistron.

The rains have carved a hole six feet deep, running back 15 feet under the home, Minstron said. The Stone family and the Robert W. Bauer family of 100 Via Navarro, whose home is directly below the Stone house, moved out Saturday night.

CARPORT DEMOLISHED

Mistron said two adjacent homes, those of Charles T. Travers at 296 Via La Paz and Frank P. Cowdery at 286 Via La Paz, are threatened by the slide.

Fairfax Is One Fair City

The fair fresh face of Fairfax has won it a top award in the National Cleanest Town Achievement Award Contest.

The city will be presented a distinguished achievement award for last year's two-week effort by citizens and community groups entering the national clean-up-paint up-fix up campaign for the first time.

First to be surprised today was City Administrator David J. Sumbardo, who had suggested to councilmen the city should take part. "Not bad for a first attempt," he said.

WAS SPEECHLESS

Mrs. Richard Jones, co-chairman with George Cowell of the clean-up committee, was speechless when told the news.

"We were pleased with the result ourselves," she said after a pause, "but to be recognized nationally is wonderful. We had excellent co-operation from everyone concerned."

Announcing the award today, R. H. Hackendaul, director of the National Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up Bureau said, "The ciitzens of this community should be commended for their voluntary accomplishments in the field of civic improvement and beautification."

INVITED TO D.C.

He has invited Farifax civic leaders to attend the National Cleanest Town Conference in Washington, D. C., for presentation of the award in the Statler Hilton Hotel on Feb. 21.

On display will be the scrapbook the city submitted with "before" and "after" photographs as entry to the contest.

AMong Fairfax achievements, said Hackendaul, were demolition of sub-standard buildings, and anti-litter program, a poster contest, the cleanup of vacant lots, and a downtown improvement project.

The Fairfax prize just falls short of the major awards presented 24 cities judged the best in specific categories.

LBJ Asks Help In Cleaning Air

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, saying "America's struggle against poisoned air" now is being lost, asked Congress today for legislation giving the federal government power to control air pollution.

But in a special message titled "Protecting Our National Heritage," Johnson said federal action alone cannot master pollution. (See also California Redwoods story, page 14.)

"The states, the cities and private industry must commit themselves more fully, more effectively and with a new sense of urgency to America's struggle against poisoned air," Johnson said.

Johnson said one of the first new steps in the attack on air pollution should be emission control levels for those indusair pollution.

He recommended that the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare be authorized to designate industries that contribute significantly to air pollution, develop and publish industry emission levels, provide each state the opportunity to adopt equivalent levels or stricter ones, and to apply federal levels in those states which do not adopt their own.

In another step to combat air pollution, Johnson proposed federal matching grants to help the states establish inspection programs for motor vehicle pollution control.

Johnson said the federal government has invested $16.9 million in research grants, $5 million in training and $4.6 million for surveys and pilot projects under the clear air act of 1963.

Johnson said immediate research targets must include

Tax More Sales, Less Property, Unruh Asks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh today proposed legislation to cut property taxes $300 million by shifting the burden to the sales tax.

The Inglewood Democrat said his bill would add another cent to the sales tax—making it five cents per dollar—but would require reductions in school property taxes averaging 25 per cent statewide.

In addition, it would add $80 million a year to the combined revenue of all school districts.

Unruh unveiled his tax plan during the weekend. His proposal was strikingly similar to the property tax relief program Gov. Ronald Reagan has promised.

Unruh said he had not discussed his proposal with the governor but "I am hopeful this bill will find bipartisan support."

The measure would raise $380 million through the sales tax boost.

All of the money would be distributed to school districts using the present equalization principle.

The schools would be required to use $300 million for property tax relief. The other $80 million could be used to meet needs for additional revenue.

Unruh said his plan also provides that after the mandatory tax cut, property taxes for school districts may be increased only with the approval of the voters.

The speaker said this measure would provide "a major shift away from the regressive property tax ...to the more equitable sales tax, levied on a statewide basis."

Douglas Tells Estimate For Development

John M. Douglas, Marin County economic development director, will propose to the board of supervisors tomorrow that the county spend $85,525 next fiscal year for promotion and business development.

He will propose that the county abandon its system of doling out money to various promotional groups, and instead either give all the funds to one group or carry on the whole program through his department.

Douglas will present a proposal as requested by the board of supervisors last month. Since then, the county grand jury has proposed that his department be abolished.

"A publicity and advertising campaign to 'tell the world' where Marin County is, what its attractions are and why people should come could be undertaken," says the proposal. "The success of such a program is in direct ratio to the amount of funds allocated."

He suggests that the county spend $10,000 to employ a professional travel consultant, $7,300 for brochures, $7,500 for an information center at Vista Point, $5,000 for scenic tour maps, $5,000 for a professional publicist, $5,000 for a calendar of events, $15,000 for advertising, and $9,000 for memberships in Redwood Empire Assn. and Marine Exchange and subscriptions to trade publications. Busolo was shot to death in his home at Lake Havasu City, where the couple moved about two years ago. Mrs. Busolo, 43, woh reported the shooting three days later, told the coroner's jury the gun she had intended to use to commit suicide accidentally discharged during a quarrel with her husband.

The coroner's jury found she had shot her husband deliberately.

Connie Stevens, Fisher Engaged

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Eddie Fisher and actress-singer Connie Stevens announced their engagement today. No marriage date was set.

Miss Stevens, 29, now appearing in the Broadway musical "Star-Spangled Girl", said Fisher, 38, gave her a diamond engagement ring over the weekend.

Fisher was previously married to actresses Debbie Reynolds and Elizabeth Taylor.

Miss Stevens had been previously married to television actor Jim Stacy.

Fisher was in New York to record an album.

"We're old friends," said Miss Stevens. "We've known each other for quite some time."

Debt Ceiling Hike Asked —$7 Billion

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler asked Congress today to raise the national debt ceiling by $7 billion to a new level of $337 billion.

He said that unless Congress acts, the Treasury will have to start holding up some payments within a month.

In an unusually blunt statement to the House Ways and Means Committee, Fowler said: "You and I know that there are many who have voted for, and will vote for, appropriations and then take comfort and protection in a vote against extending the debt limit. This is not a responsible act."

Fowler said that among the payments that would be in jeopardy about March 1 unless the debt limit is raised are Social Security and disability benefits, veterans pensions and military and civilians retirement pay.

The Ways and Means Committee has never failed to recommend debt limit increases under similar circumstances in the past and Congress has always followed through, but often the increase has been less than the Treasury asked.

Governor Ready To Give Legislature New Budget

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan will present his first budget tomorrow to a Democratic legislature ready to revise the big spending program to its own tastes.

"We would be wrong if we accepted the blanket recommendations of the executive branch," said Chairman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Reagan warned Californians to prepare for new taxes and a big budget when he steps before a joint session and spells out the details of his fiscal plan for the 1967-68 bookkeeping year.

But Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, said he suspects Reagan's proposed budget will not exceed the current $4.59 billion — and could possibly be slightly lower.

"Even this budget will require new taxes just to balance it," Monagan said.

Reagan has told of a $473 million deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1 and said "when the final blow falls, it will actually be darker than I painted it."

The size of the new budget was under official wraps.

Unruh Sees Long Search

LOS ANGELES (AP) — State Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh believes it will be hard to find "a prestigious person" to take the University of California president's job.

Unruh said in a radio interview yesterday.

"I think there will be a great deal of hesitation on the part of the academic community nationally before someone of outstanding academic qualifications would accept this job."

The Democratic leader was questioned by radio newsmen on the recent firing of Clark Kerr as president by the U.C. regents.

Unruh, himself a regent, said he didn't agree with everything Kerr had done as president—especially during the student uprisings on the Berkeley campus—but he said he opposed his firing.

Minority Job Issue Before Board Again

The Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow will once again reconsider the minority hire clause in the contract for the Community Mental Health Center to be built at Marin General Hospital under a cooperative agreement with the hospital district.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center with the mental health center as item 15 on the agenda and due to be taken up in the morning session.

Hospital directors last week said they would not expose the hospital district to any additional cost that might be involved in the equal hire clause, and they urged the board to delete it for fear that it might restrict the number of bidders for the job.

The clause requires contractors to agree prior to bidding to abide by certain requirements, including the designation of a company man to handle minority employment and encourage apprentice training on the job.

Also on tomorrow's agenda is discussion of a contract with consultants who are to recommend means of improving operation of the county's data processing department, discussion of the Point Reyes Station Water Co., whose service has frequently failed and proposed condemnation of Elephant Rocks in northwest Marin for a county park.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Japan Liberals Maintain Hold

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's party won another big but reduced majority in Japan's Lower House elections yesterday, weathering charges of corruption and turning Communist China's turmoil against the leftists.

Sato

The majority for Sato's Liberal Democratic party was cut from 99 seats in the Lower House elected in 1963 to 68, and their percentage of the popular vote dropped from 54.67 in 1963 to 49.09.

But eight of the nine independents elected are likely to support the Liberal Democrats, raising their majority to 84.

The chief opposition party, the pro-Peking Socialists, also suffered a setback. The Communists failed to win as many seats as they expected although their percentage of the total vote improved slightly.

Beating Given

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—Publisher Pedro Joaquin Chamorro, the leading foe of the Somoza dynasty, was beaten and thrown into solitary confinement after his arrest Wednesday, a judge handling his case said yesterday.

Chamorro, publisher of the newspaper La Prensa, was one of the leaders of the demonstration Jan. 22 that resulted in a clash between National Guardsmen and armed oppositionists in which at least 32 persons were killed.

Bomber Raid Near Saigon; GIs Increase

U.S. Investigates Copters' Attack On 200 Sampans

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U. S. B-52 bombers staged their closest raid to Saigon of the Vietnam war today. Simultaneously, 3,200 more American infantrymen arrived in the country to join the growing U.S. force in the Mekong Delta.

The B-52s unloaded their explosives on a base camp of the Viet Cong's 165A regiment 16 miles west-southwest of Saigon. The strike was two miles closer to the capital than any previous raid by the bombers and shook windows in Saigon.

In two clashes Jan. 21, South Vietnamese paratroopers reported killing 117 men of the 165A regiment.

Over North Vietnam, U.S. jet bombers struck the Thai Nguyen railroad yard 35 miles north of Hanoi yesterday and for the second day ranged along the Ca River for concentrated assaults on cargo barges.

Ground fighting in South Vietnam diminished to small, scattered clashes.

PROBE ATTACK

The U.S. command continued an investigation of an attack by three U.S. helicopters on a fleet of 200 sampans in the Mekong Delta in which a U.S. spokesman said 31 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 38 wounded.

The spokesman said the sampan fleet was attacked Saturday night and early yesterday during the curfew hours after some of the sampans fired on the helicopters. He said the civilians told interrogators they were on the move in violation of the curfew because the Viet Cong was in the area and they anticipated allied attacks.

The latest American troops to arrive were the 2nd Brigade of the 9th Infantry Division and supporting artillery, medical, supply, signal, military police and maintenance units.

The 3,200 men came ashore from the troopship Pope at Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon. They brought the division to its full strength, 15,000 men, and increased the total announced American strength in Vietnam to 404,000 men.

The gunship helicopters attacked the sampan fleet on the Bassac River 78 miles southwest of Saigon Saturday night after the helicopters received automatic - weapons fire from two positions on the sampans and one on the River Bank, a U.S. spokesman said.

ON MISSION

Although full details of the incident were not known, the spokesman said the three helicopters were on a reconnaissance mission in an area where intelligence reports indicated a Viet Cong main force unit was operating.

48-Year Prison Term, Fine Faced By Baker

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, once the trusted confidant of some of the nation's most powerful men, today faced the prospect of going to prison as a convicted thief and tax cheat.

A U.S. District Court jury, after deliberating seven hours and 20 minutes, found him guilty yesterday morning on charges of tax evasion, larceny, and fraud carrying a maximum penalty of 48 years in prison and a $47,000 fine. He will be sentenced at a later date.

The three-week trial of the former Senate Democratic secretary —a onetime assistant to President Johnson —came to a tense climax when jury Foreman James M. Buchanan seven times declared Baker guilty as charged by the government.

Except for a paleness of face, the 38-year-old Baker showed little outward emotion as Buchanan recited him guilty.

His attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, said he would appeal the verdict "all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary." Baker joined his wife and walked quickly from the courtroom without comment.

In essence, they had decided that the former Capitol Hill insider had "willfully" evaded paying more than $21,000 in income taxes in 1961 and 1962; had stolen most of $100,000 collected as campaign funds from California savings and loan sources in 1962, and had defrauded the government in 1963 and 1964 through a conspiracy with Washington lobbyist Wayne L. Bromley and former Nevada Lt. Gov. Clifford Jones.

Loyalists Reported Routing Foes To Mao In Sinkiang

TOKYO (AP) — Units of Red China's army loyal to Mao Tse-tung claim to have "completely surrounded rebel army units" in rebellious Sinkiang, in the far west, Japanese reports said today.

The claim of Maoist gains in Sinkiang, published in Peking Wall posters, coincided with other reports that shooting was continuing in the vast autonomous region bordering the Soviet Union. Local army units were said to have defied Premier Chou En-lai's orders to the armed forces to side with Mao in his struggle against President Liu Shao-chi and his followers.

Nationalist China's official Central Daily News in Taipei suggested that the Soviets might enter the China strife on behalf of anti-Mao generals.

It said the Sinkiang commander, Gen. Wang En-mao, had warned Mao against trying to use the nuclear installations there as a threat to his enemies. China's five atomic explosions took place in Sinkiang.

More than 100 persons were reported killed last week in Sinkiang. Wall posters said Sunday that 12 of 68 persons treated in an army hospital had also died.

Tippit's Wife Is Remarried

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The widow of the Dallas policeman killed shortly after President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, has remarried.

Dallas Police Lt. Harry Dean Thomas said Saturday night in Dallas that he and the former Mrs. J.D. Tippit were married a week ago. They are residing in Dallas.

She has three children and he has four.

After her husband was killed, donors from all over the world sent Mrs. Tippit more than $650,000 in contributions.

The Warren Commission said Lee Harvey Oswald killed officer Tippit after killing President John F. Kennedy.

Tuition Plan Gets Support Of GOP Group

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to invoke a tuition at the University of California and state colleges had support from leaders of the conservatively - oriented United Republicans of California (UROC).

The group's board of governors ended a three-day quarterly convention yesterday by endorsing most of the Republican governor's actions and programs.

But the series of resolutions expressing support still must be confirmed either at a May 5-7 state convention in Long Beach or by a referendum vote of local units before becoming official policy of the 9,500-member volunteer group.

The stand was contained in a resolution saying the state budget faces a "substantial deficit"—estimated at $473 million next year—which Reagan has been trying to reduce with economies.

It was adopted with no debate —as were most of the other 21 resolutions passed by the board.

Also approved with no debate was a resolution pushing for repeal of the 1963 Rumford Housing Act, which forbids racial discrimination in sale and leasing of most housing in California.

Two To Retire

Lt. Col. (Army Nurse Corps) Angeline P. Jankoviak of 219 Marin Avenue, Mill Valley, and Spec. 7 Francis J. Hoag of 8 Edison Avenue, Corte Madera, will be among 21 Army officers and non-commissioned officers retiring in ceremonies on the main parade ground at the Presidio of San Francisco at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

FINAL JOURNEY FOR ASTRONAUTS

Bodies Leave Cape For Honor Rites; Probers Study Charred Craft Pictures

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With heroes' honors, the remains of America's three Apollo 1 astronauts go toward their burial sites today as the nation mourns and investigators search to answer the torturing question: "How did it happen?"

With military escorts, flag-draped coffins containing Air Force Lt. Cols. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee departed in the same plane this morning from a Cape Kennedy landing strip.

A brief ceremony was held at the airfield, located less than four miles from the launch pad where the spacemen died Friday in a ball of flame that flashed through their moonship.

After a flight of about one hour, the Air Force jet carrying their remains landed at Andrews Air Force Base in Washington. From there, the bodies of Grissom and Chaffee go to Arlington National Cemetery, where three other U.S. astronauts, killed in plane crashes, are also buried.

The two Apollo 1 pilots will be buried there tomorrow.

White's body will be taken to a Highland Falls, N.Y., funeral home to await burial at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point tomorrow at 11 a.m.

At Cape Kennedy, the 12-man board of inquiry continued probing the tragedy, looking at photographs taken of the cockpit, interviewing witnesses and studying data.

All that remains inside Apollo 1 is a gutted, charred mass of burnt-out wires and scattered debris, an eyewitness said.

George Alexander, a writer for Aviation Week magazine who represented all news media when the space agency permitted one reporter to inspect them moonship yesterday, said the inside of Apollo 1 looked "like the cockpit of an aircraft in World War II that took a direct hit."

NASA has not announced what will become of the Apollo 1 spaceship, but most observers agree it is too heavily damaged to ever carry men into space.

One theory was that a spark, perhaps from a battery or faulty electrical connection, triggered a fire and the flame—fed by pure oxygen in the cabin — swept through the cockpit in seconds, perhaps combusting with gas fumes or contaminants in the oxygen.

The fire that killed three astronauts in the Apollo space capsule Friday was the latest in a series of blazes that have erupted during the training exercises, a University of Rochester scientist says.

The earlier fires, Dr. Wallace O. Fenn told reporters, occurred in decompression chambers that were large enough for the astronauts to escape to safety.

Fenn said he recalled one incident about two years ago but was unable to pinpoint the dates of that or the others.

Fenn, who was interviewed Saturday by the Rochester Democrat & Chronicle, is a professor of physiology at the university's medical school and former director of Rochester's Space Science Center.

Dr. Albert Craig, a colleague, said a chamber rigged for a simulated 30-day space flight nearly became a deathtrap three years ago for astronauts in training. The men, he said, fled to an adjoining chamber when they were unable to extinguish a fast-spreading fire.

Officials of NASA in Washington had no immediate comment on Fenn's or Craig's statement.

EMERGENCY — ATTENTION HOMEMAKERS
STORM DAMAGE SALE
3 Days — TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY

We did not plan it, but we have to do it! When the rains came last week-end part of our warehouse, and one corner of our main floor were flooded because of an overflowing drain. Fortunately we saw the trouble as it began to develop, and while we could not prevent it, by prompt action, and working late into the night we were able to move all of the threatened stock out of danger. Until we can "clean up the mess," our display floor is jammed full and overcrowded.

In order to "clear the aisles" and give us room, Braverman's is conducting this 3-day storm-damage sale. All of the merchandise left over from our January sale will continue "on sale" at special prices. Much of it has been reduced even more. Many of the new pieces that just arrived for Spring have also been reduced below their intended price to help us make room.

Right now space is very important, and you can profit by the savings in effect on most of the furniture in stock. If you have been thinking about a new sofa, or chair, a dining set or bedroom set . . . whatever you've been waiting for, may we suggest you visit Braverman's during the next three days. Don't mind if the aisles are crowded. Our display floor is not as neat as we'd like it to be, that's why we're trying to make room by holding this sale.

Here are just a few examples of the kind of savings you can make: Cut Velvet Pillow Back Spanish Sofa was $675.00 now $495; Oriental Bedroom Set was $845.00, now $695; Kroehler Club Sofa in Sage Green Quilt was $299.50 now $189.50; Club Chairs were $119.50, now $68.50; Provincial Dining Sets were $498.50 now $398; plus many, many more items, practically two-thirds of the merchandise on hand reduced from 20%, 30%, up to 50%, for the next three days.

All sales final, all merchandise sold to be delivered as soon as possible. Of course Braverman's usual budget terms available, up to two years to pay on convenient monthly payments.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

We Stand To Lose Something With Educational Park Idea

The neighborhood elementary school, a familiar feature of the American scene since colonial days, seems on its way to at least temporary eclipse.

In its place, we are told by leading educators, we will have "educational parks." Latest to add his endorsement to this concept was Alan B. Wilson, University of California education professor, who this month urged the educational park idea on the State Committee on Public Education, an official citizen committee.

WILSON, LIKE OTHERS before him, called educational parks the most promising method of dealing with the educational needs of "culturally disadvantaged children."

He urged that they be operated by local school districts in conjunction with teacher training colleges or regional education laboratories. Local districts, he said, are "too committed to traditional methods and too immersed in day by day administration to conduct the necessary experimentation."

These educational parks may not be parks in the common sense. They may have neither hiking trails nor trees, swings or picnic tables. But each will be a cluster of buildings, for schooling through elementary and high schools and perhaps college. And in each, the children from a rather wide area will go to school together—getting there, presumably, by bus.

ROBERT G. LAMP, research associate in the Stanford University school planning laboratory, envisions educational parks as remaking the whole concept of schools, providing schooling "for those from age 3 to 93 and . . . open from 7 a.m. 'til midnight."

This latest variation of the central school idea has received its greatest impetus from the cry for integration of the public schools. It is not only in the South that schools are separate and unequal. Poor neighborhoods — and particularly Negro neighborhoods — tend to have poor schools.

At a Sacramento conference last year, Dan W. Dodson, director of New York University's center for human relations and community studies, blasted the neighborhood school as a place where "people hide from encounters with each other and shield themselves from involvement with those who are different." His solution was to "integrate the neighborhood school into centralized community school complexes" — again, the educational park.

SOME EDUCATORS have already written off the neighborhood school as outmoded, a relic of horse and buggy days.

It is an older relic than that. The first school districts in the United States, apparently, were those formed to operate neighborhood schools. The district was the area served by a single school, and there were often several in one town.

The tradition persists, and although the tiny districts have mostly vanished except in rural areas, the neighborhood school has remained.

IT REMAINS as more than a convenience in location of classrooms. Each neighborhood school is a focal point, a gathering place, a physical embodiment of the amalgam that sticks the neighborhood together.

And it serves its community in a special way, as H. Thomas James, dean of Stanford University's school of education, noted in a recent address at a Los Angeles seminar sponsored by the College Entrance Examination Board. Said Dr. James:

"Neighborhood schools would serve quite different expectations in an upper-class suburb of San Francisco, a Jewish suburb of Boston, a predominantly Roman Catholic village in the Fox River Valley of Wisconsin, or an all-Negro suburb of Los Angeles.

"THE SCHOOL that served one community would, if transported with buildings, teachers, and materials of instruction intact, almost certainly outrage virtually every other community. The surest way to increase the outrage would be to include half the pupils from one community when the school was moved to another."

This raises questions: Would the educational park answer the needs of all the neighborhoods it sought to serve? Would it answer them well enough to be worth the extra cost of hauling so many pupils by bus, and the loss to each neighborhood of its focal point, its neighborhood amalgam?

Arms Selling By U.S. Is Hit In Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Vigorous sales campaigns" by the Defense Department have contributed to the international arms race contrary to United States foreign policy, a Senate committee charges.

A report by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff, released yesterday, said "dynamic and aggressive" salesmanship has boosted U.S. military sales overseas by 600 per cent since the 1950s.

The Defense Department has received $11.1 billion in foreign military orders and commitments since 1962 through its Office of International Logistic Negotiations, the document stated. It said the ILN had a staff of 21 professional officers broken into sales teams.

"While the financial success of the U.S. military sales is beyond dispute," adds the report, "there is ample reason for concern as to the side effects of the vigorous sales campaigns.

Plane Crashes Into Mountain

RED BLUFF (UPI) — The bodies of four Spokane, Wash., residents were found yesterday in the wreckage of a light plane on the snow-covered south slope of Mount Lassen.

A four-man ski rescue team of rangers from Mount Lassen National Park discovered the wreckage in about seven feet of snow between the 6,000 and 7,000 foot levels of the rugged mountain.

They dug through a foot and a half of snow which had fallen since the crash to find the bodies.

The plane, en route to Hayward, from Klamath Falls, Ore., was last heard from Saturday when the pilot, identified as William B. Martin, radioed for help.

The plane's passengers were identified as Martin's wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bright. Authorities said all four were from Spokane, where the flight originated.

Injuries Minor In Collision

James D. Verbish, 19, of San Francisco suffered a cut lip and cut forehead in a two-car collision on Highway 101 just south of the Corte Madera overpass at 11:15 p. m. Saturday , the California Highway Patrol reported.

Officers said a car driven by Verbish collided with one driven by William M. Blessing, 57, of 51 Lakeside Drive, Corte Madera.

Verbish was treated at Marin General Hospital. Olive Claudia Blessing, 54, of 51 Lakeside Drive, a passenger in the Blessing car, suffered back pains but refused hospitalization, officers said.

Denmark Ambassador Visits Aldersly Home

Holiday spirits mixed naturally with some nostalgic tears at San Rafael's Aldersly Danish Home Saturday when Torben Roenne, Denmark's ambassador to the United States, arrived to recall memories of the motherland.

"It is a pleasure to visit the place where so many of our countrymen spend the evening of their lives," Roenne told the eldery Danish residents of the home.

Roenne, who was accompanied by his wife Consuelo, said he brought greetings from the king and queen of Denmark, who visited the home in 1960.

"In spite of the distance, this home is close to Denmark, because your hearts are so often there. And, Denmark will never forget her sons ad daughters who emigrated to the new world," he said.

The formal program ended when 96-year-old Johanne Mathiesen, a resident of the home, welcomed the ambassador's wife with a bouquet of roses, then promptly drew her to a corner to talk of the homeland.

The Roennes circled the social hall, stopping to visit with, but mostly to listen to, the residents of the home.

"They tell me the part of the country they come from, what kind of towns they lived in and what they did. Then they tell me what they've done since they came to this country. They all seem very satisfied," Roenne said.

"You know, this home represents social understanding—socialism in an American way. In Denmark we have homes for the elderly financed by the government. Here, the home is supported with private money."

Roenne, who has been ambassador to the United States since 1965, is on his first visit to California.

Carrier Pulled Off Sand Bar

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — The aircraft carrier Essex lay at anchor today at Roosevelt Roads Naval Air Station near here after being pulled from a sand bar late last night five miles off Puerto Rico's east coast.

The Navy said the 849-foot carrier was freed by Navy tugs after much of its fuel was pumped off and its helicopters flown to Roosevelt Roads to lighten the 25-year-old ship.

Equal Rights Policy Is Hit

SACRAMENTO (AP) — America has promised its Negro citizens a new life of equality, but has gone back on that pledge, the leader of a sizable Jewsih group declares.

The statement was made Saturday night by Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath of New York, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. It is a group of about one million Reform Jews. He spoke to the body's Northern California conference.

"We have promised them a new day and we have now given them closed doors," he said of the Negroes. "Despite the most liberal Congress in American history, despite landmark legislation and court decisions, there is more segregation today than 10 years ago."

The rabbi also criticized some Negro militancy.

More Marin Homes Slide As More Rain Forecast

home was demolished yesterday when it threatened to slide onto homes below. The Travers' swimming pool is also being undermined, Mistron said.

Stone, who moved into his daughter's home in Fairfax Saturday night, blamed "carelessness on the developer's part" for the loss of his home, and said he planned to see his attorney.

In Sausalito yesterday, 60 feet of a hillside oozed into three buildings on Bridgeway, but the hill appeared to have stopped moving today.

REAR WALL

The slide pushed in the rear wall of the Tide Bookstore and threatened two other buildings—one housing the Sandal Shop and Takahashi Imports and the other housing the G. G. Apparel Shop.

Public Works Supt. Norman Wohlshlaeger said today, "if it slides any more, it will cave in the back of the buildings."

He closed and evacuated the buildings yesterday and said they will remain closed until it is clear the slide will not move again.

About eight tons of mud were reportedly removed from the patio behind the G. G. Shop yesterday, carted by wheelbarrow through the shop for removal by trucks.

In the afternoon,traffic was diverted at Bridgeway and Anchor Street, but limited use of the street was restored by 8 p. m.

The California Highway Patrol also reported a slide on the Sausalito lateral near the entrance to Fort Baker and Barry. The earth movement caused a two-car accident there at 6:10 p. m. yesterday, the CHP said.

HOME ABANDONED

In San Anselmo, the home of Edward Salza at 90 Woodside Drive, abandoned because of slippage before the rains started, slid about 15 feet down the slope.

The parking lane in front of the home has been closed because rain is undermining the pavement, said Public Works Director Charles R. Leitzell. San Anselmo City Council scheduled an emergency meeting to discuss the problem at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Leitzell reported mud is beginning to run off the Red Hill slide, where four apartment houses were demolished Jan. 21, but said the main mass of the slide is not moving.

A worried tenant at the Tower Apartments at 108 Professional Center Parkway, San Rafael, reported this morning that a hill behind the building was sliding.

TREES DOWN

It knocked down trees and power lines, she said, blanking electrical power in the area, and oozed up to a depth of two feet at the rear of the building. The mud was knocking down rails around the backyard swimming pool and entering the pool, she said. None of the tenants was leaving the building.

County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost reported minor slides on several county roads during the weekend, temporarily blocking traffic.

Most troublesome slides were on Wolfe Grade, he said, where one blocked the westbound lane most of Saturday on the West Slope of the hill.

ROAD CLOSED

The Fairfax-Bolinas Road was closed by washouts on the western slope. A slide closed the southbound lane of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard a half mile south of Inverness yesterday. It was cleared, then a second slide closed the lane there again this morning.

In Kentfield, minor flooding was reported in Granton Park, with Laurel, Cedar and Locust Avenues today.

In Fairfax, city public works crews labored in the rain to build a bridge over a portion of Upper Cypress Drive washed out by landslide a week ago. They hoped to finish the job today.

In San Rafael, Public Works Director Norris Rawles reported some flooding starting in the Bret Harte Area. Raw sewage was reportedly overflowing on the sidewalk by the Marin County Health Department at Fourth Street and Grand Avenue.

In Novato, Warner Creek overflowed its banks early today, with worst flooding occurring along Diablo Avenue and South Novato Boulevard.

In Tamalpais Valley, a tree fell at 7:30 a.m. today, blocking the 500 block of Marin Avenue for about a half hour.

There were two major power failures over the weekend, according to Z. P. Melcon, electrical superintendent for Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

At 10:30 p.m. Saturday, trees fell across power lines blanking power to 900 customers in the Kentfield area. Power was restored by 11:42 p.m., he said.

A car driven by Ronald W. Curran, 35, of San Jose struck a power pole at Tiburon Boulevard and Avenida Miraflores at 10 p.m. yesterday, blanking power to 2,200 Tiburon Peninsula customers. All but 300 customers along the boulevard had power restored by 10:57 p.m.; others had to wait until 3:08 a.m. today, Melcon said.

In San Rafael, the rainfall in the 48 hours to noon today was 3.69 inches, pushing the total for the season to 40.53.

Rainfall for other areas for the 48 hours to 8 a.m. today included: Ross, 4.67; Larkspur, 3.76; San Anselmo, 3.86; Woodacre, 3.58; Point Reyes Station, 2.83; Bolinas, 2.19; Mill Valley, 2.92; Sausalito, 1.92; Terra Linda, 3.8; Hamilton Air Force Base, 2.13; Novato, 2.9.

Storm Damage Near $1 Million

Storm damage to private property in Marin will go over $1 million, County Disaster and Civil Defense Coordinator James V. Burdick said today.

Burdick's office is collecting estimates of losses to present to engineers from the state disaster office, who are to inspect the county tomorrow to see if it should be declared a disaster area.

At noon today, Burdick said there had been reports of $775,000 in losses so far.

"Some of these are low estimates," he said. Reports were still coming in this afternoon.

Officials from the State Disaster Office will be at the planning commission chamber in the Civic Center at 10 a.m. tomorrow to gather evidence on flood damage, State Sen. John F. McCarthy reported.

Water Diverted; Pipeline Break

A water main broke yesterday at 6 a.m. on Miller Creek Road, Marinwood, but no services were affected, according to construction Supt. Hector P. Puccinnelli of Marin Municipal Water District.

The pipeline was sealed off and water was diverted from another line for the area, Puccinnelli said.

Turning to highway safety and beauty, Johnson said continued financing of these programs must be provided.

To accomplish this, he said, he recommends creation of a special highway safety and beauty trust fund to be financed with the receipts from two percentage points of the excise tax on new automobiles.

To develop the nation's resources, Johnson said the time has come to encourage the development of power from geothermal steam springs on federal lands, develop rapid excavation techniques to reduce the cost of underground construction, and examine nonfuel mineral needs.

And he called for steps to increase scientific knowledge of the resources of the sea. Johnson mentioned specifically efforts to develop economic and acceptable methods of converting fish protein into a usable source of food.

He said also he has asked the secretary of interior to cooperate with industry to find solutions to technical problems and to seek ways to reduce the cost of placing utility transmission lines underground.

Johnson renewed his recommendation for legislation to establish a national water commission with a view to insuring an adequate supply of pure water in arid areas like the Southwest.

Card Room Is Sought By Barber

A motel owner and a barber who "wants only to serve God" will add card rooms to their establishments if the San Rafael City Council approves their applications.

An application for an eight-table card room at 719 Francisco Boulevard in Bermuda Palms has been filed by owner Irving D. Litchfield..

And an application for one card table in the rear of his Bon Ton Barber Shop at 877 Fourth Street has been filed by Robert Hilberg, a barber who has refused to join the Barbers Union because he thinks its activities are contrary to the Bible and has said, "I want only to serve God."

The applications will go before the city council at its Feb. 6 meeting. City council approval is necessary for any card room to operate in San Rafael.

would bring the visitor promotion cost to $63,800.

To help lure business to Marin, he proposes a program of "business-oriented opportunities" promotion including $3,600 for a monthly newsletter, $5,000 for a brochure, $875 for business fact sheets and their binders, $1,250 for memberships in San Francisco Bay Area Council and California Chamber of Commerce and subscriptions to professional publications, $8,000 to city chambers of commerce "only for special projects of county concerns," and $3,000 for transportation, travel and miscellaneous. This totals $21,725.

Douglas says the county can continue the general procedure now followed in promotion through several organizations, give all its funds to one organization, expand the department of economic development to carry on the entire program, or create a promotion commission with power to spend money raised from the hotel-motel room tax.

"Continuing the same general procedure has not been successful," he declares.

NO PLACE TO GO WHEN THE RAIN FALLS

Perhaps because misery loves company, these robins huddled together as closely as they could while rain fell in San Rafael yesterday. Independent-Journal photographer Jim Kean got their picture as they clustered on electric wires in front of 15 Solar Court.

Death Row Escape Try Is Thwarted

Four condemned prisoners failed today in an effort to saw their way out of San Quentin Prison's Death Row.

The escape attempt was thwarted when one of the prisoners, Gregory Powell, 33, was seen walking outside his Death Row cell. Sgt. Francis P. Gaspar, a guard, telephoned an alarm and nine other guards recaptured Powell without resistance.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said Powell and three other condemned men, using hack saw blades, had cut through cell bars. Powell had left his cell to cut window bars when caught. The others remained behind.

The men had prepared dummies to leave in their cells by stuffing clothing with paper.

Once out the window, they had planned to climb the roof of the north cell block and lower themselves about 60 feet to the ground outside with a rope fashioned with torn sheets, Parks said.

Guards said they found hacksaw blades in the prisoners' cells. An investigation as io how they got there was launched.

Powell and a partner were convicted of killing a Los Angeles policeman. The three caught with him were Edmund Earl Reeves, 27, accused of killing a man during a Kern County burglary; Joshua Nicholas Hill, 22, convicted of the murder of a liquor store attendant during a Los Angeles holdup, and Charley Luther Pike, 33, convicted of killing a policeman during an auto supply store robbery in Los Angeles County.

They were placed in isolation cells after their capture, and will be taken to the district attorney and charged, Park said.

Warren Luster, Prison officer of the day, said most of the other Death Row prisoners slept through the commotion.

There are 62 inmates on Death Row. Only one, Dorman Talbot, 26, from Santa Clara County, who with several partners killed a young man for his Navy pay, is the only one whose death date has been set. He is scheduled to die in the gas chamber March 1.

San Quentin has been tense lately as a result of Jan. 18 violence when Negro and white inmates squared off for a racial battle in the main yard, in which guards had to fire riot guns and tear gas. Eight prisoners suffered gunshot wounds and seven others were beaten in the melee.

Passenger Hurt In Auto Accident

A passenger suffered a sprained ankle at 7:25 p.m. yesterday as two cars collided on rain-slick highway 101 at the Sausalito off-ramp.

A car driven by Elva Bowker Farr, 57, of 30 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, southbound on the off-ramp, collided with one driven by Earl Juno Parker, 39, of 35 Cole Drive, Marin City, turning left toward Marin City, according to California Highway Patrol.

Linden Daley, 19, of 30 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, a passenger with Mrs. Farr, was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Voter League Tells Views On Charter

The League of Women Voters of Central Marin today proposed that two more San Rafael city charter changes be added to the list proposed by a charter revision committee for the April 10 city ballot.

Mrs. H. James Compton, president, said the membership of the league felt the San Rafael Board of Education, "being an elected body, should fill its own vacancies."

"We believe the board of education is thoroughly competent to make such appointments, especially since the city council does not represent all the areas under jurisdiction of the board," she said.

The league also urged that the term of mayor be changed from two years to four years to "give a mayor a greater opportunity to be effective than is possible under today's two-year term."

Both the proposed changes were considered and rejected by the charter revision committee.

The league said also that "information of fiscal matters should be consolidated in the charter under the department of finance."

Mrs. Compton announced the league agreed with the revision committee's proposal for a strong city manager with duties spelled out in the charter. City councilmen last week said they preferred to merely include the city manager position in the charter and have the duties spelled out by ordinance—which can be changed by council action.

A committee of the league headed by Mrs. Joseph Turina has been making a study of the charter.

Margaret L. Sauer of Bermuda Palms complained to San Rafael police that someone stole her purse, containing $55, from the bar area of Bermuda Palms while she was cleaning there from 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Strong-Arm Robbery Suspects Arrested

Two Tamalpais Valley men were arrested by Sheriff's officers today for investigation of strong-arm robbery and assault with a deadly weapon upon an off-duty bartender during a game of "liar dice" in his Sausalito apartment.

Held in county jail were Gary Waldo Upton and Robert Gainer Fielding, both 26 and of 809 Spring Drive.

Deputies said Robert E. Helighe Jr. 30-year-old San Francisco bartender, suffered cuts over the right eyebrow and under his chin, swelling of both eyes, and several teeth loosened in the assault.

He declined medical treatment, they said.

They said the three apparently met in a Sausalito bar last night. When the bar closed, according to Helighe, he invited the pair to his apartment at 1 Ebbtide Avenue, for more drinks.

Helighe said he had won between $200 and $265 in a dice game when Fielding grabbed the money and refused to return it. Then, he said, the pair knocked him down and kicked him several times in the face, then left with the money.

Fielding and Upton went to Sausalito headquarters voluntarily and reported the fracas.

Novato Boy, 17, Reported Missing

Darrell Richard Chase, 17, was missing today from his home at 2013 Shady Lane, Novato, and has not been seen since he left after a family argument at 10 p.m. Friday, according to Novato police.

Frank A. Compos, his stepfather, reported him missing. He described the youth as five feet nine inches tall, of slender build, weighing 135 pounds with brown hair and eyes. He was wearing a blue plaid shirt and tan or light green trousers when he left home.

Possible Jumper

Viola Todt of Vallejo, who abandoned her car at Vista Point last Wednesday may have jumped from the Golden Gate Bridge, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Miss Todt's sister, Mrs. Jack Phillips of Pacifica, told the highway patrol she had not seen Miss Todt since last Tuesday. Mrs. Phillips said her sister had been under psychiatric care.

Bagley's Chairmanship Is Feather In Our Cap

Sen. John F. (Jack) McCarthy of San Rafael, one of the senior senators in Sacramento and Senate Republican leader for the past seven years, has brought prestige to Marin in the upper house.

Now comes Assemblyman William T. Bagley, also from San Rafael, who has just been elevated to the chairmanship of the important Assembly Judiciary Committee.

Next to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, the Judiciary is considered one of the key committees. As chairman of Judiciary, Bagley is in line to represent the State Assembly on the State Judicial Council. It has been traditional that the chairmen of judiciary of both houses are assigned to the Judicial Council.

In his new post, Assemblyman Bagley gains state-wide stature in his legal profession because of his constant contact with officers and leaders of the State Bar Assn.

The State Bar always has a large legislative program, calling for bills to make substantive and procedural changes in the law and courts. As chairman of the Judiciary Committee, he will be handling a large portion of the State Bar's legislative program.

This is also the committee which will process most of the new Administration's legislation to strengthen the fight against crime.

Bagley has also been assigned to two other major committees—Government Organization and Revenue and Taxation.

The promotion of Marin's Assemblyman is a source of pride to the county and a personal feather in Bagley's cap.

Republican gains in the last election are reflected in the new committee assignments that gave the Republicans 11 Assembly committee chairmanships to 15 for the Democratic majority.

Our two Republican legislators have given us effective representation in Sacramento. Now, with Senator McCarthy in his eighth year as Republican leader and Assemblyman Bagley holding down a key chairmanship, we can be assured of an even more influential voice in the Legislature.

BURIED SKIERS HELPED BY TINY MAGNET

A tiny magnet is saving the life of many a skier caught in snow slides that roar down the steep mountain slopes of the Austrian Alps.

The magnet, carried on a string around the neck of a skier, is used together with a gadget that looks like a divining rod. It registers vibrations from the magnet, both on an instrument panel and by giving off a buzzing sound.

The transmission from the magnet can be picked up by the rod if the victim is buried under snow not more than 12 feet deep. Below that depth a person would be crushed by the weight of the snow.

Many skiers killed each year by the "white death" could be saved if discovered in time, rescuers claim.

Just as a tiny magnet can be instrumental in rescuing a life, so your personal efforts, however small, can have a similar effect.

They may be a decisive factor, in God's providence, in bringing hope into the lives of persons in desperate need either spiritually or physically.

"In great or small matters do not act amiss." (Sirach 5:15)

Keep me reminded, O divine Master, of the great value of even the smallest prayer, word or deed.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Reagan Expected Soon To Ax Office Of Consumer Counsel

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—One of the many difficult jobs a new administration faces is chopping out the deadwood accumulated by its predecessors. Gov. Ronald Reagan is finding plenty of deadwood and is paving the way for some forceful application of the ax.

One of the first dead trees to come under his scrutiny was the Office of Consumer Counsel. This office operated for a period of nearly eight years at a cost of more than a million dollars to taxpayers of the state.

ACHIEVEMENTS of the office, under the supervision of Helen Nelson of Mill Valley, were highly questionable, as far as value to the California public was concerned. In fact, in eight years of operation, there is a question as to whether it accomplished anything at all of meaningful import.

The office at one time did issue a statement advising the public that there was too much water in canned hams. It also issued a few brochures pointing out the amount of interest being paid on various types of loans, which most borrowers already knew.

NOW THE NEW administration is about convinced it wants to get rid of the office, and wipe it entirely from the processes of state government.

The administration thinking is not without some support from the public. The Better Business Bureau of Sacramento has urged the governor to discontinue the office. This bureau has had a good many years of experience in keeping the trade marts of the community in line for the protection of the public. And it has its counterparts throughout the state. So the question rises, what need is there for a consumer counsel?

But, getting rid of a state agency is not a simple matter of writing it off with the stroke of a pen. Once an agency is entrenched, and has its foot in the taxpayers' door, it takes some doing to wipe it off the books.

THE CONSUMER counsel is a sample of the deadwood which probably should be eliminated, but which will take some facts and figures to prove the elimination is in the public interest.

First, the consumer counsel, along with many other luxury state agencies, boards and commissions, is a legally constituted part of the state government. It was created by act of the legislature, which means, in effect, by act of the people.

A governor cannot write off what the legislature by law has created. He could, of course, withhold funds for the agency in his budget, but this would be a roundabout and questionable way of cutting any agency off at the pockets.

THE PROPER WAY to eliminate unnecessary and unwanted activities of government is by the body which created them, namely, the legislature. This appears to be the course the governor is attempting to follow in dealing with the office of consumer counsel.

To gather facts and figures for an evaluation of the worth of the office, he has appointed a new consumer counsel, to succeed Mrs. Nelson. This new counsel, Kay Valory, is hard at work at the present time going over the reams of material gathered over an eight-year period.

In due course of time, it is anticipated that a bill will be introduced in the legislature repealing the law which created the consumer counsel's office. And from the tenor of the legislature, as well as the financial situation of the state it's almost a safe bet the unnecessary agency will be chopped out.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

College Student Doubts I-J Integrity

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In your article of Jan. 10, you have once again demonstrated your fallibility, sir . . .

To begin with, there never was a "little Berkeley" rebellion at the College of Marin. You, I assume, coined that cute phrase to sell newspapers. However, if you had bothered to quote either me or anyone else accurately, you would have had to say something to the effect that what was occurring at COM was action designed to accomplish a redress of grievances—not a confrontation with the administration.

Second, the fact that you go on to misquote student body President Donna Ryan as saying that nothing was ever happening, as it was only myself who was aggrieved, illustrates what has graciously been called yellow journalism.

The President was not referring to the actions taking place on campus insofar as the grievances were concerned, but rather that there never was, nor was there intended, a rebellion at the College of Marin.

In Miss Ryan's justified denial of a potential revolution at the College of Marin, I wholeheartedly agree. It was you who inferred that there was a possible revolt on campus — not I, nor Miss Ryan, nor anybody else concerned with the affair.

Now, as far as my wanting to be Mario Savio, I can only conclude that you must possess a certificate in psychiatry; and, somehow, have corraled me for a goodly length of time, in order to proffer such an astounding analysis of my psychological desires.

As to your inference that I hedged in an interview about the feasibility of a petition, you are quite right. I purposefully stated that now is a totally unpropitious time to begin a concerted effort at influencing the Administration . . . I stated plainly that with finals coming on, nobody was in a position to engage in that type of activity.

Before you again call something either a movement or a non-movement, you had better do a little investigating . . . If persuasion is necessary that there was a good deal of faculty and student support for the actions that were under way, then I'll be only too happy to conduct you personally to at least 200 students and 10 to 20 faculty members who were interested and supported the proposed actions.

. . . You have demonstrated an acute lack of sincerity in your reporting, and have justifiably planted a seed of doubt in the minds of many about either your efficiency or your integrity.

The Trident Defends Image

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A recent story in the Independent-Journal headed "Trident Denied Sign Request; Image Rapped" reported that the Trident was denied a new sign by the Sausalito City Council and "told to do something about its public image."

We wish to remind the Independent-Journal, the Sausalito City Council and Sausalito Mayor Mel Wax The Trident's "public image" is cause for justifiable pride, not only on the part of The Trident, but also on the part of the entire Marin County community.

Critic Leonard G. Feather, nationally syndicated columnist, echoed the feelings of the press world when he described The Trident as "a spot that offers good music, fine food, a pleasant setting, picture window, a panoramic view of the Bay, seagulls and yachts—instead of smoke and gloom; The Trident offers too entrancing a setting to be stigmatized as 'a nightclub.' "

During the five years of its existence, The Trident has played host to Princess Irene of Greece, Lynda Bird Johnson, Sen. Ted Kennedy, Martin Luther King, Brooks Atkinson, Max Lerner, Maestro Josef Krips, Walter Cronkite, Max Rafferty, opera star Marie Collier, Norman Mailer, Consul General Adolpho Dominquez of Mexico, and countless celebrities in the world of cinema, theater and music.

On a continuing basis, The Trident has presented to Bay Area audiences such internationally renowned artists as Bola Sete, Bill Evans, Denny Zeitlin, Brasil '65, Vince Guaraldi and Jon Hendricks.

The accusation, as carried in the Independent-Journal, that The Trident is "noisy and garish" is grossly untrue; the atmosphere during the evenings often approaches that of a concert hall. We quote from the Philip Elwood review of Jan. 21 in the San Francisco Examiner: "Bola Sete's . . . sounds radiate from The Trident's glass bandbox as if to challenge the beauty of the twinkling lights across the Golden Gate. The midnight crowd is silent, attentive, lost in their dreams. . . . "

We submit that this reflects the real "public image" of The Trident, rather than the vague complaints of an infinitesimal, albeit vocal minority. We know that The Trident has won overwhelming acceptance among Marin County residents, who appreciate not only the prestige, but also the sizable revenue which this internationally known tourist attraction brings to their community.

Fluoridation Quotes Wrong

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Mrs. Helena Franklin has erred greatly in her letter to you regarding fluoridation of public water supplies (Jan. 25, 1967.) I must bring to her attention that there is no medical evidence whatsoever of any physical or mental harm occuring from fluoridated water supplies. Even in parts of the country where fluorine is abundant naturally in the water in much greater quantities than is ever necessary for caries reduction has there been medical evidence of harmful effects from it.

Expense is certainly no factor here either. The cost for one year of fluoridation in a water supply will be about ten cents per person. Certainly a low price to pay for the up to 60 per cent caries reduction in our children that it will provide.

She speaks of human rights and compulsory medication, etc. Does she realize that the water supplies are chlorinated to protect her from typhus and dysentery and various other diseases? Would she and others like her oppose the use of chlorine and other additives in water?

The people of Marin County will eventually vote in favor of fluorine in the water supply. Many, many other communities and even whole states have recognized the definite advantages of a fluoridated water supply. All Mrs. Franklin has to do is ask her dentist. Over 90 per cent in California are overwhelmingly in favor of it.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

THE WIFE of a doughty soldier in Vietnam wrote such a touching letter to her congressman, telling him how her home and family were going to pot without him, that the congressman moved Heaven and earth to get him back—and succeeded. What was his consternation when, running for re-election in November, he found this very returned soldier campaigning feverishly against him. "You are an ungrateful so-and-so," he told the ex-soldier angrily. "Me ungrateful?" was the heated reply. "Why didn't you mind your own business? Why do you think I enlisted in the Army in the first place?"

CORRIGAN CAME to the office with three teeth missing and a magnificent black eye. "I caught a drunk in the subway getting fresh with a beautiful young blonde and made him desist," he explained. "That drunk," observed an office-mate, "must pack a mighty powerful right." "The drunk didn't do this," Corrigan corrected him loftily. "My wife found out about the beautiful blonde."

The Real Stumbling Block To Negotiating With Hanoi

WASHINGTON — Why is Hanoi so unwilling to negotiate a settlement of the Vietnam war?

It seems to me that the answer emerges clearly from dispatches recently written by two newspapermen who have recently visited North Vietnam. The real reason is quite different from what Hanoi says it is.

Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times, for example, reports that the basic stumbling block to even a first step toward a Vietnam conference table is the question of confidence — each side's total lack of confidence in the other.

THAT IS THE stated reason given by North Vietnamese officials and evidently shared by Salisbury. But I submit that, if you read carefully the quoted statements which the North Vietnamese Premier made in the Salisbury interview and which Ho Chi Minh made to Bill Baggs of the Miami News, you will discover that lack of confidence in U. S. motives is not the stumbling block.

The stumbling block to negotiations is the fact that Hanoi is not prepared to accept an independent, self-governing South Vietnam — which is the only kind of negotiated settlement either South Vietnam or the U. S. will accept.

OBVIOUSLY, distrust on each side for the other is a factor which makes it more difficult to get negotiations underway, but it is certainly not the real barrier. The real barrier is the substance of a future settlement and the statements which the Hanoi officials made to both Salisbury and Baggs prove this to be the case.

Salisbury summed up one aspect of his interviews in these words:

"Hanoi's fear is profound that all talk of conferences and peaceful agreements as a way of ending the war is likely to mean tricks that will . . . destroy what Hanoi regards as the political domination in the South of the National Liberation Front or Viet Cong.

There is the stumbling block to negotiation.

THE NORTH Vietnamese government is stating in so many words that it is wary of any and all peace talks for fear that it would not yield to the Viet Cong "the political domination in South Vietnam" which it demands.

This is a valid fear. Certainly South Vietnam and the U. S. are not going to negotiate away the independecne of the nation or give "political domination" to the Viet Cong unless the Viet Cong can achieve dominance by peaceful participation in free elections. Thus far the Viet Cong have spurned any part in free elections. Instead, they resorted to force.

Both Salisbury and Baggs quote Hanoi officials as making another point which, they say, makes peace talks uninviting.

President Ho said: "We will never surrender our independence and freedom for the sake of peace in our country."

But nobody is asking North Vietnam to surrender its independence or is seeking to destroy its independence—unless by "independence" President Ho means the right of North Vietnam to take over South Vietnam.

IF THE U. S. were seeking to destroy the independence of North Vietnam, it could have done so long before now.

The U. S. has never suggested that the independence of North Vietnam would at any point be a stake in a settlement of the Vietnam war.

Thus, it becomes clear, I think, that Hanoi's refusal to talk peace does not come primarily from distrust, but rests visibly on the determination and the hope that it will find some way to establish, in Mr. Salisbury's words, "the political domination in the South" by the Viet Cong.

If there be misunderstanding here, then I have one suggestion: Why not a conference to explore the possibilities of peace talks?

INSIDE WASHINGTON

U.S., Russ Unite On China's Health

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Despite the U.S.-Soviet stalemate over Vietnam, Secretary Rusk and Ambassador Dobrynin have found common ground for conducting talks on the growing turmoil in Communist China.

These informal discussions, carried on under the tightest secrecy, revolve around a potentially highly dangerous "health manace" developing in China — the spread of Asian flu, pneumonic plague and cholera.

WITH THESE DEADLY diseases appearing in epidemic proportions in several northern and western provinces, U. S. and Russian officials are gravely concerned that the spreading civil disorder in China may turn that country into a massive incubator of epidemics.

As outlined in these talks, the threatening health hazard centers on the exodus of Chinese refugees, which is expected to greatly increase as the tumult mounts.

While the Rusk-Dobrynin talks so far have dealt mainly with exchanging information, U. S. insiders report that possible "separate but coordinated" measures have been broached.

THE U. S. PROPOSAL would provide funds to be handled through the United Nations to countries bordering China to set up better quarantine programs in dealing with refugees.

Another proposal by Russia would make available to Peking, through either third parties or the U. N., drugs and medical teams to keep the epidemic diseases from getting out of control.

While the discussions have been largely exploratory and nothing resembling an agreement has been reached, they are continuing. In referring them to assistants, Secretary Rusk characterized the conferences as "very much worthwhile," and expressed the belief they would lead to concrete action by the two countries.

One reason U. S. authorities are intently watching China's epidemics is the growing number of U. S. troops in Vietnam and Thailand.

If the diseases spread south to these countries, they could do more damage than the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

Russia is faced with an even more immediate health danger. It has thousands of troops on or near its far-flung borders with Red China.

SHUI-SHENG, a Red Guard defector, the most important to flee China, has told intelligence authorities that the flu epidemic in the northern provinces has already spread into adjacent Soviet areas.

A Red Guard officer, Shui-sheng escaped to Macao after five days of flight from police, dogs and other pursuers. He reported that anti-flu masks have been issued to the Red Guard and army units in an effort to curb the spreading disease, but so far to no avail.

The State Department has finally partially confirmed reports that Russian and Cuban engineers are digging a network of tunnels near this country's heavily fortified naval base at Guantanamo.

This column first disclosed these operations last September.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RICK LYTTLE

Chris Kelly Wants To Learn About Newspapers, Government

Should Chris Kelly ever decide to enter the newspaper field, I fear that I will not be able to take much credit for it. I may have even scared him off.

Chris, 12, is a seventh grader at Miller Creek School. He and I did the beat together Friday morning at the Civic Center.

It soon became obvious that Chris should be in the newspaper field. His questions were much more probing than mine.

FOR INSTANCE, he wanted Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino to tell him exactly what the county counsel's office did. Chris' dad is an attorney, and Chris pressed the question pretty hard.

This prompted a very lengthy answers from Godino. He said that even some attorneys just out of law school had no idea of the functions of a county counsel.

This was a question I have long been reticent to ask, but Chris kept probing until he had an answer. We need people like that in the newspaper business.

"What has all this got to do with the newspaper?" Chris asked Godino next. I was a little stunned by then, but the friendly Godino came up with something about matters of interest to the public. It was a good answer.

IN THE COUNTY planning department, I had the burden of explanation. The best way I could put it was by asking a question myself.

"You wouldn't want someone to build a hot dog stand next to your house, would you?"

Chris thought about this for a moment before allowing that a hot dog stond would probably not be too good.

"Well, the planners," I explained, "are here to see that such things as that don't happen."

We did not get into housing density, slope policy and planned development projects.

Chris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Kelly of 34 Mount Whitney Drive, Upper Lucas Valley, was not there in search of a vocation. He was there to put together a report for his English teacher, Miss Joan Tibbetts.

HE HAD ALREADY read a book on newspapers, but said that traveling around on a beat was better than trying to get information out of a book.

We did not get to the welfare, assessor, treasurer-tax collector, purchasing and economic development offices. Not that we avoided them, it was just that a good deal of time was needed to explain that the operation of one of the I-J's bureaus was only a small part of the paper's total effort in collecting the news.

I offered to take Chris down to the main office in San Rafael where the paper is put together, but by noon he was patting a pocket full of notes and said he figured he had plenty.

FOR ME THE experience brought home the fact that both newspapers and government are a lot more complex than they were in Ben Franklin's day. It will take a new generation of reporters and editors to try to keep up with it all.

I sure hope Chris gets a good grade on that English paper.

My Uncle Oscar Is Willing To Accept U.C. Presidency

WASHINGTON—When President Clark Kerr was fired by California's Board of Regents last week, I immediately got a call from my uncle Oscar.

"I hear they're looking for a new president for the University of California. You know anybody out there I can speak to?"

"Gee, Uncle Oscar, what credentials do you have to become the president of the largest university in the country?"

"WHAT CREDENTIALS did Ronald Reagan have to become governor of the state??" he said hopefully.

"That's different, Uncle Oscar, and let's keep politics out of this. The beautiful thing about the university system in California is that it remains above politics. Now what are your qualifications for the job?"

"I saw 'King's Row,' 'Brother Rat' and 'Knute Rockne' three times. I'm one of Reagan's biggest fans. I still choke up every time I see a rerun of 'Death Valley Days.' "

"I'm sure the governor will be very pleased to hear it, Uncle Oscar, but he has a great deal of respect for education and he would't hire someone to run his school system just because the person was a movie fan."

"I SHOULD HOPE not," Uncle Oscar said. "A state university system is a very serious thing and they should get someone who knows how to handle kids."

"Now you're talking Uncle Oscar. What is your feeling about California students paying tuition to go to school?"

"I not only think the kids should pay tuition, but the teachers should, too. You're not going to have a balanced budget in California unless the professors pay their own way."

"That's pretty radical, Uncle Oscar. There are very few schools in the country that require professors to pay tuition in order to teach."

"WELL, JUST because they've been doing it one way for so long is no reason why they can't change. You have to get the money for the schools somewhere."

"There has been a lot of unrest on California campuses in the past few years. Do you have any idea how you can do away with it?"

"I'd build up a strong university police force. Instead of putting all that money into new buildings and research, I'd put it into police equipment — you know, amored cars, riot helmets, tear gas masks and things like that. You get enough cops on campus and the students will run for the hills."

"THAT'S PRETTY strong medicine."

"Well, they did it at the universities in Argentina and you don't have any student unrest down there."

"That's a point," I said. "What would you do to encourage a strong, independent faculty?"

"What's that?"

"Well, in order to have a good university system you've got to attract brilliant men who believe in what they're doing."

"I'D GET CONTROL of the library. If you have the key to the library, nobody's going to mess with you."

"You make sense, Uncle Oscar. Now there is one more thing that everyone's going to insist on, and that is that the University of California must be kept out of the political arena. How do you plan to do this?"

"I'll do away with the student government for a start."

"Okay, Uncle Oscar, I'll pass on your application to the Board of Regents, but I wouldn't count on your getting the job."

"Why not? Who else are they going to get?"

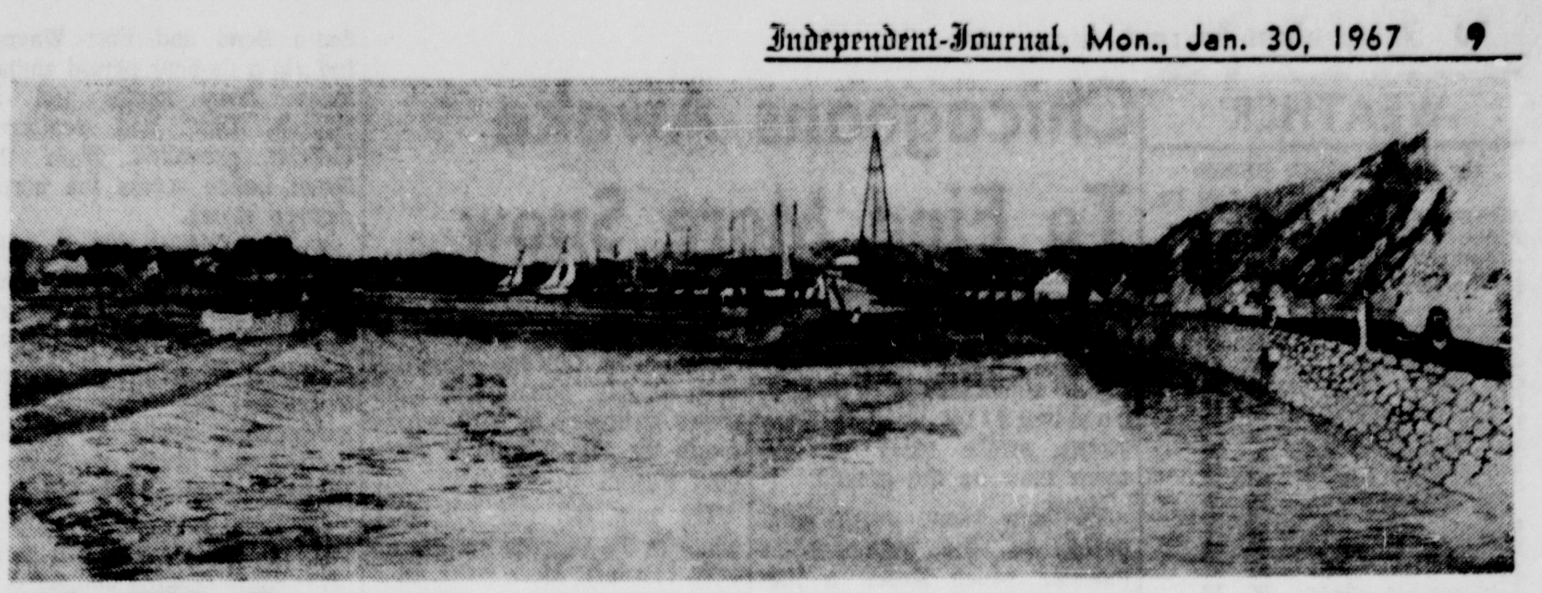
BEFORE DEVELOPMENT—Bolinas Lagoon looking northwest from Shoreline Highway as it appears today in a sketch by Marin County planner Darryl Coneybeare.



AND AFTER—The same spot as envisaged by Coneybeare if development proposed by Bolinas Harbor District takes place. A seawall, right, reinforces new road.

Opposition Has Day At Bolinas

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Two planners employed by Marin County, but appearing in what they explained was their "professional capacity," provided the rallying point Saturday for conservationists opposing plans to develop Bolinas Lagoon.

But apparently unwilling to tread on too many tender toes, county chief of advanced planning Albert Solnit stressed he and colleague Darryl Coneybeare were not about to cause trouble.

He told a standing-room-only meeting called by Bolinas-Stinson Beach unit of the Marin Conservation League to oppose Bolinas Harbor District plans development of the lagoon: "We are not here to stir up anything in the way of a confrontation between the county and the harbor district, although at the staff level, some of us do differ with points in the plan."

NOT BOARD'S VIEW

Several times he pointed out the two planners did not represent the view of the county board of supervisors, which has yet to make a decision of the controversial project. It has been placed in "freeze" until next month to allow time for the county and harbor district to study precise details further.

Trouble there was not. Only one minor outburst caused a surface ripple on what otherwise was a calm and smooth meeting in the Bolinas Community Center.

One boat owner was shouted down when he asked what right the county or anyone else had to overide "the majority of the taxpayers in the community" who had said they wanted a boat harbor in the lagoon.

ADVERSE FINDINGS

Unlike debates of the supervisors and planning commission who heard both sides of the lagoon argument, Saturday's meeting concentrated on a reiteration of the adverse findings of the plan prepared for the harbor district by Mill Valley achitect Norman T. Gilroy.

Solnit called Gilroy "a fine young architect although new at the planning game."

The concern of the county planners, he said, was centered on three main points: earthquake hazard, siltation, and preservation of wildlife.

Ground conditions in the area for certain buildings provide high risk, he considered, and if it is necessary to develop these sites "we should wait to see the extent of the precautions to be taken."

SILTATION PROBLEM

Siltation, he said, was a problem best tackled at its source and he could see no validity in the harbor district's contention that dredging was justified immediately.

Construction in the watershed which would herald a land development boom would accelerate silting in the lagoon, he said.

On wildlife, Solnit said the lagoon is a "rich treasure chest" for plant and animal communities. He did not envisage the area allowed for wildlife in the Gilroy plan would insure the maintenance of the lagoon as a natural habitat.

Solnit, who has a cabin near Stinson Beach, added: "These issues are only secondary to the real issue of what is the quality of the environment we want to end up with.

"We believe that this is the central question on which we shall soon have to make a choice."

CHALK DRAWING

Fellow planner Coneybeare, a former Australian seven months in Marin, said he thought Bolinas unique not only to the county, but also to California and the rest of the country.

He unveiled sepia chalk sketches of his projection of how the lagoon would look before and after development. The "before" drawings drew applause, the "after" projection hisses and laughter.

Coneybeare admitted some people had told him the "after" sketches made the area more attractive. "It doesn't really matter which you prefer," he said. "We have tried to see the change."

He disclosed his own preference later, however. "We are losing something we cannot create," he told the audience. "Are we prepared to pay the price of this sort of development?"

Youths Arrested In Fatal Beating

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Eight youths from two teen gangs here are under arrest today, charged with the brutal beating-death of a man at Ocean Beach last weekend.

Police said there are six or seven more still to be picked up.

The arrest of the eight came after two boys, picked up by police yesterday for glue-sniffing said in the rear of a patrol car, "If these punks knew what we did at the beach last week they'd show us more respect."

Police questioned the pair at the Hall of Justice and subsequently arrested the other six. All are members of either the Eureka Valley or Noe Street gangs.

James N. Stoltz, 35, a file clerk, was found on a shoulder of the Great Highway last Sunday with massive head injuries. He died two days later.

Cushing Plans Latin America Retirement

BOSTON, (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston says he will retire to Latin America when he reaches age 75, and expects no opposition to his plans.

The cardinal has said in the past that he has asked to go to Latin Amerrica but was turned down by superiors.

"I've had it," he told more than 2,000 priests, nuns and laymen gathered in his honor. "The great liberals of today's Church have no sense of humor."

Cardinal Cushing, who will be 72 in August, said the Pope "won't dare to say no" to the retirement, because "nobody's understood me since Pope John XXIII."

In Latin America, he said he plans to be a father confessor to priests and nuns, "because I'm the easiest confessor in the Church," and serve as a "challenge to United States bishops to send more priests to Latin America."

Cardinal Cushing tossed aside a prepared speech in favor of the impromptu remarks at the closing assembly Saturday night of the fourth annual conference of the Catholic Inter-American Cooperation Program.

Health Center Report Is Due

The Marin Hospital District Board will consider revision of the district's contract with the county on financing the Community Mental Health Center today at 6 p.m. in the Coral Room at Marin General Hospital.

Ray K. Bolinger, hospital administrator, said the board will consider revising a section of the contract which specifies that additional costs in building the center, beyond the estimated costs, will be divided equally between district and the county.

The board may appoint someone to replace Judge Hadden W. Roth as director.

Regional Government Need Is Agreed Upon

By DAVID DIETZ

SAN FRANCISCO—Bay Area legislators and public officials agreed Saturday on the need for a regional government, but differed on the speed with which it should be formed.

Three, including Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce, urged prompt creation of a regional body, while State Sen. J. Eugene McAteer of San Francisco sought support for his bill to create a legislative study commission on the plan.

'TOWN MEETING'

The opinions came out at the Bay Area "town meeting," sponsored by the League of Women Voters of San Francisco and the Urban Life Institute of University of San Francisco. About 350 persons attended the seminar in the university's Phelan Hall.

Bruce, a member of a panel that included Sausalito Mayor Mel Wax as moderator, said legislation forming a regional government should be passed this year.

He acknowledged that its initial form might comprise only a federation of local governments, but felt that a timetable should be developed for election of representatives under the one-man, one-vote concept.

Bruce also urged:

1. That a plan be devised to absorb existing regional districts handling specific problems.

2. That the electorate be permitted to decide whether the body once formed, should take on additional authority.

3. That restriction be placed on the regional government in order to maintain the "character" of a locality.

4. That a revenue-raising plan be adopted that "would do more than cover the administrative costs and study expenses" of the proposed body.

5. That housing and transportation problems be tackled first by the regional government.

Agreeing with Bruce were San Francisco Mayor John F. Shelley and Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose.

ENDORSES BILL

Shelley endorsed a bill introduced by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, which would turn the Assn. of Bay Area Governments into a regional government body. ABAG asked such action last month.

Warning against creation of more special-purpose districts, Shelley said:

"If more were formed, we will find ourselves confronted with a state-dominated, uncoordinated and fragmented supergovernment."

BEGIN NOW

Vasconcellos, co-author of the Knox bill, sparred briefly with McAteer, whose legislation would require a study commission to report on the form of regional government in January, 1969.

"This will not wait endless years," Vasconcellos declared. "We should begin hearings now, and get going on the local level, at least."

Retorted McAteer: "We have to go to the people first and win their support of this plan. We need their willingness to support another tax. We're not ready for legislation. There is a need for extensive investigation and exploration.

CRITICAL OF ABAG

McAteer also was critical of ABAG for recommending speedy enactment of a regional government bill, while unable to agree over the form the body should take.

Earlier, Don Fazackerley, vice president of the San Francisco Bay Area Council, urged in a keynote address that the plans of Knox and McAteer be joined in a regional government try.

Kerr Reports On His Ouster

NEW YORK (AP) — Clark Kerr, fired as president of the University of California, is quoted in this week's issue of Newsweek magazine as saying the move to oust him began late last year and that Gov. Ronald Reagan's role in his dismissal was "very substantial."

Newsweek quoted Kerr as saying in an interview:

"There was a strong suggestion from a close supporter of Gov. Reagan That I resign prior to Jan. 1. And the governor privately met with some of the regents the week before the action was taken."

Lighted Matches In Deposit Box

Someone dropped a lighted book of matches into the overnight deposit box at Crocker-Citizens National Bank in the Corte Madera Shopping Center yesterday about 1 a.m., according to Corte Madera police.

B. A. Sill, assistant vice president of the branch bank, said the matches went out without doing any damage. Someone called police at 1:24 a.m. to report that smoke was coming from the box, but Sill told police the box had a time lock and could not be opened.

Redwood Students Plotting Overthrow Of Peking Regime

By LOUISE NEMSCHOFF

Redwood High School Student

Ten Redwood High School students are plotting a strategic overthrow of the Communist regime in Peking.

Sound ridiculous? Maybe. But this is the task of the 10 student delegates representing the Republic of China in the high school Model United Nations.

University of California at Berkeley annually sponsors the Model U.N., designed to parallel the real U.N. as closely as possible while giving students a look at other points of view. Each participating school is designated to represent a country and then is given nearly a year to research that country's policy.

At this year's assembly, to be held Feb. 9, 10 and 11, in Berkeley, Redwood delegates Peter Birdsall of Tiburon, Bob Foster of Greenbrae, Sue Girtler of Tiburon, Scott Hansen of San Rafael, Roger Klemm of Corte Madera, Jim Lazarus of San Anselmo, Louise Nemschoff of Kentfield, Ed Schimberg of Corte Madera, and two observers to be chosen later, will represent the Republic of China. Defending this precarious position is quite a change from last year's role as Albania.

A feature of Redwood's Model U.N. is a current world problems course open to the delegates and other exceptional social studies students. The class is a seminar based on student research and discussion projects. "It's an extraordinary learning experience. We research topics and then discuss (or argue) them," remarked delegation chairman Jim Lazarus.

This year's China delegation at Redwood finds both staunch allies and sharp opposition in delegations from Marin County schools. Drake High School will represent the U.S.A.; Marin Catholic, Bolivia; Terra Linda, the Netherlands; San Domenico, Denmark, and Tamalpais, both Lebanon and North Vietnam observer delegation. San Rafael, Novato and Tomales are not participating.

New active cases of tuberculosis in the U. S. number about 50,000 yearly.

Boys, Parents Due Questioning

Seven San Rafael teen-age boys and their parents will meet with police tomorrow to discuss incidents of Saturday afternoon, when four of them allegedly stripped a 16-year-old girl and the other three retaliated by beating them up.

The boys reportedly pulled the pants off the girl, claiming they had won a game of strip poker. She called her boy friend and he and his friends allegedly beat the four.

Police said the girl was not raped and none of the boys required hospital care for his wounds.

Guitars Stolen

Marc E. Tuel and George J. Trenchard told San Rafael police yesterday that their two guitars, worth $585, were stolen from an apartment at 99 Clark Street sometime Friday.

Two Nations Investigate The Bombings

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The United States and Canada put diplomats and investigators to work today to discover who plotted the pre-dawn bmobings of six Yugoslav diplomatic missions in the two countries.

Terrorists, believed by Yugoslav officials to be expatriate Yugoslavs opposed to the Communist rule of President Tito, placed bombs outside the embassies in Washington and Ottawa and set off explosions at consulates in Toronto, San Francisco, New York and Chicago in highly coordinated attacks that took place within a one-hour period Sunday, beginning at about 3:30 a.m. EST.

There were no injuries directly attributed to the blasts, but a New York fireman died of a heart attack while inspecting damage and a child was thrown from his bed by the embassy explosion in Washington.

Police were guarding all Yugoslav missions in both countries today.

Special Meeting Called On Slides

The San Anselmo City Council will have a special meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. to consider further action necessitated by the continuing storm, particularly in the slide area on Red Hill.

Chicagoans Awake To Find More Snow

CHICAGO (UPI) —Midwest residents who strained resources and backs to clear away just a semblance of a record, community isolating snow storm, awoke today to find more snow on the ground.

The new snow, gentle compared to the million-dollar monster which struck a life-stalling blow at northern Illinois, northern Indiana and southern Michigan, began yesterday.

An additional three inches of snow fell on Chicago yesterday even as city, county and state crews struggled to mak eroads ready for this morning's rush-hour traffic.

The new fall ran the snow depth in the Chicago area to an even two feet. More snow, on a hit-or-miss basis, was forecast for today.

An inch of new snow fell on South Bend and Fort Wayne, Ind., in a six-hour period ending today. Two inches fell at Dayton, Ohio and scattered flurries prevailed from the Great Lakes across the northeastern states.

Wind storms struck the Pacific Northwest, toppling trees, smashing windows and downing utility lines yesterday.

The toll from the worst nsow ever to hit Chicago and surrounding areas of Illinois, Indiana and across the lake in Michigan, continued to mount.

Losses in wages and business profits due to the storm were expected to reach a quarter of a billion dollars by mid-week.

The storm-related death toll climbed to 76. Thirty-nine of the deaths occurred in and around Chicago. Michigan counted 22, Indiana 8, Wisconsin 5 and Ohio 2.

More than 1 million Chicago area school children had classes canceled again today. Despite the fact main arteries had been cleared, the suburbs of Chicago and hundreds of individual neighborhoods could only be reached by long walks through and over drifts ranging to 10 feet deep.

Chicago's freeway system, second only to Los Angeles' in size, was basically useable. But city officials pleaded with commuters to leave their autos at home.

Huge Blaze Under Probe

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Fire investigators yesterday probed a blaze that destroyed a downtown warehouse and badly damaged three other buildings.

Damage in the Saturday night general alarm fire was estimated at $1 million.

The destroyed building belonged to the Pacific Pipe Co. A portion of the three-story structure had been rented to a decorator's supply firm. Several hundred imported commercial paintings were ruined there.

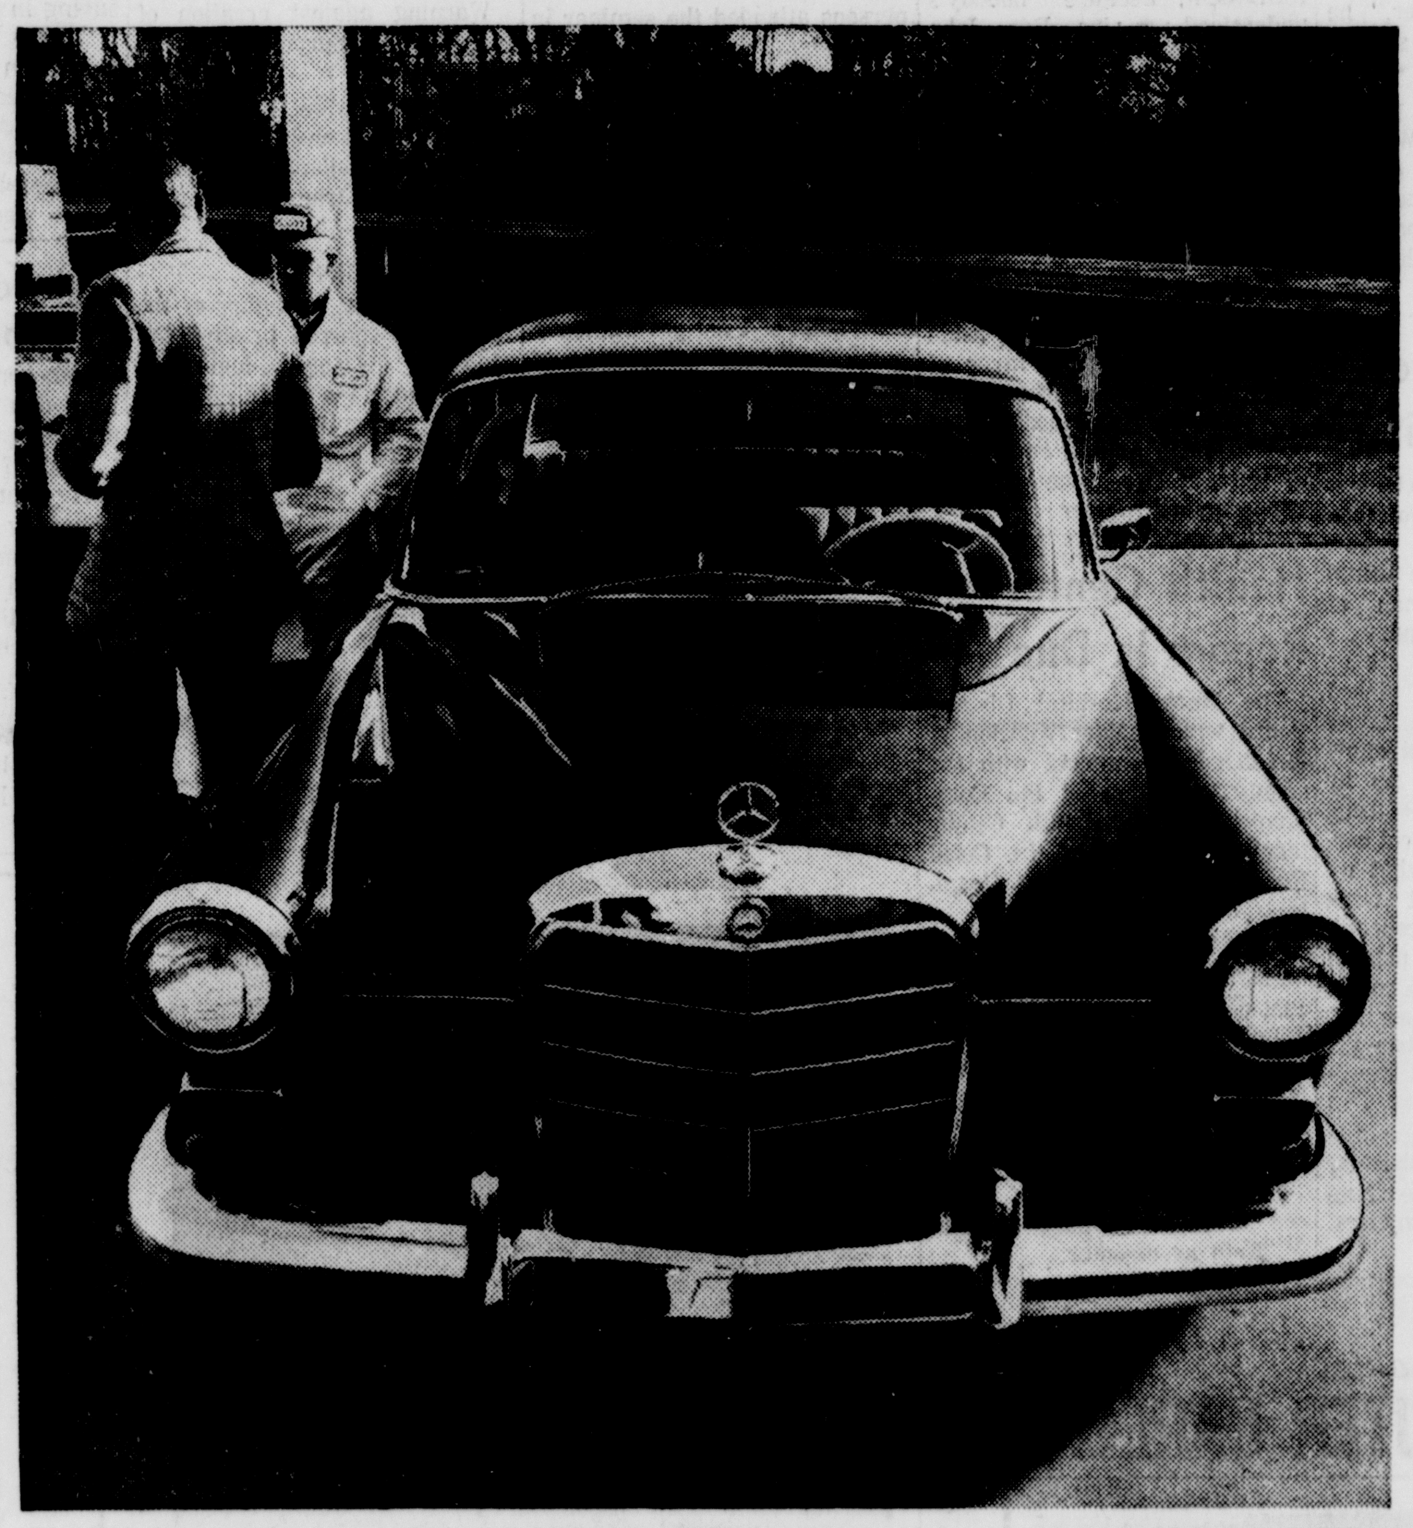
Why Mercedes-Benz has the nerve to charge $4418 for a car with a funny-sounding Diesel engine



Refuelling stops are rare with the Mercedes-Benz 200D—fuel consumption averages 30 miles per gallon of diesel fuel, and a single tankful can take you 500 miles.

The Mercedes-Benz 200D's "funny sound" means 30 miles per gallon of diesel fuel. No carburetors, distributors or spark plugs to replace. And an engine so durable you may measure its lifespan in hundreds of thousands of miles. All this economy—plus advanced features from front disc brakes to fully independent suspension—make the 200D a shrewd investment. For further proof, read on.

As over 500,000 Mercedes-Benz Diesel owners have found, this roomy $4,418* sedan offers more economy—over a far longer period—than flimsy little gasoline-powered "economy" cars ever could.

The secret: A Diesel engine that Mercedes-Benz engineers devoted 30 years to perfecting.

There's no more efficient power plant known—and it cuts costs so sharply that its "funny Diesel sound" is regarded almost with affection by Diesel owners.

Not that it's deafening—as CAR LIFE magazine reports: "Once under way, things quiet down and many unsuspecting passengers are surprised to learn that they've been riding in a Diesel."

Under the hood

Why should a Diesel engine make a different noise than conventional engines?

In a Diesel, fuel feeds through injection nozzles directly into the combustion chambers. Here, instead of spark plugs, compression heat ignites the fuel—with more than twice the force of an average gasoline V8.

It's this combustion that you hear—and its efficiency helps squeeze 30 miles from every gallon of diesel fuel.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $25,785* to $4,189*

About diesel fuel: It's cheaper than gasoline in most areas. It's obtainable at thousands of outlets, wherever diesel trucks fill up.

And it actually helps lubricate working engine parts—thereby reducing friction and wear dramatically on piston rings and cylinder walls.

Still more savings

Diesel economy stretches beyond fuel consumption figures. This unique engine uses no spark plugs, no points, no distributors or carburetors—so you'll never shell out money for replacements. And due to fundamentally different operation, the Diesel engine's prime parts are built far stronger.

Diesel durability is legend: of the more than 500,000 Mercedes-Benz Diesel passenger cars built since 1936, over 87% are still running.

With decent care, your 200D should still be smoothly humming along when other cars are being chopped up for scrap.

Ask an Alaskan

Mercedes-Benz Diesels are familiar sights in Alaska, Asia and wherever the terrain is rough. The car is rugged, yet you ride in blissful comfort over any surface.

Mercedes-Benz engineers long ago discovered the advantages of a fully independent suspension—an ingenious means of coupling fierce road grip with jolt-free riding ease.

Durability throughout

The 200D is built throughout to standards aimed at a long, trouble-free life.

Durability begins with the body shell—a taut, heavy-gauge steel "unit" structure. Ten thousand spot welds squelch squeaks and rattles. A 24-pound primer coat, plus 24 pounds of permanent undercoating, stifle the creeping menace of corrosion.

Before painting, skilled workmen shave away every burr and blemish from the body. Then the 200D receives two enamel coats—the first coat wet-sanded, the second sprayed by hand.

Staunch brakes

When you stop in the 200D, you stop smoothly and straight. Time after time, from any speed even on gravel roads.

The two major reasons: (1) 9.9-inch front disc brakes and finned, turbo-cooled rear drums that supply excess stopping power for this 1½-ton machine; and (2) four-ply, super premium-grade tires designed to "dig in" on braking as they claw the road in cornering.

Note: The 200D's brakes are power-assisted as standard equipment. There's no extra charge for a 4-speed transmission with floor shift, either.

Chairs, not seats

From inside, it's hard to detect the 200D's economical nature. You're cradled up front in separate, deeply upholstered chairs that orthopedic physicians helped design for minimum fatigue on long trips. The contoured single rear seat measures a full 5 feet wide.

A built-in ventilation system admits constant fresh air while whisking away stale air—with windows shut. Thoughtful extras are plentiful, from an electric clock to rear seat armrest.

A word on safety

Mercedes-Benz has received widespread publicity about its safety engineering achievements over the past several years.

Work continues to make Mercedes-Benz cars even safer, both in avoiding trouble, and in protecting you if trouble should occur.

For sane drivers, Mercedes-Benz cars can help reduce the hazards of driving—without dulling its pleasures.

But however well engineered it may be, no car can entirely defend against the show-off, the drunkard, or the neurotic bent on self-destruction. Safety depends on you, too.

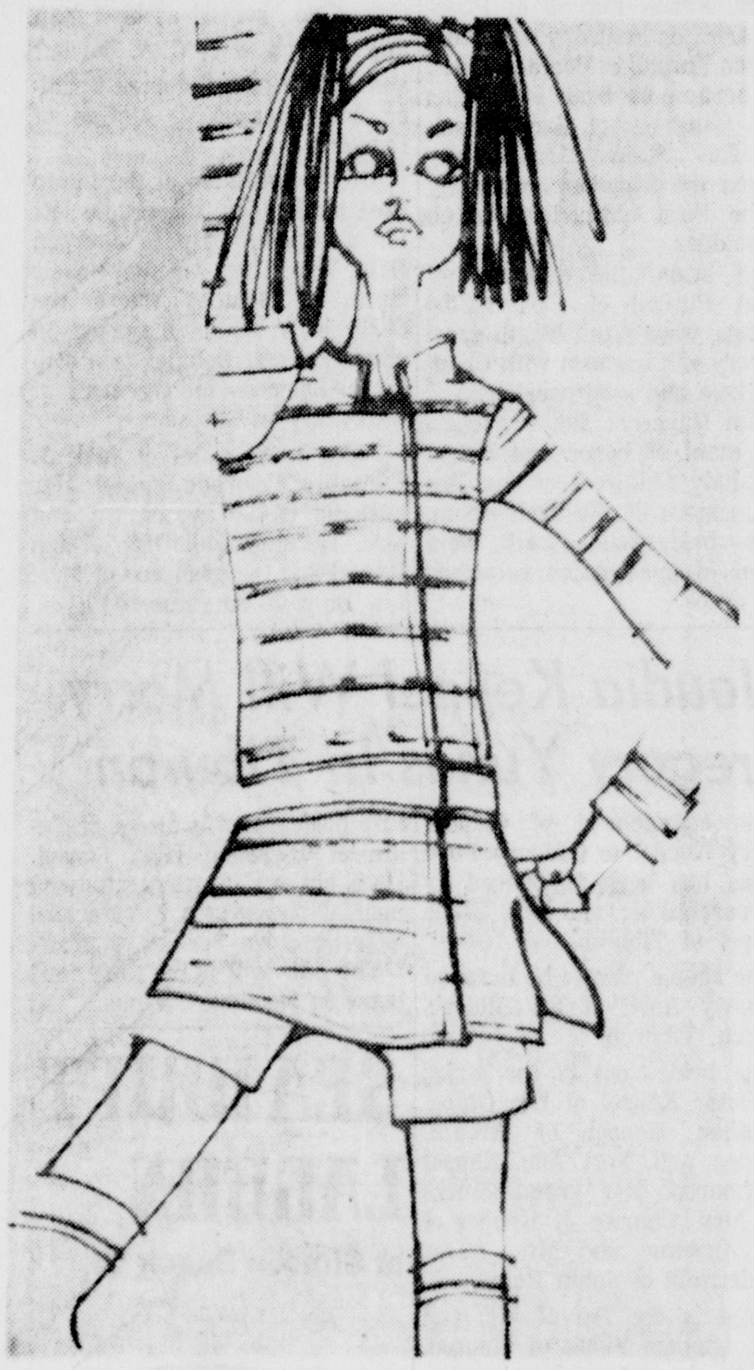
Marin Women



COCO CHANEL presented an evening suit, left, in a 'molten' gold lame and straw fabric in her 1967 spring-summer collection in Paris. It has a wrap-over skirt and long slender high-collared jacket with bracelet-length sleeves. The suit at right is in bouton pink and white stripes with the jacket edged in solid pink linen. Pink straw Spanish sombrero with pink carnation under brim completes the elegant ensemble. At lower left, Emmanuel Ungaro showed a short culotte with horizontally striped jacket. High socks cover the knee.

(UPI and AP Wirephotos by cable from Paris)

Mini-Skirt Rude Word—Chanel

PARIS (UPI)—Skirts were short but definitely flared as the French high fashion showings ended their first week.

Among the top deisgners on today's schedule were Ungaro, Capucci and Heim.

There was a lot of room for disagreement in Paris with more than 30 houses showing collections over the more than 10-day span of fashion shows. But the general idea that has emerged so far is that skirts are going to stay short and that they need flares and flounces to liven them up.

ON FRIDAY NIGHT however, the two poles of the fashion scene did not meet.

Coco Chanel presented a collection that was the eternal Chanel—a world in which the mini-skirt is a rude word.

At the other extreme, Pierre Cardin set a mood that was science fiction compared to Chanel.

His skirts were short and among the most flared in Paris. Legs were sheathed in textured and tinted stockings. Hats were shaped like flying saucers.

LARGE CLASPS served as closings on his clothes when zippers would not do. When zippers did the job, they were of the big, industrial variety.

Although the looks were different, Chanel and Cardin shared a fondness for navy blue and white.

Emmanuel Ungaro went the mini-skirt one better. he eliminated skirts, as such, altogether.

Kneecaps were covered, with high, white, elastic - topped socks. Above the socks a good five inches of bare leg appeared.

CUFFED BERMUDA briefs and for later in the day an occasional full bloomer leg were visible. Then, moving upward, the dress, or coat—no longer than a tunic—came into view.

The Bermuda briefs or bloomer legs drop five or six inches below the tunic coat, suit, or dress.

Ungaro has a special cut followed almost throughout the line. The front is usually white, often straight, and dome-like sides cut on the bias are beautifully encrusted.

WAISTLINES AT Ungaro's depend on his fancy. Generally they are somewhere around the hips but one striped coat with smock yoke and flapped breast pockets has the white belt placed well down on the seat.

Ungaro plays with tattersal checks and with stripes throughout his collection. A thigh-length navy and white tunic slashed at the sides has a white military collar, striped sleeves, white briefs, white socks, for sports.

A FIRST IN MARIN

Friday's performance of "Champagne Complex" began a six weeks' run at the dinner theater in the L'Escalier Room of Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael. Scanning the program just before the presentation were, from left, Mr. and Mrs. John Hackney, Mrs. Judith Granat and Arthur Dettner Jr. Cocktails preceded the 7 p.m. dinner in the upstairs room.

Nance-Sibbald Rite Held At St. Paul's

The Rev. John Thornton officiated at the wedding of Kathryn Louise Sibbald of San Rafael and John Parker Nance of San Jose which was held on Saturday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in San Rafael.

Kathryn, the daughter of Col. (ret.) George N. Sibbald of San Rafael and the late Dorothea Sibbald, was given in marriage by her brother, Jerold Sibbald of San Rafael.

For the 11 o'clock ceremony, she wore a full length Empire gown of off-white silk brought from China by her mother.

Wearing an Empire gown of aqua satin and crepe was maid of honor, Patricia Joan Sandler of Novato. Bridesmaids Janice Listman of San Rafael and Lynn Sliney of Terra Linda wore matching gowns.

John McRae Dyson of Kentfield acted as best man and ushering were Kit Volandri of San Rafael and Harley Miller of San Anselmo.

After a reception at Tiburon Tommie's restaurant, the couple left on a wedding trip to Yosemite National Park. They will make their home in San Rafael.

The bride, who is also the sister of John Sibbald stationed with the U.S. Army at Ft. Knox, Ky., is employed with Pacific Telephone employment office in San Rafael. She was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Nance of San Anselmo. He is the brother of Thomas Nance of San Anselmo who served as acolyte in the wedding. A graduate of College of Marin, John is a junior majoring in business and industry at San Jose State College.

IN A MOD, MOD MOOD Mesdames Melvin B. Tyler, John Pelkan, Mark Mullin and Michael Demetrios prepare for a "Happening" to take place Wednesday at the Belvedere Tennis Club. Carolyn Pelkan, running for Mardi Gras queen, has planned the event in support of her candidacy. The Belvedere woman is one of 11 Bay Area hopefuls who are vying for the crown which one will wear at a gala ball on Feb. 7. All the activity will benefit Children's Hospital.

Candidate From Belvedere Plans Club 'Happening'

Belvedere's candidate for Mardi Gras queen is Mrs. John Pelkan, who has arranged a "happening" from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Belvedere Tennis Club on Wednesday.

The new San Francisco Jazz Band will play, cocktails and canapes will be served and guests are invited to improvise their pleasures in the spontaneous spirit of a "happening." Mrs. Pelkan is accepting reservations for the event, which will benefit Children's Hospital. Carolyn is one of 11 young Bay Area women entered in the Little Jim Club contest, which will climax on Feb. 7 when the winning queen reigns over the Mardi Gras Ball at the Palace Hotel.

Carolyn, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoefer of Belvedere, has already had some experience with this kind of activity, because she was selected Sweetheart of Sigma Chi in her undergraduate days at University of California. She followed a family tradition begun by her mother, the former Kay Foster, who was chosen Sweetheart of Sigma Chi when she was a freshman at the Uinversity. Carolyn has two little daughters, Jennifer, 5 and Julie, 1, so who knows where it all might lead?

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Only One Solution In Trying To Save This Marriage—Hard Work

DEAR HELEN:

Can you help a friend who is near suicide? She was married 12 years, had two children. Then she went to work for a ladies' man 20 years her senior. He flattered her into an affair, and when she found she was expecting a baby, she asked her husband far a divorce so she could marry him. The husband left, and only then did the other man tell her he was already married and he wouldn't marry her even if he were free.

After the baby was born, she took him to court to prove with blood tests he had fathered the child. Instead this ladies' man brought a doctor's signed report that he had been sterile for years.

The judge then awarded all three children to the husband, saying that if he couldn't keep them he should put them in foster homes. An adultress shouldn't have them, the judge decreed.

The husband has put the baby in a foster home. He insists it isn't his. The woman ended up without husband, lover or children. Is there any way she can get her children back?

—FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND:

I think she should work unceasingly to get her husband back—and with him will come the children. She asked for the divorce, so she should beg for the reconciliation. With the help of a marriage counselor, perhaps it can be arranged. —H.

PERSONAL TO "NEEDING HELP":

You can't tell a know-it-all anything, but maybe you can show him something. Each time he indulges one of his crudities, quietly leave, and take the company with you. You won't need to explain your absence. He'll get the point much faster if you're pleasant and agreeable otherwise — but gone, the moment his disgusting habits start.

H.

DEAR HELEN:

Several of my friends and I have received invitations to a joint pre-wedding party given for two girls. The mothers of the brides are giving the affair. Both weddings are on the same day but in different towns.

I have been invited to only one wedding. Should I bring a gift for both girls, as I only know one well? Her mother alone invited me. The other girls would like to know too. —H.R.

DEAR H:

Mothers of brides should never give a shower, where gifts are expected. You may bring a present to one or both girls as you choose, but this is not necessary at an "engagement party." —H.

DEAR HELEN:

What's wrong with a man who won't tell his wife he loves her? I think he does, but I need the words. I guess there are many wives like me. Am I right or wrong to be depressed when I never hear, "I love you"?

—WANTING THREE LITTLE WORDS

DEAR WANTING:

You're right to want those three little words, but wrong to be depressed at not hearing them. Most wives get their "I love you's" by osmosis.

Men, the nuts, think actions speak louder. Saying it embarrasses them. A few have learned the value of tenderness and spoken endearments — and they're treated like kings. Others consider this "unmasculine"—and their wives write to HHU. Some males will just never learn. H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

'What One Woman Is Doing' –Folksinger Judy Collins

NEW YORK (UPI)—Folk singer Judy Collins has a voice that makes the 20 year old want to go out and protest something, the 30 year old restless in his dark pin stripe and the 40 year old wonder what happened to those dreams of living in a Left Bank garret.

She's got enormous eyes as blue as the mountain lakes of Colorado where she grew up, long brown hair that falls straight to below her shoulders, and is a guitar-carrying member of the New Left who believes she has a message for American women: Take a stand in a "hypocritical society."

AS A FOLK STAR Judy is straightforward and matter of fact. She is not as well known as Joan Baez, but her concerts at cities and colleges around the country are usually sold out with little advance publicity. Her records sell well and she is popular in other countries.

At 27, in a day of pubescent teeny boppers, Judy is almost a senior citizen. Her career mirrors one of today's paradoxes—the performer who criticizes the system and makes a lot of money from a following of dissatisfied youth.

THERE ARE THOSE who might say a "message" singer who profits financially from the effort is not far removed from the "hypocritical society" Judy Collins delineates. From a teen-age singer in a Colorado club she has moved into the big time, with a manager, assistant manager and public relations representatives. She insists it hasn't changed her.

"They make things a lot easier for me," Judy comments as she tries to untangle her fly-away hair before a television show. "My friends are always going to get through to me. My business life is going to be handled with ease. They just make it easier to get other things done."

"Other things" include civil rights and anti-war work, as well as participation in the new left organization of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

"I try to do what I can for the SDS," she says. "I talk to the people involved. I try to raise money for them, and explain what they are doing when people ask. But I certainly don't go out and campaign for them."

JUDY WAS BORN in Seattle, Wash., and grew up in Boulder, Colo., where she studied classical piano and was considered a child prodigy. Then, at 16, she discovered the guitar.

"When I was 19, the manager of a local club in Boulder let me audition," she explains. "When I finished, he said, 'I hate folk music. I'm sorry your audition was such a great success, because the demand is so popular I'm going to have to hire you for $100 a week.' "

Today, Judy is restless to become a success outside the relatively secure mantle of folk music.

Last year she decided it was time to move on into orchestrated songs that she feels mirror current restlessness and revolt. Her guitar is being upstaged by flutes and violins and brass to back her singing of Marat-Sade's crushed rebels, the biting bitterness of Brecht and the weird suddenness of Bob Dylan.

"I DON'T HAVE the young rebel image," she insists. "In my songs I'm trying to make statements as a woman. My message is my music—what one woman is doing.

"I try to show the woman's place in a very, very messed up society. She has a responsibility besides being a wife and mother."

THE CAREER OF blue-eyed folk singer Judy Collins mirrors one of today's paradoxes—the performer who criticizes the system and makes money from a following of dissatisfied youth. "I try to show the woman's place in a very messed up society. She has a responsibility besides being a wife and mother," the singer believes. (UPI Telephoto)

New Voters' League Officer Studies Political Philosophy

A longtime resident of Mill Valley and member of the League of Women Voters since 1947, Mrs. John Giuliani steps into the role of president this month.

She fills out the term vacated by Mrs. Homer J. Hixon of Tiburon who resigned because of a possible move to Washington, D.C.

Gertrude Giuliani has held almost every position on the board of directors from secretary when it was the Mill Valley League, to first vice president and membership chairman. This was the office she held at the time of her appointment to the presidency of the Southern Marin League, which includes Tiburon, Belvedere and Sausalito as well as Mill Valley.

Educated in San Francisco schoos and at Heald's Business College, Gertrude has been a student in Dr. Henry Gardener's class of political philosophy at the College of Marin for seven years, showing her deep interest in current theories of government. She is currently planning candidates' nights in April and June.

She worked as a secretary for an insurance brokerage firm in San Francisco 11 years and for three years as a doctor's receptionist and secretary.

Because her husband heads his own business in the field of commercial art in San Francisco, the couple have been able to travel widely and plan vacations to coincide with their daughter's. Young Claudia is a statistician with the United Nations in Geneva. A multi-linguist, she first accepted an assignment in Rome upon graduation from the University of California.

At home the Giulianis enjoy reading books on foreign lands and viewing education programs on television. "I have never stopped studying and reading," Mrs. Giuliani says.

A major part of Mrs. Giuliani's time has been given to volunteer work. She has been a member of the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club for many years, served on its board several times and held a number of chairmanships and she has been a member of the Pink Ladies at Marin General Hospital, and active in the Community Church of Mill Valley.

Other new officers of the Southern Marin League are Mesdames Edward Boessenecker, second vice president; Lionel Farber, treasurer; and L. M. Wahlquist, secretary.

A graduate of Riordan High School in San Francisco and University of Southern California he is employed with a publishing firm in San Francisco. Mrs. Edwin F. Nicol of Alameda is his grandmother.

Although her family requires most of her time, Sandra Bartlett finds time for work with Guide Dogs for the Blind and a game of tennis.

Other new officers of the guild are Mesdames Ralph Livingston, vice president; Peter Rhodes, recording secretary; Colvin Livingston, corresponding secretary and Benjamin Yates, treasurer.

Rains-Valle Wedding In Terra Linda

St. Isabella's Church in Terra Linda was the setting on Jan. 15 when Ana Cecilia Valle of San Francisco became the bride of Richard Mervyn Rains of San Rafael.

Ana, the daughter of Mrs. Joaquin Valle of El Salvador, Central America, and Joaquin Valle of San Francisco, wore a full length gown of lace and satin with a mantilla veil for the 2 o'clock rite.

Adriana Choy of San Francisco, maid of honor, and Sue Richards of San Mateo, bridesmaid, wore gowns of green velvet and beige crepe.

Michael Rains of San Rafael served as his brother's best man and Kenneth Nunes of San Rafael ushered. A reception was held at the San Rafael home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Rains.

Following a wedding trip to Los Angeles, the couple will make their home in San Rafael where Richard is employed with The Photo Shop.

Ana is a secretary with Certified Insurance Co. Her sisters and brothers, Sonia, Carlos, Will, Cesar, Norma, Nelson, Mabell, Sandra and Jamie Valle, reside in El Salvador.

SUMMER PALS — Maudee Wilcutt as the girl in the apartment upstairs, catches the interest of Charles Auerbach, playing the man whose wife is away for the summer, in the Cove Players' production of "The Seven Year Itch."

DRAMA REVIEW

Cove Players Shine In 'Seven Year Itch'

By M. ELIZABETH JOHNSTON

The Cove Players are doing a bang-up job in their version of George Axelrod's "Seven-Year Itch" which opened at the Main Street Theater on Jan. 20.

It will continue Friday and Saturday nights through Feb. 11.

Chuch Auerbach fits perfectly the role of Richard Sherman, a nice-looking, basically conservative "husband-type" who is beset by the double temptation of his wife going away for the summer and the presence upstairs of a pretty, slim blond actress. The girl, played by Maudee Willcutt, looks beautifully blond enough to make the temptation believable. Auerbach as Sherman, publisher of 70-cent books, is funny, coy, embarrased and frustrated, without over acting.

Sandy Keppel turns in a good job as Sherman's wife, whom he suspects of "carrying on" with an old friend, Tom Mackenzies, played ably by Bob Salvos.

The script has been rewritten to localize place names. Instead of Sherman living in New York, as in the original play, he lives in San Francisco, and his wife is visiting Lake Tahoe for the summer, etc.

Dr. Brubaker, played by John Vigurs, has some very funny scenes with Sherman, in which the latter nervously tries to get some free advice on his problem from the famous psychiatrist, whose book, "The Scarlet Letter," Sherman is reading for publication. Dr. Brubaker objects to Sherman's boss wanting to update the book's title to "Sex and Violence."

Marianne Richardson, Claudio Keppel and Janet Jacobs appear briefly but also do well as Sherman's other female temptress, much of which appears to be in his imagination. The stream of consciousness scenes in which characters flash on and off stage, or are only heard as voices, are tricky and mostly come off with good timing, including the complicated lighting chores and costume changes involved.

"The "tea party" scene in which Sherman imagines the women in his life ara discussing him, while sipping tea in unison, is delightful.

The smallness of the theater and closeness of the actors help greatly in making the audience feel involved in the action as the play progresses. A scene in which a tomato plant crashes down from above gains real impact as it lands about three feet from the front row.

The play ends with a satisfactory solution to the summer romances, without being predictable or trite. In fact, the status of the relationship between Sherman and the girl upstairs, is not resolved until the last few minutes. The characters and their actions hold the interest until the lights blink out at the end (there is no curtain).

More Ready For Post Of Education

More aspirants for appointment to the San Rafael Board of Education appeared today.

Kenneth M. Proctor, insurance agent of 8 Bayo Vista Way, filed a letter of application with City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen for appointment to the board to fill out the term of Walter R. Castro Jr., who resigned last Tuesday night on advice of his physician. Proctor ran fourth in a field of four for election to the board of education two years ago.

Andersen reported he had also received a letter nominating John D. LaNoue from Rex T. Silvernale, a former board of education member. LaNoue, district manager of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., resides at 92 Oakmont Avenue.

It was reported that Paul L. Jones, area field director for the Civil Defense Administration, also would be an applicant for the position. Jones, who lives at 735 Las Collindas Road, Terra Linda, is a former Terra Linda High School Parent - Teacher Assn. president.

City Manager Andersen has asked that persons seeking the appointment file application by Wednesday. The city council has until Feb. 13 to fill the vacancy. If it fails to do so by then, the appointing power passes to the board of education.

Arts Interviews

Students from Marin County high schools will meet with a team of faculty members from California Western University's School of Performing Arts at San Diego for interviews and auditions for acceptance in the school. The faculty team will be at the San Francisco Hilton Hotel Tuesday through Friday.

Johnson Asks For Redwoods National Park

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress now faces a "last chance" opportunity to preserve California's great redwoods, President Johnson said today.

He asked that Congress establish a Redwoods National Park in Northern California to "preserve a significant acreage of these primeval redwoods."

"If we do not act promptly, we may lose for all time the magnificent redwoods of northern California," Johnson said in his message to the House and Senate proposing measures for "Protecting our National Heritage."

OTHER PARKS

Supplementing earlier budget proposals for 1968, Johnson called for creation of a redwoods park and three other parks. They included:

—A North Cascades park in Washington state to protect wilderness and recreation areas in that area. "This spectacular area of unparalleled mountain masses, glaciers, meadows and timbered valleys is close to major metropolitan areas and lies entirely within national forests."

—A Potomac Valley Park in West Virginia, Virginia and Maryland, along the Upper Potomac. "This park, creating a green and open spaces along the reaches of the Potomac would help make the Potomac Valley a model scenic and recreation area for the nation."

—An Apostle Island National Lakeshore in Wisconsin "to add a superb string of islands to our national seashore system."

RIVER SYSTEM

Johnson renewed his recommendation for establishment of a national scenic rivers systems and nationwide system of trails beginning with authorization of the Appalachian trial from Maine to Georgia. He also called for authorization for inclusion of Los Padres National Forest, Calif., into the national wilderness system.

The President asked appropriation of $142 million for the Land and Water Conservation Fund in fiscal 1968, about a third higher than a similar appropriation in the current fiscal year, to acquire additional land for recreational areas and thus combat rising prices for this type of land.

Truck Takes Wild Route

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A driverless truck careened wildly down a rain-slick Russian Hill street yesterday, coming to rest only after it grazed or sideswiped 13 parked cars.

A refrigerator that was placed on the truck's tailgate just before the vehicle began its free-roll remained standing throughout the incident.

Van operator Joseph Huba, 47, was at a loss to explain how the truck started rolling.

"When the truck started to roll, I grabbed it and tried to hold it back," Huba said. "I just thank God that no one was hurt.

Coins Are Stolen

Daniel J. O'Keefe of 331 Jewell Street, San Rafael, who had managed to hord away 80 Kennedy half dollar coins, now wishes he hadn't. The 50-cent pieces and other coins and cash for a $55 total were stolen from his home Friday by burglars who broke a rear window, police said.

CONCERT REVIEWS

String Section Lifts Orchestra

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Yesterday afternoon's winter concert of the College of Marin's 44-instrument community orchestra, directed by John H. Meyers, was the best we have heard from this group in the years we have been reviewing its performances.

The concert was presented in the gymnasium before a fair-sized audience despite inclement weather.

GOOD CONTROL

Certainly part of the reason for the excellence was the great improvement in the strings, especially the violins, which showed not only precision but expressive subtlety, fine control of dynamics and admirable rapport among the choirs.

And this wasn't an easy program. Myers evidently believes in selecting works that test the mettle of the players.

So often the first number serves as a warmup and sounds like one, but we especially enjoyed the opening "Consecretation of The House" Overture Op. 124 by Beethoven.

The second number, Symphony No. 5 in D Major by William Boyce — actually a concerto grosso with oboes and trumpets contrasted with the string ensemble—was notable for the fine work of these solo instruments, oboes played by Janet Cousins and Ray Pancost and trumpets by Paul Skvaril and Gene Stewart. The trumpets were better in the later passages than in earlier ones.

MILHAUD MUSE

New to us and hauntingly piquant in its harmonic structure was Milhaud's "La Muse Managere'' (The Household Muse), a piece evocative in its 15 sections of scenes and moods in Milhaud's own home. The woodwinds were outstanding in this, particularly some enchanting oboe playing by Janet Cousins. The pianissimo and long sustained legato of the strings were remarkable, too.

The three dances from "Nell Gwynn" by Edward German were very appealing because of their rhythmic vitality that was admirable supported by a strong bass line provided by the string basses.

No doubt much credit for the improvement in the strings in due to Charles Meacham, assistant conductor, who has been given this responsibility by Myers.

Youth Orchestra s Concert Shows Maturity And Training

Once again Hugo Rinaldi and the Marin Youth Orchestra have presented a concert that would do credit to a far more mature group.

It was performed last night in Angelico Hall by 81 youngsters from 20 schools, the largest Marin Youth Orchestra to date.

REAL PRO

What could have been a disaster in the first number, the first movement of J. S. Bach's Violin Concerto in A Minor, was prevented by the phenomenal poise of talented concertmistress Megan Roberts, 16, as soloist. When a string snapped shortly after she began playing, quick as a flash she exchanged violins with the nearest violinist and calmly resumed.

Amazingly sensitive was Delius's Symphonic poem "Over the Hills and Far Away," which was especially memorable for the soft, beautifully sustained blending of French horns and strings and some surprisingly strong cello work.

FINE SOLO

This piece and Mike Wellen's clarinet solo in Von Weber's Concerto for Clarinet and Orchestra were the high points of the evening. This 17-year-old boy is already of professional caliber, with great innate musicality, a fabulous technical facility and wonderful rhythmic sense.

Copland's "An Outdoor Overture" was played wiith verve and brilliance and was highlighted by a splendid trumpet solo by Bert Truax.

The finale, Bizet's "Carmen" Suite No. 1, successfully conveyed the dramatic excitement of that opera. There was an exquisite duet between the harp played by Cindi Jobse and flute by Linda Stein and some excellent passages by Mark Salkind, our nationally famous young oboist since his appearance Friday night on Leonard Bernstein's Young People's Concert, Mike Wellen on the clarinet, and Jaina Tegeler and Deborah Hoyt on English horns.

The whole performance was taped by Radio Station KKHI and will be broadcast on Feb. 11 at 9 a.m.—M.S.

Creative Dancing Classes To Begin

The spring term of courses in creative dance given by the Dancers' Workshop Company will begin Wednesday, according to director Ann Halprin of Kentfield. Information about the courses can be obtained by calling Mrs. Halprin.

The workshop will perform its version of "Parades & Changes" at 12:30 p.m., Feb. 15 in the main auditorium at San Francisco State College.

Film On China Is Tomorrow

Portuguese Surrender In Macao

MACAO (UPI)—Thousands of Chinese Communists danced in the streets of this Portuguese colony today celebrating the governments surrender to a list of demands dictated by Peking.

The Portuguese, under threat of a Red Guard invasion, capitulated yesterday to the Chinese demands which leave the colonial government little more than a figurehead to take orders from Peking.

In a room decked by a portrait of Mao Tse-tung, Macao Gov. Jose Nobre de Carvalho grimly signed a document bowing to demands of the Communists, who claim to represent the 250,000 Chinese of this six square mile enclave southwest of Hong Kong. There are only 5,000 Portuguese in Macao which became a colony in 1557.

The demands which Portuguese rulers agreed to accept included:

Admission of Portuguese "guilt" for the death of eight Chinese during riots in November and December; it revealed that officials involved —including the former military commander and police chief —had been sent back to Lisbon for trial. It also promised compensation to those injured and the families of the dead.

A promise to ship back any defector arriving fro m Red China and to banish all Nationalist Chinese agents from Macao. It revealed that seven Nationalist "spies" had been handed over to the Communists last month.

A promise also to ban all Nationalist organizations, flags, emblems, names or signs.

The document also pledged the release of 62 Chinese arrested during and after the rioting which began when police tried to prevent Chinese workers on Taipa island from building a school.

Window Shattered

A plate glass window at the Civic Center Post Office was shattered, probably by a bullet, Saturday night or early yesterday, the Marin County sheriff's office reported. Deputies estimated the damage at $300.

Wallenda Back

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Karl Wallenda, 62, the patriarch of "The Great Wallendas," will come out of retirement briefly to resume 40 years of high-wire walking, he said yesterday in Sarasota, Fla.

Code Of Ethics Urged By Church

DETROIT (UPI) —The president of the Lutheran World Federation urged yesterday enactment of a congressional code of ethics.

Rev. Frederick Shiotz, a Minneapolis minister who is also president of the American Council of Lutheran Churches, said, "It is clear that a good many other congressmen (than Rep. Adam C. Powell) have been delinquent —at least in this that they have spent the public's money for trips that have sometimes been other than necessary."

Court Sought For Taxpayers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sixth senators are cosponsoring a bill by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., to set up what would amount to a small claims court for taxpayers.

Under Magnuson's plan, made public during the weekend, two small tax court commissioners would be named for each tax circuit to decide disputes between taxpayers and the Internal Revenue Service over amounts ranging from a few dollars up to $2,500.

Historic Vote To Come Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The National Labor Relations Board will be watching the elections it supervises closely in February in a search for the 25 millionth U.S. worker to cast a ballot for union representation.

The board said during the weekend that it expects the big ballot be cast some time early in the month —just where nobody cares to guess. The 25 million milestone comes after 32 years of NLRB elections.

In order to avoid this sale, payment of the total amount above named will be required, together with the cost of publication made before such payment and the additional interest accruing up to the date of payment. Bond may be reinstated upon payment of amounts due, principal, interest, penalties, and fees, in the manner provided by law.

In the event of sale, such sale will include interest in addition to the above total amount due, accruing up to the date of sale, the cost of publication of notice of sale, and $1.00 for the issuance of certificate of sale.

No. 39855

Superior Court of the State of California for the County of Marin.

TAMALPAIS UNION HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT OF MARIN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, Plaintiff,
vs.
JOHN C. GAMM, et al., Defendants.
HERMANN SCHNEIDER, et al., Cross-Complainants,
vs.
COUNTY OF MARIN, et al., Cross-Defendants.

BY ORDER OF THE MARIN COUNTY SUPERIOR COURT THIS NOTICE IS DIRECTED TO ALL THOSE TRUST DEED INVESTORS WHO INVESTED IN THOSE TRUST DEEDS SECURED BY THE REEDLANDS UNIT NO. 5 REAL PROPERTY LOCATED IN THE CITY OF TIBURON IN THE COUNTY OF MARIN, CALIFORNIA, WHICH TRUST DEEDS WERE EXECUTED BY REEDLANDS, INC., AND SOLD BY LOS ANGELES TRUST DEED AND MORTGAGE EXCHANGE TO THE INVESTING PUBLIC, AND TO ALL OTHER PERSONS WHOM THIS MAY CONCERN.

YOU AND EACH OF YOU WILL PLEASE TAKE NOTICE:

1. That there are 200 trust deeds, each purportedly secured by a separate parcel of land in the Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property consisting of approximately 108 acres of land located in the City of Tiburon in the County of Marin, State of California.

2. That this action was filed as a condemnation action whereby the plaintiff school district seeks to acquire some 47.75 acres of land on the Tiburon Peninsula for the construction of a high school.

3. That the land sought to be condemned is a part of a larger parcel of land called the Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract. On or about March 9, 1959, Reedlands, Inc., issued some 200 promissory notes, each of which was in the principal sum of $2,342.86, with interest at the rate of 10% per annum and each of which was secured by a separate deed of trust purportedly covering a separate parcel within the Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract. These promissory notes and accompanying deeds of trust were thereafter assigned to the Los Angeles Trust Deed and Mortgage Exchange and were then sold to various trust deed investors.

4. That the legal description of the 108 acre Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property (including the 47.75 acres sought to be taken by plaintiff) is annexed hereto as Exhibit One.

5. That of the two hundred trust deeds covering property standing in the name of Reedlands, Inc., 108 purport to cover particular parcels which are entirely or partly in the area sought to be condemned and 92 purport to cover particular parcels outside the taking area. That certain of the trust deed investors have filed an answer and cross-complaint in this action purportedly on behalf of the entire group of investors in the 200 trust deeds.

6. That Hermann Schneider and the other trust deed investors filing said answer and cross complaint ask that this Court treat all of the holders and beneficiaries of the said 200 trust deeds equally, without regard to the location in the tract of the property purportedly securing any individual trust deed, and that the Court determine the fair market value of the 47.75 acres of property taken and the severance damages to the balance of the Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract and divide said sums equally among the owners, holders and beneficiaries of said 200 trust deeds after deducting the costs and expenses of this litigation, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

7. That Hermann Schneider and the other trust deed investors filing said answer and cross-complaint contend that this is the only equitable and fair distribution of the condemnation award and the severance damages, relying on the California Supreme Court cases of Chance vs. Superior Court (1962) 58 C. 2d, 275, and Hink vs. Superior Court, (1962) 58 C. 2d, 921. That said Unit No. 5 tract was never properly subdivided, and they therefore contend that the trust deeded parcels do not exist separately from the rest of the tract, as a matter of law.

8. That the Pre-Trial Conference in this action was held on July 25, 1966, and the Marin County Superior Court made its Pre-Trial Conference Order setting forth and defining the issues to be resolved by the trial of this action.

9. That the Court determined in its Pre-Trial Conference Order that for the purpose of trying the valuation phase of this litigation, that defendants Hermann Schneider, and the other defendant investors represented by attorneys C. Douglas Wikle, Walter Atkinson, David B. Boller, W. Alan Thody, Dell L. Falls, and Hill, Farrer & Burrill, properly represent the trust deed investors in the said 200 trust deeds.

10. That each of said trust deed investors has heretofore, on or about September 10, 1966, been mailed copies of each of the following documents setting forth the issues and controversies in this action, to wit:

(1.) Notice of Trial of Condemnation Action and of Hearing on Apportionment of Condemnation Award and Severance Damages.

(2.) The plaintiff's Complaint herein.

(3.) The Amended and Supplemental Answer and Amended and Supplemental Cross-Complaint filed by defendants Hermann Schneider, et al.

(4.) The Pre-Trial Conference Order in this action. You should have read these documents. If for any reason you do not have copies of these documents, they may be examined in the Marin County Clerk's Office in the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael, California, or you may obtain copies by requesting them in writing from the undersigned attorneys, Suite 1000, 650 South Grand Avenue, Los Angeles, California, 90017.

11. That by the terms of the Pre-Trial Conference Order, the Court also determined that the trial of this action would be held in two stages, as follows:

a.) The valuation phase, in which the Court or a jury would determine the value of 47.75 acres of property taken by the plaintiff, the severance damages sustained by the balance of the said 108 acre Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property, and the special benefits, if any, to the remaining Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property.

b.) The apportionment phase, which will be tried following the determination of the fair market value, and the total amount of damages. In this phase, the Court will determine who will be entitled to share in the award, and the amount to be received by each.

12. That this action was called for a jury trial of the valuation phase on October 10, 1966. After several days of trial, the attorneys for plaintiff and the attorneys for defendants Hermann Schneider, and others, agreed to recommend that this action be settled insofar as the valuation phase and the controversy between plaintiff and defendants is concerned by payment of $350,000 in cash, and entering certain agreements as to construction of improvements, which agreements will benefit the portion not taken and enhance its value by approximately $60,000. After extended negotiations as to the exact language to be used in the stipulation, which in large part was an engineering and design problem requiring consultation with engineers for each side, attorneys for plaintiff and attorneys for defendants have agreed upon a Stipulation for Judgment which contains a compromise and settlement of the controversies in this action between plaintiff and defendants. Attorneys for defendants Hermann Schneider, and others, have filed in this action their Application for Approval of Stipulation for Judgment Compromising and Settling Action.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that defendants Hermann Schneider and others have filed an application herein for an order that, upon entry of judgment, plaintiff shall pay the sum of $350,000.00 to David B. Boller, one of the attorneys for defendants Hermann Schneider, et al., as Trustee, or some other trustee nominated by defendants' attorneys and appointed by the Court, for deposit in an interest bearing account or in certificates of deposit in the United California Bank in San Rafael, or some other bank approved by the Court, upon such terms that no withdrawal from said savings account or certificate of deposit may be made except upon specific order of this Court with a certified copy of said order to be deposited with said bank prior to withdrawal, and that any and all withdrawals from said savings account or certificates of deposit must be on the dual signature of the said trustee and Joseph G. Wilson, Judge, of this Court.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that defendants Hermann Schneider and others have filed an application herein for an order that payment be made from the said fund of $350,000.00 to William C. Haley, M.A.I., and Ralph F. Clark, M.A.I., C.R.E., the real estate appraisers retained by defendants pursuant to order of this Court, of their appraisal and court appearance fees of $2,025.00 and $3,000.00 respectively, together with interest thereon, and that payment be made from the said fund to Bala & Strandgaard, the engineers retained by defendants pursuant to order of this Court, of their engineering and court appearance fees in the estimated amount of $4,765.00, together with interest thereon, or in such other amounts as the Court may determine to be due and owing.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the said Application for Approval of Stipulation for Judgment Compromising and Settling Action (which has attached thereto a copy of said Stipulation for Judgment), the said Application for Order Appointing Trustee and Authorizing Opening of Trust Account and Deposit of Funds, and the said Application for Payment of Appraisers and Engineers for Services Rendered, referred to above, are on file in the above entitled action No. 39,855 in the Superior Court Clerk's office in the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael, California, and may there be examined by all interested parties. All interested parties may obtain free copies of these documents by writing or telephoning the undersigned attorneys at their address below. IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN THIS ACTION YOU SHOULD READ THESE DOCUMENTS.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that each of said applications will be heard in Department No. 2 of the above-entitled Court located in the Marin County Courthouse Building, located in San Rafael, California, on February 24, 1967, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., or as soon thereafter as these matters may be heard, or on any other date to which said matters are continued by said Court at said time and place.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that at said hearings the Court will be asked to determine the fair market value of said property taken, and the amount of severance damage and special benefits, to be in accordance with the Stipulation for Judgment, and to approve said Stipulation for Judgment and to grant said applications.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that at the conclusion of said hearings commencing at the time and place aforesaid, this Court will set a date for the trial and hearing of apportionment proceedings pursuant to Section 1246.1 of the Code of Civil Procedure. That the Basic issues to be determined in these apportionment proceedings arise out of the contentions with respect to whether the trust deed investors are to be treated as a class and are as follows:

1. Whether the trust deed investors may properly be treated as a class in asserting their claims as defendants in the condemnation action, taking into account the factors normally governing the maintenance of class actions and the factual evidence pertaining thereto;
2. If, under the facts and circumstances of this case, the trust deed investors may properly be treated as a class do defendants Schneider properly represent the class defendants in the action;
3. Does the class consist of all trust deed investors who hold trust deeds on parcels of land formerly standing in the name of Reedlands, Inc., regardless of whether said parcels are inside or outside of the area sought to be condemned, or must the class be confined only to those trust deed investors whose trust deeds describe parcels within the area sought to be taken;
4. Assuming the class consists of all trust deed investors is there any basis for treating those trust deed investors who hold trust deeds on parcels inside the area sought to be taken differently from those holding trust deeds on parcels outside this area, or, should all trust deed investors be treated alike in the apportionment of the award;
5. Are there any individual trust deed investors who, regardless of whether a class is determined to exist, are entitled to be treated as not being members of the class and are therefore entitled to assert separate claims to a portion of the proceeds of the award based upon their claimed individual interest in particular parcels;
6. Are there any members of the class who under the facts of this case are entitled to be treated other than on a pro-rata basis in apportioning the award;
7. Should the award be treated as part of a common fund to be added to any proceeds eventually obtained from the foreclosure and sale of the entire larger parcel and thereafter apportioned among all the trust deed investors after deduction for litigation expenses and attorneys' fees as allowed by the court;
8. Should the award be apportioned only among those trust deed investors whose trust deeds cover parcels within the area sought to be taken and if so should there be deducted a proportionate amount for litigation expenses and attorneys' fees as allowed by the court, in this condemnation action;
9. The amount of the County of Marin's claim for unpaid taxes.

That in the event the court determines that there are individual trust deed investors who are entitled to be treated as not being members of any class there will then be a further hearing, which will be before the trial court or jury as the parties may request, for the purpose of placing a valuation upon any such separately claimed interests.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that at the said trial of the apportionment proceedings pursuant to Section 1246.1 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the Court will be asked to distribute the said condemnation award and damages equally among the holders of the 200 Reedlands Unit No. 5 trust deeds after deducting reasonable costs and attorneys' fees, and to enter judgment accordingly.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that anyone who desires to object to these proceedings or to said applications, or to any of them, or to any proceedings connected therewith, or who wishes to appear at said hearings or trial, and who can establish himself to be a person interested in the said Reedlands Unit No. 5 property, shall at the aforesaid time and place appear, and in the event of failure so to appear, will be deemed to have consented and acceded to the within action and to the granting of said application, and the proceedings in connection therewith, including the treatment of the holders of the 200 trust deeds as a class, and the above-entitled Court will enter its judgment and make its orders accordingly in this action, and will set other hearing and trial dates, and will establish attorneys' fees and costs to be allowed to counsel herein out of the funds recovered, and will make such other and further rulings and orders as it deems necessary or proper.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Court at the aforesaid hearings and continued trial will establish a time and a place for filing and hearing the applications for award of attorneys' fee and costs to those attorneys of record who represent defendants Hermann Schneider and the other defendant trust deed investors who purportedly represent the entire class of the holders and beneficiaries of the said 200 Reedlands Unit No. 5 trust deeds, namely C. Douglas Wikle, Walter Atkinson, David B. Boller, Dell L. Falls, W. Alan Thody and Hill, Farrer & Burrill. Said attorneys will petition the said court for award to them of reasonable contingent attorneys' fees payable out of the funds recovered herein, in a sum equal to 25% of all funds recovered, together with the reasonable costs and expenses. Said hearing on attorneys' fees and costs is to be held subsequent to the said hearings and continued trial at a time to be set at the conclusion of said trial.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Court at the aforesaid hearings and continued trial will establish a time and a place for hearing of an application by defendant Hermann Schneider and the other defendants represented by said attorneys for the refund to defendants of those costs of court and attorneys' fees thus far advanced by defendants to their counsel which are allocable to these legal proceedings and other proceedings regarding the Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property and contributed to the successful conclusion of the Reedlands Unit No. 5 litigation.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the individual trust deed investors need not be present at the said hearings and continued trial in order to benefit therefrom. However, if you have any objection to the proceedings, or to the applications or to any of them, or wish to present any evidence, or to make any contentions, or to be heard in any manner in connection therewith, you should file an appearance in writing with the Clerk of the Marin County Superior Court, located in the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael, California, not later than February 24, 1967, after having served a true copy by mail on Rockwell, Fulkerson and Clarke, 1330 Lincoln Avenue, P.O. Box 1257, San Rafael, California, attorneys for plaintiff, and after having served a true copy by mail on C. Douglas Wikle, Walter Atkinson, David B. Boller, W. Alan Thody, Dell L. Falls and Hill, Farrer and Burrill, at Suite 1000, 650 South Grand Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90017, attorneys for defendant trust deed investors Hermann Schneider and the members of the class of defendant trust deed investors represented herein. Your objections or contentions will then be heard in Department No. 2 of this Court at the hearings and continued trial commencing at 10:00 o'clock A.M. on February 24, 1967, in the Marin County Courthouse at San Rafael, California, or at such other time and place as may be set by the Court, at said time and place, or to which the said hearings and trial may be continued.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that said hearings and continued trial, or any of them, may be continued from time to time by the order of the Court WITHOUT ANY FURTHER NOTICE BEING GIVEN TO THE TRUST DEED INVESTORS.

A trust deed investor need not have fully paid for his trust deed in order to benefit from these proceedings, and should not make any additional payment thereon.

A trust deed investor does not need to have possession of his trust deed in order to be paid from the condemnation award or severance damages, if any, awarded by the judgment in this action.

Methadone Helping The Heroin Addict

NEW YORK (SS) — After nearly three years of preliminary testing, the drug methadone appears to have fulfilled its promise as an answer to heroin addiction.

Some 276 hard-core New York addicts treated at the Rockefeller University Hospital and Beth Israel Medical Center have lost their habits and none has returned to heroin — a 100 per cent success rating.

Methadone, a synthetic narcotic, acts by blocking the euphoric effect of opiates. Addicts thus get nothing from heroin and feel no desire to take it.

They must, however, be permanently maintained on methadone — 100 milligrams per day taken orally is the rate established by the Rockefeller researchers. But methadone lacks the toxic effects of heroin and once stabilized on the drug, addicts are alert, feel well and are apparently able to live completely normal lives.

Dr. Marie Nyswander, a psychiatrist on the methadone project, reports that 75 per cent of the male patients who have been on the program for six months at the end of 1966 were working full-time.

Of the women, 50 per cent were working or taking care of their homes. This, however, was not due solely to methadone. The drug relieved the addiction, but an excellent rehabilitation program put them back into society.

Most of the addicts came into the program with prison records, "tracks" on their arms, poor education and background, Dr. Nyswander reports in the January Bulletin, published by New York branches of the American Psychiatric Association.

Though they received no formal psychotherapy, the addicts did profit from a very small patient-staff ratio. Counselors helped them to find homes, jobs, educate them "in the ways of the world" and shared their successes and failures. By the end of the program's first year, most were working regularly or were in school.

Since the methadone project began in early 1964, only three addicts have dropped out, said Dr. Nyswander. The project itself dropped 24 for psychiatric reasons; violence, alcoholism or the use of nonopiate drugs.

To be admitted at all, the addicts had to have a long-standing heroin addiction, whie being free of obvious psychopathology. For these addicts, Dr. Nyswander believes addiction to be a chemical problem requiring medical, not a psychiatric solution.

Treasurer's Group May Oppose Measure

A portion of Assemblyman William T. Bagley's bill to revise the state inheritance tax appraisal system in California may be opposed by the California County Treasurer's Assn.

Marin County Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez returned today from a meeting of the state group in Sacramento. He said the move to do away with the appointed appraisers will not be opposed. At issue is the deletion of the offices of county treasurers in handling estates.

Fontez said the treasurers appointed a committee to look into this phase of the bill.

Johnson Delays Railroad Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has acted to delay until March 28 a possible strike of the nation's railroads by six shopcraft unions representing some 146,000 workers.

Johnson set up an emergency board late Saturday to look into the dispute which the National Mediation Board said "threatens to substantially interrupt interstate commerce to a degree such as to deprive the country of essential transportation service."

Drinks Champagne

Burglars with a taste for the good life broke into Kaye A. Keller's apartment at 45 Louise Street, San Rafael, last night. They consumed a bottle of champagne stolen from the refrigerator and used Mrs. Keller's telephone, police reported.

Saw Required On Handcuffs

Corte Madera police rescued a boy from his plaything Saturday.

Frances Miller of 14 Hickory Avenue, Corte Madera, took his son, Robert, to the public safety building at 2:30 p.m. in handcuffs. The boy had been playing with the handcuffs and lost the key.

Officers took the cuffs off with a bolt cutter.

A Sir Francis Drake High School student, who had been driving only two months, was injured Saturday at 4:15 p.m. in a two-car collision on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at the Nicasio Road intersection.

California Highway Patrol reported she was heading east on the boulevard and skidded into the rear of a car driven by William Thomas Hall Jr., 42, of Nicasio.

Condition Fair From Stabbing

Juidth M. Lenherr, 19, of 384-AMiller Avenue, Mill Valley, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with two abdominal stab wounds suffered Saturday at home.

Mill Valley police reported that her husband, Wayne, said she stabbed herself with an eight-inch carving knife as he left the house after an argument with her.

Slide Causes Two-Car Crash

A mud slide was blamed for a two-car crash on the Sausalito lateral that injured one driver at 6:10 p. m. yesterday.

The California Highway Patrol reported mud slid onto the road near the entrance to Fort Baker and Barry. As traffic stopped for the slide, a northbound car driven by Paul Robinette Doherty, 28, of San Jose was struk in the rear by one driven by Mervyn Alden Coughlan, 24, of Vallejo. Coughlan told the patrol he would see his own doctor for treatment of minor injuries.

Condition Better

Janice Lee Estelita, 30, of 100 Bryer Road, Kentfield, hurt Thursday night when her car blew a tire and hit a utility pole on Sar Francis Drake Boulevard near Cordone Avenue in San Anselmo, was reported improving and in good condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Money Taken

A burglar climbed through the window of the Tony J. Fagundes home at 16 Thomas Court, San Rafael, yesterday afternoon and stole $8, then made his getaway on a bicycle stolen from the Velma M. DeLeon home next door at 18 Thomas Court, San Rafael police reported.

Auto Stereo Taken

Horace R. White Jr. of 805 Diablo Avenue, Novato, complained to San Rafael police Saturday that someone smashed the wind-wing of his car to steal a $130 auto stereo unit and $54 in tape recordings at 135 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, Friday night.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Monday Syndrome Hints Rare Types Of Industrial Illness

VAN DELLEN

Raw flax goes through a long and dusty process to make the yarn from which linen is woven. The mill workers are prone to respiratory disorders such as byssinosis unless adequate precautions are taken. The Monday morning syndrome is the most characteristic of this disorder.

Within a few hours of his return to work on Monday, the victim develops tightness of the chest, shortness of breath and wheezing. The second stage occurs with continued exposure; the symptoms now continue over the week-end. The last stage is similar to chronic bronchitis and emphysema. continued exposure; the symptoms now continue over the week-end. The last stage is similar to chronic bronchitis and smphysema.

A GROUP of physicians from the University of Belfast in Northern Ireland found that more than half of those engaged in the preparation and carding of the fibers had byssinosis. The problem was not so troublesome to workers in less dusty departments.

Some of the flax workers who left the industry had residual breathlessness on exertion, because of permanent impairment of the lungs, although the majority improved considerably.

In this country byssinosis is rare because of adequate ventilation. The disease can and should be prevented. Men and women working in these industries may develop chronic bronchitis and emphysema not traceable to their occupation. This is true if they are heavy smokers or live in areas where air pollution is marked. They do not develop the Monday syndrome.

SUGAR INDUSTRY workers develop bagassossis. Bagasse, the residue in sugar cane after the sugar has been extracted, is used in the manufacture of wallboard, paper, and other insulating material. The disease is more acute than byssinosis. It resembles— pneumonia with shortness of breath, malaise, and fever and may be caused by fungi on the fibers or an allergy.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

SYMPATHY NAUSEA

Mrs. A. writes: Every time my daughter becomes pregnant I suffer from morning sickness even though I don't know about the baby until a few months before it is born. I also put on weight at this time and after confinement lose five pounds a week until I am back to normal. After having five of my own I don't see why I have to go through this misery again with my grandchidlren. My daughter feels wonderful and has her babies with no trouble.

REPLY

This phenomenon is well known among fathers-to-be, but your experience is unique as far as I know.

GRAY WHITES OF EYES

D. D. writes: Why are the whites of my eyes gray?

REPLY

Offshades of white are normal. On the other hand, definite grayness may be due to excessive medications containing silver.

PALE ON FAINTING

I. E. writes: Why do some people turn pale on fainting?

REPLY

Because circulatory collapse accompanies fainting. The capillaries cease to function and the skin becomes white, cold, and clammy.

PERFECT PRESSURE

S. P. A. writes: Is 112 blood pressure good or bad in a woman of 55?

REPLY

Perfect.

Today's Health Hint — The fatigued skier is more accident-prone.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Contracts Not Always Binding

Both parties are bound by the terms of a contract in almost every case. But there are exceptions. Although valid (not obtained by fraud, say, or not made with minors), a contract may still not be enforceable. An overriding "public policy" may modify its terms.

Since the early days, contracts that sought to excuse a business man from his own negligence were held to be against public policy.

An innkeeper, carrier, parking attendant, or repairman who tried to exempt himself as not responsible through a posted sign or an agreement could seldom enforce it. Nor could an employer abuse child workers, women, or handicapped persons with impunity by getting them to sign an agreement.

Often an unequal bargaining power forces someone to enter into a contract. Courts will look closely at such contracts. Any vagueness in a contract will be construed in favor of the person who was "forced" into signing the prepared agreement.

For example, take a ontract one might have to sign to rent a car. The lengthy agreement means little to the renter. Recently, Sam rented a car at the airport and signed an agreement which covered several things including car insurance. One provision said that there would be no coverage for the renter if the car was operated by a person other than the renter, his family, or his employee. Another said that he would not be insured if he is merely riding in the car and not driving it.

Sam was riding in the car's front seat while his friend, Jack, was driving. They had a fatal crash and Sam's widow sued Jack. Jack demanded that the rental insurance company defend the lawsuit. Refusing, the insurance company said that its policy had excluded Jack and Sam from coverage.

The California Supreme Court declared that clause in the policy illegal as against public policy. California's auto responsibility laws protect drivers who use another's car with permission. The rental company is placing cars into the hands of persons and making a profit based on the use of the car, often without regard to the actual operator.

Jack, driving with Sam's permission, would assume that insurance would protect him.

The rental company can not exclude itself from responsibility under such normal usage. Such an exemption from coverage would violate "public policy."

In another case a hospital which took in charity patients called upon each one entering to agree that he could not hold the hospital to blame for negligent treatment. An injured charity patient nevertheless sued the hospital. Again the court said that such an agreement was against public policy and could not be enforced.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Driver Treated

Evelyn Maria Barial, 23, of 92 Forest Lane, San Rafael, was treated for minor injuries Saturday at Marin General Hospital after her car spun off Highway 101 at the top of California Park hill about 9:15 a.m. and hit an embankment, according to California Highway Patrol.

In Fair Condition

Judith Ann Hutchinson, 25, of 2015 Bridgeway, Sausalito, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with scalp cuts suffered yesterday when her sports car collided with a parked truck in the 700 block of Bridgeway.

In Hospital

Emil Illich, 70, of 45 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera, was in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a "fever of undetermined origin, possibly pneumonia," a hospital spokesman said. Illich was taken to the hospital Saturday at 10:45 a.m. after Corte Madera firemen administered resuscitation at his home.

TV REVIEW

Enchanting Hour Look At Bay City

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —San Francisco has been paid many compliments, but few more enchanting than last evening's "Telephone Hour" on NBC-TV, a visual mood poem offering a montage of the city's sights and musical life.

The program was not only a rhapsodic piece of film, but was a high point for the "Telephone Hour" in its attempts at unifying the documentary and musical forms of entertainment.

LOVE FEAT

A gifted gentleman named Ed Speigel wrote, directed and produced the broadcast, and it was completely obvious that he and his staff are in love with San Francisco, which is a very easy thing to be because it is a city where people live the way that people ought to live. Mr. Speigel's sensitivity at projecting this civilized attitude enabled him to suggest more than the sights and music—to hint at what the city stands for at its best.

This suggestion was perhaps at its zenith during an electrifying segment in which a jazz saxophonist with a classical bent, John Handy, performed at an outdoor concert. The combination of the music, the wide range of spectators deeply involved and the artistic selectivity of Mr. Speigel in juxtaposing the various faces to help make his point was a remarkable bit of doing. The viewer also became involved, and happily got lost in the spell being cast.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

There was hardly any narrative in the hour. It didn't need much. I can't imagine a better American television film to send abroad.

Over the CBS-TV, meanwhile, "The 21st Century," a new, half-hour last evening series about the world of tomorrow, arrived as a successor to "The 20th Century," which presumably couldn't face the next 33 years, an understandable feeling.

I wish that every producer of educational television programs had watched the Sunday premiere, which dealth with the coming revolution in communications, for this was a first-class exhibition of how to make facts and learning come alive. The visual concepts, the actual illustrations of devices and the proper amount of showmanship supplemented the excellent script in a way that held the viewer's interest throughout.

This was particularly true in the case of a futuristic room that indicated how the home may well be a center for receiving news, attending school, doing research, watching entertainment—and for communicating with almost anyone about almost anything. There was also a perceptive sequence indicating how man may finally be making the machine his servant rather than master. The big question, of course, is what all this will do to the television ratings system.

Also yesterday, "CBS Playhouse," a series of occasional specials, had its premier with a 90-minute play entitled "The Final War of Olly Winter," a mildly interesting failure about a professional U.S. Negro soldier in Vietnam who is weary after 20 years of service.

FLASH BACKS

He gets separated in the jungle and has encounters with a lovely girl and a Viet Cong soldier. He has flashbacks, and here is the most touching part of the play: that a man who, with his family, has had such a rough time throughout life is still willing to be a professional soldier to defend his country. Other than this implicit point, however, the play had nothing extraordinary to say.

Another static CBS-TV disappointed yesterday was an hour reading of the works of Charles Dickens by Emlyn Williams. As with "The Final War of Olly Winter," one is tempted to be polite, but that never serves any real purpose. The Dickens show, alas, was one of those that one appreciates rather than enjoys. Mr. Williams is a splendid actor, but the hour had little change of pace, was monotonous and some of the Dickens pieces were quite boring.

ART SHOW

Not at all boring, however, was a one-hour NBC-TV tour of "The Royal Palaces of Britain," displaying the great art treasures within and going over some of the hsitory and tastes of the monarchs who lived in them. British art critic Sir Kenneth Clark was a more than amiable guide, and the program was genuinely rewarding.

The body of Maj. John H. Truesdale, 37, of the Presidio of Monterey, was recovered from the Truckee yesterday.

Soviet Leader Visits The Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny and Pope Paul VI today began an historic meeting that could lead to establishment of formal relations between the Vatican and the Kremlin.

The unprecedented meeting between a Pope and a Communist chief of state was described as "privatissima" (very private). But it was generally expected to cover prospects for peace in Vietnam and religious liberty in the Soviet Union.

Tiger Snake Farm Aiding Viet Soldiers

CANBERRA, Australia (SS) — A sheep rancher (grazier) who runs two sheep and dozens of deadly tiger snakes to the acre is helping Australia soldiers in Vietnam.

Some of the venom "milked" from the snakes is sent to jungle battle areas and shared by the Australian "Diggers", who must fight the reptiles, as well as the Viet Cong.

Australian tiger snake venom is so potent that an antidote from it is used successfully against most types of snakebite.

The grazier, Sylvester Smith, owns a 829-acre ranch on the shores of Lake George near here. It is rated among the most snake-infested country in Australia.

After the snakes are "milked", the venom is sent to the Commonwealth Serum Laboratories in Melbourne, where it is made into antivenim. The CSL supplies all antivenims in Australia to the armed forces and civilian health authorities.

More than 1,000 tiger snakes have been caught on the property. The average milking of a tiger snake tields 40 milligrams. It takes less than two milligrams to kill a big horse and even less to kill a man. When a mother tiger snake gives birth, she does it in style — between 40 and 50 little ones at a time.

Smith collects his snakes at night with a powerful torch and a pronged stick. He believes there are enough snakes to keep his supply going for years.

Mariners Explode To Wallop Lassen

College of Marin, the western division leaders by a mile in the Golden Valley Conference, won, 84-62, in one heck of a tight runaway against Lassen at Kentfield Saturday.

The Tars and Lassen were cheek to cheek and nip and tuck for 27 minutes of touch and go basketball before Russ Williams and Bob Phillips sparked an A-Bomb quality explosion that saw Marin reel off 30 points to Lassen's two in the space of seven minutes.

That happened with about 13 minutes left in the game. Until that time, Lassen's glue-tight zone, a cold night by Bill Pandiani and Russ Smith and the free-throw shooting of Lassen's 6-3 center Mike Turner, had made it a very close game, with neither team leading by more that four points.

Marin's biggest margin was four points early in the game while Lassen held as much as a three-point spread, at 39-36, early in the second half. Fittingly, the score was tied at the half, 28-28.

Bob Phillips took up the scoring slack out front, punching in 15 points in the first half to keep the Tars going.

Lassen was ahead, 42-41, when the heavy artillery buried them. Russ Williams came off the bench to hit 7 of 10 shots and that sparked the Tars sky-high.

The victory gave Marin a 7-1 division record.

PAUSE THAT REFRESHES FOR PREP CAGE QUINTS

It's non-league and faculty games tomorrow in the Marin County Athletic League as the seven teams take a pause that refreshes at the midway point of the loop basketball wars.

Marin Catholic, Redwood and Terra Linda take on non-league foes tomorrow afternoon, with the Marin Wildcats battling at Vallejo at 4 p.m., Terra Linda visiting powerful Petaluma at 3:45 p.m. and Redwood hosting a strong San Francisco entry in Lincoln at 4 p.m.

Drake and Novato take a genuine breather while still playing faculty teams at 4 p.m. Tamalpais and San Rafael are idle.

Friday, round two of the loop race begins with a rematch of Tamalpais and San Rafael at San Rafael while Novato visits Marin Catholic and Terra Linda is at Redwood. All games are at 8:15 p.m.

Cerrudo Named On Walker Cup Squad

Ron Cerrudo, 22-year-old golfer from San Rafael, a member of the U.S. World Cup golf team last year, now gets a chance to compete on the United States Walker Cup team.

Cerrudo, who was named Saturday to the 10-man Walker Cup team which will go against Britain at Sandwich, England, May 19-30, admits he had "high expectations" of making the team.

And his reasoning is sound. He was one of four United States amateur golfers named to the World Cup team, and 10 players are named to the Walker Cup team. He figured if he could get named to a four-man team, he had a good chance of making it on the larger Walker Cup delegation.

He said his experience with the World Cup team last October, his first international play, would help him in the Walker Cup team event. "But I'm still kind of a youngster in international matches."

"I enjoyed the team competition very much," Cerrudo said of his play for the World Cup title which went to Australia, a two-stroke winner over the U.S. team. "There is more pressure in team play. If you goof, it hurts the whole team, not just you. I even found myself trying too hard in the final round."

A former San Jose State College student, Cerrudo was runner-up in the Western Amateur Golf championship at Pinehurst, N. C., last August. The following month he finished in a three-way tie for second in the National Amateur championships. Less than a week later he was

SCOOP-BE-DO-BE-DO—As the big time columnists would report, I have it from an unimpeachable source that the 49ers will meet the Raiders at Oakland Coliseum on Sunday, Sept. 3—their very first inter-league engagement. Clip this item, paste it in your hat, and see just how unimpeachable my source is.

GUESSING GAME—Glue this one in your topper, too: the National Basketball Assn.'s All-Rookie team this season will be Walt Wesley of Cincinnati at center, Lou Hudson of St. Louis and Jerry Chambers of Los Angeles at guards and Archie Clark of L. A. and Dave Bing of Detroit at forwards.

MORE WOES — Forty-Niner General Manager Lou Spadia's headaches are just beginning.

Not only is he struggling with fullback Ken Willard's trade-me-or-I-quit edict, but Spadia can expect a similar demand from Charley Kreuger, another disenchanted Prospector.

Willard, by the way, works for Equitable Life Assurance Society and figures playing closer to his Richmond, Va. home would help him strike it rich in the insurance field. He recently pocketed a $3,000 commission for six weeks of work and figures he has found a gravy train.

Ken, by the way, earned $30,000 with the 49ers last season.

I don't know what Kreuger's beef is, but he wants out-out-OUT.

SNOW FOOLIN'—Hey, I want to join the Marin Ski Club.

I thought the schussboomers worried only about broken bones, but the Marin club's newsletter this month noted that "Breakage rate is high on highball and wine glasses at the lodge. Can you donate some that you're storing on the top shelf and not using?"

EYES RIGHT—Drake basketball star Chet Carlisle lost his contact lens during the game against Redwood Thursday night, so play was suspended for the great search.

Guess who finally found the built-in cheater and dutifully returned it to Carlisle? Redwood star Jack Fitzhenry.

As Carlisle went out to score 17 points and lead Drake to a 57-50 triumph, Fitz is getting razzed something awful these days.

Saldivar Retains His Title

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Vicente Saldivar proved to himself last night he is worthy of being world featherweight champion.

Saldivar, of Mexico, used a strong body attack and his "golden left" to demolish challenger Mitsunori Seki of Japan in the seventh round of a scheduled 15-round title bout.

The end came at 1:30 of the seventh on the order of the president of the Mexico State Boxing Commission as Saldivar pounded away at his helpless opponent.

A crowd of about 23,500 persons — almost all of them backing Saldivar — saw the fight in the El Toreo bull ring. It was also televised live to Japan. Saldivar weighed 125½ pounds and Seki 126, the division limit.

The champion, fighting in his hometown, said he wanted to prove to his supporters, and to himself, he could beat Seki badly. Saldivar won a 15-round decision over Seki in the same ring last Aug. 7, which was so close it left doubts in the minds of some about his ability to master the Orient titleholder.

This time Saldivar controlled the fight from the start and put Seki on the canvas in the seventh and with a left uppercut which left Seki spitting blood, groggy and unable to defend himself.

Seki was in trouble as early as the third round when the southpaw champ with the strong left hand connected with a series of left crosses that left the Japanese sagging at the round's end.

Saldivar, who said he wasn't trying for an early knockout, opened the fight with solid body punches. Seki, in the best condition of his career for his third shot at the featherweight crown, was obviously hurt by them.

The outcome was clear before the sixth round was a minute old. Saldivar, bleeding from the nose, scored with solid blows to the body and head which left the challenger wobblying back to his corner at the end.

Seki danced out for the seventh apparently refreshed. But he caught three right jabs, a combination and a left hook. He moved into the champ to clinch and, with his head at Saldivar's chest, caught the left uppercut he said he never saw coming.

The challenger fell halfway across the ring with blood pouring from two deep cuts inside his mouth. He was up by five, took the mandatory eight count and tried to cling.

But the Seki's left was too much, and even the champion admitted it was wise to stop the fight then.

Jack Lewis hit 18 points to lead St. Isabella to a 63-21 rout of Aldersgate Methodist.

MISS RICHEY WINS IN AUSTRALIA; ASHE BOWS

ADELAIDES, Australia (AP) — Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., won the women's singles title of the Australian Tennis Championships today, but Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., failed in his bid for the men's crown.

Miss Richey used a faultless display of baseline driving to upset favored Lesley Turner of Australia 6-1, 6-4.

Ashe fell before Davis Cup star Roy Emerson of Australia 6-4, 6-1, 6-4.

Miss Richey, playing terrific tennis, broke Miss Turner's service in the third, fifth and seventh games in winning the first set.

In the second set, Miss Turner won the first three games, but the 23-year-old Texan fought back to break Miss Turner's service in the fourth game. Both players then held service until Miss Richey broke through in the eighth game to tie it at 4-4.

Miss Richey then held her service and broke Miss Turner's in the 10th game by slamming a backhand down the sideline for the set and the title.

Emerson took only 75 minutes to win his sixth Australian championship, the last five in succession.

With a crowd of more than 6,000 watching in ideal weather, the first set went to 4-4 before Ashe double faulted three straight times to drop his service. Emerson then served out to win the set.

The veteran Australian quickly broke Ashe's service in the first game of the second set and broke it again in the fifth and seventh games for a 2-0 lead.

Emerson won the first three games in the final set,but Ashe fought back to tie it at 4-4. Emerson held his service and then won the match with a brilliant passing shot.

S.F. FACES CELTICS TONIGHT

Cincinnati Stops Warriors

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Unable to get the jump on the smaller Cincinnati Royals, the San Francisco Warriors now must face the larger Boston Celtics tonight in Greensboro. The Celts are on a nine-game winning streak.

Before a national television audience yesterday, the Warriors were beaten on the boards and finished on the short end of a 121-118 count in Cincinnati.

Jerry Lucas grabbed 30 rebounds for the Royals. The former Ohio State star teamed with Connie Dierking to shut off Nate Thurmond from the backboards. Dierking also scored 23 points against Thurmond, far above the Cincinnati center's average in National Basketball Assn. play.

Oscar Robertson was the chief beneficiary of the Royals' board work, getting 35 points. Lucas added 25 and Adrian Smith 20.

Rick Barry scored only nine points in the first half. But he roared back in the third quarter for the Warriors and finished with a game-high 37 points. Jeff Mullins scored 22.

Paul Neumann, who also got 22 for San Francisco, put the Warriors ahead 87-85 early in the fourth quarter. But the Royals came back behind Lucas and Robertson for the victory.

The defeat cut the Warriors' lead in the Western Division to 10 games over St. Louis.

Brewer 5 Behind; Nicklaus Blanked

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Arnold Palmer, the thinking man's golfer, got to thinking. He was in Los Angeles but he started thinking about San Francisco. So he stopped thinking about records.

Palmer shot a final round 68 for 269, 15 strokes under par, in winning the Los Angeles Open for the second straight year yesterday. His score was just one stroke shy of the tournament record set by Phil Rodgers in 1962.

So was he thinking about Rodgers' record?

"It came to my mind, but I wasn't going to be foolish about this one," a laughing Palmer said.

It was an obvious reference to the 1966 U.S. Open at San Francisco. Palmer had a seven stroke lead with nine holes to go on the final round. He was within sight of Ben Hogan's Open record 274 and started thinking about it.

The rest is history: Palmer blew the seven stroke lead and Billy Casper went on to win it.

$20,000 CHECK

"I was just trying to win this one," Palmer said after collecting his $20,000 check for his third victory in the Los Angeles Open since 1963.

Palmer took the lead in the third round Saturday by four strokes, saw it dwindle to two after 67 holes yesterday as Gay Brewer came on, but the Arnie assault reasserted itself and he stormed in to win by five shots.

Brewer finished second with a 69 for 274, worth $12,000, while Julius Boros, with a 67, and Don Massengale, the second round leader, and young Lou Graham, each with a 69, tied for third at 275.

Casper and Bruce Crampton tied for sixth with 277's.

Favored Jack Nicklaus went away empty handed. His final round 71 left him at 286, one stroke out of the money. It was the first time Nicklaus had suffered such embarrassment since the American Golf Championship at Akron, Ohio, in 1965.

CLOSES GAP

Brewer closed the gap to two strokes on yesterday's 13th hole. Brewer got a birdie four on a wedge shot that left him with a one-foot putt. Palmer, playing behind Brewer, had par five.

But Palmer holed putts of six and 12 feet on the next two holes and Gay bogeyed the 14th when a 6-iron shot carried past the pin.

Was this the turning point?

"I don't know about that," said Palmer. "Even if I don't birdie the hole and Cay doesn't bogey it, he's still got to make three birdies to pass me and that's a pretty tough job on those last four holes."

Argentines Tip Brazil In Soccer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—River Plate of Argentina topped Santos of Brazil, 4-2, yesterday in an exhibition soccer match played before 31,291 under cloudy skies in Memorial Coliseum.

Santos, frequent World Cup contestants, tried 21 goal attempts in the contest but made only two, largely because of the efforts of River Plate goalie Carrizo, who was voted player of the game.

The winners got off only 10 attempts but made four.

River Plate double - teamed Santos star Pele, considered soccer's superstar, and held him scoreless until the 73rd minute. Pele then made another goal in the 88th minute. The great Brazilian, guarded by Solari and Guzman, suffered an injury to his left leg but continued playing.

The Argentines took a first-half 2-0 lead on goals by Lallana. On the first, he cashed in a penalty shot in the 11th minute. The second came after he took a short pass in front of the Santos goal and kicked it in.

River Plate's last two markers came from Solari in the 80th minute and from Ermindo Omega in the 18st minute.

Carrizo, who made 11 saves in the contest, was carried off the field on the shoulders of fans, many of them South Americans who live in the Los Angeles area.

Jones Dethrones Gurney In Riverside '500' Race

RIVERSIDE (AP)—It took a thinking man to dethrone Dan Gurney as champ of the annual Riverside-Motor Trend 500-mile race for grand national stock cars.

A balding, wiry driver named Parnelli Jones thought and drove his way around the twisty, 1.7-mile course yesterday to win $21,980 in the delayed race.

The race, started a week ago but postponed by rain, pitted some of the nation's top drivers against four-time winner Gurney, and the pressure finally paid off.

Jones, of Torrance, entered the race determined to avoid an old bugaboo—broken machinery. He said he thought about it constantly.

"I felt I could outrun all the other cars," Jones said, "and I thought if I talked to myself I could keep from punishing the car and I might make it."

He made it, averaging 91.08 miles an hour in a 1967 Ford. He was sometimes a whole lap ahead, especially after Gurney's machine, a 1967 Mercury Cyclone, blew its engine near the end of the race.

Placing second behind Jones was Paul Goldsmith of Munster, Ind., in a 1966 Plymouth, followed by Norm Nelson of Racine, Wis., in a 1967 Plymouth. Goldsmith got $8,828 for his work.

The day — almost perfect for racing except for a slight haze —drew 77,000 spectators, race officials said. A crowd of 61,000 turned out a week ago for the soggy first section.

For Jones, it was only his second victory after many races on the popular course. His has been a bad luck story, especially in 1964 when he was far ahead at the 400-mile mark, and his engine blew up.

In all, Jones led in 126 of the 185 laps this time.

The race was stopped the previous week after 50 laps — 135 miles — because of rain. The delay caused some problems, especially to Freddie Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., who was leading when racing stopped.

He had a flat tire and was in the pits preparing to fix it. So, race officials made him leave it flat for a week and fix it when racing resumed yesterday. It cost him the lead, but he made a good race of it.

Gurney was in good position to win for awhile, but a mistake during a yellow flag caution period cost him almost a lap as penalty. Then a long pit stop to change tires and get gas put him far behind. He had worked up to third again before his engine blew up.

Only 13 of the 44 cars entered were running at the end.

Among those felled by mechanical ills was two-time Indianapolis 500 winner A.J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., who left the race on the 87th lap after his engine blew.

"I've never had any luck here at Riverside, so there's no reason for my luck to change now," Foyt said.

Finishers in order were:

Parnelli Jones, Torrance, Calif., 1967 Ford.
Paul Goldsmith, Munster, Ind., 1966 Plymouth.
Norm Nelson, Racine, Wis., 1967 Plymouth.
Don White, Keokuxk, Iowa, 1966 Dodge.
James Hylton, Inman, S.C., 1965 Dodge.
Bruce Worrell, Long Beach, Calif., 1964 Mercury.

BRUINS SWEEP PAIR

Lew Alcindor Takes Windy City By Storm

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The second storm to hit Chicago the past weekend happen indoors and came from the West.

Lew Alcindor and his UCLA Bruins swept into the Chicago Stadium and came away 82-69 winners Saturday over Chicago Loyola and overwhelmed Illinois 120-82 yesterday afternoon.

Alcindor scored 35 points in the Saturday game, parts of a tripleheader, and then poured through 45 points yesterday in a game postponed from Friday because of the snow storm. The -foot-1⅜ sophomore set a Chicago Stadium record with 21 field goals as the top - ranked Bruins remained unbeaten after 6 outings.

In other games Saturday involving West Coast teams, Washington upset No. 3 rated Houston 81-78 in Seattle, California won a fight-pocked contest over Santa Clara 80-77, Southern California beat UC Santa Barbara 74-63, Oregon edged Oregon State 56-55 in a regionally televised, non-conference afternoon clash, Washington State overcame Idaho 73-60, Seattle drubbed Montana State 93-73, Loyola of Los Angeles moved into a tie for the West Coast Athletic Conference lead by beating San Jose State 97-79, and University of the Pacific easily defeated the Japanese National team 99-60.

Despite the weather, 17,024 turned out Saturday night for the Chicago triple bill and a chance to watch Alcindor. He didn't disappoint anyone against a Loyola squad without a starter over 6-4. It was all the UCLA center as he blocked shots and dunked baskets in an exhibition that should dispel any Midwest doubts about him.

On Sunday, Alcindor's 45 points tied an arena record. He was taken out for good with 6:15 remaining despite the crowd of 10,025 chanting, "We want Lew," to break the mark.

The UCLA spotlighting tended to put Washington's upset of Houston in the shadows. The winning Huskies went to the fast break for the victory over a Houston squad that looked rusty after a two-week layoff.

At San Jose with 1:42 to go in the game, California's Myron Erickson elbowed Santa Clara center Bud Ogden in the nose during the second fight of the contest. Erickson was thrown out and Ogden left with a broken nose.

In another part of town, Loyola and San Jose State got together and set four WCAC records. Loyola put in 43 free throws out of 55 chances—both figures records —and San Jose committed 37 personal fouls for another mark. The 61 personals by both squads also was a record.

St. Mary's is at Oregon State tonight. On Wednesday, San Jose State and Santa Clara tangle in a WCAC game and Seattle travels to Montana State. On Thursday, Oregon State is at Portland.

The WCAC resumes league play this week. The Pacific-8 Conference has only one league game — a Saturday contest between UCLA and USC, the third time the Los Angeles schools have met this season.

Little Poison, Mahatma In 'Hall'

By BOB GREEN

LLOYD WANER

NEW YORK (AP) — "I think it's just wonderful," said Lloyd (Little Poison) Waner, "to be put in there with my brother."

He was talking about his election to baseball's Hall of Fame yesterday. But his remark was just an echo, almost verbatim, of his comment 40 years ago when he was put into the Pittsburgh Pirates' outfield with big brother Paul.

Paul (Big Poison) already had established himself and Lloyd was a skinny, uncertain rookie at the time, in 1927. But Lloyd wasted no time proving himself. He laced National League pitching for a.355 average and a record 223 hits in his rookie season, and, with Paul, led the Pirates to a National League pennant.

"I've had lots of thrills in baseball, but this here is the biggest thrill of all," Lloyd said in Pittsburgh when notified of his selection.

He and long-time baseball executive Branch Rickey were named to the Hall by the veterans committee, becoming the 105th and 106th members of baseball's elite. They'll be inducted into the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y. in July.

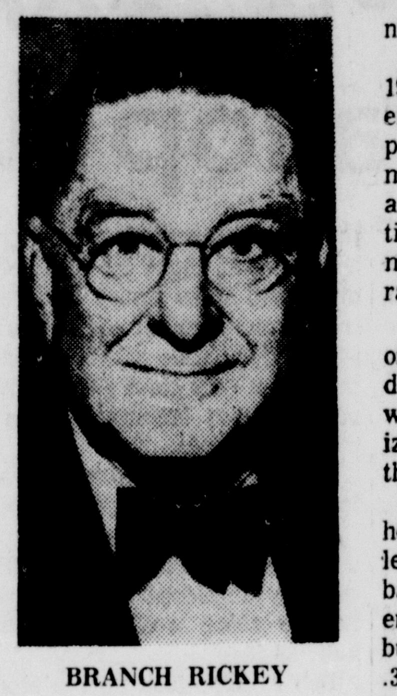
The 12-man veterans committee, headed by former Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, can name no more than two players in their annual elections. They consider players who have been retired 20 years or more. Rickey, who died in 1965 at the age of 83, was elected under a special provision governing executives 65 years or older. Paul Waner, who died last year, had been elected earlier.

Rickey's widow, in St. Louis, said she was delighted but not surprised her late husband has gained the Hall.

"I think he should be in the Hall of Fame," she said. "He contributed a great deal to baseball and I'm pleased indeed."

In 1906, when the couple were married, Rickey was a catcher for the old St. Louis Browns. He later played with the New York Yankees, but arm trouble and tuberculosis cut short a rather mediocre playing career.

Then he turned his talents to administration. And made baseball history.



BRANCH RICKEY

The colorful, bushy-browed Mahatma broke the color line in baseball when he signed Jackie Robinson to a contract with the old Brooklyn Dodgers and is credited with being the founder of the farm system.

He became president of the Cardinals in 1917, and, during his administration, the team won seven National League pennants and five World Series.

He moved on to Brooklyn in 1942 and won two pennants in eight years before selling his 25 per cent share of the club for a million dollars. At 69, he signed a five-year contract as executive vice president and general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

He retired at 74 but came out of retirement to serve as president of the Continental League, which never really materialized, and later as an adviser for the Cardinals.

Waner, who now lives in Oklahoma City, had a 19-year major league career and a lifetime batting average of .316. He never won a batting championships but had high averages of .362, .355 and .353. He hit .300 or better 12 seasons and four times had 200 or more hits in a season.

Waner was a 5-foot-8, 150-pound, left-handed hitter. He spent most of his career with the Pirates but also played briefly with Boston, Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Brooklyn of the National League. He was in Pittsburgh to be honored at a dinner.

Cerrudo A Walker Cupper

named to the U.S. World Cup team.

His high finish in the National Amateur tourney qualified Cerrudo for the Masters for the second straight year. He will be playing in the 1967 Masters April 6-9 at Augusta, Ga. He will also be in the Pensacola Open field in March, at Pensacola, Fla. Also on Cerrudo's schedule is the Western Open Aug. 3-6 in Chicago. He also has the San Francisco City Championships to play, starting Feb. 11.

A public relations man with Richmond Motors (Cadillacs and Pontiacs) in Richmond, Cerrudo said today he had no immediate plans of turning professional. "Amateur golf is a lot of fun," he said.

The U.S. Walker Cup team includes three former national amateur champions. They're Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., two-time national champ; William Campbell, 43, of Huntington, W. Va., 1964 champ, and Bob Murphy Jr., 23, of Nichols, Fla., victor in '65.

Other team members are Edgar Tutwiler, 47, Indianapolis; Donald Allen, 28, Rochester, N. Y.; Downing Gray, 28, Pensacola, Fal.; James Grant, 24, Wethersfield, Conn.; Bob Dickson, 23, McAlester, Okla., and Jack Lewis Jr., 19, Florence, S. C.

Jesse Sweetser, former U.S. and British amateur champ from Washington D. C., was selected non-playing captain. He handled the U. S. World Cup team in Mexico City.

The 1967 Walker Cup tourney will be played on the Royal St. George's course, one of the most famous and demanding in the British Isles.

Jim Corbett Dies; Dynamic Sports Boss

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Jim Corbett was embarking on a mission to challenge pro football for television's gold and bring more money to collegiate athletics when he died.

Corbett, LSU's dynamic athletic director, died of a heart attack here yesterday morning. He was 47.

Corbett was recognized as one of the nation's top athletic administrators. He had come up with many revolutionary undertakings. His latest idea wasn't his own, but he had adopted it, with a few new trappings.

Corbett expounded on a playoff play for the nation's college teams to decide a true national champion and bring more revenue to collegiate athletics at the Southeastern Conference meetings here last week.

Undoubtedly he planned to explore the idea further this week in talks with NCAA officials and others in New York.

He was at a motel across from New Orleans International Airport when death came.

Corbett, who had a history of heart trouble, reached for the beside telephone and told the operator he was having severe chest pains. He was just an hour away from flying to New York.

A few minutes later Corbett was dead. The coroner's office said death occurred at 9:15 a.m. and was caused "by a massive heart attack."

His wife, Mary Louise, and their eldest daughter, Ann, 19, a cheerleader at LSU this past fall were vacationing at Nassau in the Bahamas. They flew back to Baton Rouge late yesterday.

Corbett's body was returned to Baton Rouge, his home and the site of LSU's main campus.

The Corbetts had two other children, James Joseph Jr., 21, who was married last summer, and Jean, 9.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Medical Expenses Are Deductible

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Medical expenses are deductible to the extent that they exceed 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income.

If you or your spouse are over 65 years old, the 3 per cent provision does not apply to you for 1966. However, it will apply beginning January 1, 1967, for the tax return you will file for the year 1967.

You can deduct any sums that you spent for ". . . the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment or prevention of disease, or for the purpose of affecting any structure or function of the body (including amounts paid for accident or health insurace), or for transportation primarily for and essential to medical care . . ."

Wikel

DRUGS COSTS

Your costs for drugs and medicines count to the extent that they exceed 1 per cent of your adjusted gross income. If you are over 65, you can deduct all of your medicine and drugs without first deducting the 1 per cent and the 3 per cent.

Costs of travel, transportation, rental of special sickroom equipment, etc., as well as doctor bills, nurses, hospital costs and other expenses directly connected with your illness or accident are deductible.

Deductible medical expenses can be for yourself or any part of your dependents.

A dependent must have been your dependent either at the time the costs were incurred or at the time they were paid. You can deduct medical costs you paid for a dependent even though you may not be able to claim the dependent as a tax exemption. For instance: You help support your mother who worked part time and made over $600. Because she made over $600 you cannot claim her as a dependent. However, if you furnished over one-half of her support, you can still deduct the medical costs you paid for her.

If you pay medical expenses for your dependent parent and the parent is over 65 years old, you can deduct all of the parent's medical expenses. In other words, the expenses paid for the parent are not reduced by 1 per cent or 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income and there is no maximum limitation, even though you are not yet 65 yourself.

However, your maximum deduction cannot exceed $5,000 per personal exemption and not more than $10,000 on a separate return or more than $20,000 on a joint or head of household return. Exemptions for old age and blindness do not count.

If you or your wife are over 65, there is no maximum limitation.

Medicare costs are deductible as medical expense. That is, the $3 per month you pay.

5 CENTS

Under Revenue Procedure 64-15 you can deduct 5 cents per mile for the use of your car for transportation to secure medical care.

Use form 2948 medical and dental expense statement and attach it to your tax return.

It does not matter when these costs were incurred. They are deductible in the year paid. You cannot deduct costs that you owe. They must be paid to get the deduction.

If part of your medical costs were reimbursed, that is, if your insurance company paid a part of them, then you can deduct only the part you actually paid and that was not reimbursed to you.

BankAmericard Has 3 Million Cardholders

SAN FRANCISCO — BankAmericard, the first national bank credit card interchange program, has just passed the 3,000,000 mark in cardholders, and anticipates reaching 4,500,000 by mid-year, it was announced by Vern C. Richards, president of Bankamerica Service Corp.

The announcement, incorporating data compiled from the 15 banks participating in the national BankAmericard program, was made following the six-month anniversary of BSC's formation last July.

The eight banks now issuing the card have a combined total of 3,108,000 cardholders and 90,896 merchant members, Richards said. In April and May, he said, seven more banks will begin issuing BankAmericards.

Gas Firm Seeks Rate Reduction

LOS ANGELES—El Paso Natural Gas Co. filed a proposal with the Federal Power Commission to reduce its rates to customers in California and the Southwest by approximately $9.6 million annually, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Howard Boyd, chairman of the board, said the rate cuts are possible largely because of efficiencies and economies in a recently authorized gas supply project for Southern California, and because the company will pass along to customers the effect of presently reduced taxes resulting from the use of accelerated depreciation.

These rate reductions will amount to approximately $8.2 million per year to California, and approximately $1.4 million per year in states east of California.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Annuities Offer No Inflation Hedge

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "We are a childless couple just retired with a guaranteed annual income for life of $7,200. We have $62,000 in savings, part of which we want to invest. In our position would you buy an annuity or would you buy stocks with some growth potential to compensate for inflation? If so, which stocks do you suggest?" A. K.

A. You seem to be in a fine position to sit back now and enjoy life. All your present income is fixed and as such can actually deteriorate in purchasing power over the years if the value of the dollar continues downward. I do not recommend an annuity, which is itself a fixed-income type of investment.

I believe you should place at least $30,000 in growth stocks which can appreciate in value to compensate for inflation, as you so nicely put it. I suggest Avon Products, Plough, General Foods, General Tel. & Electronics and Texaco.

Q. "Please explain how a margin account works? I am thinking of opening such an account and would appreciate you advice." O. W.

A. A margin account is simply a means of borrowing money from your broker to buy more stock than you have the cash to pay for. The amount you can borrow is regulated by the Federal Reserve Board. The present margin is 70 per cent, which means that you can buy $100 worth of stock for each $70 you deposit with your broker in cash or listed securities.

I do not recommend margin trading for the average person. An investor can build profits more rapidly in a rising market with someone else's capital added to his own. But when prices fall he may be asked for more margin and in a severe decline he can be wiped out. You sound as if you have limited trading experience and I believe you will sleep better at night if you pay in full for your stocks when you are ready to invest.

Stocks Close Higher In Heavy Action

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher again today. Trading was heavy.

Prices rose from the start despite some factors which were regarded as bearish. The market was buoyed once again by the new trend toward lower interest rates and easier credit, brokers said.

Volume for the day was estimated at 10.3 million shares compared with 9.7 million Friday.

Glamor stocks outdid the pivotal key stocks which influence the averages, but gains in each sector were substantial.

General Motors, Anaconda, Westinghouse Electric and American Smelting rose more than a point each.

Xerox spurted more than 8 points, Motorola nearly 6, Eastern Airlines 3 or more and IBM about 2½.

Avco, up nearly 2 and Sperry Rand, up a point, were pacing the list on volume.

Amerada, up more than 2, and Ashland Oil, down more than a point, reacted to news of their proposed merger.

Gains exceeding 2 points were made by Studebaker, Eastman Kodak and U.S. Smelting.

Gains exceeding a point were scored by New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad in a strong rail section.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

MAI Equipment Moves To Marin; Young, Rubicam Names McManus

The Twenty Sunnyside Building in Mill Valley has been chosen to house the new western regional office of MAI Equipment Corp., formerly in the Hobart Building, San Francisco.

MAI Equipment is a subsidary of Management Assistants, Inc., New York which specializes in the purchase, leaseback and service of computers and related equipment. Entire second floor of the building has been taken, according to property manager Robert H. Greene — about 3,000 square feet.

There will be a staff of about 25, headed by regional manager Robert Kohler of San Francisco. David Pappert of Terra Linda is assistant manager. Apparently a number of others on the staff are Marinites — or soon will be. Another example of the growing trend for many organizations to relocate their main offices out of downtown metropolitan areas.

Lease negotiations were handled by Callan, Stroud and Dale, San Francisco, with partner Michael Stroud of Mill Valley doing the ground work of locating MAI Equipment in Marin. The office is now open for business.

CLARIFICATION OF NAME CHANGE. Ward Manufacturing Co., Ltd., Sausalito, mentioned last Tuesday as taken over by Rich Hydro-Cushion Manufacturing Co., still uses its own name in the manufacturing of vinyl and plastic parts.

The story is that for the past two years Ward has been doing the development and manufacture of soft cushion bumpers for Rich Shock Proof Bumper, Sacramento. This company and Ward together have now formed a new corporatioin (Rich Hydro-Cushion) to continue this work. Ward's other operations are not included.

McManus Meier

JAMES H. MCMANUS of Mill Valley has been appointed vice president and manager of Young and Rubicam, Inc., San Francisco, replacing William P. Reilly who has been transferred to New York headquarters in charge of the agency's branch offices. McManus joined the company at New York in 1946 and came to San Francisco in 1946. Successively he has served as media director, account executive — and a vice president and account supervisor since 1963.

FRED R. MEIER of Lucas Valley has been appointed sales promotion specialist for the Burroughs Corp. U.S. marketing district headquartered in San Francisco. He joined the company as a saleman in 1956 and has since served as account executive, product specialist and account manager.

GEORGE DOUGLAS VAUGHN of Mill Valley has become associated with the legal firm of Shirley and Peterson, San Francisco. He was admitted to the State Bar of California last year and is a graduate of University of Oregon and Hastings College of Law. Formerly he was with the trust department of Bank of America in San Francisco and Marin and with the legal department of Western Title Insurance Co.

Whitehill Banducci

INSURANCE. Bernard R. Whitehill of Sleepy Hollow, agent with the San Francisco office of New York Life, was chairman of the annual sales congress of the San Francisco Life Underwriters Assn. last Friday . . . San Rafael insurance broker Fred A. Banducci was presented with a plaque as "Man of the Year" at the annual installation of the Insurance Brokers Assn. of California in San Francisco last Tuesday . . . Robert D. Squires of Mill Valley was cited for superior sales and service during 1966 at the national conference of Equitable Life Assurance in New York . . . Nicholas J. Dollwet of San Rafael, agent for Minnesota Mutual, was honored at the Man of the Year banquet last week by the San Francisco General Agents and Managers Assn.

NOTICE!
The Truth About Health

The public has not been receiving the truth about health. Why is it that you have not heard of the thousands of people, who have found relief from asthma, allergies, headaches, stomach trouble, high blood pressure and many so-called incurable conditions? Why is it that so many have to continue in distress needlessly, until they are fortunate enough to learn of Chiropractic? Why are you not being told of the power in your body, that has the ability to relieve and correct any disease process?

The answer is found in the Neros and Hitlers of the drug industry and the mighty monopoly medicine (AMA) and the billions of dollars they spend annually to see that no Chiropractic information is made available to the sick. Radio, television, newspapers and magazines are controlled by drug interests and consequently, suppress the true story of Chiropractic.

The mighty monopoly medicine continues its attempt to wipe out its competition . . . but in spite of that MIGHT, MONEY and UNDERHANDED TACTICS, they cannot destroy TRUTH. The mighty monster medicine (AMA) declared in 1961, that it would destroy Chiropractic . . . and has since planted various articles in magazines and newspapers to try and degrade public opinion of Chiropractic . . . the opposite reaction takes place however . . . because this approach only drives more people into our offices, as is evidenced by our continued large increase in patients . . . people are getting quite familiar with medical ethics.

TIME FOR ACTION!! This office, along with thousands of others throughout the nation, is dedicated to take this great thing called the LIFE PRINCIPLE, (the wonderful healing principle of Chiropractic) directly to the people . . . to whom it rightfully belongs . . . so that they can choose intelligently the method of healing, which is best for them.

If you desire more information . . . phone 454-5556 for an appointment.

Flexing Your Muscles Wrong Can Lead To Total Disaster

As the annual team tournament at the Riviera Hotel in Las Vegas begins, Los Angeles expert Bob Hamman flexes his muscles to defend the championship he won last year.

Fortunately for his team, Hamman knows how to flex in the right direction.

THE LAYOUT

Hammon won the first trick with the king of hearts and looked for a way to make sure of nine tricks.

One flex in the wrong direction would have cost him his contract.

For example, most players would start by taking the club finesse. East would take the king of clubs and return the jack of diamonds. Declarer might hold up the ace until the third round of diamonds, but it would not help.

SPADE FINESS

Sooner or later South would have to try the spade finesse in his attempt to develop a ninth trick, and then the defenders would get the rest of the diamonds in addition to the two black kings. Down one.

AVOIDS TRAP

Hamman avoided this trap because he saw the danger of allowing East to start the diamonds.

Since West was comparatively harmless, Hamman took his first finesse so that it would lose to West rather than to East.

With this in mind, declarer began with a club to dummy's ace and returned the queen of spades for a finesse.

West won with the king but could not safely attack diamonds. West's actual heart continuation was not a serious threat.

FORCE OUT

South won with the ace of hearts and led a club to force out the king. It was now too late for the defenders to attack diamonds. Hamman could take the ace of diamonds, four clubs, two hearts and two spades, socring his vulnerable game.

ANSWER:

Bid one heart.

Since you have six points in high cards your hand is worth a response. Show your long suit and prepare to lapse into silence unless partner makes a forcing bid.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, Jan. 30, the 30th day of 1967 with 335 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Saturn and Jupiter.

The 32nd president of the United States, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, was born on this day in 1882.

On this day in history:

In 1948, Indian nationalist leader Mohandas Gandhi was assassinated by an extremist in New Delhi.

In 1959, a Danish ship was lost off Greenland with 95 persons aboard.

In 1962, Cuba was ousted from the Organization of American States by a vote of 14-1 with six nations abstaining.

In 1965, British statesman Sir Winston Churchill, who died on Jan. 24, was buried in Westminster Abbey.

A thought for the day — President Franklin Roosevelt said: "The only limit to our realization of tomorrow will be our doubts of today. Let us move forward with strong and active faith."

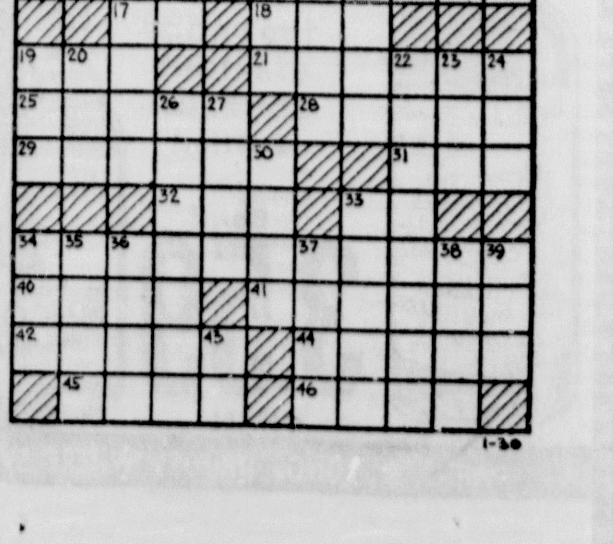
Saturday's Answer



Larkspur Council To Get Review Of Flood Damage

The Larkspur City Council will hear a report and see slides on storm damage in Larkspur Wednesday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Public hearings will be held on rezoning part of Redwood High School property from unclassified to residential, on annexation of part of Christmas Tree Hill to Larkspur from Corte Madera, on a fill permit for Industrial Way and on an amendment to the personnel ordinance providing that employees be paid in advance when pay days fall on weekends or holidays.

The council will consider a policy regulating the engineering of driveways to make them safer for parking. An ordinance requiring permits for encroachments on city rights of way will be considered. For final adoption, and an ordinance requiring soil reports for parcels in subdivisions and allowing parcel maps to be submitted in lieu of records of survey, may be introduced.

Final acceptance of the Doherty Drive Extension and the Bon Air Road and Magnolia Avenue intersection improvements will be taken up.

The council will consider an encroachment permit requested by Robert Brabo at Redwood and Madrone avenues, and an overlay of asphalt requested in front of the Redwood Church on Magnolia Avenue.

Records Stolen

Catherine Ruth Hickling of 132 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, reported to sheriff's deputies Saturday that someone took 28 phonograph hecord albums, valued at about $120, from her apartment. Deputies said the front door had been unlocked.

Woman Hurt In Car Crash

An unidentified car entering Highway 101 from the southbound on ramp at the Corte Madera overpass started a series of moves that resulted in a two-car collision and injuries to a Santa Rosa woman at 1:15 p. m. Saturday.

The California Highway Patrol reported the unidentified auto forced a car in the southbound slow lane toward the center lane. This forced a car in the center lane driven by Natalie Oates, 35, of 101 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, toward the fast lane where it collided with one driven by Lois Margaret Newman, 52, of Santa Rosa, officers said.

The Newman car rolled over after the collision and came to rest right side up, officers reported. The driver suffered a fractured collarbone and bruised ribs and was taken to Marin General Hospital, where she was reported in good condition.

A U. S. observatory is operated at Tucson, Ariz.

Unruh Sees Long Search

LOS ANGELES (AP) — State Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh believes it will be hard to find "a prestigious person" to take the University of California president's job.

Unruh said in a radio interview yesterday.

"I think there will be a great deal of hesitation on the part of the academic community nationally before someone of outstanding academic qualifications would accept this job."

The Democratic leader was questioned by radio newsmen on the recent firing of Clark Kerr as president by the U.C. regents.

Unruh, himself a regent, said he didn't agree with everything Kerr had done as president—especially during the student uprisings on the Berkeley campus—but he said he opposed his firing.

Cadets To Parade

The cadet battalion of the San Rafael Military Academy will present a retreat parade and promotion ceremony at 3:45 Sunday. Included in the program will be music by the academy band, drill team demonstrations, promotion announcements and a retreat and review parade.

Minority Job Issue Before Board Again

The Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow will once again reconsider the minority hire clause in the contract for the Community Mental Health Center to be built at Marin General Hospital under a cooperative agreement with the hospital district.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center with the mental health center as item 15 on the agenda and due to be taken up in the morning session.

Hospital directors last week said they would not expose the hospital district to any additional cost that might be involved in the equal hire clause, and they urged the board to delete it for fear that it might restrict the number of bidders for the job.

The clause requires contractors to agree prior to bidding to abide by certain requirements, including the designation of a company man to handle minority employment and encourage apprentice training on the job.

Also on tomorrow's agenda is discussion of a contract with consultants who are to recommend means of improving operation of the county's data processing department, discussion of the Point Reyes Station Water Co., whose service has frequently failed and proposed condemnation of Elephant Rocks in northwest Marin for a county park.
